BREWIN HIMSELF AGAIN

FOUR YEARS A BLANK

After Passing Through a Sleep "Johnson" Forgets His Recent Life and Remembers Only His Former Self.

Charles P. Brewin, the old merchant of Burlington, who disappeared from his home four years ago and was found here last Monday living a new life as Frank G. Johnson, went to sleep yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock still convinced that he was Frank Johnson; that he had never known anybody named Brewin; that he was unmarried; that he had never lived in Burlington, and that he would five out the rest of his life working in the cleaning and dyeing establishment of Miss Mary Brown.

But yesterday afternoon after attending the morning service at the First Baptist church, the old tailor lay down to take his Sunday nap, at the home of Miss Eleanor Dunn, of Norwood avenue, where he has been boarding. His room is on the second floor of Mrs. Dunn's house, and two of the last things he saw of the familiar life of F. G. Johnson were the Bible with the name in it and a row of tomato plants he had recently set out in his garden.

Mrs. Dunn went out visiting while he was asleep. The old man woke about 6 o'clock. The room was strange to him. Whose Bible was that? He had never seen that garden out there before. What hills were they over there? He remembered no such hills near Burlington. And where was the river that runs by Burlington?

Mrs. Dunn, who had learned the facts about her roomer, at once suspected that something had happened inside of his head at last. She telephoned to Dr. J. H. Buchanan. One of the men who last week recognized old Mr. Brewin was the Rev. Dr. J. C. Buchanan, father of the physician, who has been visiting his son for several weeks. The Rev. Dr. Buchanan had often seen Mr. Brewin at Burlington, and had known him intimately at Pemberton, where the old tailor and the preacher had mutual friends. The preached accompanied his son on this call.

The moment the new-found Mr. Brewin saw his old friend come up the walk he rushed out and greeted him enthusiastically, though last week he didn't know him. The preacher and old Mr. Brewin sat down and talked over work they had done together in the Baptist church at Burlington. They recalled hours spent together on the front porch of Tailor Stratton in Pemberton.

Dr. Buchanan spent the night with Brewin and this morning his family was telegraphed for. A son arrived in this city this afternoon and will take him back to his old home.

Prudential Superintendency Change.

Included among a number of changes being made by the head officers at the home office of the Prudential Insurance Company in Newark, there is to be a change in the superintendency at the local office. D. O. Evans, who has been assistant superintendent of the Elizabeth district, will succeed Charles E. Ball, who has been superintendent of the Plainfield office for several years, and he took charge of the Plainfield district today. Mr. Evans has been in charge of the Elizabeth district six years and his staff there presented him with a smoking set of six pieces, prior to his departure. Mr. Ball, who has severed his connection with the local office, has been offered the position of ordinary instructor for the company, but has not decided to accept it, as it would keep h im away from home a greater part of the time.

PATRIOTIC SONGS SUNG AT PARK AVE. CHURCH

ADDRESS BY REV. MR. HERRING FEATURE OF SERVICE.

Special exercises were held under the auspices of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-school, yesterday morning. The room was attractively decorated with daisies and American flags. The program opened with the singing of "America," and "Star Spangled Banner," by the school. "A Starry Flag" was sung by the choir from the intermediate department with a repsonse following a prayer by Deacon Theodore I. Runyon. Whitney C. Frazee rendered a cornet solo, "Face to Face," and Miss Anna Clark and Miss Arline Brown, assisted by the choir, sang "Children of the Light."

A feature was an address on "Thoughts from the Life of Jacob" by Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. The choir sang "The Rallying Call," and "Patriotic Pilgrim," and preceding some remarks by the superintendent, Miss William Sebring, sang a solo, "Peace, Sweet Peace." After a hymn, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," by the school, the pastor, Rev. A. E. Finn, pronounced the benediction.

The vocal numbers by the school were accompanied with instrumental music, G. W. V. Moy, violinist, and Whitney C. Frazee, cornetist.

Rev. A. E. Finn in a happy manner publicly extended to the superintendent, George E. Hall, the congratulations and best wishes of the church and Sunday-school upon the occasion of his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. Hall responded and thanked the church and school on behalf of himself and wife, earnestly for their good wishes and kind thoughts; also for the many personal letters which they had received from the officers and teachers and pupils while they were on their automobile trip.

Rev. Mr. Roberson Places the Blame on Citizens For Evils in Government.

ADDRESSES VETERANS

Patriotic Services at Monroe Avenue M. E. Church—"Our Country's Call," Pastor's Theme.

Patriotic services, appropriate to Fourth of July, were held at Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night. There was a large attendance of worshippers, including twenty-five veterans from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., who received a special invitation. The church was elaborately decorated with flowers, American flags and bunting by John McCormick, assisted by Messrs. Gardner, Berger, Fritts and Smith.

The church choir sang a number of special selections, all of a patriotic nature, and the pastor, Rev. E. E. Roberson, preached a patriotic sermon on the subject, "Our Country's Call."

The speaker declared that in times of peace battles are just as necessary as in times of war and other disturbances. He cited present-day politics as one thing needing the utmost attention on the part of every loyal citizen; also municipal and county affairs. Mr. Roberson said that if a bad condition of affairs exist in municipal, county, State or National affairs it is the fault of the voters and no one else, and if they do not correct the evils they are rather enemies than friends of the flag.

Mr. Roberson spoke forcibly of that which is commonly called "graft," and of office-holders who make use of their jobs for personal gain, adding that there is altogether too much of this sort of thing. He upbraided the ordinary person who is willing to go along making enough money each day to meet his expenses and perhaps a little more, and yet who takes no interest in correcting evils, where he knows they exist. In a measure he held them to be equally as much to blame for wrong-doing as the office-holder who betrays a sacred trust.

Mr. Roberson took occasion to speak of the bravery of the veterans during the Civil War and their efforts to preserve a glorious country, also of those who fought to make Independence Day what it is, a country free from the entanglements of any foreign power.

MUSICAL SERVICE.

Well Rendered Program Enjoyed by First Presbyterian Congregation.

Special music was enjoyed by a large congregation at the First Presbyterian church last night. The program was well rendered.

Beside quartette numbers by E. D. Cutting, tenor; F. C. Iglehart, Jr., baritone; Miss Anna Case, soprano, and Miss Jessamine Burd, contralto, Mr. Iglehart and Miss Case sang solos. Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, preached a short sermon on "The Lord's Prayer."

Short Shrift for Jones.

Walter "Conjunction" Jones, colored, a familiar figure in the city court, was arrested Saturday afternoon for drunkenness on West Front street. "Conjunction" usualy gets a lenghty hearing, because he says funny things, but Mayor Fisk disposed of his case in short order this morning. He rated "Conjunction" as an undesirable citizen in a few appropriate remarks, and tendered him the hospitality of the county jail for 30 days. With a happily phrased grunt, Conjunction accepted.

Vanderhoef, who has been dpuety supreme archon of the Improved Order Heptasophs in New Jersey for the past ten years, has just been appointed by the supreme archon on one of the Supreme Committees of the order, thus jumping from the position of a State to a National office, out of a membership of about eighty thousand Mr. Vanderhoef was one of three to receive the honors.

CABOOSE BLOCKS TRACK

For Two Hours Yesterday, All Trains Had to Use a Single Track.

FLYER JUST ESCAPES

Harrisburg Fast Train Saved from a Wreck—Trainmaster On the Scene.

Either one of two things, a broken part of an axle or too much power by the "pusher" engine, caused a large double caboose, attached to an eastbound coal train, tracks at a point just east of the Clinton avenue bridge on the New Jersey Central, at 5.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Two of the main tracks were blocked for two hours and during that time all east and westbound trains were sent through on the main westbound track. The only damage was to the caboose, no one being injured.

The coal train was a long and heavily-loaded one, requiring the assistance of a "pusher" between Clinton avenue station and Fanwood. At the point where the accident occurred, several extra tracks have been laid to assist in the movement of trains while the new bridge is being installed at Clinton avenue. It was at one of these switches that the caboose jumped the track and was dragged over a hundred feet before the train stopped.

The engineer of the coal train was notified of the accident by the engineer on the "pusher" who gave him the proper signals. When the train stopped the caboose laid almost horizontal across the tracks. A more serious accident was narrowly averted by prompt action on the part of the trainmen, as the Harrisburg "flyer" westbound reached the scene of the accident a very few minutes afterward and was prevented from crashing into the wreckage by the proper signals. The "flyer" was obliged to back up to Plainfield and go west on the fourth outside track. The train was delayed nearly fifteen minutes.

Trainmaster A. D. Edgar and his assistant, Charles English arrived at the wreck soon after it occurred and directed a large gang of workmen in clearing the tracks. The trucks of the caboose were removed and the caboose itself raised from the ground before the wrecker arrived from Elizabethport. The large crane promptly put to work and within a few minutes cleared the tracks and the regular train schedule resumed. The accident attracted hundreds of interested spectators, who were more of a nuisance to the railroad men than otherwise.

ASSESSORS BEGIN THEIR VOLUNTARY SESSIONS.

The Board of Assessors began their voluntary sessions for the revision of the tax list, before sending it in to the county board, in the Council Chamber this morning. They will sit every day this week, excepting Thursday and Saturday, from 9 o'clock until 12, and from 4 to 4.

All property owners who are dissatisfied with their tax bills are invited to appear before the board and make a statement of their sides of the valuation question. All claims and statements will be carefully considered, and changes, where warranted, will be made after the sessions. Less than half a dozen complaints were filed this morning.

"Every man who is dissatisfied with his assessment should appear at one of these hearings," said Mayor Fisk in speaking of the sessions this morning. "If I was on the County Board I would let every assessment stand where the protestant had failed to appear before the local assessors. These sessions are designed to find the real and equitable basis for assessment, and the dissatisfied ones hould co-operate with the assessors to the extent of laying their claims before them, when they take the trouble to give citizens that opportunity."

Vets Settle Accounts.

The committee from Antietam Command, Union Veterans' Union, having charge of the arrangements for the recent encampment of the New York and New Jersey Divisions, held here, met Saturday night and settled all accounts. There was found to be a balance in the treasury.

Funeral of Andrew J. Huff.

The funeral of Andrew J. Huff, who died at the home of his brother on Park avenue, was held yesterday at A. M. Runyon & Son's parlors. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss officiated in the presence of a gathering of friends. Burial was made in the Baptist cemetery.

FELLED HIM WITH CLUB

RESISTS POLICE DOCTOR

Three Officers Have To Hold Him While Physician Sews Up Gash In Head—Assailant and Victim Fined.

Policeman Martin Vanderweg, covering his beat on Liberty street at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night, saw Michael Readington and Vincenzo Buono come out of the latter's candy store in something of a rush. Readington fell, and the policeman hurried over. When he reached the two, Readington had risen to his feet and was cursing the Italian.

"You hit me with a club," he said with an oath.

Blood was flowing from a deep and dangerous wound in his scalp. Vanderweg placed them both under arrest, and sent in a hurry call for the patrol wagon. Readington had been drinking, and he was in a semi-conscious state from the combined effects of liquor and loss of blood when the wagon reached the scene.

Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, summoned from headquarters in anticipation of Readington's arrival, was waiting for the injured man when the wagon reached the station house. He revived Readington, and dressed the wound. Three stitches were taken in the man's scalp. He carried on while the physician was attending him, and it required the combined strength of Chief Kiely, Detective-Sergeant Flynn and Policeman Charles Flynn to hold him sufficiently still to enable the doctor to sew up the cut.

Later, in his cell, Readington identified Buono as the man who had struck him, and in the city court this morning, Mayor Charles J. Fisk, sitting in place of Judge Runyon, who was out of town, fined him $15 after he had pleaded non vult. Readington was fined the same amount. The mayor said he figured too frequently in police court cases, and probably brought the trouble on himself. Both men paid. F. J. Blatz appeared for Buono.

BOAST LEADS TO JAIL.

Gleason Set Out to Prove How Well He Could Fight.

Michael Gleason, drunk and boastful, announced out loud in front of a West Front street saloon Saturday afternoon that he could lick any man in Plainfield. Henry Kearns, a young fellow, told him he was foolish to talk that way, and Michael said he could lick him, anyway. He set out to prove it, and the pair were rolling around the gutter in a clinch when Policeman Charles Flynn descended on them. He nabbed Gleason, but Kearns slipped out of his coat and got away. He was recaptured by Detective-Sergeant Flynn later.

In the city court this morning Gleason was scored by Mayor Fisk. He was told he was a nuisance when drunk, and that he got drunk too often. He was fined $15. Kearns was warned to keep out of further trouble, and a fine of $5 was suspended over his head. A few minutes after court adjourned Mayor Fisk granted a plea for mercy in Gleason's case for the sake of the man's family, and suspended the fine.

Bonded to Keep the Peace.

Otto Werner, of 323 Manson place, arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace made by Max Busel, same address, was arraigned before Justice Hand Saturday afternoon. Busel alleged that he threatened his life in a quarrel over a key to the front door of their house. Werner was put under $100 bond to keep the peace. W. G. DeMeza appeared for the State.

MUSIC A FEATURE AT THE GUILD TEA

HELD AT HOME OF MRS. DUMONT ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

The annual spring tea and musical of the Plainfield Branch of the Needlework Guild was held Saturday at the home of the president, Mrs. J. B. Dumont, of Stelle avenue, and it was a charming affair. Despite the rain there was a large attendance of members and friends of the work. Mrs. Dumont addressed the gathering, telling of the large increase in the number of garments made during the past year and of continued interest. Several hundred extra garments were made last year and many new members have joined the guild.

The musical program was in charg of Miss Maud Van Boskerck, who also was the accompanist of the accom panist of the afternoon. A feature was the soprano solos by Miss Baldwin, of Brooklyn, who has been singing in grand opera. She favored the audience with several selections, including French and Indian songs which delighted all.

There were also soprano solos by Mrs. George S. Ring, Mrs. Joseph M. Shellabarger and piano solos by Miss Louise Booth, all of which were well received. A trio, Miss Joseph M. Shellabarger, soprano; Miss Van-Boskerck, piano, and Miss Cornelia Hyatt, violin, was enthusiastically received.

Mrs. Dumont was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. J. Edgar Corlies, Mrs. Jabez Gilbert, Mrs. W. A. Pinto, Mrs. E. H. Booth, Mrs. C. E. Ryder and Miss Lucy Talmadge. Following the musical, tea was served.

BITTERLY DENOUNCES GRAND JURY REPORT

Petit Juryman Baker Calls Presentment "Perversion of Truth and Violation of Custom and Honor."

SPEAKS FOR OTHERS

Defends Sheriff and Claims that Court Picked Membership of the Present Panel.

Petit Juryman B. S. H. Baker, of Summit, stigmatizes the recent presentment of the Grand Jury as a perversion of truth and a violation of custom and honor in a communication directed to The Daily Press. Incidently he refers to a criticsm he alleges this paper has made editorially on the petit jury in this connection. For Mr. Baker's benefit it may be stated here that The Daily Press made no criticism of that body.

Mr. Baker's letter follows:

Summit, N. J.,
June 28th, 1907

Mr. Editor: There appeared in the columns of your paper of recent date, a statement in reference to the conduct of the present Petit Jury, emanating from the Grand Jury of which Mr. Fisk of the city of Plainfield is foreman.

This statement together with the editorial which appeared in the same issue, criticizes and censures the memebrs of the Petit Jury in a most unwarranted manner and will lead the public to think and believe that the panel as now constituted is composed of a body of unreliable, dishonest and utterly depraved set of men; absolutely incompetent and unworthy of the privilege of assisting in the administration of law and justice which the commonwealth has resposed in them.

Mr. Fisk and the Grand Jury in their presentment to his Honor, Judge Swayze says, among other things, that it is useless for their honorable body, the Grand Jury to make investigation with the object of attaining good results, so long as the county has such an irresponsible lot of men as the present Petit Jury to try them. That these same men "are the selection of so-called politicians, and chosen to further their own ends, or pay political debts" or that they are "profession Jurors" put on in order to draw the munificient sum of two dollars per day. Mr. Fisk very magnanimously modifies this statement, and no doubt does so for the benefit of his fellow townsmen, friends and constituents who may be on said jury, by saying that, "Their may be a few fair-minded, conscientious individuals who have the courage of their convictions," but the objectionable element is in such preponderous evidence, that their efforts and influence are to no avail. He also stated or implies that the sheriff, Dr. W. H. Lawrence, a gentleman of unsullied character and standing in the city of Summit, has been and is, a party, or abettor to, what the Grand Jury evidently consider to be a nefarious system of selecting men for the panel of Petit Jury. It is also stated, the majority of the jurors, "Have no respect whatever for their oath or obligation, but on the contrary are willing to violate their oath, and bring in a verdict absolutely and directly against the evidence submitted," while others being rather weak-minded are easily intimidated and influenced from outside sources."

Any or all of such accusations or insinuations coming from such a source cannot fail but have a disastrous effect upon the commonwealth, causing the people to look with distrust and suspicion on the judiciary body. It is a most unnecessary and uncalled for perversion of truth, and is an unwarranted violation of custom of honor.

As a matter of fact, and I challenge proof to the contrary, the majority of the members of the present Petit Jury, are men of character and responsibility consisting of, manufacturere, contractors, civil engineers, farmers, active business men and retired gentlemen of means. It is also a fact and I defy contradiction that Union county or any other county in this or any other State has never had a better or more intelligent body of men than the present one.

Mr. Fisk is evidently ignorant of the facts, or he makes an untruth-

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent; the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

MORAL:—Do likewise and avoid worry. Come in and we will talk it over with you, or drop a postal and a confidential representative will call on you.

MAIL BROADENED HIS VIEW.

Effect of Confederate Letters on Gen. Lew Wallace.

How the opening of a mail bag full of captured confederate letters appealed to Gen. Lew Wallace, and gave him a new insight into the feelings and motives of his opponents, is one of the occurrences narrated in his "Autobiography," as follows: "After dinner, a soldier brought in a bag tied, not locked. 'Mail,' he said, 'just found.' I had him cut the string and empty the contents upon a table. They were letters unopened; the carrier had doubtless delivered them, then fled. I gave them to an officer for examination. Along towards evening he reported: 'There is nothing here of military importance. But'—his voice softened—'look of these. My mother might have written them to me. There are the same prayers in them for their side which we hear for our side—prayers, too, to the same God. I would like to know what you think of them.' And I replied, after having gone through them: 'I acknowledge myself wiser of a new lesson. The people of the south believe they have a cause; and certainly every one of them who is in the field soldiering for that cause must be respected; he may be misguided, but he must be honest.' From that hour I have not ceased to act upon that principle."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

ACTION WON THE FARMER.

Proof of Kindness Stronger Than Any Political Argument.

The "one touch of nature" that "makes the whole world kin" was added accidentally by a man who, when he was running for the legislature, endeavored in vain to enlist by his argument the sympathies of a certain old Irishman. This Irishman had great influence with his neighbors, and it was therefore with some disappointment that the political aspirants saw Patrick Halloran's expression of stubborn disapproval at the close of an hour's conversation held close to the Halloran pigpen. In the end, however, Patrick and all his friends voted for the man, and one day, when his election was secure, the representative called again on Mr. Halloran. "I thought you were against me, Patrick," he said. "I was," said Mr. Halloran, frankly. "I had no use for your arguments that day you stud so long over the pigpen. But whin I minded afterwards how whiles you talked you scratched the back o' the pig till he lay down wid the pleasures of it, I said to mesilf, 'He's all right, no matther if we do disagree on some few p'ints,' I said."—Youth's Companion.

Primary Colors.

Primary colors are the colors into which white light is separated by the dispersion of a prism. Those named by Newton are red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. Artists reduce these to three—red, yellow and blue. Scientists generally consider red, green and blue to represent the primary color sensations, and in one theory there are supposed to be three sets of nerves in the retina which can respond to these three colors. The idea of three primary colors is that from the combination of these three all hues may be produced which are to be found in white light.

Philanthropist's Good Work.

William P. Letchworth, the donor of Glen Iris, the magnificent 1,000-acre estate that has been given to New York, is the originator of what is commonly known as the New York system of almshouse construction. It provides different buildings for the sexes, with an administration building in the center, a service building behind it, all joined by a connecting corridor. Because of his friendship for the Indian cause, he was adopted into the Seneca nation and given the name of "Hei-Wa-ye-is-tah," meaning "the man who always does the right thing."

Prairie Plays Hide-and-Seek.

Some years ago a topographer was sent out from Washington to make a survey of what was then Payne prairie, Florida, a bit of land about 85 miles in extent. The survey was made and the prairie described. Three or four years later a new surveying expedition found that this land had been transformed into a body of water, and it was put on the map as Lake Alachu. It developed that this lake-prairie plays a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde game with itself, sometimes appearing as one and sometimes as the other.

Playing for Safety.

A few weeks ago a negro, of Alabama, entering the witness box, said he thought he wouldn't swear. He thought he would just affirm. "Erastus," said the judge, "how is this? A month ago, when you appeared before me you consented readily enough to be sworn. Why is it you will only be affirmed now?" "Well, yo' honah," said Erastus, "de reason am dat I specks I ain't quite so sure about de facks o' dis case as I was o' de odder."

King's Signature.

Trifling as the actual work of signing his name may seem, yet when the number of times King Edward affixes his signature to documents is considered the work assumes something of the nature of hard, or at least confining, labor. It is estimated that his royal name is signed to not fewer than 50,000 official documents yearly, and in addition to these there are several hundred signatures affixed to his private correspondence.

is recognized by the trade and by the public as an event of really great importance.

FIRST—Because the sale involves one of the largest collections of furniture in the United States.

SECOND—Because the furniture offered is not "sale" stuff made for "special" selling, but the most dependable makes from the best factories, east and west, upon which we have built our splendid reputation.

THIRD—Because the July Sale brings down the prices on every piece of furniture in these gigantic stocks—in some cases a full third below regular cost.

FOURTH Because in addition to maintaining the lowest regular prices quoted by any furniture house in New Jersey, and notwithstanding the generous reductions during July, those who wish may select such furniture as they may desire, and by joining our HOUSEHOLD CLUB, pay for it on the CLUB PLAN, making it easy in case it is inconvenient to pay for it at once.

Greatest Institution in the World.

The regard in which The Prudential Insurance Company is held by the public of its home city was shown at the Children's Day services in one of the Newark, N. J., churches one Sunday recently. The pastor had given the children a talk on the Christian church, and, in order to learn just how much information the little ones had absorbed, at the close of his remarks asked them if any one could tell him what was the greatest institution in the world. Quick as a flash a little voice piped out, "The Prudential Insurance Company." When you consider what The Prudential has done toward bettering conditions in this world or ours, the little fellow wasn't far off the right track, and no doubt his reply was an echo of the opinion of his parents regarding the company.—Insurance World.

MADE AN AMAZING MIXUP.

Queer Assortment of Married Couples in Hungary.

After being employed for 40 years as valet to the male companion of his own wife, a man named Ruzizka, once wealthy, but now penniless and imbecile, has been received into the municipal workhouse of the town of Agram, in Hungary. Ruzizka, left an orphan with a good deal of property, married in 1863 Camilla Ostvic, a professional singer. Returning from the church, the bride introduced her husband to Dr. Theodor Sparcek, a lawyer. Sparcek brushed the bridegroom aside and walked on ahead, enjoying a tete-a-tete with the bride. In a little while he turned to the bridegroom and informed him that he (Dr. Sparcek) and the bride were going on a honeymoon trip. The rightful husband might come, too, if he acted as valet. The husband's poor wits seem to have been scattered forever by the announcement. He was helpless, and accompanied his wife on her elopement. In this manner all three lived uneventfully until 1885, when the woman died. Dr. Sparcek then lost no time in finding a new "wife," but seemed disinclined to marry himself. Under threats of dismissal from his valetship, the imbecile was obliged to go through the marriage ceremony for the second time. Another 21 years passed quietly, when suspicion was aroused by Sparcek selling Ruzizka's properties. The guilty lawyer then fled with the second Mme. Ruzizka, leaving his unfortunate "valet" absolutely penniless.

WINDOWS BEFORE THE DOOR.

Maid's Queer Idea of Providing Ingress for Firemen.

The things people do when they have a fire in the house would make a book full of exceedingly funny reading. The other day there was a fire out on Westminster place, and the maid, as is usual with maids, got very much excited, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. After the fire was extinguished she was relating incidents and declared that her first thought was to open all the windows. "I went and threw up every window," she said. "But," remonstrated the lady of the house, "why did you do that?" "Why, to let the firemen in," said Mary. "But couldn't they get in through the door?" asked the lady. "Oh, they never does," said Mary with conviction; "they never waits to go to the door, but jumps in through the windows," and she smiled in thinking of her own presence of mind in remembering the vagaries of firemen.

Royalty Avoids Strong Drink.

Queen Victoria of Spain does not know the taste of alcohol. Her special "tipple" is made from oranges—the fresh fruit squeezed into a glass, which is filled with aerated waters. Oranges are her favorite fruit. For years Princess Henry of Battenburg was a teetotaler, but of late she has suffered so much from rheumatism that she has been ordered to take a little whisky which she regards as a penance. Both Princess Christian's daughters, too, are teetotalers. All the children of the prince and princess of Wales are being brought up strict teetotalers, and they know nothing of alcohol. Princess Patricia of Connaught and her married sister also abjure wine. Another royal teetotaler is the duchess of Argyll, and the two daughters of the princess royal, their highnesses Alexandra and Maud, have never in their lives touched wine.

Marrying Under the Gallows.

In olden days, if a man or woman would consent to marry under the gallows, a person condemned to death might thereby be saved from execution. This happened, according to an old English ballad, to a Chichester merchant who was thus saved by a loving maiden. In 1784 a criminal at New York escaped in the same way. (And all readers of Victor Hugo's "Notre Dame" will remember that powerful and dramatic scene where Esmeralda saves Pierre Gringoire.) But Pinkerton records a case where the criminal refused to retain life in this way. The story of this intrepid refusal has been told in lines which bear quotation.

Placing Stamps Wrongly.

"The only way to stop people from plastering a stamp at any old place upon the envelope, except the right one, is to do as is done in England. There a letter which does not have the stamp in the right position is cast aside and handled only when all other mail is sorted and exchanged." This idea was advanced by a postal clerk. "We often lose considerable time because of these letters," continued the clerk, "for often we have to stop and turn over an envelope to find the stamp. The worst offenders in this respect are not foreigners, but those who have lived here for years."

Slight Misunderstanding.

Talking of German opera, the London Telegraph relates the story of a lady who brought her little son from the country the other day to witness the pantomime at Drury Lane, and took him by mistake to Covent Garden, where there was a matinee of "Lohengrin." "The opening of the first act," we are told, "was voted dull by both mother and son. But hope shone brightly when Lohengrin, drawn by the swan, appeared, and little Johnny in excitement called out, 'Oh, mother, look at Sinbad chasing the duck.'" Small wonder that "devout Wagnerites," who sat near, were "upset."

DENOUNCES GRAND JURY

ful statement when he says the present jury to which he alludes, was selected by the sheriff and his political friends.

As a matter of fact the members were chosen by his honor, Judge Atwater.

So far as compensation is concerned the money received by a juror from the county in many cases where they live outside of the city of Elizabeth is equalled, and sometimes exceeded by the expense incurred in attending court. Many of the number, the writer included, have lost in one day in money and business interest more than they will receive from the county for their service during the entire term. This fact is proven by the perfect deluge of requests from the various members of the presideing judge, during the past and present term desirous of being excused from jury duty.

In view of the fact that the Grand Jury, the Prosecutor and his assistant, for whom I have the most profound respect, hear only one side of the case at the examination and that the complainant's side not the defendant's, how in the name of common sense and justice are they in a position to judge intelligently.

Does the Grand Jury presume to pass judgment on the statement of the complainant without having heard the defendant.

If the Grand Jury is to be omnipotent we had better dispense with the present existing superfluities, such as the courts judges, and by all means the notorious and impotent Petit Jury. So far as the criminal cases which have been tried, (up to the date of presentation) six in number, by the Court of Common Pleas in which the Petit Jury were concerned, the majority were cases, which I think, should have been settled in the lower courts. Larceny cases where the money value involved ranged from one dollar to less than ten, have been tried; sometimes consuming the whole day, and part of another, and which have been decided against the complainant through lack of evidence; said cases costing the county in the aggregate thousands of dollars.

The members of Petit Jury do not profess to be infallible, but I do claim that the majority are truthful, honest, conscientious and law abiding citizens; earnestly striving to do their little part, and to give every man a square deal, and I consider the various accusations and insinuations the most unkind, unjust and unreasonable misrepresentations that any respectable body of men could have been subjected to. I appreciate the honor of being connected with such a body and if I had occasion to bring action in a court of law, I would feel perfectly satisfied to abide by the decision of the majority of the members of the Petit Jury.

If all or any of the afore-mentioned statements accetting the moral or intellectual standing of the present Petit Jury, were true, it would seem strange, yet, it is a significant fact, that his honor, Judge Atwater, and the County Prosecutor would continue as they do to try cases, and the petitions by the jurors, to be relieved from jury duty, are, if possible, more numerous than before; and said requests are met with the usual detail: we are still doing business at the same old stand, with the assurance of confidence and respect of the most eminent members of the legal profession.

In conclusion, I want to state the well known fact that every man is entitled to justice in a court of equity by due process of law. And, if the Grand Jury, the prosecutor and his assistants and members of the legal profession, cannot or do not present the evidence, we, the Petit Jury cannot return a conviction.

I also want to state the above article is the unanimous expression of the majority, if not the entire panel, and inasmuch as the burden of proof rests on us, to vindicate ourselves from these unjust accusations, we do hereby indignantly deny the charges of irregularity and incompetency and ask that this statement receive the same publicity which the statement reflecting upon the honor and integrity of the Petit Jury has already received.

I have the honor to remain,
Yours respectfully,
B. S. H. BAKER.

Think Jury Right.

The presentment of the Grand Jury on Friday is one of the strongest arraignments of the liquor business as conducted in Elizabeth and in various parts of the county that could be made, and there is little doubt that the jury is right. Indeed, much of which the jury has formally and so strongly declared has been known to exist, but few have been brave enough to dare to beard the lion. The presentment declares that Elizabeth "is absolutely in the hands of the brewery and saloon interests; that the breweries make the Excise Board and control it." The presentment should be the means of a thorough revolution, which would prevent the breweries from controlling matters. The greatest reform that can be hoped for is that the people will take up the question and will elect men who will see that men are elected as councilmen and excise commissioners who will represent the people. The charges against sheriffs and other executive officers are largely for sins of omission. With so many good men shirking jury duty, it is little wonder that incompetent men are sometimes chosen. Perhaps of the recommendation that a juror be drawn for not over two weeks becomes the rule, it may tend to remedy these matters. It is believed that the excise laws are fairly well lived up to in this town. There is no suspicion of "graft" or any "system," thank fortune.—Westfield Leader.

GOLF PLAYED IN RAIN

Fair Field Out, on Both the Country and Park Courses.

ABBOTT GETS A 79

Mr. Hibbard Wins In Finals for the June Cup—Mr. Cathcart Wins First Honors.

Despite a driving rain Saturday afternoon there was a fair field out at the Plainfield Country Club to compete in the various events scheduled. During the morning the rain did not materially affect the course, but in the afternoon it was thoroughly soaked and many contestants did not play the entire eighteen holes and some who did, failed to post their scores. However, the scores returned were up to the average and were excellent considering the conditions. The weather also had its effect on the social festivities and not so many remained for the dinner dance in the evening.

In the finals for the June cup, between Henry D. Hibbard and T. Earl Stockton, the former won, defeating his opponent 1 up in a close and exciting match that was not decided until the last hole was played.

Just five scores were posted for the Golf Committee cup. W. Lester Glenney won the first three points, while Robert Abbott and T. Earl Stockton were tied for second place with a score of 81. The scores were as follows:

W. Lester Glenney, 80, 0—80; Robert Abbott, 79, plus 2—81; T. Earl Stockton, 87, 6—81; Henry D. Hibbard, 87, 4—83; Frank O. Reinhart, 83, 0—83.

George E. Cathcart won first honors for the Green Committee cup with an 83. The scores returned were as follows: George E. Cathcart, 90, 7—83; A. G. Henderson, 110, 18—92; Hugh F. Fox, 108, 15—93.

In the play for the Scratch cup, Robert Abbott won a leg on the trophy with a score of 79. Those who have won a leg on this cup will play off later at match play.

The weather on Saturday kept many of the Park Golf Club members at home, but there were a number who braved the elements to follow their favorite game. Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll won first honors for the President's cup and scored five points for the Hydewood Park cup with a net score of 90. Alexander Gilbert and Charles B. Morse won points for both cups, while Charles W. McCutchen won one point for the Hydewood Park cup. For the Golf Club cup, scratch event, Dr. Carroll won first honors. The other points were won by Mr. Gilbert, Mr. Morse and Mr. McCutchen. These scores were returned for the three trophies:

Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 104, 14—90; Alexander Gilbert, 113, 21—92; Charles B. Morse, 115, 12—94; Charles W. McCutchen, 117, 20—97; W. V. ———, 126, 22—104.

Spend Millions For Economy.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 1.—That the cost of the production of steel may be reduced a few cents a ton millions of dollars are to be spent in new machinery for the plants of the United States Steel Corporation, and almost a hundred engines are to be relegated practically to the scrap heap. This step will probably take two or three years to complete, but it is assured by the experiments that have been carried on at the Edgar Thomson plant of the corporation at Braddock, where the experiments have been along the lines of abolishing coal in favor of gas as fuel and using the gas that blows from the blast furnaces.

An unmarried woman who never had an offer.

A singer who never complains of a cold when asked to sing.

A woman who, when caught in her second-best dress, will make no apology for her dreadful appearance.

A woman, age immaterial, who does not experience a flush of pride upon being thought what she is not and may never hope to be.

A married woman who never said, "No wonder the girls don't get married nowadays; they are altogether different from what they were when I was a girl."

A woman who remembers last Sunday's text, but is unable to speak understandingly of the trimmings on the bonnet of the lady in the pew next in front.—Chicago Journal.

BY THE WAY.

Unless fashion wills it, mankind is a poor paymaster for amusement.

No man's usefulness need cease until he has passed away, if he is not lazy.

The man who works for immediate results need never expect to grow too great for comfort.

The world is inclined to feel pleased over your troubles, if it pays any attention at all.—Uncle Dick in Madison Journal.

The woman who controls herself and one man could control an army.—Success.

A good cook, a good wife and a good situation will make a good home anywhere.—George Lorrimer.

It takes a great deal of self-control for the best of us to learn to live in perfect harmony for a lifetime with one who at first is a comparative stranger.

Musical Service at First Baptist Church.

A musical service of a high order was given at the First Baptist church last night, opening with a selection by Dr. Leonard Waldo, 'cello, and his daughter, Miss Waldo, with the violin, that was full of charm. They were accompanied by the organist, Howard Case. The choir rendered two anthems, "Saviour Thy Children Keep," by Sullivan, and "The Wilderness and the Solitary Place," by Goss, which showed the harmony of the chorus. William Holmes sang with fine expression, "The Publican," by Van Derwater. The sermon by Rev. J. A. Chambless on Zaccheus was full of instruction and appealing tenderness. The service concluded with the anthem, "Remember O Lord Thy Tender Mercies."

MAPS HELP A MAN SLEEP.

Mental Geography the Best Soporific, According to a Drug Clerk.

A haggard-looking man strolled into a drug store the other day and asked the druggist for help. He said he had trouble in getting to sleep when he retired. No matter how sleepy he might be during the day or how much sleep he might have lost, the moment his head touched the pillow he was wide awake and lay thus for several hours. Once asleep, he was hard to waken, but he had to be up at a certain hour, and in consequence of his peculiar affliction he was losing more sleep than he could stand. The drug clerk regarded him quizzically a few moments and then replied: "My dear man, you don't need medicine. What you want is something to change the trend of your thoughts. Do as a friend of mine did. He was troubled the same way and found that the old folks' plan of imagining sheep passing a barrier, and counting them was out of date. So he began trying to name all the states in the union. He soon got them so he could classify them alphabetically. Then when they no longer interested him he started on the counties of this state. He now has them at his tongue's end, classified up to the fourth letter. Now he is starting on state capitals and their locations; then he will take up county seats. A moment's glance at an atlas during the day shows him when he is wrong, and the beauty of the plan is that he rarely has to think along these lines longer than ten minutes before he is sound asleep. To make it short, the study of geography is a good narcotic."

ANSWER WAS A STINGER.

Cruel Rejoinder to Question of Impassioned Woman.

A Detroit woman said of the late Gen. Russell A. Alger: "In company with a half-dozen other women—a committee, in fact—I once waited on Gen. Alger to try and interest him in woman suffrage. He was interested. He admitted the truth of many of our arguments. But in the matter of supporting us he would not go as far as we wanted him to go. One of our ladies got, I am afraid, a little overexcited. In her address to the general she imputed to woman more virtues than any merely human creature could possess. At the height of her eloquence Gen. Alger, chuckling, interrupted her. He said he had once attended a woman suffrage meeting where the lady lecturer on the platform had boasted about woman as this lady was doing. The lecturer, he said, ended a striking climax with the question 'Where would man be if it had not been for woman?' She looked around the crowded hall. The silence was intense. She raised her hand and cried again impressively: 'I repeat, where would man be if it had not been for woman?' Then a coarse voice from the rear replied: 'In Paradise, ma'am.'"

Don't Cry; Go Eat.

"I don't cry any more about anything," said the bachelor girl. "When I get so sad I don't know what to do I go out and get me something to eat. A little fellow I was very fond of once taught me that. He asked me to take luncheon with him to talk over a quarrel we were having. During the talking over it I got to crying. I cried all over my fish. He ordered me some more fish and scolded me while they were getting it ready. 'Never cry, Frances,' he said, 'as long as you've got a good luncheon or dinner before you. It isn't worth while.' No. I never saw him again, but whenever I want to cry I think of him and get me something good to eat instead."

Had Use for Both.

Chicago policemen sometimes make themselves useful, although perhaps not in the way they are supposed to. This was shown by an incident in a South side home. The mistress of the house happened to go into the kitchen during the evening. There she saw the cook evidently enjoying the company of two big dispensers of the law. "Why, Maggie," she exclaimed, "isn't one policeman enough for you?" "Shure, ma'am, but wan is my chaperon," answered the cook. "Which one?" queried the lady. "Sometimes the wan and sometimes the other," was the cheery reply from the resourceful Maggie.—Chicago Chronicle.

Go to England to Marry.

Every year from 800 to 1,200 couples go to England from the continent, mostly from Germany, to get married. To comply with the conditions of the English law the bride usually comes over first, stays one night in a hotel and gives notice of the marriage on the following day. Then the man arrives and the ceremony takes place. It is generally by license, as otherwise both would have to be in England for four weeks.

What Ailed Him.

The village philosopher looked unhappy. "What's the trouble?" asked the village cut-up. "Indigestion," said the philosopher. "I suppose it's the mince pie I indulged in last night." "Mince pie nothing! I know what's the matter with you and I'm not sorry it hurts, either. You're too full of old saws, you are, and it's no wonder they have turned on you at last."

No Installments.

Creditor—"Won't you pay me on the installment plan?" Debtor, (haughtily)—"No. I always owe cash."

THINGS NOT TO FEAR.

Don't be afraid to think before you act.

Don't be afraid to make your goods known.

Don't be afraid to tell the truth. It is a part of your honor.

Don't be afraid of experience. He is the best teacher.

Don't be afraid to admit when you are in the wrong.

Don't be afraid of pleasure. It is necessary for good work.

Don't be afraid of imitators. Originality always bears a trade mark.

Don't be afraid to fight against odds. Most things worth having are hard to get.

Don't be afraid of censure. We all need toning down as well as toning up.

Don't be afraid to use your time to advantage. It is given you for that purpose.

Don't be afraid of rivals. Things may be crowded below, but there is always room on top.

Don't be afraid to be polite at all times and under all circumstances. It is no disgrace to be called a gentleman.

THOUGHTS FROM EMERSON.

Do not make life hard to any.

The pest of society is egotism.

Life should not be cheap, but sacred.

Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices.

God enters by a private door into every individual.

Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm.

There is always room for a man of force, and he makes room for many.

There is no beautifier of complexion, of form, or behavior, like the wish to scatter joy and not pain around us.

Do not waste your life in doubts and fears; spend yourself on the work before you, well assured that the right performance of this hour's duties will be the best preparation for the hours or ages that follow it.

Insist on yourself; never imitate. Your own gift you can present every moment with the cumulative force of a whole life's cultivation; but of the adopted talent of another you have only an extemporaneous half-possession.

PROVERBS.

Arrogance is the obstruction of wisdom.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Providence doesn't seem to work overtime lowering our rent for us.

A woman has a queer idea about anyone who wears false hair unless it's herself.

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

CHAPTER XV.

To trail an enemy who is never without a rifle and the will to use it requires courage and Indian cunning as well. Pete Bolduc had both, and after observing the many signs of a trapper's presence in the swamp, he knew, after he crossed it and reached this lake, that somewhere on its shores his enemy, McGuire, had his lair.

He paused at the outlet, as did Old Cy, to scan every rod of its rocky shores, not once, but a dozen times.

The sun was now halfway down. A mellow autumn haze softened the encircling mountains and the broad, frowning peak to the right. A gentle breeze rippled the upper end of the lake, and here, in the wild rice growing along its borders, stood a deer, belly-deep in the green growth.

No thought of the blessed harmony of lake, sky, and forest, or the sequestered beauty of this spot, came to the half-breed. Revenge and murder—twin demons of his nature—were in his heart, and the Indian cunning that made him hide while he watched for signs of his enemy. The bare peak overlooking the lake soon impressed him as a vantage point, and after a half-hour of watchful listening he laid his rifle across the thwart, handy to grasp on the instant, and, seizing his paddle once more, crossed the lake to the foot of the peak.

To hide his canoe here, ascend this with pack and rifle, was the next move of this human panther, and here in a sheltering crevasse he lay and watched for his enemy.

Two hours later, and just at sunset, McGuire returned to the lake.

As usual, he, too, paused at the outlet to scan its shores. He believed himself utterly secure here, and thought no human being was likely to find this lakelet. But for all that, he was watchful. Some exploring lumberman or some pioneer trapper might cross this vast swamp and find this lake during his absence.

A brief scrutiny assured him that he was still safe from human eyes, and he crossed the lake.

From the bare cliff a single keen and vengeful eye watched him.

As usual, also, McGuire made his landing at a convenient point, some 50 rods from his cave, and carried his canoe up and turned it over, back of a low-jutting ridge of slate. He skinned the half-dozen prizes his traps had secured that day and followed a shallow defile to his lair. Here his pelts were stretched, a slab of slate was lifted from its position in a deep, wide crevasse between two of these ledges, and McGuire crawled into his den.

Most of these movements were observed by the half-breed, who, watching ever while he plotted and planned how best to catch his enemy unawares, saw him emerge from amid the ledges again, go down to the lake, return with a pail of water, and vanish once more.

All this was a curious proceeding, for he, like Old Cy, had expected to find McGuire occupying some bark shelter, and even now he supposed there was one among this confusion of bare rocks.

Another surprise soon came to this distant watcher, for he now saw a thin column of smoke rise from a ledge and continue in varying volumne until hidden by twilight.

And now, secure in his cave and quite unconscious of the watcher with murderous intent who had observed his actions, McGuire was enjoying himself. He had built a little slate fireplace within his cave. A funnel of the same easily fitted material carried the smoke up to a long, inch-wide fissure in the roof. He had a table of slate to eat from, handy by a bed filled with moss and dry grass, also pine knots for needed light.

Opening into this small cave was a lesser one, always cool and dry, for no rain nor melting snow could enter it, and here was McGuire's pantry, and here also a half-dozen tin cans, safely hidden under a slab of slate, stuffed with gold and banknotes.

To still further protect this inner cave he had fitted a section of slate to entirely fill its entrance.

When the last vestige of sunset had vanished and twinkling stars were reflected from the placid lake, the half-breed descended from his lookout point, and, launching his canoe, followed close to the shadowed shore and landed just above where McGuire disembarked. Indian that he was, he chose the hours of night and darkness to crawl up to the bark shelter which he expected to find, his intention being to thrust a rifle muzzle close to his enemy's head and then pull the trigger.

But to do this required a long wait and extreme caution. His enemy surely had a camp-fire behind a ledge, and shelter as well. The smoke had seemed to rise out of a ledge, but certainly could not, and so—still unaware of McGuire's position, yet sure that he was amid these ledges, and near a shelter—Pete grasped his rifle and crept ashore.

It was too early to surprise his enemy—time to fall asleep must be allowed. Yet so eager was the half-breed to deal death to him, that he must needs come here to wait. No chances must be taken when he did crawl up to his victim, for a false step or the rattle of a loose stone, or his form outlined against the starlit sky as he crawled over a ledge, might mean death to him instead of McGuire. And so, crouching safely in a dark nook above the landing, Pete waited, watched and listened.

One hour passed—it seemed two—and then the half-breed crept stealthily up to where the smoke had been seen. Not by strides, or even steps, but as a panther would, lifting one foot and feeling where it would rest and then another, and all the while listening and advancing again.

It was McGuire's habit, while staying here, to look at the weather prospects each night, and also to obtain a drink of cool water before going to sleep.

Often when the evenings were not too cold, he would sit by the lake shore for a half-hour, smoking and watching its starlit or moon-glittering surface, and listening to the calls of night prowlers.

In spite of being an outlaw, devoid of moral nature, and one who preyed upon his fellow-man, he was not without sentiment, and the wild grandeur of these enclosing mountains, and the sense of security they gave, were pleasant to him. His life had been a harsh and brutal one. He had dealt in man's lust and love of liquor. He measured all humankind by his own standard of right and wrong, and believed that he must rob others or they would rob him. He had followed that belief implicitly from the start, and would so long as he lived. He felt that every man's hand was against him, and no reproaches of conscience had resulted from his cold-blooded killing of an officer. Never once did the thought return of the few years when a woman's hand sought his in tenderness, nor any sense of the unspeakable horror he had decreed for his own child.

So vile a wretch seemed unfit for God's green earth; and yet the silence of night beside this lake, and the stars mirrored on its motionless surface, soothed and satisfied him.

He had now and then another impulse—to some day take his savings of many years, secreted here, and go to some other country, assume another name, and lead a different life.

And now, while an unsuspected enemy was waiting for him to enter a sleep that should know no waking, he left his cave and seated himself on a shelf-like projection close to the lake, which was deep here, and the ledge shore a sheer face rising some ten feet above the water.

One hour or more this strange compound of brute and man sat there contemplating the stars, and then he suddenly detected a sound—only a faint one, the mere click of one pebble striking another.

He arose and listened.

Soon another soft, crushing sound reached him. Some animal creeping along in the passage between the ledges, he thought.

He stepped quickly to the end of the shelf. On that instant a crouching form rose upward and confronted him.

He had one moment only, but enough to see a tall man a step below him, the next a flash of spitting fire, a stinging pain in one shoulder, and this human panther leaped upon McGuire!

But life was sweet, even to McGuire, and as he grasped and struck at this enemy in a blind instinct of self-preservation as both closed in a death grapple, one instant of awful agony came to him as a knife entered his heart—a yell of mingled hate and deadly fear, as two bodies writhed on the narrow shelf, a plunging sound, as both struck the water below—and then silence.

Death and vengeance were clasped in one eternal embrace.

CHAPTER XVI.

For two months life at Birch Camp much resembled that of a woodchuck or a squirrel. Now and then a day came when the crusted snow permitted a gum-gathering trip into the forest, or a few midday hours at ice fishing:

and never were the first signs of spring more welcome than to those winter-bound prisoners. The wise counsel and patient example of Old Cy had not been lost upon Ray, either; and that winter's experience had changed him to an almost marvelous degree. He was no longer a moody and selfish boy, thinking only of his own privations, but more of a man, who realized that he had duties and obligations toward others, as well as himself.

With the returning sun and vanishing snow, animal life was once more astir, and a short season of trapping was again entered upon, and mingled with that a few days more of gum-gathering. It was brief and at a disadvantage, for ice still covered the lake, and until that disappeared no use of the canoes could be made.

Once well under way, however, spring returned with speed, the brooks began to overflow, the lake to rise, and one morning, instead of a white expanse of watery ice, it was a blue and rippled lake once more.

And now plans for Ray's return to Greenvale were in order, and the sole topic of discussion. He was as eager as a boy anxious for the close of school, and for a double reason, which is self-evident.

It was agreed that Old Cy and himself should make the trip out together in two canoes, and convey their stores of gum and firs. At the settlement these were to be packed, to await later sale and shipment. Old Cy would then return to camp, and Ray would go on to Greenvale.

A change in this plan came in an unexpected manner, however, for a few days before the one set for departure, Old Cy, always on watch, saw a canoe enter the lake, and who should appear but Levi, Martin's old guide.

"I've been cookin' up at a lumber camp on the Moosehorn," he explained, after greetings had been exchanged, "an' I thought I would make a trip up here an' call on ye 'fore I went out."

How welcome he was, and how all, even Amzi, of those winter-bound prisoners vied with each other in making him the guest of honor, need not be asserted. He had been a part of their life here the previous summer, with all its joys and dangers, and now seemed one of them.

When mutual experiences and their winter's history had been exchanged, of course Chip's rescue, the half-breed's escape, and the whereabouts of her father came up for discussion that evening.

"I've heard from Tim's Place two or three times this winter," said Levi, "an' neither Pete nor old McGuire has been seen or heard on since early last fall. Pete got thar all safe, but vowed revenge on McGuire, as Martin and I found, when we went out. He stayed round a week or so, I hard later, and then started for his cabin on the Fox Hole, 'n' since then hain't never been seen or heard of by nobody. Tim an' Mike went over to his cabin 'long in the winter, but no signs of him was found, or even of his bein' thar since snow came. McGuire also seems to hev dropped out o' business and ain't been heard on since in the summer. We've expected him all winter at the lumber camp, but he didn't show up."

"We've seen him," put in Old Cy, flashing a smile at Ray, "leastwise I callated 'twas him, though I never let on to that effect. He was trappin' over beyond a big swamp last fall, 'n' he paid us a visit, stole a half-dozen o' our catches 'n' left his trade-mark on our canoe." And then Old Cy told the story of their adventure, omitting, however, any reference to the supposed cave.

"It's curis what has become o' him," Levi said, when the tale was told, "and our camp crowd all believe that thar's been foul play, with Pete at the bottom on't. Nobody's shed any tears, though, an' I'm thinkin' the woods is well rid o' him. He's been a terror to everybody long enough."

Much more of this backwoods gossip and change of experience filled in the evening, and next morning Old Cy gave Ray a word of caution.

"I kept whist 'bout our findin' what we callated was a cave," he said, "an' I want you to. This matter o' McGuire and the half-breed ain't blowed over yit, an' we don't want to git mixed up in it. Ez fer the cave, if we 'lowed we found one, the folks at Tim's Place 'ud go huntin' fer it, sure, 'n' I've my reasons for not wantin' they should go. So mum's the word to Levi 'bout it."

Levi's arrival, however, changed their plans, for he at once offered to convoy Ray out of the woods, thus relieving Old Cy, and three days later these two, with well-laden canoes, started on the out-going journey.

It was not without incident, for when the main stream was reached, it was dotted with floating logs and the red-shirted drivers with the bateaux and spike shoes were in evidence. A monster jam was met at the first rapid, the bags of gum nuts, bundles of firs, and canoes had to be carried around it, and when Tim's Place was reached, a score of the good-natured woodsmen were in possession.

Levi discreetly avoided all questions as to what Tim knew of Chip, her father, or the half-breed. Ray's lips were also sealed, and so both escaped much questioning. Here, also, they learned what both had guessed—that McGuire and Pete had either left the wilderness or had perished that winter. Where and how, if such was the case, no one seemed to know or care, and a close observer would have said that every one a Tim's Place hoped that these two outlaws had met their fate.

Old Tomah was also found at Tim's Place, and he was undeniably glad to see both Ray and Levi, and to learn that Chip was likely to be well cared for.

GOLF.

In addition to the many other events scheduled for the Plainfield Country Club on Thursday, there will be a driving competition in the afternoon. This should attract many members who do not care to take part in the other events.

Now that Robert Abbott has returned from Yale, he will be a frequent visitor to the Plainfield Country Club. On Saturday he returned the low score of 79, thereby winning a leg on the Scotch cup.

Continued improvement in the playing of Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll is noted at the Park Golf Club. On Saturday his score of 104, 14—90 won first honors for three trophies.

Earl Stockton played a plucky game on Saturday at the Plainfield Country Club against H. D. Hibbard in the finals for the June cup, and was only 1 down in the match.

A movement is on foot among the officials of the United States Golf Association and the foreign association to make several changes in the rules, which it is believed will be a benefit to the game.

The Middlebrook Country Club will offer an attractive program of golf on Thursday and several prizes will be presented to the winners.

The chief event of interest at the Plainfield Country Club, Thursday, will be the play for the club championship. This usually brings out a big field.

There will be a number of social events at the Plainfield Country Club on Thursday in celebrating Independence Day. At night there will be a dinner-dance and music will be furnished at the clubhouse during the afternoon.

Thursday afternoon in connection with the events scheduled at the Park Golf Club tea will be served at the clubhouse by a number of women members of the club.

The local fans had their first real disappointment on Saturday, when the rain interfered with the game scheduled for Crescent Oval between Y. M. C. A. and Scotch Plains. Everything pointed to a red hot contest. This game will be played off later, as will also the postponed Clinton Avenue-Raritan game, which was to have been played at Raritan.

Thursday's program of local baseball will partially make up for Saturday's disappointment. On Independence Day the Y. M. C. A. team will play at Raritan in the morning and Raritan will play the association nine on Crescent Oval in the afternoon. The morning game at Crescent Oval will be between Scotch Plains and Clinton Avenue and in the afternoon Clinton Avenue will play the Laurels at Bound Brook. This schedule gives every one of the five teams a game on that day.

The games scheduled in the amateur league for Saturday will bring Y. M. C. A. and Bound Brook together at Bound Brook, while Scotch Plains will play at Raritan. Clinton Avenue will have a game scheduled for that day at Crescent Oval with some out of town team.

August 24 has been left open by the amateur league officials for the playing of postponed games.

As a result of the Harvard-Yale baseball game on Saturday not a few local sports dropped a few dollars. The admirers of the Blues backed their team to the limit.

Efforts are still being made to get Heyniger away from Princeton with one of the big league clubs, but he steadily refuses all offers. "Iron Man" McGinnity claims the credit for bringing Heyniger out and making him one of the best college pitchers of the year.

Rain saved the Giants again on Saturday. Jupiter Pluvius is occasionally good to McGraw's aggregation.

"Christy" Mathewson strained his side a few days ago, but the injury is not considered serious at all and he will probably be able to pitch again in a few days.

The American League managers have nothing on Jim. McGuire, of the Boston Americans. Since taking hold of that team he has surprised his rivals.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mrs. Frank Dunning, of West Seventh street, will build a new porch on the rear of her house.

—Miss Mabel Cole, who gave up her position in Harry C. Runyon's law office several weeks ago, will return to it the latter part of this month. Miss Smith, who succeeded her, will take the place of Miss Mary Baldwin, who is to be married, in Francis J. Blatz's office.

GOT MINISTER'S BIKE.

Cleric and Former Chief of Police In Wheel Mix-Up.

When Rev. C. E. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, left the Trust Company building on Park avenue at 9:45 this morning, after transacting business there, he looked in vain for the bicycle he had left at the curb. His wheel had disappeared and another bicycle, not quite as attractive as his, was in its place. No one claimed it in response to inquiries made in the neighborhood, and he took it. He reported the case to police headquarters.

A few minutes after Mr. Goodrich left headquarters, William Campbell, former chief of police of North Plainfield, came in and straightened out the case. He took Mr. Goodrich's wheel, mistaking it for that of Chief George Weiss, of the borough, which he had ridden to the Trust Company.

Home Will Open Friday.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home will open Friday and the first service on the grounds will be held Sunday afternoon, July 7, at 4 o'clock, to be in charge of Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, and George A. Chapman, of the First Baptist church. Miss Louella C. Harris, soprano, and Miss Gertrude Hinz, contralto, also from the above church, will sing. These 4 o'clock meetings will be held every Sunday afternoon during the rest of the summer, and meetings will also be held on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings during the week. These meetings will be held in the building erected by David Land in memory of his sons.

Horsey Hoodoo.

Some unpropitious star in the ascendant when Edward Vanderhoef, of Lake street, has a horse in hand. He figured, last week, in two different courts in a dispute over ownership of an equine, and last night another horse belonging to him, wandered away. A bit of luck turned up in the latter case, however, as Arthur Gunther, who lives not far from Vanderhoef, found the horse and reported the find to the police this morning. Vanderhoef claimed and secured it.

Former Plainfielder Marries.

Thomas Walsh, a former well known resident of this city and member of the one-time plumbing firm of Galbraith & Walsh, was married at Paterson Saturday morning, to Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, of that city. The ceremony was performed in the rectory of St. John's church by Rev. Father John J. Butscher, also a former resident of Plainfield. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh will make their home in New York, the former being located in business there.

Relaying Somerset Street Track.

The Public Service Corporation has well under way the work of relaying its tracks on Somerset street, between Jackson avenue and Front street. The improvement was induced by the recent derailing of several cars and the fact that permanent pavement seems to be coming along slowly but surely. A new pattern rail, very much heavier than the one doing service, is being installed.

Miss Florence Klein Injured.

Miss Florence Klein, aged twenty years, employed as a feeder at the Crescent Embossing Works, accidentally caught her hand in the press she was feeding this morning and two fingers were crushed. She was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where an examination showed that no bones were broken. After receiving treatment the young woman returned to her home on West Third street.

Freeholders Accept Wing Walls.

The bridge committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders and the Somerset County Board of Freeholders met this morning at the West End avenue bridge and accepted the wing walls just completed by Contractor Arthur E. Smith. The cigars were passed around and the county officials pronounced the job all right according to their judgment.

Hearing On Pave Tonight.

It is expected that the more active members of the Board of Trade will put in an appearance tonight when the public hearing of the proposed brick pave ordinance takes place in the Common Council chamber. The Board favors brick pavements and President Marshall is anxious that the members be on hand to explain why it is preferable.

At a Long Island Club.

City Judge Runyon, George Schoonmaker and James Dodd took part in a club entertainment at Water Witch, L. I., Saturday night. They have been prominent in the program of the club's annual stag affair for several years. They were the guests of club members over yesterday.

Miner's Lucky Strike.

New York, July 1.—Miss Lillie Terryman, of Cornwall, England, was a passenger on the New York, of the American line, arriving Saturday night. She is on her way to Reno, Nev., to become the bride of the sweetheart of her childhood. Playmates on the estate of Lord St. Levin near Land's End, she plighted her troth sixteen years ago to Thomas P. Nicholas, the son of a mining engineer. Five years ago her suitor came to America to find his fortune. In Bodie, Cal., he was successful, and last year he returned to claim his bride, but she said, "Wait a year," and back he came to America. A month ago, after making a lucky strike, he cabled the good news and the young woman consented to join him in Reno.

Brakeman's Narrow Escape.

Whitehouse, July 1.—Thomas Alpaugh, of Whitehouse Station, a brakeman on the Flemington freight of the South Branch Railroad, had a narrow escape from death at Neshanic Station Friday afternoon while drilling cars. He supposed he had turned the switch to run a car on the siding, but instead of that the car came along on the main track and struck him, throwing him to the ground. His right hand got under the wheels and two fingers were badly smashed. He was taken to Somerset Hospital in Somerville, where the fingers were amputated.

Temperance Leader Dies.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 1.—Francis Murphy, a noted temperance leader, died yesterday morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Wayland Trask, after an illness caused by diabetes, which has confined Mr. Murphy to his bed for two weeks. Francis Murphy inaugurated and carried to a height unexampled in this country a temperance campaign in the late seventies. Ten million signatures to pledges of total abstinence from liquor were obtained during his crusade.

Body Found in Old Quarry.

Thoroughly drenched by the rain which fell Saturday night, and with a pistol clutched in his right hand, the body of a man about thirty years old and well dressed, believed to be R. H. Adams, of No. 148 Eighth avenue, New York city, was found last night at the bottom of an old quarry hole near Mill street, in Belleville, N. J. There was a bullet hole over the heart. There was nothing to indicate foul play and the body was sent to Kunz's Morgue, in Orange.

One Conviction and An Acquittal.

In the Union County Court late Friday afternoon Harry Rigby, of Elizabeth, was convicted by a jury of stealing $440 out of the pocket of Patrick Pierson, a mason, on the night of September 13, 1906. Charles Olsen, of Fanwood, who was tried for atrocious assault on Warren MacCauley, of Scotch Plains, May 25, last, was acquitted in two minutes.

Grace M. E. church congregation is arranging for a series of three entertainments to be given during the coming fall and winter, probably one each in October, December and January. They will probably be of a musical and literary character, similar to those given last year.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Treat, of West Fifth street, are entertaining relatives from Mahanoy City, Pa.

PASS PAVING ORDINANCE

Common Council Unanimously Decides to Lay Brick on Business Thoroughfares.

NORTH AVE. EXCEPTED

Board of Trade Members Speak in Favor of the Improvement—Ginna Slaps Hassam Idea.

The business section of the city is to be paved with brick, the ordinance providing for the improvement having been adopted at the meeting of the Common Council, last night, on final reading, by a unanimous vote. Mr. Tolles was the only absent member. This action was taken after a public hearing during which several members of the Board of Trade, including President H. W. Marshall, spoke in favor of the proposition. All were in favor of the brick pavement under the circumstances, but great stress was laid on the fact that North avenue had been unnecessarily left out of the streets to be paved.

Mr. Marshall urged the adoption of the ordinance, stating that the Board of Trade had been making every effort to have the improvement made. L. B. Woolston stated that four years ago the Board of Trade took up the question of permanent pavement and had been working for it ever since. In his opinion brick had been found to be the most satisfactory. He expressed regrets that North avenue was not included in the ordinance and he hoped that provisions would be made for paving the avenue. He believed that the main thoroughfare leading from the railroad station should be improved, especially as the city did not originally macadamize the avenue and has not since expended much money in keeping it in repair. In addition he urged the laying of a double trolley track on East Front street before brick pavement is laid there, explaining the great inconvenience in trolley service now as a result of the present single track arrangement.

Former Mayor J. F. Buckle also urged that brick pavement be laid, adding that if he had his way North avenue would be included. He spoke of the dusty and dirty condition of the thoroughfare which made it impossible to keep stores clean, even with generous sprinkling. Wood pavement, he thought, would be desirable if it was not so expensive.

George J. Tobin spoke as a taxpayer and property-owner in favor of permanent pavement for North avenue, referring to the dirty, dusty condition of the street. He said it was the New Jersey Central that macadamized the avenue in return for the benefits of a sewer, and the street had not cost the city much.

F. A. Dunham, civil engineer, and expert in street pavements, said that he favored brick, believing it to be the cheapest and most durable. If expense was not to be considered he favored wood block, but he did not think that a better pavement than brick could be secured for the money. At this point Mr. Daniel asked Mr. Dunham several questions bearing directly on proposed disadvantages of brick pavement, such as it being an extremely hot pavement. He also suggested the heavy clatter of horses' feet at certain hours of the day and night and the question of dust. Many of these questions Mr. Dunham explained that all rock or brick pavements, including asphalt, are considered hot in summer, and as for the dust and dirt he said that if the brick pavement is cared for as it should be it would not be found dirty. He said that it could be easily washed and cleaned. Regarding the noise, he said that constant improvement is being made in brick pavement and this, he believed could be reduced considerable.

Amos Andrews spoke in favor of the brick pavement and urged that North avenue be considered. He expressed surprise that the Common Council should hesitate over an expenditure of $7,000 for the improvement of the thoroughfare.

This closed the hearing and later in the evening, Mr. Ginna moved that the ordinance be adopted on third reading. Before a unanimous vote was taken, Mr. Gloak alleged that if Mr. Ginna had kept his word six weeks ago, the street work might have been underway now. This remark brought the chairman of the street committee to his feet and he wanted to know what Mr. Gloak meant. He said that Mr. Buxton and Mr. Gloak asked him to vote for Hassam pavement, but not knowing anything about the pavement he refused to do so. Later when he learned more about it, he still refused to vote for it, and furthermore declared Mr. Ginna, "I'll never vote for Hassam pavement because I don't think a city has any right to lay a patent pavement." He alleged that Messrs. Buxton and Gloak had an ordinance prepared

AGED WOMAN STRUCK BY A POLICE MOTORCYCLE

CONFUSED BY ITS APPROACH, MRS. MARTIN STEPPED IN MACHINE'S PATH.

Mrs. Frances Martin, seventy years old, of the Jackson flats, was knocked down by one of the police motorcycles, ridden by Patrolman Andrew Saffron, at Park avenue and Front strett, at 7 o'clock, last night. She was only slightly injured.

Mrs. Martin, with her daughter, Mrs. Lester Leggett, was starting to cross the avenue from the west corner, as Saffron rode slowly from police headquarters, on his way home. She saw him steer to turn the corner of Park avenue, and hesitated. She became nervous and confused, and just as the motorcycle took the turn she stepped directly before it. Saffran had noticed her nervousness, and slowed up. His machine was barely moving when it struck her, and the force of the impact was not great. She was thrown against the curb, and her head struck the stone.

When bystanders raised her Mrs. Martin was suffering from shock. She had a lump on her head where it had struck the stone, but the skin was not broken. She was able to walk, and started away with her daughter to go home. Dr. A. C. Gesswein, who reached the scene a few minutes after the accident, hurried to her and made an examination to determine if she was injured more seriously than was apparent. He found her suffering principally from shock, and allowed her to continue on her way home. No grave result is expected from the accident.

HENRY HAURAND BUYS.

Acquires Station House Building for a New Cafe Location.

Henry Haurand, who conducts the Central Cafe at 115 East Front street, has purchased the building at 120 East Front street, the two lower floors of which are used as police headquarters, station house and city court. Mr. Haurand acknowledged that negotiations for the building were under way yesterday morning, and last night he admitted the purchase unreservedly.

Mr. Haurand has been forced to seek another location by the attitude taken by the owners of the building at No. 115 as to renewal of the lease. They instituted legal action to gain possession. J. B. Coward is the seller of No. 120. The city lease has about a year to run.

Mr. Haurand is expected to file application for a license for No. 120 as soon as he has completed arrangements to take possession. The plans of the city for new police headquarters in the event of being forced out of the present location have not had time to develop.

Democrats Condemn Voting Machine

Resolutions condemning the voting machine were adopted at a meeting of the Democratic County Executive Committee held at Somerville on Saturday. The method of electing county committeemen was also changed. Hereafter they will be voted for and elected at the primaries, the same as other officers, are chosen.

Papers in the contract case of Clark against Wyckoff, in Justice Van Minden's court, have been served. The case will be heard next Monday.

J. V. N. Willis, of Duer street, is sojourning at Whitehouse, Hunterdon county.

STREET CONTRACTS MADE

Eleven Thoroughfares are to be Macadamized at an Early Date.

COUNCILMANIC ROUTINE

Call Man to Be Given Hearing—Although Three Members Opposed It.

Contracts for macadamizing eleven streets as proposed in an ordinance recently adopted, were awarded at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night. As stated in the Daily Press a few days ago, C. M. Meeker was the lowest bidder for the work on Arlington place, Denmark road, Sycamore street, Hillside and West End avenues; Warren B. Travell the lowest bidder for the work on Randolph road, Cottage place, Park Lane, Elmwood place and College place, while the Hassam Pavement Company was the lowest for the work on West Second street. The contracts were awarded as above.

Mr. Meeker and Mr. Travell each will be required to furnish bonds for $900 for the faithful performance of the work, while a $200 bond will be required of the Hassam Pavement Company. It is expected that the work will be started at once.

The introduction of a resolution by Mr. Hibbard, which provided for the sale of "Teddy" and "General," the two fire department horses, they having outlived their usefulness brought out the suggestion that it woud be a wise thing toe send th team down to the sewer farm where they could be used to advantage. At present the city is hiring a team for work there. Mr. Ginna made the suggestion and immediately Mr. Mellick and Mr. Hibbard concurred. Then the question was raised as to whether the city could do this, inasmuch as the law provides that in such a case the horses must be sold and the money given to the pension fund of the department. The resolution was referred back to the committee. In the meantime the committee will ascertain what rights the city has in the matter.

PLANS FOR PARK.

Play Ground May Be Located in West End.

The Town Improvement Association of Plainfield and North Plainfield having made a proposition to the city to care for any city park or public playground that the city might designate for such purpose, Mayor Fisk, through Mr. Tyler, chairman of the public affairs committee, offered a resolution at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night, asking the association to submit plans, probable expense, etc., for such a park to be located on property owned by the city.

The site proposed is in the West End of the city in the factory district, the proposition first being made by Mayor Fisk, who thought that the unused city property could be put to good use.

Gets a Fine Trotter.

Ex-Lieutenant William Campbell, of the borough fire department, who is now in the livery business, yesterday picked up a speedy troter in a horse deal. The former was unaware of the animal's fine points as a track animal and "Bill" profited thereby. In a trial spin last night, "Skipper," as he has been labelled, developed a 2.40 gait without straining. The new owner has made application to enter him in the Fourth of July race meet and will also take him to Flemington to compete with some of the fast ones from Three Bridges and Frenchtown.

COL. MASON TYLER DEAD

Well Known Resident Succumbs in New York Hospital Following Operation.

AN ACTIVE CITIZEN

Had Served in Common Council, Board of Education and Public Library—Of Mayflower Descendant.

Colonel Mason W. Tyler, one of Plainfield's foremost citizens for over thirty years, died this afternoon at the Presbyterian Hospital, New York, where he underwent an operation during the past three weeks. He apparently was improving for it was understood that he was to return home within a few days. During the past forty-eight hours there was a sudden change for the worse and the end came suddenly.

During his entire residence in Plainfield Col. Tyler was identified with nearly everything that stood for the progress and betterment of the city. He possessed considerable wealth and was generous in his contributions to all charitable enterprises and those in need. His death will be a distinct loss to Plainfield and many of its best known societies, with which he was identified.

Colonel Tyler was born June 17, 1840, at Amherst, Mass., and was the son of Professor William S. Tyler, who occupied the chair of Greek in Amherst College for sixty years. He was a descendant of Governor Bradford, of the Mayflower, and Major-General John Mason, who commanded the expedition against the Pequot Indians. He was also a descendant of the Rev. Jonathan Edwards, president of Princeton College. Aaron Burr was a cousin of his grandmother. His mother was a descendant of Gov. Ogden, of New Jersey.

Colonel Tyler was graduated from Amherst College in 1862. He entered the army and rose to the position of colonel, being with Sheridan in the Shennandoah Valley. He was several times disabled. He participated in thirty battles. After the war he studied law at Columbia College and since has been practicing that profession. He was a director of many mercantile and other business corporations.

In 1869 Col. Tyler was married to Miss Eliza M. Schroeder, daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Schroeder, formerly rector of Trinity church, New York. She was a descendant of United States Senator Boardman. Mrs. Tyler died a year ago. Two sons are surviving: William Seymour Tyler, the reformed leader of the Plainfield Common Council, and Cornelius Boardman Tyler.

Col. Tyler had served as a member of the Common Council and the Board of Education. He was a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., of this city, and of the New York Commandery, Military Order Loyal Legion. He was also a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants and of the Society of Colonial Wars. In addition he was president of the Plainfield Public Library Association and was one of the early trustees of Muhlenberg Hospital. Col. Tyler was also identified with the Town Improvement Association and of the Organized Aid Association. He was a member of the New Jersey Historic Society. He drafted many of the city bills for presentation to the State Legislature some years ago and was president of the Plainfield Anti-Race Track Association. Col. Tyler was a communicant of Grace church and for many years active in all its affairs.

Baldwin Charge Dismissed.

Richard Baldwin's charge of disorderly conduct against Edward Vanderhoef, growing out of the dispute overe the ownership of a horse, was quickly disposed of in the city court this morning. Judge Runyon dismissed the complaint after a five-minute examination. Baldwin accused Vanderhoef of calling him profane names.

Privates Made Corporals.

Privates Phil. Winter, Harry Elliott and Thomas McGurk were elected corporals at a regular meeting of Co. K, last night, to fill vacancies caused by promotions.

BADLY HURT IN RUNAWAY

D. J. CARNEY SHAKEN UP

Men Were Driving in Brookside Sanitarium Grounds When Guinea Hens Frightened the Horse.

Figuring in a runaway accident in the grounds before Brookside sanitarium on Somerset street at 8 o'clock last night, William L. Smalley, Jr., brother of Mayor N. B. Smalley, was quite badly injured, and David J. Carney, also of the borough, received a severe shaking up. Smalley was hurled with great force against a tree and though no bones were broken, it is possible that he might have sustained internal hurts. Carney escaped by falling on the lawn.

The two men were on their way to see Dr. Cooley on a matter of business and had just driven into the grounds when a flock of guinea hens, roosting in a tree, set up a great clatter directly above their heads. The horse was badly frightened by the noise and leaped forward so suddenly it was impossible for Mr. Smalley to bring it under control. The path winds in and out from Somerset street to the sanitarium and failing to make one of the turns, the animal dashed the rig into a tree.

Despite the force of the impact, the vehicle, a heavy-built Stanhope, withstood the collision, otherwise both occupants might have fared much worse. The horse tore itself loose and with a whiffle-tree dangling at its heels, went dashing about the grounds. It leaped a five-foot stone wall at one point and also clambered in and out of the rear areaway of the sanitarium before two employes caught it.

Carney was quickly on his feet after the throw-out but Smalley was unable to rise. He was picked up by Dr. Cooley and several of his attendants and quickly given proper treatment. Later in the evening he was removed to the home of his father, William L. Smalley, Sr., of Craig place, and his since been under the care of Dr. Carman. This morning he was too weak to be taken to his own home and will remain at his father's place for several days at least. It will require that length of time before the full extent of his injuries can be learned.

PLACE SEWER BENEFITS AT EXACTLY $10,867.20.

Commissioners File Report—Hearing Set for Monday, August 5.

Robert A. Meeker, S. P. T. Wilbur, and Harry B. MacDonald, commissioners appointed to levy an assessment in the matter of certain sanitary sewer extensions, submitted their report to the Common Council, last night. The whole amount determined upon by the assessment for the work is $10,867.20. The report takes up fourteen typewritten pages, for the schedule of assessments, and states that in no case has the assessment levied on property-owners exceeded the actual benefits and the excess has been placed on the city. The report was filed.

Mr. Ginna offered a resolution, which was adopted, fixing Monday night, August 5, at 8 o'clock, as the time when a public hearing will be given on the matter. In the meantime those interested can see the report at the city clerk's office.

LAD NEARLY KILLS HIS YOUNGER BROTHER

CARLESS SHOOTING COSTS HAZELWOOD APGAR HIS LEFT EYE.

The careless shooting of a gun in the hands of James Apgar, aged twenty-one years, near the Dunellen brickyards, yesterday, cost his younger brother, Hazelwood Apgar, aged fourteen years, the loss of his eye and filled his arms, chest, legs and abdomen with a large quantity of shot. Unless complications develop, young Apgar will recover. One of the shot struck the pupil of the eye, injuring it to such an extent that Dr. F. C. Ard was compelled to remove it.

The young men, who are sons of "Neaf" Apgar, the well known marksman, were hunting woodcock, in the vicinity of Albert Rajotte's brickyards at Dunellen. Believing that there was some game in the nearby underbrush, the young men separated about fifty feet from one another to investigate.

A woodcock appeared in the open, and James Apgar blazed away. His brother being in line of the aim received practically the whole charge in his face and body. With the assistance of men from the brickyard he was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital and Drs. Ard and Long were called in.

The lad was taken to the operating room, where Dr. Ard removed the eye, and Dr. Long searched for the shot in the body. Unless complications develop it is not thought that the injuries will prove fatal. Today the boy is resting comfortably.

CHAIRMEN ARE COMING HOME SOON FROM THE WEST.

Both J. S. Frelinghuysen and F. H. Smith Getting Ready to Return North Shortly.

Two neighboring county chairmen are preparing to return to their homes this week, from far-off points. Senator Frelinghuysen, chief of the Republican organization in Somerset county, who has been critically ill at the Auditorium Annex Hotel, Chicago, recovering from an operation for appendicitis, which developed suddenly while he was on a business trip in that city recently, will be in shape to return home on Saturday, and is expected to start on the eastward journey at that time.

Frank H. Smith, head of the Union County Republican Committee, who has been touring the Pacific coast and Alaska, is expected to return home Tuesday, July 9. He will be back in time to get into the thick of the debate aroused by the grand jury's condemnation of the political side of the petit jury panels. He may have something to say about the subject, because he is the active head of the reigning county political organization, which Mr. Fisk's jury says has been using the petit jury panels for the payment of political debts and things.

District Court.

Decision was reserved in the only case contested in the District Court this morning. The suit was brought by Mary I. Porter, of Somerville, against William D. Bird, a contractor, to recover $300, to repay expenditure made necessary by defective work on a house erected on Cliff street, Somerville. Newton Porter, of Newark, appeared for the plaintiff and L. A. Clement for the defendant.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea, of Central avenue, are registered at "The Carlisle," Asbury Park.

ELIZABETH COUNCILMEN DARE THE GRAND JURY

Invite Indictment in a Bold Resolution Addressed to Court and Its Accusers.

"NOTHING TO SAY," FISK

Foreman Declines to Notice Council's Strange Act—Another Citizen Talks Plainly.

The Elizabeth City Council last night by a unanimous vote put it squarely up to the grand jury to make good the charges contained in its recent presentment, to the effect that the city government of Elizabeth was dominated by the breweries.

In a set of resolutions, adopted without dissent, it declared, that it was the solemn duty of the grand jury to find indictments against the Councilmen if the allegations made in the presentment are true, and called upon the grand jury to take that action, so that the members of the City Council may have an opportunity to prove them false in open court.

It is the most remarkable action taken by a Councilmanic body in the history of Elizabeth, the Councilmen practically asking to be indicted so that they may have an opportunity to prove the charges contained in the recent presentement false beyond the shadow of a doubt.

When Mayor Charles J. Fisk, foreman of the Grand Jury was told by the Daily Press man of the action taken by the Elizabeth Council relative to the presentmen madeby him and his colleagues, he declined to make any statement for publication. "I have nothing to say at all," he remarked.

"Well, do you intend to do anything?"

"It is notfor me to say anything."

"Well, will the Grand Jury hold a meeting in the near future?"

"If thereis any business to come before it."

"Do you consider this of sufficient importance to call them together?"

"I tell you I have nothing to say."

A prominent citizen who declined to allow his name to be used spoke rather freely concerning the situation. Said he:

"I should hate to be in Juryman Baker's shoes and I should not like to voluntarily place myself as he has. He seems to think that the presentment hit him, although nobody has said that it does. To my mind his letter in reply to the presentment is no argument but just a volley of abuse for the Grand Jury. That's a serious matter under the law and I should not be surprised to see the court jack him up for an explanation. Contempt is a serious business in the eyes of the law. Another thing that strikes me is the absurdity of the position the Elizabeth councilmen have placed themselves in. What they have to do with the Grand Jury I don't know. Any lawyer will tell you that the Grand Jury has no business to deal with such resolutions.

"The Grand Jury has made a statement which they say is based on facts found after an investigation. Why, then, should the Grand Jury pay any attention to resolutions passed by any body or individual to which they are in no way accountable. The Grand Jury you know only has to deal with the court and to it alone must it answer."

"Now who are those councilmen who thus attack the Grand Jury? Besides General Collins, president of the City Council, who in addition is president of the Breidt Brewing Company, these members are connected with the liquor traffic business: P. J. McGurn is the collector of the same company while his colleague from the First ward, is secretary and trusted lieutenant of George Seibert, who is the head of the Rising Sun Brewing Company. Mr. Nugent, a member from the Eighth ward is the lawyer for the same company, and M. E. Kenely, of the Second ward, is a brother of Excise Commissioner Kenely."

"These men control the majority of Council and a minority representation is allowed on all other matters but care is taken that the minority is not allowed to name a member of the excise board."

"To get at this whole matter, an examination ought to be had at once of the Peter Breidt Brewing Company and the Rising Sun Brewing

CLERGYMEN DISTANCE COMPETITORS IN PLAY FOR PARK GOLF CLUB TROPHIES

The computing of standings for trophies being played for by Park Golf Club players, reveals the fact that a local clergyman leads in each instance. They are three in number and Dr. H. K. Carroll has a good hold on two of them, while Rev. J. O. McKelvey has distanced all competitors for the third.

Dr. Carroll has been a devotee of the game ever since the Park course was opened and he is rated as one of the best players in the club. He has been turning in good scores all season and has never been in better form. At the present time he is in the lead for the President's cup, having 9½ points. His nearest competitor is Charles A. Reed who has 6½. For the Hydewood cup, Dr. Carroll has 19 points, while Alexander Gilbert is second with three less. For this trophy Mr. Reed has 10 points.

The other clergyman who has been demonstrating that he can play the ancient game is Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, who now heads the contestants for the Hydewood Cup with 10 points. Mr. McKelvey is a veteran in the ranks of the enthusiasts and hardly a Saturday passes but what he lands a point or two in some one of the match plays. Mr. Reed is second for the Hydewood cup with eight points.

Beside the two divines mentioned, there are two other local pastors who find sport and exercise in following the gutta-percha over the Park links. There are Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, and Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel. Both have long since passed out of the novice class and are to be seen in all the important contests conducted by the club.

GOOD FORTUNE ALONE SAVES TWO FROM INJURY WHEN RUNG OF LADDER BREAKS

Good fortune was all that saved Sylvester Canoli, a young Italian hod-carrier, and J. Fred McDonald, the real estate operator, from severe and perhaps fatal injuries shortly before eleven o'clock this morning. Canoli came close to tumbling from the top of a roof-high ladder, and Mr. McDonald had a narrow escape from being pelted about the head and shoulders by falling bricks.

Canoli was carrying hods of bricks to a workman repairing the chimney of Mr. McDonald's house at Watchung avenue and Front street. He had carried one hodful almost to the top of the thirty-five-foot ladder, when the fourth rung from the top, on which his feet rested, snapped in two. Canoli usually goes up a ladder, when carrying a load, with only one hand on the rungs. It happened just as the rung broke, that he had two hands on the rung just his head, and that saved him.

His feet shot down suddenly as the rung broke, and the weight of his body would certainly have broken a one-hand hold. Even with the two hands grasped about the upper rung he had a hard job holding fast, but he managed it.

Mr. McDonald stood at the foot of the ladder when Canoli went up, steadying it. For some reason the hod on Canoli's shoulder did not tilt and spill. Mr. McDonald's head would have been right in line with the rain of bricks had the spill occurred. Three of the bricks did fall, and they narrowly missed Mr. McDonald.

When Canoli's nerve reasserted itself after a few seconds of frightened swinging by the hands, he drew himself up and put his feet on an uninjured rung. He lost no time in coming down. He was badly shaken, and it required more than a few minutes to restore his nerve sufficiently to enable him to go on with his work. Before he continued hod-carrying Canoli carefully tested every rung, and the rest of the morning he used both hands in going up and down.

An Illustration

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

MORAL:—Do likewise and avoid worry. Come in and we will talk it over with you, or drop a postal and a confidential representative will call on you.

Here's a Natural Strength-Giver

You'll find the beneficial effects of this tonic are permanent—because it helps you to build up your body and become strong and healthy in a natural way. The effects of other tonics are only temporary because they supply a false stimulation to the system. As soon as you stop taking them, you remove this stimulus, and the feeling of exhaustion returns.

DR. D. JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE

brings lasting health and strength, because it helps your body to do its own building up—through the stomach. It puts your digestive organs in perfect condition, and enables you to get every bit of nourishment and strength out of the food you eat.

It is also an excellent child's medicine and a safe Worm Cure.

Sold by all druggists. Two sizes, 50c. and 35c.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The events at the Plainfield Country Club on Thursday will include play all day for the Independence Day cup, the club championship, qualifying round at 1 o'clock, consolation cup, first round, third eight cup, first round. There will also be a driving competition in the afternoon.

The members of the Park Golf Club will have a busy time on Thursday. There will be play for the Holiday cup, members' bogey handicap, eighteen holes, match play; to be competed for morning and afternoon. There will also be an approaching and putting contest for mixed couples, open to members and their guests; to start at 4 o'clock; suitable prizes for the winning couple.

At the Westfield Golf Club on Thursday there will be a bogey handicap for men in the morning, both classes, prize to the winner, and a handicap medal play for mixed foursomes in the afternoon with prize to the winners.

Events scheduled for Independence Day on nearby links are as follows: Baltusrol Club—Medal play handicap, 36 holes. Madison Club—President's cup, finals; qualifying round, board of governors' cups. Somerset Inn Club, Bernardsville—Twelfth annual tourney. Morris County—Bogey tournament, men's championship. Elizabeth Town and Country Club—Medal play handicap, morning and afternoon. Deal Club—Independence Day handicap, 36 holes.

The Eastern Professional Golfers' Association will hold its July meeting at the Astor House, Monday morning, July 8. Final action will be taken regarding the championship tournament.

Entries closed with Secretary Morgan, for the amateur championship and as soon as the overnight mails are in from distant points they will be made public. Some forty had been booked by Saturday and the number will probably show no falling off. Massachusetts, according to report, will not send a large entry. "How many Boston players will enter will not be known for a few days, as several are hanging fire," states the Globe. "The State, however, will not have its strongest representation, for A. G. Lockwood, W. C. Chick, Richard Kimball and J. G. Anderson are some of those who will not be able to make the trip to Cleveland. Until a national championship is held in the Boston district there will be little chance for a local golfer to win the national title." Certainly unless the Boston players will enter they won't win on a course away from home. The Boston entry in other championships has not been large, but the golfers have been zealous and good sportsmen. Can it be that they are sulking in their tents this year because the annual meeting of the U. S. G. A. voted the competition to Ohio and not to Massachusetts? If so, there is no need for such a manifestation of chagrin; instead, as Euclid much resembles several of the most played Boston links, the Massachusetts golfers should be eager for the fray of drives and puts. Massachusetts can now claim two national champions—Miss Harriot Curtis and Alec Ross—and also Miss M. B. Adams, the winner of the Women's Eastern Golf Association title. Who knows but what a brave venture now would also give an amateur champion to Boston? "Nothing venture, nothing have," is an adage as trite as true. E. M. Byers and F. Oden Horstman have returned from their Scottish jaunt in fine condition for golfing, while Jerome D. Travers and Walter J. Travis are deemed to be sure starters at Euclid.

DIAMOND DUST.

The same old cry is heard in Westfield—"Want better support for the baseball team." It is reported that the average attendance at Recreation Park is 200 at each game and this will not meet the expenses of a league team. The officials maintain that the present team is putting up as fast a game as the aggregation in the palmy days, but does not get the support. The club is now planning for a carnival to be held for the benefit of the team.

Jack O'Neil, Plainfield's old catcher, is now doing the receiving end on Saturdays for the Westfield team. Norwig is on the slab.

Westfield is making strenuous efforts to get out of last position and begin the work of climbing the pennant ladder. Last Saturday the rain interfered with an opportunity to move up.

"Phil." Smith, who is planning a trip to Europe this month, has decided not to do any regular pitching this summer. Next year he will try to sign with one of the big league clubs.

It is said that considering the kind of fields they have to play on the teams in the Lackawanna League are putting up a much faster article of ball than many recognized minor league clubs. It is said to be a great training for fielders.

Clinton, formerly of Elizabeth and Morristown, who has been doing good work in the box for Providence, of the Eastern League, has been bumped hard of late.

The All-Stars, of Newark, will play Scotch Plains at the Plains Thursday afternoon. A good game may be expected.

The Ironsides, of Newark, will play the West Ends at Somerville on Thursday afternoon.

The West End fans of Somerville are pretty much discouraged over their failure to make a better showing against Flemington, this season, and it is doubtful whether the two teams will meet again this year. All the hard luck has been with the West Ends.

Rev. Dr. John S. Kerr Says Elizabeth Should Repeat 1776 Act.

ROAST FROM PULPIT

Commends Grand Jury's Charge That The Town Government Is One "for, by and of" the Beer Factories.

It is eleven days since the May Grand Jury handed in its presentment scoring the city government of Elizabeth as one for, by and of the breweries, and now there is more widespread discussion perhaps than at first. An attack made by the Rev. John T. Kerr, of Elizabeth, on the brewery intereste, in which he severely scored theElizabeth City Council, has centred interest once more on the liquor question in Elizabeth.

In his sermon, which has caused so much discussion, the Rev. Mr. Kerr urged the members of his flock to throw off "unfair and unprincipled domination" as their forefathers did in 1776.

"I say it in all seriousness," he declared among other things, "that the time has come when Americans here and there, and especially in Elizabeth, ought to repeat the act of their forefathers. They must repeat it if they are to preserve or deserve the name of freemen. In this case the unfair and unprincipled domination they must throw off is that of the breweries."

He then commended the Grand Jury for its recent expose, and referred in the following sarcastic manner to a comment which the president of the City Council had made on that document: "It is only just and right that those charged with dereliction should have a chance to say something for themselves. Let us hear what they have to say in answer to the presentment. The president of the City Council says: 'It is a pity. It gives the city a black eye!' What a picture of outraged virtue! What an exhibition of tender solicitude for the city! And this from the head of a system that for 365 days and nights of every year is wounding the city, deepening its shame, making its poor poorer, contributing to riot and murder, taking the bread out of the mouths of dependent wives and children, adding to the sum of human misery, filling our jails with criminals and our almshouses with paupers. It is the condition that gives the city a black eye, not the exposure of it."

S. O. PERMIT GRANTED BY A 6 TO 4 VOTE

TRUST ALLOWED TO PLACE GASOLINE TANK IN CITY LIMITS.

The petition of the Sandard Oil Company for permission to erect a large gasoline tank on its property on East Fourth street, adjoining the railroad, met with considerable opposition at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night. Mr. Tyler led the opposition force and he sounded a strong note of alarm in entertaining the proposition at all. The petition was presented by Mr. Hibbard, of the fire and building committee, and it caused much discussion.

The Standard Oil Company desires to build this tank, about 30 feet deep and ten feet in diameter, proposing to sing it beneath the ground, where it would store gasoline for automobiles. The capacity of the tank would be about 350 barrels.

Mr. Hibbard explained that the matter had reached ehe hands of Building Inspector T. O. Doane, but he preferred to have the Council take action on it.

Mr. Mellick stated that by placing the tank underground every precaution yould be taken to safe-guard the interests of nearby property-owners. He thought it could not possibly do any harm and he favored granting the petition.

Mr. Tyler said that it was too serious a matter to act on without full consideration. He could see no reason why the Standard Oil Company should be permitted to store so much gasoline in the neighborhood selected, and he believed it would be a decided menace to the residents.

Mr. Hibbard said that he did not care to engage in any scientific discussion of the subject, but in his opinion he could see no danger in the storing of gasoline out-of-doors. He said that it would practically be impossible for air to get into the tank, come in contact with vapor gases and cause the trouble anticipated. Mr. Tyler said he knew something about gasoline and knew how dangerous it is under almost any condition.

Finally, Mr. Tyler moved that the petition be referred back to the committee for further consideration. This motion was lost, and Mr. Hibbard then pressed his motion that it be granted. This was carried, Councilmen Tyler, Gloak, C. C. Randolph and President Daniel voting in the negative.

CITY MAY INVITE P. S. C. TO SUE FOR ITS BILL

DISPUTE OVER ELECTRIC LIGHTING MAY LEAD TO LITIGATION.

Because the Public Service Corporation, successors of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company, has not fulfilled its contract to maintain the street lights at twenty-five candle-power brilliancy, which the parent company agreed to do, the light bills of the P. S. C. have not been paid since January 1, last. The company agrees to make deductions for all "lights out" bue refuses to comply with the agreement as to the twenty-five candle-power illumination. As a result of this it is quite likely that the city will be a defendant in an action brought by the P. S. C.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh reported on the matter at the July meeting of the Common Council last night, stating that some fine points in law are raised by the controversy and that he has arranged with Frank Bergen, counsel for the P. S. C., to hold the matter up until September, without injury to either party. By that time Mr. Marsh will have returned from Europe and be prepared to represent the city in the cause of contention.

providing for Hassam pavement on North avenue but it was never introduced.

Mr. Gloak said that he would vote for the ordinance, but he hoped to see North avenue included later on, and besides he intended to offer an ordinance to include Richmond street, which he said was travelled as much if not more than any other street in the city. When the vote on the ordinance was taken, every member voted in the affirmative.

The next move will be to advertise for bids for the laying of the brick pavement. This cannot be done inside of a month and it will probably be the best part of two months before the work can be started.

The streets to be paved are East and West Front street, from Watchung to Madison avenues; Watchung avenue, betwen East Front and Fourth streets, Park avenue from Front to Fourth streets; the intersection of Arlington avenue and Seventh street, and the intersection of East Fourth and Sycamore streets. The cost of the work will be about $47,000.

COUNCILMEN KEPT BUSY

Flood of Petitions and Reports Took Up Time of City Fathers.

BEN LA VERE' OFFER

Wants to Give Public Band Concerts For $500—All Bids for Storm Sewer Rejected.

An almost endless amount of routine business was disposed of at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night, and this together with other matters of more importance, made the session a lengthy one, it being just midnight when an adjournment was taken to July 15, to receive bids for proposed contract work.

Among the petitions received was one from H. L. Miller, of East Seventh street, for a hydrant, one from the Vacuum Cleaning Company for a fire-alarm box near its factory on North avenue, another one for a hydrant at Hunter avenue and West Fourth street, and one from G. W. V. Moy and others asking that sidewalks be laid on New street, between Sixth and Seventh streets. All of these matters were referred to the proper committees.

Warren B. Travell and Peter Morgan, contractors on the southside sanitary sewer work, which includes the installation of a pumping station on Randolph road, asked for an extension of time to September 30 next to complete the work and later Mr. Ginna offered resolutions granting the request. The resolutions were adopted.

Benjamin LaVere sent a communication to the Common Council as to the resumption of band concerts, stating that according to a new law the city has the right to appropriate any amount up to $2,000 for such amusement. He said that he was willing to furnish the concerts if the city would appropriate $500. Later Mr. Tyler, chairman of the public affairs committee, to which the matter was referred, reported that Mr. LaVere had failed to make any definite proposition and for that reason he moved that the request be denied. It was so ordered.

Residents of Stebbins place, between Third and Fourth streets, petitioned to have that street macadamized and the matter was referred to the street committee. The deed transferring property held by the city under the provisions of the Martin Act, to Clara Stelle, was presented and filed.

In response to a request from all the property-owners interested an ordinance was introduced and passed on two readings, providing for the vacating of a portion of Prescott place. While the street was surveyed and designated to be laid out as a street, it never was opened and now the owners of property there want it closed. A public hearing will be granted on the ordinance at the August meeting.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that he granted thirty permits during the past month and the report was filed.

City Judge William N. Runyon presented his quarterly report, showing that 215 cases were disposed of by him, of which fifty-five were fined, sentence was suspended on 127, thirty-one were sent to jail, two dismissed and one turned over to other authorities. The sum of $393 was received in fines, of which amount $313 was for general violations, $70 for violations of the automobile law and $10 for violations of the health ordinances.

Clerk Horace G. Adams, of the district court, reported the receipts for the past month to be $77.81 and after meeting certain expenses a balance of $56 was turned over to the city treasurer.

Street Commissioner Gavett reported the granting of fifty-four sewer permits.

Joseph A. Hubbard, as chairman of the Board of Assessors, explained that as the board under the new law is required to keep the tax books open until July 10 and present them to the county tax board at Elizabeth by August 1, the services of another clerk would be required to complete the work on time. He asked that $100 be appropriated for that purpose. Mr. Tyler opposed the expense, but later a resolution was offered giving the board the amount asked for.

Several resolutions were offered by Mr. Hibbard and adopted. The first one transferred $105 from the sale of old fire department material to the pension fund of the department, according to law. Another resolution authorized Mayor Fisk to purchase a typewriter for the use of the city offices at an expense not to exceed $60, and $30 was appropriated for L. Moraller & Son, jewelers, for keeping the town clock running for the coming year.

In accordance with another resolution offered by Mr. Hibbard four new hydrants were located, all two-ways. One at Martine and Kensington avenues, another at Evergreen and Kensington avenues, a third at Evergreen and Edgewood avenues, and the fourth at Randolph road and Lenox avenue. The fourth one was opposed by Mr. Tyler and it was voted on separately, and passed, Mr. Tyler alone voting against the resolution.

Other resolutions by Mr. Hibbard, which were adopted, provided that bids be received for furnishing the fire department with 100 tons of coal and 300 bushels of oats, the same to be received at the meeting on Monday night, August 5.

Mr. Hibbard submitted plans, drawn by Architect E. V. French, for the necessary repair of No. 1 Engine House, and bids will be received for the work at the regular August meeting.

There was considerable discussion regarding Mr. Buxton's resolution to locate a fire-alarm box at Grant and Sherman avenues, petitioned for by W. F. Kirk and others, but inasmuch as four fire hydrants had just been granted Mr. Hibbard opposed the expense. Mr. Buxton insisted that it was needed, but when Mr. Hibbard explained that he thought he could change another box in the vicinity the resolution was lost by a tie vote of five to five. Mr. Ginna at first voted in favor, but afterward asked for the privilege of changing his vote, which he was allowed to do.

The bids for the Plainfield avenue storm sewer work being too high, Mr. Ginna offered a resolution rejecting all bids submitted June 20, and offered another resolution, which was adopted, advertising for new bids to be received on August 5.

Mr. Ginna offered a resolution providing for the construction of an extension of the sanitary sewer system as planned, and bids will be advertised for to be received on August 5. The plans and specifications were filed last night.

Mr. Hibbard again offered an amendment to the building ordinance authorizing Building Inspector Doane to grant permits to persons to move buildings from one point to another point on the same land. Again Mr. Tyler offered objections, claiming that it was letting down the bars for the erection of spite-houses, but Mr. Hibbard explained that it was such a simple matter and it would be impossible for the fire and building committee to consider in detail all such petitions. The ordinance was adopted on two readings and ordered advertised.

Councilman Frank Randolph offered a resolution, authorizing the advertisement in The Daily Press and Courier-News of the proclamation regarding dogs, and it was adopted, Councilmen Daniel and Montgomery voting no. The supplement to the tax ordinance for 1907 was adopted on third and final reading and at the adjourned meeting action will be taken providing for a contingency fund, as recommended by Corporation Counsel Marsh.

Through Councilman Hibbard, chairman of the fire and building committee, Chief T. O. Doane, of the fier department, preferred charges last night, against Daniel V. Force, a call man of the department, who has refused to do duty and also refuses to resign from his position. The action, which was published in The Daily Press recently, is brought for the purpose of giving Mr. Force a fair and impartial trial and deciding whether the position he maintains is justified.

Mr. Force was attached to No. 1 Hose Company, and the papers presented last night by Chief Doane charges him with misconduct in his position, which includes absenting himself five days without leave and failure to respond to eighteen fire alarms since January 1 last, and do duty. The chief also charges that Mr. Force walked into his office and said that he was through, yet refuses to resign.

Mr. Hibbard offered a resolution fixing Tuesday night, September 3, as the time when the trial will be held in the Common Council rooms. The resolution was adopted. The member further explained that Corporation Counsel Marsh would be home from his European trip by the time set for the trial. However, as Mr. Force had failed to reply to letters sent him by Mr. Marsh, as well as himself and Chief Doane, he doubted whether he would appear at the designated time for trial. Mr. Hibbard said that he had asked Mr. Force to come and see him, but this he failed to do.

When the vote was taken on the resolution fixing the time for the trial, some surprise and comment were occasioned, Councilmen Frank Randolph, Gloak and Buxton voting in the negative against the recommendation of the chairman of the committee. No explanation for their action was given. The resolution carried with it a provision that a copy of the charges be sent to Mr. Force.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

The Plainfield Art Store, Y. M. C. A. building, is the place to purchase works of art and artists' materials at reasonable prices.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, are reliable truckers, and the firm contracts to move goods anywhere. Prices are reasonable.

Do you need anything in the hardware line? If so patronize A. M. Griffen, of East Front street. He also keeps cutlery, housefurnishing goods, garden tools and farming implements.

This is the season of the year when an Edison phonograph or a Victor talking-machine will help to pass the evenings pleasantly. They furnish good music for dancing or concerts. H. K. Lister, of North avenue, carries a full line of both machines and records.

The Woodhull & Martin Company offers exceptional values at this season of the year in all kinds of summer goods, from porch rockers for the veranda to everything in men's furnishings. The white goods department is very attractive for the women and the dress goods department is interesting to them. Here they can secure dress materials at popular prices. The carpet and curtain departments are well worth your attention.

Sent to the Pacific.

Washington, D. C., July 1.—As evidence that the Navy Department is impressed with the fact that the Pacific presents the most probable scene of future international disquiet, the armoured cruisers Tennessee and Washington will be sent to the Pacific. The decision of the department, which was reached by Secretary Metcalf after a conference with the President, is regarded as a hint that the navy in the Pacific may be strengthened still more by the transfer of a large force of battle ships from the Atlantic.

The Tennessee and the Washington are the newest armored cruisers on the naval list. They are the only two now in Atlantic waters. They now constitute a special service squadron, under Rear Admiral C. H. Stockton, sent to represent the United States at the Maritime Exposition at Bordeaux, France. It is the purpose of the Navy Department to have them returned to the United States before going to the Pacific waters. Upon reaching the Pacific they will form, with the California and the South Dakota, now nearing completion, a division of four armored cruisers of the most formidable type possessed by the United States.

Leg Amputated In Street.

New York, July 2.—While crossing Thirty-fourth street yesterday afternoon Morris Rosenthal, a salesman, living at No. 224 East 100th street, was struck by a southbound Third avenue car and his right leg was mangled. Dr. Conley, of Bellevue Hospital, found the man unconscious under the car. The ambulance driver and the surgeon pulled the victim from under the front wheels while a score of citizens held the car tilted. Fearing that Rosenthal might die before reaching the hospital, Dr. Conley amputated his leg in the street, with more than three hundred persons looking on.

VERSE WORTH READING.

Breezes of the Prairie.

Oh, the scent of the sage comes drifting down on the breath of a prairie breeze,
From the plains where the bunch-grass ripples brown, like the waves of the summer seas,
And the dear, sweet smell of the hillside pines and the cotton woods that grow
In canyons deep comes home to me when the west winds gently blow.

I can see the bulk of a milling herd in the rain clouds massing black
(By the angry breath of the storm wind stirred) and riders on its track;
I can hear the rush of a mad stampede when the lightnings flash and glow,
And wild hoofs beating the prairie sod when the stirring west winds blow.

Oh, for the feel of a braided rein and the plunge of a prairie steed,
And the brave, true hearts that the open plain and the wind-swept mountains breed!
Oh, for the days on the long divides and nights by the camp fire's glow,
Hard on the trail of the herds that roam where the prairie breezes blow.

Man Who's Down and Out.

A song for the man who loses,
The fellow who plods the road
And tries to win in the battle's din,
And smiles beneath his load.
A song, I say, for the man who toils
And laughs in the endless fight—
Who keeps his eyes to the bended skies,
And tries to win with right.

A song for the man who labors
With never a grouch or frown—
Who seeks no fame or lofty name,
Through ages rumbling down.
The man who bends unto his task,
Though fate has been unkind,
And does his best to reach the crest
With thongs that chafe and bind.

A song for the man who loses,
No matter where he may be—
Who knows the cost of efforts lost,
And groped through mystery.
It isn't much, the song I give,
Its life is short, no doubt;
But a word of cheer for the fellow here
Who lost—who's down and out!
—Will F. Griffin, in Milwaukee Sentinel.

His Old-Time Religion.

Old-time religion, people, is the kind that suits me best—
Sweet fields of Eden there, invitin' you to rest!
Now and then a tempest on Jordan's stormy banks,
But all of us enlisted in the hallelujah ranks!

Old-time religion, people, made flowers in wintry ways,
An' life moved to the music of the old camp-meetin' days.
'Twas then the brighter country was beamin' on the sight—
"Sweet fields arrayed in livin' green, an' rivers of delight!"

Old-time religion, people, is what I want to know—
To sprinkle with the fire of faith the new religion's snow!
An' when this life is over, with its sorrows an' its sighs,
The old-time religion to light me to the skies!
—Atlanta Constitution.

The Old-Time Games.

I want to go back to the old home nest,
And swing on the sycamore tree;
I want to go home again and rest
And let my heart go free;
And play the games with the old-time zest
With the boy that I used to be:
"Chicka-ma-chica-ma-cra-nee-crow,
Went to the well to wash her toe,
When she got back her chickens were gone!
What time, old witch?"

I want to play hide and seek again,
And climb in the old hay loft.
Oh, the world is empty and all in vain
Its riches, and oft and oft
I turn aside from the path of pain
To listen to a whisper soft:
"One zall, two zall, zickerzall, zan,
Bobtail, vinegar, tickerall, tan,
Harum, scarum, Irish narum
Swingerlum, Swangerlum, Washumbuck."
—Celia Myrover Robinson, in New York Sun.

A Brutal Reminder.

A string of horses once did draw
A circus chariot gay.
The foremost looked behind and saw
The others on their way;
Quoth he, "The real work is mine,
Those others simply walk in line;
Just think how they would feel my loss!"
Fool hoss!

A man once stood before a crowd
Who cheered his words full oft.
He spoke to them in accents loud
And waved his arms aloft.
And to himself he sometimes said,
"Mine is the only thinking head—
The one salvation of the clan."
Fool man!
—Washington Star.

Still Waters.

I have been silent, dear, you say, for long,
Aye, yet reproach for this I reckon wrong.
Does not the proverb say
That deepest waters run not loud, but still?
The shallow babblings of my rhyming rill
Content me not to-day:

My happy heart beats to rhythm sweeter
Than can be bound a slave to rhyme and meter.
Why pen should I employ
When to the music of your love so strong
My life is vocal with the sweetest song?
I live the poem Joy.
—Maud Scofield Beeson, in the Century.

The Old Man on Deck.

Say, I'm a ol' rheumatic—
An' it tackles me in spring,
But you jes' play a fiddle,
An' I'll hit the "pigeon-wing."

They say the old man's done fer—
A-goin' down the hill;
But you jes' play a fiddle,
An' I'll "double-shuffle" still!

Thar's life an' joy amazin'
Ef thar's Cain yit fer the raisin'
The ol' man's out o' sight!
Atlanta Constitution.

Sweet Sunset.

Give me bright eyes at sunset,
And silence o'er the scene,
With deeper shades and softer hues
Than through the day have been.

Give me bright eyes at sunset,
And music on the sea,
Give me those fairy siren strains,
Of Nature's melody.

Give me bright eyes at sunset,
That in the waning light
They'll grow in dreams of beauty,
And speak a sweet "good night."
—La Touche Hancock, in New York Sun.

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

When these two voyagers were ready to start, he joined and kept with them until the settlement was reached. Knowing full well the value of gum and furs, he soon found a purchaser for Ray's store and stock at its full value; and when that youth, now elated as never before, was ready to start for Greenvale, the fine old Indian showed almost a white man's emotion.

"Take this to little girl," he said, handing Ray a package, "and tell her Old Tomah not forget. He hope she come back to see him soon."

"Tell Mr. Frisbie I shall be here, waitin' to meet him, when he sends word," Levi said, and shaking hands with both of his good friends, Ray now bade them good-by with many thanks for all they had done.

Of his homeward trip and all the charming anticipations now his, no mention need be made. They are but the flowers wisely strewn in the pathway of youth, and Ray—now more a man than when he entered the woods—full well deserved all that lay before him.

But Old Tomah's heart was sad, and far away beside a rippled lake was another who felt the same.

CHAPTER XVII.

Chip's success and popularity in Greenvale was practically nullified by Hannah, who from wounded vanity and petty jealousy became her enemy from the outset.

Aunt Comfort did not know it. Angie was not conscious of the facts, or, busy with her own social duties and home-making, gave them no thought. And yet, inspired by Hannah's malicious tongue, Greenvale looked upon poor Chip as one it was best to avoid.

With Angie as sponsor, she had been made one of the Christmas church decorators, and had been twice invited to parties, only to exasperate Hannah all the more and cause an increase of sneers.

"She's nobody an' an upstart," Hannah said at the first meeting of the village sewing circle after Chip's advent, "an' I've my doubts about her father an' mother ever bein' married. Then she's an infiddle an' believes in Injun sperrits an' hobgoglin things she calls spites, an' is a reg'lar heathen. I don't trust her a minit, an' never leave the house 'thout I lock up my things."

Much more of this sort fell from Hannah's lips whenever occasion offered, though never within hearing of Aunt Comfort or Angie. Neither did the townspeople enlighten them, and so the undercurrent of innuendo and gossip, once started by Hannah, spread until all Greenvale looked askance at Chip.

There was also some color for this ill repute, for Angie had concealed nothing, and Chip, foolishly perhaps, had asserted her belief when it would have been better to conceal it.

The parson also, chagrined at his failure to make a convert of the girl, referred to her as "rebellious, obstinate in her ideas, and one who needed chastening."

Her teacher, however, was her stanch friend. Aunt Comfort beamed upon her morning and night, while Angie, having provided her with home, raiment, opportunity for schooling, escort to church, and much good advice, felt that she had fulfilled her duty. And in a way, she had.

But social recognition in a country village can be made or marred by such a person as Hannah, and quite unknown to those most interested, Chip's popularity was not decreed. Neither was she conscious of this undercurrent. Each day she went to and returned from school in a sturdy sort of way. A most devoted pupil, she never failed to thank her teacher for every word of help, and, if—thanks to Hannah—she failed to make friends about the village, she won a place near to Aunt Comfort's heart.

But somehow Aunt Comfort, who loved everybody alike, good or bad, or at least spoke no ill of the bad ones, didn't count. That she must inevitably take Chip under her motherly wing, all recognized. She had taken Hannah, then Angie and Nezer, and now this waif who, as Hannah insisted, was all bad; and according to Greenvale's belief, Aunt Comfort would keep on "taking in" homeless waifs and outcast mortals as long as she lived, or house room held out. And, it was true.

By midwinter Martin's new house was all furnished, and social obligations began to interest Angie, which made matters all the worse for Chip, for now Hannah could persecute her with less danger of exposure.

But Chip was hard to persecute. She had known adversity in its worst form. Her life at Tim's Place had been practical slavery, and the worst that Hannah could do was as pin pricks compared to it.

It is certain, also, if Chip had "spunked up," as Hannah would call it, now and then, it would have been better for her; but it wasn't Chip's way. To work and suffer in silence had been her lot at Tim's Place. Angie had said, "You must obey everybody and make friends," and impelled by experience, and this somewhat broad order, Chip was doing her best.

One hope cheered her all that long, hard winter of monotonous study—the return of Ray, and possibly Old Cy, when summer came. Somehow these two had knit themselves into her life as no one else had or could. Then she wondered how Ray would seem to and feel toward her when he came, and if the little bond—a wondrous strong one, as far as her feelings went—would still call him to her side.

Of love and its real meaning she was scarce conscious as yet. She simply felt that this youth with his sunny face and brown eyes was the one being on earth she wished to please. All the romance and pathos of that summer idyl, all the moonlight and canoeing, all the songs he had charmed her with, and every word and act of his from that first evening when, ragged and starving, she had stumbled into the camp, until she had parted from him with misty eyes, had been lived over by her countless times.

It had all been a beacon of hope to her in the uphill road toward the temple of learning; and how hard she had studied, and how patiently she had tried to correct her own speech, not even her teacher guessed.

It is also possible, in fact almost certain, that that unfortunate waif's somewhat pitiful tale had won her teacher's interest and affection as naught else could. Only one reservation was made by Chip—her own feelings toward Ray. All else became an open book to Miss Phinney.

When school was out, the two walked homeward together as far as their ways permitted, and then Chip obtained the one hour of the day which she felt was quite her own. At first, during the autumn days, she had used it for a scamper through the nut-brown woods. When winter came and it was not too cold, she occasionally visited the mill pond above the village, where, if the conditions were right, all the skating and sliding youth were gathered; and when blessed spring returned, it was away to the hills and fields once more.

And now, when the flowers and birds had once more returned to Greenvale, and Ray might return any day, a little plan that Chip had had in mind for many weeks took shape. She knew Ray must come on the stage, and eager for a sight of his face as only love can make one, she meant to be the first to meet and greet him.

A mile down the village street and beyond the last house was a sharp hilltop. The stage usually reached here about an hour after the close of school, and to this vantage point, where she could hide behind a stone wall, Chip now betook herself each day.

Her plans for meeting her young hero were well considered. She was sure he would, like herself, prefer a seat with Uncle Joe. That important person, whose heart she had won by her admiration of his horses on her arrival, would surely invite her to ride into the village, if he saw her. If he was alone, she would remain hid; but if some one was with him, she would then disclose herself and the coveted invitation and meeting with Ray would follow.

It was a vague, uncertain plan. No one in Greenvale had the remotest idea when Ray would return. Chip only knew that he was expected in the spring. The day, or even week, was a long range guess. But even that slim chance poor, lonesome, heart-longing Chip would not miss, and so each day at close of school she hurried to her lookout point to watch and wait.

It was a silly, almost hopeless sentinelship, as she knew well enough; but with the dog's heart that was hers, she would keep her vigil, and like one of those dumb brutes, wait weeks, months, aye, years even, for a master coming.

It was mid-April when Chip began her daily watch, and missed no day unless a pelting rain prevented. It was June ere she won her reward, and then one balmy afternoon when she saw the stage afar, there, perched beside Uncle Joe, was—a companion!

How sure that weary, waiting waif was that her heart was not mistaken! How her pulses leaped and thrilled as the slow-moving stage crept up the hill; and how Ray, eager to catch the first glimpse of his native village, saw a winsome, smiling face shaded by a flower-decked hat peeping at him over a wall, was but a minor episode in the lives of these two; yet one to be recalled many, many times afterward and always with a heartache.

None came to them now, for on the instant Ray saw who was waiting for him he halted the stage, and the next moment he was beside his sweetheart. And Uncle Joe, with the wisdom and sympathy of old age, discreetly averted his face, and said "Golang" to his horses, and drove on alone.

CHAPTER XVIII.

During all the long weeks while Chip had awaited her lover's coming, one hope had been hers—that his return would end all her loneliness and begin a season of the happy, care-free days like those by the lake once more.

For the first few moments after he kissed her upraised lips, she could not speak for very joy; and then, as hand in hand they started toward the village, her speech came.

"I've been so lonesome," she said simply, "I've counted the days, and come down here to meet you daily, for over a month. I don't like it here, and nobody likes me, I guess. I'm so glad you've come, though. Now I shan't be lonesome no more. I've studied hard, too," she added, with an accent of pride. "I can read and spell words of six syllables. I've ciphered up to decimal fractions, an' begun grammar.

"I'm glad to get home, too," answered Ray, as simply. "It was lonesome in the woods all winter, when we couldn't tend the traps. But I've made a lot of money—'most five hundred dollars—all mine, too. How is everybody?" And so they dropped from sentiment into commonplace.

At the tavern he secured his belongings. At the corner where their ways parted, he bade Chip a light good-by, and with an "I'll see you soon," left her.

Her hero had arrived. They had met, kissed as lovers should, and the lonely waiting and watching days were at an end and a new life was to begin for Chip.

Little did she realize what it would mean for her, or how utterly her hopes were to fail.

"He will come to-night," her heart assured her, and that evening, without a word to Aunt Comfort or Hannah as to whom she expected, she arrayed herself in her one best dress and awaited his expected visit.

And what a propitious and all-favoring evening it was! The June night was balmy. Blooming lilacs and syringas half hid, as well as adorned, the porch of Aunt Comfort's home. Aunt Comfort had just departed to make a call. Hannah was away at prayer meeting, and "no one nigh to hinder."

But Chip waited in vain!

At school next day her mind and heart were at war. The parts of speech and rules of subtraction and division seemed complete chaos, and when homeward bound, she loitered slowly along, hoping Ray would make amends and meet her on the way. But again he failed to appear.

And that night, when alone with Hannah, a worse blow came.

"I heerd young Stetson got back yesterday," she said, fixing her steely blue eyes on Chip, "an' you went down the road to meet him. I should think you'd be 'shamed o' yourself. If you're callatin' on settin' your cap for him, 'twon't do a mite o' good. His aunt wouldn't think o' havin' such an outcast ez you for him—that I can tell ye."

But not a word of reply came from poor Chip. Such speeches were not new to her, and she had long before ceased to answer them. But this one, from its very truth, hurt more than all others had, and, crushed by it, she stole away out of the house.

No thought that Ray might call came to her. She only wished to escape somewhere, that she might cry away her misery and shame in solitude.

The evening was but a repetition of the previous one. The same sweet influence and silvered light was all about, but no heed of its beauty came to Chip. Instead, she felt herself a shameful thing of no account. Her lover had failed her—now she knew why, and as she sped along the lonely way to the schoolhouse, scarce conscious of her steps, all hope and all joy left her. Why or for what purpose she was hurrying toward this deserted little building, she knew not. Hot tears filled her eyes. Shame surged in her heart. She was a nobody in the eyes of all her world, and once she had reached the worn sill, so often crossed by her, she threw herself upon it and sobbed in utter despair.

For a long hour she sat there while the tide of feeling ebbed and tears came unchecked, and then the reaction came. With it, also, came something of the old courage and defiance that had once led her to face night, danger, and 60 miles of wilderness alone.

"I have made a mistake," she said, sitting up, "and Hannah was right. I am a nobody here, and Ray has been told so and has kept away."

And now with returning calm, and soothed, maybe, by the still, ethereal night, she saw herself, her past and present, as it all was. Back in an instant she sped in thought to the moment when, kneeling to these people, she begged for food; back to that first prayer she ever heard in the tent, and the offer of rescue that followed.

And then her life here, with all its hopes and humiliation, rose before her.

THE crowning argument in favor of Life Insurance is the immeasurable amount of good it has accomplished for thousands and thousands of families.

The Prudential

has paid to policyholders, since its organization 31 years ago, the sum of over $123,500,000, and paid it at a time when it was most needed.

In New York the bank accounts of non-residents are subject to an inheritance tax at the death of the depositor. It will therefore be seen that it is greatly to the advantage of non-residents of New York to keep their checking accounts in the same State in which they reside.

Three per cent interest is paid by this Company on accounts of $200 or more, subject to check.

Three and one-half per cent interest is paid on accounts of $5.00 or more in the Special Department. Deposits made in the Special Department before the fourth of the month draw interest from the first.

$5,000 In Prizes!

Grand Educational Contest

To introduce our new Piano, the Conway, we have decided to institute something entirely novel in the way of advertising, making it something of value to the readers of this paper as well as ourselves.

We propose to distribute FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN PRIZES, among the residents of Central New Jersey. Think of it $5,000! While the mere distribution of this amount in prizes would be a valuable advertisement in itself, you will, of course, admit that the distribution of so large a prize list would hardly be justified by the publicity itself would give us. But if we are able to impress the name "CONWAY PIANO" indelibly upon the minds of 300,000 people, then you will, of course, readily admit that we are justified in offering this large prize list. Therefore, to make the CONWAY PIANO occupy the place in your mind, that stands for all that is good in tone, quality, construction, design and finish, and that you may never forget the great name, we wish to see how many words you can form from the twelve letters containing the two words.

CONWAY PIANOS

To the persons able to form the greatest number of words from the letters contained in the two words, CONWAY PIANOS, we will give one magnificent Conway Piano, valued at $365.00 together with a handsome scarf and stool.

To the next five nearest answers we will give credit bills worth $100 each.

Each of the competitors sending in the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bills for $1 less than the preceding prize, or $99.00, and following this in groups of two, each of the competitors sending the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bill for $1 less than the preceding prize, until the entire balance of $5,000 shall have been distributed.

Rules for Forming Words

Only such words are to be used as are found in Webster's International Dictionary. No proper names, foreign words, names of persons, town or places are to be used. Do not use a letter more times in one word than it appears in the words CONWAY PIANOS. Words spelled the same, but having a different meaning, can be used but once.

Rules and Conditions of Contest:

All answers limited to July 22, 1907.
Open to readers of this paper.
Those who receive credit bills can apply them on any new Pianos in our stock at the regular prices, which are always marked in plain figures on each instrument, but cannot apply them on any purchase made prior to opening day of contest.
Easy payments will be granted to those wishing to be accommodated by applying their credit bills and paying the balance in small monthly payments.
Not more than one credit bill will be accepted on the same Piano.
In the event of a tie between two or more contestants the Capital Prize will be divided equally and paid in gold.

COUPON

A GENUINE REDUCTION

The fairness of the above contest appeals to the public from the fact that we have for years been selling our instruments on the uniform or fixed price plan. As all instruments are marked in plain figures they are conclusive as to price. Therefore to all those who secure credit bills there is every assurance of a bona fide reduction in price.

EXIT FOR "JOHNSON" RE-ENTERS C. P. BREWIN

VICTIM OF DUAL PERSONALITY GOES HOME—PHYSICIAN TALKS.

Charles P. Brewin, the man of dual personality who has lived here for four years imagining that he was Frank G. Johnson and being oblivious of his past life, sufficiently recovered from his brain storm yesterday to be in a condition to be taken to his brother's home in Camden. Before leaving the Rip VanWinkle told his newly made friends here that he would return to live among them. Edward Brewin, the brother, and Frank Brewin, his son, came on yesterday, and held a long consultation with Mr. Brewin's physician, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, afterwards holding a reunion with their relative.

When seen this morning regarding the merits of his patient's case, Dr. Buchanan said to a Daily Press correspondent: "I have treated Brewin for a long time, knowing him as Frank Johnson. He was affected with pains in the head and ears and I soon discovered that he had mental trouble. I can say on my reputation as a physician that it is a bona fide case. Such things are well known to medical science, and my patient's symptoms were common to those of the class. The worry caused by the visits of reporters worked up great excitement in his brain and that was the direct cause of his restoration to perfect mental capacity. There is absolutely nothing strange about the matter and my knowledge of the man convinces me that he is thoroughly honest. I got a letter from Professor Hyslop, of Columbia University, today, about the case and I expect to see him this week. It is most interesting to medical science."

DEATH OF MRS. JAMES McEVOY

Had Been Undergoing "Open-Air" Treatment in Tuberculosis Tent.

Following a long illness from tuberculosis, Mrs. Isabelle McEvoy, wife of James McEvoy, died this morning in the tent on the Industrial home lawn in which she has been living. The equipment was the same as that provided for the late Michael Muldowney and she has been attended with every care in the hope of warding off the ravages of the disease. It had made great inroads before she was taken in charge and though she was benefitted for a time, the improvement was not permanent.

Mrs. McEvoy formerly resided on West Third street and leaves two children. The funeral will be held at the home of Mrs. William Goeller, of Plainfield avenue, Thursday morning, at 8.30 and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

DARE THE GRAND JURY

Company and see who pays for the most of the licenses of the saloons not only in Elizabeth but in other parts of the county. Those books ought to show whether these companies have anything to do with it."

General Dennis F. Collins, president of the Elizabeth Council, in a vigorous speech at the meeting last night, defied "any man to point to one act in his official life which was actuated by any other motive than for the best interests of Elizabeth," or influenced by the breweries or any other outside interests. The president of the Elizabeth Coucil as president of a local brewing company, was especially alluded to in the presentment.

The resolutions adopted contain these paragraphs:

"Resolved, That while the members of the City Council, like all other law-abiding citizens, respect the authority of the Grand Jury, nevertheless we feel that a grievous wrong has been inflicted upon the city and the members of this Council, through the publication of the charges above quoted, as a result of which the reputation of this community and that of the Council has materially suffered.

"Resolved, That Council concedes it to be the duty of the Grand Jury to present all public bodies who are derelict in the performance of their duties, whether that dereliction consists in nonfeasanse or misfeasance in office, and we respectfully request and ask the Grand Jury to present to the court or to the public all evidence which it has, going to prove that the Council or any member thereof has been influenced or controlled in any manner by the brewery, saloon or liquor interests, and to that end we are prepared to appear before the said Grand Jury, under subpoena or otherwise, in order that a full and fair investigation may be made in the premises."

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Broadhead, of East Sixth street, are parents of a daughter born to them yesterday.

FIND DOG CATCHER!

Mayor Fisk's Troubles at an End—Appointee's Begin.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk has found a dog-catcher in the person of James Babbitt, and at the July meeting of the Common Council, last night, he appointed him to the office. According to the ordinance he will receive twenty-five cents for every dog captured by him.

In connection with this Mayor Fisk appointed S. W. Rushmore, of 629 South avenue, as poundmaster, where all stray dogs will be taken and disposed of in the humane manner proposed by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Charles A. Peterson, an assistant at the city sewage disposal works, was appointed poundkeeper for all animals, except dogs. All three appointments were confirmed.

MISS WILDEY AND W. M. TILDEN IN TENNIS FINALS.

Will Compete Today for Championship in Mixed Doubles.

Miss Carrie B. Neely, of Cincinnati, and Miss Marie Weimer, of Washington won the women's lawn tennis doubles championship of the United States yesterday, at the Philadelphia Cricket Club at St. Martin's, defeating the Misses Wildey, of the Plainfield Country Club in one of the most exciting matches of the tournament.

One of the best matches was in the semi-final round of the mixed doubles in which Miss Mildred Wildey and W. M. Tilden defeated Miss Mai Wagner, of New York, and Dr. E. B. Dewhurst. Owing to the late hour at which the match was finished, the final round was postponed until today, when Miss May Sayres and Wallace F. Johnson, of the Merion Cricket Club, will meet Miss Mildred Wildey and Mr. Tildon for the title.

Judge Endicott Robbed.

A nervy thief who pried open a basement window of the States avenue cottage of Circuit Court Judge Allan B. Endicott, of Atlantic City, brother of Dr. G. W. Endicott, late last night left the judge's $300 watch and a pin almost as valuable, but took away the railroad passes furnished under the State law, and covered his circuit. The thief also secured a small sum of money, but left family silver, jewelry and other articles which might be traced.

On account of the holiday Thursday, the regular mid-week prayer meeting at Hope chapel will be held tomorrow night. Because of the illness of Rev. L. R. Howard, David Bowden will lead.

PROGRAM FOR THE FOURTH

No Public Observance in this City, But Lots of Sports on the Side.

OUTSIDE CELEBRATIONS

New Market and South Plainfield Have Set Affairs Arranged—Lots of Golf, Baseball and Tennis.

The civic lethargy that generally marks July Fourth in Plainfield will again prevail tomorrow and the day will pass without any formal observance of the Independence anniversary. Plenty of amusements have been provided on the side, however, and the citizen who prefers to let the small boys keep the eagle screaming will find lots to attract his attention and entice his loose change.

Patriotic celebrations have been arranged by New Market and South Plainfield people and both these places will undoubtedly draw large attendances from this city. The one at the former place will be the annual event conducted by Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and the committee has sought to make it "the best ever." The programme will open early in the afternoon with a carnival of aquatic and athletic sports, terminating with a display of fireworks at night. The affair will be held in Vail's grove and on the lake.

South Plainfield's observance will be somewhat similar and will be held on the grounds directly opposite Washington Hall. The Good Government Club and other organizations have banded together to make it a success.

At the Plainfield Country Club there will be "lots doing" all day. In addition to the regular holiday golf events, tennis matches will be played on the courts and a dinner dance will be held in the clubhouse at night. Music will be a feature both afternoon and evening.

Championship tennis play will be in evidence at the Park Club in the afternoon, and a charming tea has been arranged for the afternoon. The exhibition of fireworks in the evening that has so long been an annual event of the club will be given in the accustomed place and a social dance will round out the day. The Park Golf Club has a fine program arranged, the details being given in another column.

The Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club will conduct a race meet at the Driving Park and for those who like this form of sport a good card has been prepared. The program comprises three trotting and pacing events and one running race. They will begin at 1.30.

Beside the inter-city League baseball games, various other diamond contests will be waged in the morning and afternoon. The Independent Gun Club has planned a shoot on its grounds that will prove an attraction for many trap devotees. The "Fresh Air" Home carnival on the lawn at the Home will provide entertainment and at the same time aid a worthy cause.

The Public Library's circulating department will be closed all day but the reading room will be open from 2 until 6 in the afternoon.

The Jersey Central and Lehigh Valley railroads will conduct the usual excursions to Mauch Chunk, Lake Hopatcong and Bellewood Park.

Engaged In Special Work.

Charles B. Brown, formerly of Plainfield, and later one of the State Y. M. C. A. secretaries, has been assigned by the Massachusetts State Committee of the Y. M. C. A. to take up some special work at Gloucester, Mass., where he will be stationed for the next three months. Mr. Brown has been eminently successful in his work, having raised $25,000 toward a new $50,000 Y. M. C. A. building, the balance to be raised in the fall. He has been kept very busy delivering addresses in many churches throughout Massachusetts and surrounding districts.

Author Praises Artists' Work.

Charles F. Neagle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Neagle, of West Fifth street, who has won considerable distinction as a sketch artist, has been highly complimented by the author of a new book, "Allee Same," for the illustrations of the story. The story is by Francis Aymar Mathews, and he has written Mr. Neagle praising him for the work.

Miss Eleanor Williams Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Williams, of West Seventh street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Boulden Williams, to George Harold O'Donnell, of New York city, formerly of Newton, N. J. Mr. O'Donnell is a graduate of Princeton in the class of 1900.

HOLIDAY PROGRAM AT THE PARK GOLF CLUB

SPECIAL EVENTS ON THE LINKS AND TENNIS COURTS.

According to the annual custom, the Park Golf Club has planned a program of special interest for Independence Day. The event of chief interest to the golfers will be the play for the Holiday cup. This will be a members' "bogey" handicap, 18-holes, match play. Scores may be turned in all day. The competitor who plays in the morning, may compete again in the afternoon. The scores, medal play, will also count for the Hydewood Park cup.

In the afternoon there will be an approaching and putting contest for mixed doubles, open to members and their guests, to start at 4 o'clock. During the afternoon there will be an informal reception and tea at the clubhouse.

Because of increased interest in lawn tennis, the board of governors decided several weeks ago to build a court for the use of the members. The court will be ready for play tomorrow. The president, Charles W. McCutchen, has appointed the following lawn tennis committee: Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, chairman; Miss Lydie Loizeaux, Charles B. Morse. A nominal charge in ddition to the regular dues will be made for tennis privileges, while a special associate tennis membership has been provided for members of the families of active or summer members, giving them all the privileges of the clubhouse and tennis courts for a reasonable charge.

ENDEAVORERS OFF TO SEATTLE CONVENTION.

New Jersey Délegation, Thirty Strong, Stars On Trip Across Continent.

Delegates, to the number of thirty, from this State to the annual convention of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, which opens in Seattle, Wash., July 10, started west yesterday morning, over the Lehigh Valley Railroad, in a special car attached to a regular train. Most of them boarded the car at Jersey City.

Among those who got on at the Market Street station, Newark, were John T. Sproull, president of the New Jersey Union, and Mrs. Sproull. Mr. Sproull wore a Christian Endeavor badge of diamonds and pearls. A. W. Abbott, of Orange, was in charge of the transportation arrangements. The party will stop off at several points of interest en route to and from Seattle.

Changing 'Phone Instruments.

The New York & New Jersey Telephone Company has begun the work of distributing new telephone instruments which will replace the old instruments throughout the city, borough and vicinity. There are 1,900 new instruments to be set up in connection with the work of moving into the new building on East Fourth street some time this month. It is planned to change the instruments on all party wires first, then those on direct wires. They will be operated with the common-battery system, that is the battery will be located at the "central" office not in the instrument as at present. When the change is completed, the company expects to be in a position to handle all of the increased business which has been overcrowding the present office.

Woman's Missionary Meeting.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held its meeting yesterday afternoon in the lecture room, the devotional service being led by Mrs. Reuben Knox, and the theme, "Miriam or Thirst for Power." Resolutions of appreciation for the late Mrs. I. Manning Runyon and sympathy for her family were passed. It was voted to invite the semi-annual meeting of the East Association of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of New Jersey to come to the First Baptist church. The meeting will be held in October and will be a basket meeting.

Hazelwood Apgar Not So Well.

Hazelwood Apgar, the fourteen-year-old son of "Neaf" Apgar, of Clinton avenue, who was accidentally shot by his brother on Tuesday, while they were hunting woodcock, is reported at the hospital today as not being so well, and his condition is considered critical. The physician in charge has been afraid that peritonitis might develop from the gun shot wounds in the abdomen, it being impossible to remove one of the shots from that part of the body.

COL. TYLER'S FUNERAL

Bishop Scarborough Will Probably Conduct Service Friday Afternoon.

TRIBUTES OF RESPECT

Library Association Takes Oppropriate Action—Institution to Close On Friday.

The funeral service of Colonel Mason Whiting Tyler, whose death occurred suddenly at the Presbyterian Hospital, New York, yesterday, will be held from the late home on West Seventh street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It is expected that the Rt. Rev. Dr. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will conduct the service and be assisted by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, of which Col. Tyler was a communicant. The interment will be in Hillside cemetery at the convenience of the family.

Last night at a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room, resolutions of sympathy were adopted as a memorial to Col. Tyler. The resolutions were proposed by L. V. F. Randolph, seconded by J. Evarts Tracy, and unanimously adopted.

Owing to the death of Col. Tyler no business was transacted other than that of passing the monthly bills. The public library building will be closed Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30, while the funeral service is being held. The resolutions adopted by the board follow:

"Resolved, That the members of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room are deeply afflicted in the death, this day occurring, of their esteemed and beloved president, Col. Mason W. Tyler.

"Resolved, That Col. Tyler's record as a citizen, a soldier, a patriot and a public officer, and in every relation of life which he was called to enter, reached over the highest and noblest standard possible to human attainment. He was never faithless to a duty, nor to a trust. His intellectual and moral inheritance and his superior ability and culture fitted him for exalted station and usefulness; and with these were combined a rare modesty and gentleness which endeared him to his friends and fellow citizens.

"Resolved, That to this Board of Directors the sorrow and loss attending his departure come with a deeper poignancy because of the fact that it was at his suggestion that the initiative was taken to organize this institution and to obtain suitable legislation therefor. More than a quarter of a century ago he was appointed a member of its first Board of Directors, assuming then a duty which he has continued to discharge until this day. For many years he has been the president of the Board, filling the place with great patience, wisdom and devotion. Generous in all the relations of life as he was, this library has particular cause to remember gratefully his generous gifts. He was always making sacrifices, as well as efforts, for its welfare; and on several occasions his handsome donations in money tided over the fiscal requirements of the institution when its exchequer was exhausted. Thus did he prove a friend in need, and a friend indeed, to this library and reading room.

"Resolved, That, bowing humbly to this bereavement, the members of this Board desire to record their loving appreciation of the character, work and merit of Col. Mason W. Tyler, and to extend to the members of his family the assurance of their deepest and tenderest sympathy."

INSTALLED OFFICERS.

Peter Bennett the New Head of Freedom Castle, K. G. E.

Installation of officers and initiation of two members took place at the regular meeting last night of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle. The officers are as follows:

Past chief, Joseph Randall; noble chief, Peter Bennett; vice chief, Clarence Van Doren; high priest, G. E. Mowen; venerable hermit, Casper Waglow; sir herald, Arthur Caleen.

The boom for Past Chief Horace Martin for grand sir herald was enthusiastically launched. The installation was done by Deputy Grand Chief G. H. Moore and staff, of New Brunswick. The meetings will soon be suspended for the summer months.

Awaiting a Hearing.

Walter Banardo was arrested last night on Grove street, by Marshal Charles Keller, on a charge of drunkenness. He will be arraigned tonight before Recorder Dolliver.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gow, of Huntington, L. I., have been visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. Clarence Mundy, of Essex street.

NO STRIKE AT POND'S

Machinists Get Five Per Cent. Increase and Decide to Stay.

HOLD CLOSED MEETING

Vote to Remain On, and Give Up Demand For Pay-and-a-Half, At Reform Hall.

The machinists employed by the Niles-Bement-Pond company, who conduct what is popularly known as the Pond Tool Works, decided, last night, not to strike. Talk of strike has been indulged in by Pond machinists for several months.

The men wanted five per cent. increase in pay and pay-and-a-half for overtime. The company considered the demands, and conferences were held. Finally, the company decided to grant the five per cent. increase asked, but not to pay the advance for overtime. This decision was carried to the men, and they considered it.

The question was settled with finality at a closed meeting in Reform Hall last night. Only machinists employed at the Pond shop were admitted. After discussion, it was voted to accept the five per cent. increase, and not to press the time-and-a-half demand. That vote put the quietus on strike talk. The decision was generally satisfactory, and both men and management are relieved over the settlement of the matter.

MR. ACKERMAN'S MISSION

While Abroad Senator Will Investigate Effect of Death Penalty as Preventive of Crime

RECEIVES COMMISSION

Governor Délegates Him to Study Important Subject—Credentials From U. S. Sec'y. of State.

To further his plans for gathering information as to the infliction of the death penalty, and of laws designed to prevent the taking of human life, in Europe, Senator Ernest R. Ackerman has received a commission from Governor Stokes and a special letter of introduction from the acting secretary of State at Washington. Senator Ackerman will seek the data abroad for the commission of three appointed last winter by the Senate to investigate the subject of death penalties, and punitive measures for homicide. The committee will inquire into and report on the following points:

What the sentence of the law now is in the several States of the Union and the leading nations of Europe for crimes, particularly those involving the taking of human life. Whether the sentences, as originally pronounced, are usually carried into effect with strictness or are mitigated by a pardoning power. What the statutes of such States and Nations show as to the increase or diminution of crime, particularly those involving the taking of human life, with special reference to the increase or diminution after the changes in or mitigation of the penalty for such crimes. What changes (if any) in the statutes of this State relating to crimes and criminal procedure are demanded or suggested by an enlightened public opinion and by the data gathered in the inquiry.

The increase in the number of prisoners sentenced for murder and manslaughter indicates that the death penalty is not always a deterrent to the taking of human life. To what extent the death penalty prevents the taking of human life is considered by many as a subject open to inquiry. Objection to capital punishment is made on the ground that sometimes, through incorrect or circumstantial evidence, an innocent person may be put to death.

W. L. Smalley, Jr., Improving.

William L. Smalley, Jr., who was injured in a runaway yesterday morning, was reported today to be much improved. He will be removed from his brother's home on Craig place to his own home this afternoon.

Reappointed Library Directors.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk has appointed Alexander Gilbert, L. V. F. Randolph and William M. Stillman as directors of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room, for a term of three years. They succeed themselves.

ROWDIES ON THE LAKE

Pleasure of New Market Boating Parties Spoiled by Young Hoodlums.

ESCAPED PUNISHMENT

"Reception Committee" Waited for Them at the Dock, but They Ducked the Trouble They Shouted For.

Rowdies spoiled the boating on New Market lake Monday night. Rowing up and down the pretty little body of water in a skiff, they destroyed the pleasure of all other pleasure-seekers by the free use of loud and profane language, insulting remarks, and by ruffianly actions that more than once threatened injury to occupants of other boats.

There were six in the party of rowdies. It was said by Charles Rogers, of whom the boats on the lake are hired, that they were all Dunellen youths. They went out on the lake shortly after dark. At that time the lake was dotted with small craft, the warmth of the evening bringing out between fifty and sixty pleasure-seekers.

Almost as soon as they started out, the rowdies began to annoy the other parties. They made insulting remarks, which became worse in character as the youths drank up the beer that they had managed to smuggle, in some way, into their boat. They replied to rebukes from young men in other boats by offering to fight, and shouted challenges and threats until young women on the lake became terrified.

Their conduct grew worse, and they finally took to throwing empty beer bottles into and at the other boats. Several rowers had narrow escapes from injury by the flying bottles. It wasn't long before the conduct of the hoodlums drove all but the hardiest young men from the lake.

There was an impromptu indignation meeting on the dock, in which Mr. Rogers took the lead. There was a speedy agreement that something was due the hoodlums, and several determined young men of lusty build drew together on the dock to await the coming of the rowdy boatload.

The boat in which the hoodlums rowed came into the dock in company with two or three others in which were young men. The "reception committee," not certain of the party sent Mr. Rogers to the water's edge to ask who it was that wanted fight. It was expected that the fire-eaters would eagerly welcome the chance to declare themselves and enjoy the mix-up for which they had been shouting, but expectations were not realized. All the young men said they were not looking for fight, and among the first to disclaim any martial spirit were those in the boat the "reception committee" was sure had been the source of trouble. They were not absolutely certain, however, and rather than risk punishing innocent persons, the "reception" was given up.

To prevent a recurrence of such an incident Mr. Rogers took steps yesterday to have a special officer detailed to patrol the lake in one of his skiffs on holidays, Sundays and evenings when the pleasure craft are in general use. Any manifestation of disorderly conduct will be stopped at once, and the offenders will be brought before Justice Von Minden, the records of whose court prove that hoodlums get short shrift at his hands.

Opposes Voting Machines.

A meeting of the Somerset County Democratic Executive Committee was held in Somerville yesterday. A resolution was passed condemning the voting machines. It was decided that hereafter members of the committee will be elected at the primaries, instead of being named by the delegates chosen for the county convention. This will do away with possible contests for a seat, like the recent one in North Plainfield.

Another Ice Trust.

Major Maze Edwards, who is taking a much needed rest at Block Island, has written to a friend here that he and his brother, Samuel Edwards, have purchased a large farm near that place. A big pond is located on the estate and the major expects to harvest a large supply of ice but he says it is a little early yet for his crop to mature.

New School Head.

Richard E. Clement, principal of School No. 3, was elected superintendent of schools at a meeting of the Board of Education, at Elizabeth, to succeed Dr. William J. Shearer last night. Three ballots were taken, the third giving the office to Mr. Clement by a vote of 7 to 5. He will continue in office for seven years.

ALECK KANE'S STORY A BIG PIPE DREAM

MADE ON GROUNDLESS COMPLAINT AGAINST EFFICIENT OFFICIAL.

In passing the northwest corner of Third and New streets a few days ago, Alex. Kane, who deals in second hand lumber, believed he saw something that needed the attention of the Board of Health. He went before Inspector Addis and declared that Messrs. Abrams and Caulfield, who own the property at that location, were causing post holes to be dug alongside of a vault that had not been properly cleaned and that as a result various odors disturbed the neighborhood.

Addis investigated the premises and found that the vault had been taken care of but it had not been filled up and surface water had run into it. He directed that it be filled with ashes and the owners complied but Kane still insisted that the health ordinance was being violated and he preferred charges of "dereliction of duty" against Addis.

The matter came before Mayor Fisk and the Board of Health at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon and an attempt was made to sift the charge to the bottom. Kane insisted that the inspector had not attended to his duty properly while the accused official asserted that what he had done was ample under the circumstances. It became evident to the board that the only way to get the condition of affairs straightened out, was to visit the place and this was agreed upon.

This morning resident Hedges and Messrs. Davis, Kinney, and Dunham, of the board, together with Inspector Addis, went to the premises and had the vaulting dug up. The result was a complete vindication of Inspector Addis and a refutation of what Kane had alleged. There was nothing offensive in any part of the property and Kane's charge was labelled as "a pipe dream superinduced by a vivid imagination." He was asked about the charge later in the day but he had nothing to say.

CARNIVAL TOMORROW.

Everything is in readiness for the carnival to be held all day tomorrow for the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. The affair will be held on the grounds adjoining the Home. Hall, J. D. Moon, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Lewis, Miss Florence G. Hawkins, Miss Ella Baron, Miss Emily Baron, Theodore Baron, Joseph M. Hawkins, Harold Roubert, Mr. and Mrs. Scriven, Miss Mary Giles, Miss Lilian Hardcastle and Benjamin Hadley.

At the Japanese booth a Japanese will paint and sell souvenirs, similar to the attraction at the "Floral Fete," held by the City Union, of The King's Daughters.

G. O. P. Adopt Amendments.

The City Republican Executive Committee met at the Casino, last night, and adopted the several amendments to the constitution, which were offered several weeks ago. The whole evening was devoted to a discussion of the changes, after which they were adopted as a whole. No other business of importance was considered.

No Police Inspection.

There will be no police inspection this year. The circus, the carnival and the horse show came just at the time it is usually held, and when the time of special demands on the department had passed it was too near the heated spell to arrange for a review. An inspection may be held in the fall, but it is not very likely.

Broke His Collar Bone.

The two-year old nephew of Mrs. Joseph C. Martin, of Bangor, Pa., who has been visiting here with his mother, fell out of bed a couple of days ago and fractured his collarbone. Dr. D. C. Adams set the bone and the little fellow is doing well.

Dislocated His Elbow.

Harry Freeman, a small boy living on Somerset street, was given a violent shove by a companion Monday. He fell to the ground and striking on his right arm, received a badly dislocated elbow. The injury was dressed by Dr. Dundon.

Dr. Hecht Refuses.

Dr. John P. Hecht, of Somerville, has refused to accept the appointment by Governor Stokes as a member of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Glen Gardner and his resignation has been accepted.

Mrs. George Whitley, of Beverly, Mass., has returned to Plainfield to remain the greater part of the summer.

KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

John Thys, a Former Well Known Plainfielder, Run Down in New York City.

DIED IN THE HOSPITAL

Millionaire Owned Machine—Victim Was Brother of Mrs. Alex. Shotwell, of Pearl Street.

John Thys, a former well-known resident of this city, died in the Hudson street hospital, New York, late last night, as a result of injuries received when he was run down on Chambers street by a millionaire's automobile. There was nothing in his pockets to identify him and it was not until this morning that a slight clue was obtained that led to the knowledge being gained. The identification was made complete at noontime and Undertaker George W. Cole was sent for the body.

The old man who was about sixty years of age, was crossing diagonally from the south to the north side of Chambers street, opposite the City Paymaster's office, on his way home at a quarter to seven, when a forty-five horsepower auto, owned by Charles C. Tegethoff, running at high speed, as described by eye witnesses, and going east upon the wrong or left hand side of the street, caught him at the north side gutter, threw him ten feet ahead and then ran over him, crushing him frightfully and causing a compound fracture of the skull.

The injured man was carried to the Hudson Street Hospital, where his injuries were pronounced fatal. He lingered until shortly before midnight.

Patrolman Henry Widder arrested the chauffeur, Edmund Roxby, of No. 66 Doscher street, Brooklyn, and took him and the three occupants of the tonneau to the Leonard Street Police Station. There Mr. Tegethoff and his two companions, William Perry, No. 557 Sterling place, Brooklyn, and W. B. Batser, of Boston, were permitted to go, while Roxby was held without bail to await the result of the victim's injuries.

Charles W. Tarbox, of No. 261 Broadway; W. W. Mullen, No. 191 West street; and J. Millin, No. 159½ Varick street, were held as witnesses for an hour after Mr. Tegethoff and his friends departed, on the police theory that a miollionaire who owns an auto has a ready-made reputation, while young men who don't own autos have to prove theirs.

Mr. Tegethoff has offices at No. 120 Broadway and is treasurer of the Railroad Security Company, the Sinnemahoning Iron and Coal Company and secretary-treasurer and director in eleven other coal, mining and railroad companies.

Mr. Thys had been living in Brooklyn, but came to Plainfield nearly every week to visit his sister, Mrs. Alex. Shotwell, of Pearl street. Another sister, Mrs. Solomon Flagg, lives at Greenville.

CITY HEALTH CONDITIONS CONTINUE TO BE GOOD.

Very Few Cases of Contagious Disease Reported During June.

The reports presented at the July meeting of the Board of Health, yesterday, show that the city is unusually free from communicable disease, there being but three cases of scarlet fever and five cases of diphtheria reported during the month of June. Since that time three cases of chicken pox and two of measles were reporter.

These permits were granted: To sell milk—stores, A. Emery, 963 West Third street; Michael Mongan, 320 Richmond street; Anders Anderson, 659 West Fourth street. Retail, James J. Borrup, 732 Central avenue; Mary Bowden, 1625 West Third street. To conduct barber shops, William Claassen, James H. Bolling. To sell ice, Natural Ice Company, John Morton, F. T. Ostrom. To collect garbage, George Christiansen. D. J. Galbraith's plumber's bond was ordered filed.

Considerable work was done during the month on dairy inspection and milk analysis. A sample of every milk sold in Plainfield is analyzed each month and records are on the bulletin board in the office of the Board of Health, where they can be seen at any time, together with the inspection of the dairies.

During June there were reported fifteen marriages, twenty-six births, one still-birth and twenty-one deaths.

Miss Edith Haffner, of East Fifth street, is spending the summer in various parts of Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson, of Columbus, O., were guests the past few days of the former's cousin, Edward Steurwald, of East Second street. They made the trip East by auto and were greatly pleased with the country in this section.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made him self-credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

The Board of Education held a meeting last night in the Walnut Street School. Plans were decided on for slight alterations to be made in the classrooms during vacation.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Something should be done speedily to check the immodest display made by nude swimmers at the white bridge. They detract from the decency of the village and make boating possible only for the masculine visitors. Charles Rogers announced yesterday that plans had been made to have the swimming places watched on holidays and Sundays by a special officer. If one or two of the offenders are caught and punished, the nuisance will soon cease.

Caruso, the famous 1,000 pound hog, did not pass entirely away when he went through the sausage machine last winter. His hide and his head were saved, and now, mounted with all the skill of taxidermy, the shell of the Titan porker has a look of life that is calculated to bring tears of envy to the eyes of all the ordinary-sized hogs that might see it.

Much success attended the musicale held by Mrs. Charles S. Day last night to mark the close of the season's work by her pupils. The program was much enjoyed by a large gathering, and the young people played in a way that reflected much credit on their instructor.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Edna Huff, daughter of John Huff, and Jacob F. Snell. They were wedded Sunday night at the Methodist parsonage, by Rev. E. C. Dutcher. They will live at John Huff's house.

All plans for a celebration at New Market tomorrow are complete. A big crowd is expected. The Rogers boats all fly little flags in anticipation of the events on the lake.

Rev. George Gardner, the new minister of the Baptist church, is expected to take charge the first Sunday in August. The question of parsonage is still unsettled.

Charles Rogers has added two more new boats to his fleet. He has nineteen in commission now—all trim and easy-rowing craft.

The Township Committee passed bills and did other routine business at the monthly meeting last night.

Over one hundred entries have been received for the amateur championship which takes place next week at Cleveland. Among early entries were E. M. Byers, the title holder; F. Ogden Horstman, of Philadelphia, who has been golfing with him in Scotland; the former champions, Walter J. Travis and H. Chandler Egan; Walter Egan, D. E. Sawyer, Western amateur champion; Warren K. Wood; who took fourth place in the Western open last week; Jerome D. Travers, the M. G. A. and New Jersey champion, and Fred Herreshoff. George S. Lyon, runner-up to Byers, and the members of the Canadian team he will lead in the Olympic trophy contest on Monday at Cleveland, are also champion entries. They will play as the invited guests of the United States Golf Association. The list of entries will not be given out until the letters are all in from distant points. The West was represented in unusual strength yesterday, and it is possible that the total, when given out on Thursday, will be the best on record. As Tuesday and Wednesday will be given up to qualifying play, at eighteen holes each day, and only the best thirty-two will survive for the match play, the committee does not fear any congestion of the Euclid course, no matter how great an entry may be received.

Special events are scheduled to take place on the local golf course, tomorrow, and the social features will be a strong attraction. A special event at the Plainfield Country Club in the afternoon will be a driving competition.

Play for the July cup, offered by the Park Golf Club, will begin at the club on Saturday and continue every Saturday during the month. These monthly competitions for cups has aroused a great deal of interest and attracted many players to the course. If they know there is a chance to win a trophy, without being obliged to play the whole season before knowing the result, it has a tendency to bring them out.

"Marty" O'Loughlin is doing some fine work at the Plainfield Country Club these days keeping in condition for some of the big tournaments later on.

Tomorrow afternoon in addition to the events on the course at the Plainfield Golf Club, there will be a tea at the club house, at which a number of women will preside.

The Cranford Golf Club is the mecca these days for players who are looking for a difficult nine-hole course as they find it keeps them in good condition.

The competition for the Hydewood Park Cup will be concluded at the Park Golf Club, tomorrow, when the winner will be announced. Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll leads for first place with a good margin to spare.

The members of the Plainfield Country Club are greatly pleased with this season's schedule. The various events are all attractive and have been the means of bringing out a large field every week.

DIAMOND DUST.

There is considerable talk among the baseball magnates regarding the action of President Dovey, of the Bostons. The question arises from his action in signing Pitcher Ernie Linderman and using him against Brooklyn, and then turning about and permitting him to pitch for the Elizabeth Stars against his own club. There is a National agreement rule which distinctly says that no major league player may play with independent clubs during the season, and it is not so long ago that Joe McGinnity was hauled up on charges brought by the Brooklyn club on the ground that the "Iron Man" pitched ball for independent clubs. Linderman pitched for the Stars on Sunday against the Bostons and beat them, 2 to 0. This is not only a violation of the rules, but an affront on the Brooklyn club, which, while it trounced Lindy pretty well last week, failed to win the games, as Young went to the rescue. Dovey has set a precedent which will certainly cause trouble. No distinction can be made among players, so if Linderman is permitted to play Sunday ball with independent clubs there is no reason why other players cannot. The Boston club gave it out that Linderman had signed a contract, consequently Dovey has no excuse to offer on that score. If the Boston club, therefore, is permitted to allow its men to play independent ball, every other club situation and requires an explanation.

In a recent game, Oldring, of the Philadelphia Athletics, was at the bat five times and made five hits, his percentage for that day being 1,000.

The games scheduled in the Inter-City Amateur League for tomorrow will furnish good sport for local fans. In the morning on Crescent Oval Scotch Plains will meet Clinton avenue, and in the afternoon Clinton Avenue will play at Bound Brook, and the Y. M. C. A. will play Raritan on Crescent Oval. The same teams play at Raritan in the morning.

George Dupee will be the slab artist for the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow and Walter Nelson will be behind the rubber.

Randolph and O'Loughlin, the Clinton Avenue battery, will have an opportunity tomorrow to win new honors. Both are in good condition and should turn the trick on Scotch Plains and the Laurels.

This will be the lineup of the baseball team from J. A. Smith & Bros.' grocery store in the game at Scotch Plains tomorrow morning with the team from Neuman Bros.: L. Bennett, 1b; F. Evans, 2b; Stover, 3b; Daley, p; Todd, rf; W. Bennett, c; Stires, cf; Sharkey, ss; Meyer, lf.

ROD AND GUN.

J. A. Staats, of the Hotel Kensington, shot fourteen woodcock while hunting near New Brunswick, yesterday.

George Hooley and George Rilling, of the borough, had good luck while hunting in the swamps below Dunellen. They returned home last night with eleven woodcock.

Additional Trains to Trenton.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad announced yesterday that two additional trains from New York to Trenton have been placed in service. One will leave New York at 12 o'clock noon, arriving at Trenton at 1:30, and the other train will leave New York at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, arriving at Trenton at 5:30 o'clock. An effort is now being made to secure another train leaving Trenton shortly after 7 o'clock each morning, arriving in New York before 9 o'clock. At present there is no train at that time either on the Reading or Pennsylvania railroads.

—Solomon Mann, the grocer, has rented one of Dr. A. W. Anderson's stores on Watchung avenue, near Front street, where he will open another grocery.

Plainfield, N. J., July 3, 1907.

THE GRAND JURY'S POSITION.

It is not at all probable that the Grand Jury will pay any attention to the extraordinary resolution passed by the Elizabeth Council for there is no sane reason under the sun which would warrant it doing so. As has been stated by The Daily Press, that body is in nowise accountable for its actions to any individual or collective body excepting the court. It is not for any person or organization to demand the whys and wherefores of its doings. It simply makes the presentment based on the results of its investigations. The rest is for the court. If the inquisitors see fit to summon the members of the Elizabeth Council before it individually it could have done so and may yet do so at any time regardless of any resolutions or demands of that body. It would not be surprising, therefore, to hear that certain ones among the Elizabeth fathers have been called before the Grand Inquest, but we do not believe that the latter body will be prompted to take such action solely because the said councilmen challenge indictment. But, as the Newark Evening News says, "having fully considered the matter and made a presentment of the facts, it is not likely that Foreman Charles J. Fisk and the other jurors will take any further action."

In referring to the "play to the galleries" made by its city fathers, The Elizabeth Journal, which appears to have such a keen insight into its own municipality's affairs that it has not become hysterical over the presentment, says regarding the meeting of the Council:

"No attempt was made to discuss the excise law as it has been observed in Elizabeth. The facts as to persistent and flagrant violations of the law in this city are now too well known, through the work of the Prosecutor, for anyone to attempt to refute. A weak defense was made of the Excise Board by narrowing the discussion to one particular phase of the charges made by the Grand Jury against this body—that referring to the alleged using of the saloons by the members of the Excise Board to further private business interests.

"The discussion of this last point on the part of the members of the city government showed them somewhat lacking in that nicety of discrimination which the people might expect from their city officials. It is easy to see how a member of an excise board who was anxious for business success, and who had no high sense of the fitness of things, might easily be successfully catered to by saloon interests until his connection with the business of the saloons was so involved that he could not well extricate himself."

HARMFUL CUSTOMS.

We have no knowledge of the practice of Sheriff Lawrence in drawing Grand Juries but we presume the old method still prevails and there has probably never been a Grand Jury drawn the names for which were not sent to the Sheriff by some representative of the political party with which the occupant of that office was affiliated.—Summit Record.

It is no excuse to say that others have done so. If the sheriff is followed such a custom, the opportunity is now presented him to lose no time in announcing that hereafter he will not apply to political leaders to furnish him with available material for the grand jury. A Grand Jury should be divorced from political bodies. The spirit and letter of our form of government makes that essential. If it is disregarded in Union county, the sheriff has it within his power to correct the evil at once.

MASON W. TYLER.

In the death of Col. Mason W. Tyler, the community has suffered a distinct loss. As a resident he took a deep interest in Plainfield's welfare and was always ready to perform any service within his power. When called upon to act as a member of the Common Council, he discharged the duties of that important office with the utmost fidelity and ability. So it was when he was chosen as a member of the Board of Education, where he made use of his exceptional ealents for the benfit of the municipality. He was an early member of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg hospital, and in addition was the head of the Plainfield branch of the Anti-Race Track Association, which did effective work some years ago. To him, we also owe much for our splendid public library for this institution elicited his greatest interest, even up to the moment of his death. His most recent public service, however, was in connection with the movement to consolidate North Plainfield with Plainfield. The high regard with which he was held in this community was there shown. When the two representatives of the city and borough were called upon to select a fifth member for their body, they unanimously decided upon the man whose wise judgment had been so often depended upon in the past. Colonel Tyler possessed a high sense of honor, extraordinary intellectual faculties and a modesty that is seldom to be found in men who have been so successful.

CLEANING OUT ELIZABETH.

No better evidence of the rotten condition of affairs in Elizabeth is needed than what transpired in that place only last Sunday. The mayor and chief of police, who have shown themselves to be men of action and not mere wing bags, caused three raids to be made on as many saloons. In these three places 100 arrests were made for violation of the excise laws of New Jersey. Mayor P. J. Ryan and Chief of Police Tenney deserve the support and commendation of all law-abiding citizens. Let the good work go on!

A citizen of Elizabeth answering to the name of Henry H. Isham has been brought out as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. As the minority party can always be depended upon to do the assinine thing, it is not unlikely that the Isham boom is sprung to split the Union county delegation and thus effectually defeat the nomination of a formidable candidate.

As the Fourth of July is a legal holiday in New Jersey, The Daily Press will not be published tomorrow.

PERKINS TO SERVE AS ONE OF HOUSE PROBERS.

Fills Gibbs' Place—No Word from Jess As to Whether He Will Act, Too.

Speaker Edgar E. Lethbridge, of the Assembly, announced yesterday that he had offered to Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, Republican member from Union, the place on the House investigating committee made vacant by the resignation of "Uncle" Theodore B. Gibbs, of Camden, and that Mr. Perkins had accepted the appointment. The Speaker also stated that he had not yet received any reply from Frank P. Jess, of Camden, to whom he offered the place on the committee vacated by Assemblyman Alfred N. Barber, of Mercer, who resigned some time ago.

The Speaker asked Mr. Jess to take the vacant place last week, and the Camden man said that he would take the offer under consideration.

When the new committee organized last week John H. Backes, its counsel, announced that he would be ready to proceed with the investigation on July 15, and asked that an adjournment be taken until that day. Mr. Sullivan thought that the committee might find reason for meeting before that day, even though the counsel might not be ready before then to take testimony and suggested that the committee adjourn to next Friday, which was done. It is considered likely that when the committee meets on Friday Mr. Perkins may have something to say and some suggestions to offer which will make the meeting an exceedingly lively one.

COLBY OFF FOR EUROPE.

Senator and Wife to Tour France in Auto.

Senator and Mrs. Everett Colby sailed for Europe yesterday noon on the Oceanic and expect to return to this country about August 15. They will leave the steamer at Cherbourg, France, where the Senator's automobile, which was shipped there last week, will be awaiting them. It is the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Colby to start at once upon landing upon a tour of France and Switzerland and later to cross over into England and make a run through that country and Scotland.

The Senator proposes while in Switzerland to study the system of initiative and referendum, which originated in that country. He will look into the working of the system as it is practised in its home and also the manner of conducting elections there.

JUROR AS AN INTERPRETER.

Only One Who Understood Plaintiff in Breach of Promise Suit.

Three interpreters were used in court yesterday at New Brunswick, in the trial of the $10,000 suit of Miss Victoria Korzina against Harry Greenes, of Perth Amboy, for breach of promise.

First Deputy Sheriff William Oberman was called to interpret the girl's story to the jury. He couldn't understand the dialect and A. F. W. Mueller, a jeweler, of that city, who was on the jury, corrected him. Then Mr. Mueller was used as interpreter although he was serving as juror.

Later Joseph Hayter, of New Brunswick, was secured, and the taking of the testimony continued more smoothly. The case was not concluded.

Woman Scared to Death.

Ney York, July 3.—Hearing the screams of a mother of a boy who had just been drowned in the North River, an invalid woman living on the floor above the bereaved family at No. 523 West Twenty-seventh street, collapsed and fell dead yesterday. Ralph Jack was the lad who was drowned, and the woman who died was Mrs. Mary Conlon. Ralph fell from a barge while playing and his companion, Jimmy O'Brien, ran home to tell of the tragedy. Mrs. O'Brien hurried over and told Mrs. Jack, who, with her children, began screaming and could not be comforted. Mrs. Conlon, who was often stricken with epilepsy, heard the cries downstairs and became greatly excited. She could not understand what the trouble was, and, fearing that the building was on fire, she tried to reach the door, but fell dead. Ralph Jack's body was found and dragged out of the river a few hours afterward.

SCIENTIST IS INTERESTED

Dr. Hyslop, Physical Research Head, to Investigate the Brewin Case.

SCIENCE IS BAFFLED

Such Strange Freaks of Psychic Experience Puzzle the Most Learned—Explanation of Brewin's Loss of Personality Sought.

Dr. James H. Hyslop, head of the Society for Pyschical Research, is so deeply interested in the case of Charles P. Brewin, who for four years lost his identity and lived a new life in this city, under the name of Frank G. Johnson, that today he announced his intention of getting into communication with the victim of such strange dual personality, and endeavoring for the sake of science to probe the mystery surrounding the case. Dr. Hyslop will come here this afternoon to consult with Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, Brewin's physician.

Dr. Hyslop believes that the person of Mr. Brewin offers a chance to clear up once and for all the mystery that has so effectually shrouded the authenticated cases of dual personality of history. The doctor will go to Burlington in a day or two and there perform experiments in an effort to explain in detail the causes which led up to the banishment for four years of the original Mr. Brewin and the assertion of the second personality, Frank G. Johnson.

"The case of Mr. Brewin is like that of many others who have been sufferers from dual and multiple personality," said Dr. Hyslop. "The only difference is that this case is a wonderfully clear one. Here is an old man, respected, honored, trusted. He goes to bed one night in full possession of his senses. In the morning he is gone. Every memory of the thirty years he has been a resident of his home town is a blank. He does not even know his name.

"He is another individual, an entirely new personage. He believes firmlly that he is Johnson. For four years he remains in this state. Then one night he goes to bed and awakes in his first personality. The influence of the second self is shaken off obliterated forever.

"It is a remarkable case, a very lucid one, and one fit in every way to study with a hope of throwing some real light on the shadowy land beyond our ken in which dwell the phantoms, the dual personalities and the other unaccountable phenomena that have held science spell-bound and baffled for yeras.

"How do you account for dual personalities?" asked the reporter.

"We don't account for them. They are beyond present-day science. Psychologists and physicians say that it is a sort of disintegration of the normal personality. We know that, but it does not show the causes that lead up to the state. What we want to discover is just why a man whose real name is Brewin should be Frank G. Johnson, and not Michael Jones or Tom Smith, when his second self gains control of the motor centers.

"Peculiar mental shocks, blows on the head, etc., are usually accepted as the causes of the loss of the original personality. Well and good; but we want to know why these blows and shocks should give the recipient another definite self.

"Dr. Van Tassell was one of the best known physicians in Oakland. He had a large practice, which necessitated his going out at night a good deal. One morning about 2 o'clock he received an urgent call from a patient in a far quarter of the city. Hurriedly dressing, he kissed his wife good-by and left the house. That was the last that was seen of him for a month.

"It seems that he went directly to the wharves and asked for a ticket to Portland, Ore. As the agent was making out the ticket he asked Dr. Van Tassell his name in order to write it on the passport. 'Harvey Brown' promptly responded the physician.

"Dr. Van Tassell went to Portland, where he wandered about the city for several weeks, calling himself Harvey Brown and working at one kind of employment after another. In the meantime he was troubled by strange sensations in his head. At last he went to a doctor and told him that he did not know where he was, did not know his name, or where he lived, and asked the physician to try and find out for him.

"The Portland doctor took him to a hospital, where, under careful observation, hypnotic treatment and medical care, he discovered little by little that Harvey Brown was Dr. Van Tassell and he eventutally reasserted himself. The physician went back to his home and took up his old duties. But he never remembered that he had been Harvey Brown, or that he had been in Portland.

"I have no doubt," consluded Dr. Hyslop, "that many of the cases of suicide are committed, when a second personality is in possession of the body. Grip and creme de menthe are known to cause alterations of personality, and many cases are traced to one or the other of these causes."

PLEAS SAVE PAYNE A YEAR IN PRISON

LETTERS AND PETITIONS SERVE TO CUT HIS SENTENCE IN HALF.

Thaddeus Payne, colored, of this city, who was indicted on two charges, one of atrocious assault and another for carrying a concealed weapon in connection with the shooting of Lee Johnson, also colored, in an East Front street poolroom, was sentenced this morning in the Union County Court by Judge Atwater, to one year in State Prison. That Payne was not given two years, as originally intended by Judge Atwater, was due to personal letters received by him from Mayor Charles J. Fisk, State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and B. Frank Coriell; a petition signed by forty-five well-known citizens and the earnest plea in his behalf by his counsel, S. S. Swackhamer.

Judge Atwater explained that he fully intended to sentence Payne to a two years' term, but that the efforts made in behalf of the prisoner showed that he previously bore an excellent character, that he was industrious and a peaceable citizen. In presenting the petition, as well as the personal letters, Mr. Swackhamer impressed the court very much.

Lee Johnson has been put in charge of the county probation officer so that he may still continue to get hospital treatment for injuries received in the fight. Payne will be taken to Trenton this afternoon.

Finds Husband Expensive.

St. Louis, July 3.—George W. Raney, fifty-three years old, a bachelor, until less than two years ago, best man, by his own carefully kept record, at seventy-nine weddings, is expected to tell Judge McDonald why he has not shown greater appreciation of his wealthy wife, Mrs. Virginia C. Raney, who was a mighty good provider, according to her testimony. Mrs. Raney, who confessed that she was "past fifty-six," was married to Raney, October 17, 1905. Raney was a druggist at Monroe City. Mrs. Raney was then Mrs. James. Raney's predecessor was an Episcopal minister. Mrs. Raney told the Judge that abridal tour covering six months followed her marriage to Raney and she paid all the expenses. He did not work, she said, and never contributed anything to the expenses of the household.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 7.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—How our lives may be consecrated to our country.—Isa. xxii, 1-12.

One hundred and thirty-one years ago on last Thursday, July 4, the Declaration of American Independence was signed, and the aspirations of the colonists for liberty and self government made a mighty stride. In war, under the leadership of Washington, the colonists gained their independence, which they had declared justly and rightly theirs. Their ambition was not simply to be independent of England, but to establish on our shores a great nation. They were men "with empires in their brains," and they aimed to work out their inward thoughts into a great nation, one that should be "a crown of glory in the hand of the Lord and a royal diadem in the hand of God." This was the dream of Isaiah for Israel in the land of Babylon. He wanted Jerusalem restored and to be adorned with righteousness and salvation that should shine to other nations. He wanted the people prepared for the part they were to take in the upbuilding and preservation of the nation. And these ambitions were afterward fulfilled. So they have been in the history of America, beyond all conceptions of the founders of the nation, and the duty still remains for the people to do their part in sustaining and advancing our national life.

No American citizen should feel it a burden or an irksome task to consecrate his life to his country. In no other country are the ideals so high; in no other is so much liberty enjoyed; in no other are the opportunities of advancement for the individual as great; in no other are the people so closely bound together and the interests of all so nearly one. The enemies of the nation are the enemies of all, and the ship of state is never without its dangers. Today in our land the vast accumulations of wealth by the few is a menace to our land. The rapid spread of socialism, which in some cases at least is but a cover for anarchism, is another danger. The complicated questions concerning the regulation of the vast enterprises of our land are no light matter. All fraud and dishonesty must be removed from the business world, but great caution must be exercised not to disturb legitimate business or legitimate methods of business. The new enterprises in which our nation is engaged, such as the Panama canal, call for the heartiest support of the entire nation; the evident tendency to centralize the government and to resurrect the dead issue of state rights in their relation to the central government is a subject of a most serious character, and every true and patriotic American owes it to his country to keep abreast with the times, to keep in touch with the issues of the day and to give his best thought and judgment to the solution of the hard problems, as well as to enjoy the unparalleled prosperity with which God has blessed us.

In consecrating our lives to our country we should stand everywhere and always for national righteousness, for "righteousness exalteth a nation;" we should respect officeholders for the sake of the office, though reserving the right to criticise any official's action; we should be ready at any time to defend the flag against any foe, and above all, as Christians, we should do our best to possess the entire land for Christ. A Christless and Godless nation is doomed to destruction.

Characteristic of Secretary Shaw.

It was characteristic of William Shaw, the new general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, to acknowledge a message of personal congratulation in these words:

"I appreciate that there are many things that I cannot do, but the one thing that I am sure that I can do is to use every ounce of strength that I have for the cause of Christian Endeavor, which has meant everything to me."

A Miracle.

Here is a striking sentence from a Hindoo Christian Endeavorer: "If a thousand heads and eyes are made one, is not that a great miracle? But that is what is being done through Christ in bringing together men of every sort in unity with Him."

What the Pledge Card Said.

A little pledge card in a heap of crumpled papers lay.
I bent my ear, and this is what I heard the pledge card say:
"Oh, once my face was clean and bright, and once my coat was new,
And once my owner, noble lad, was bold and strong and true.
And once his Bible was my home, and every morn and night
I caught my owner's earnest eye aglow with happy light.
My signature was fresher then—the ink was hardly dry—
But now, alas, an outcast waif and wanderer am I.
I'm faded to a skeleton, and slowly day by day
My hands and feet, my eyes and tongue, have decomposed away.
I think it was my daily prayer, my hands, I lost the first,
And then my eyes, my Bible light—oh, blindness all accursed!
And then my brave prayer meeting tongue dropped in a dusty heap,
And then my swift prayer meeting feet, alack, they fell asleep.
Say, stranger, look around a bit and find my owner, pray,
And tell him that his wretched pledge is moldering away.
And bid him come and clean me up and build me up again,
And I will be his passport to the land of honest men."
Now, that is what the pledge card said and wanted me to do.
I'm looking for his owner now. It surely can't be you?

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

July 7: "Christian Citizenship." Public affairs a divine trust.—Rom. xiii, 1-7.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Passages for reference—Dan. ii, 20, 21; 1 Pet. ii, 13-17.

This theme is a timely one for study by the league. The attention of all classes of people is being drawn more than ever before to the betterment of social conditions, the fuller recognition of the rights of wage earners, the regulation of corporations and railroads in the interests of the general public, the better government of municipalities, commonwealths and the nation.

To many close observers of the signs of the times it appears that society is on the eve of a vast readjustment. Social questions have been studied in recent years more than in all the preceding centuries. There is reason for this in the profound changes which have taken place in the condition of the common people of all civilized lands during the past hundred years. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that we are in the very midst of a mighty social and political revolution which has already shifted much which was supposed to be immovable and may alter much more. Some of the sanest thinkers predict that society will be reconstructed on broader and more equitable lines which shall secure the well being of all members of the community.

A flood of talk and writing on this subject is pouring forth in Europe and in this country. All sorts of theories are abroad and are finding ardent advocates. Nearly all have more or less to do with a new form of government control of various matters. The nature, powers and limitations of government are receiving the closest scrutiny. Old beliefs are fast giving way to ideas which but a few years since received scant recognition.

A significant fact in this whole agitation is that many of the most influential advocates of the rights of the workingman and lower classes of society have no sympathy with the Christian church in any form. Not a few even charge that Christians have taken little or no interest in this movement for the uplifting and betterment of men. This charge is unfair, because in nearly every community the local church is active in the relief of distress of every kind, far more than is known by those who are not closely identified with the work.

The most hopeful sign which we see regarding this whole matter is the increasing interest which Christian people are taking in it.

The first thing which needs to be settled is the real source of the powers of government. On this point we need to stand immovable. All government of man derives its authority from God. This truth is imbedded in human nature and is ineradicable. All men have rights and duties, and the province of government is to secure these in righteousness, justice and mercy. Every Christian is bound to honor the powers in authority. In this land especially it becomes the duty of every Christian to be intelligent on all matters of public interest, to bear his full share of public burdens and with inflexible integrity throw all possible influence against public corruption of every sort.

It has been said that the league has not given so much attention to good citizenship discussion as some other young people's societies. However this may be, we cannot decide, but it would be well if every chapter would enter heartily upon a closer study of this subject as connected with Christian duty. Loyalty to Jesus Christ and true patriotism demand of us the practice and propagation of Christian citizenship of the highest type. The danger from false views and practices can be counteracted only by setting forth the true and right.

True Beauty.

That is not the most perfect beauty which in public would attract the greatest observation, nor even that which the statuary would admit to be a faultless piece of clay kneaded up with blood. But that is true beauty which has not only a substance, but a spirit—a beauty that we must intimately know, both to appreciate it beauty lighted up in conversation, where the mind comes, as it were, through its casket, adorn by the language of the poet, "the sentiment that spoke in her cheeks and so charmingly wrought that we might almost see her body thought," an order and a kind of beauty which, the more we know, the more we accuse ourselves for not having before discovered those thousand graces which bespeak that their owner has a soul. This is that beauty that never cloys, possessing charms as resistless as the fascinating Egyptian for whom Antony wisely paid the bauble of the world—a beauty like the rising of his own Italian suns, always enchanting, never the same.—Rev. C. C. Colton.

Open the Door.

Open the door; let in the air.
The winds are sweet, and the flowers are fair.
Joy is abroad in the world today;
If your door is wide, it may come this way.
Open the door!

Open the door; let in the sun.
He hath a smile for every one;
He hath made of the raindrops gold and gems;
He may change our tears to diadems.
Open the door!

Open the door of the soul; let in Strong, pure thoughts which shall banish sin.
They will grow and bloom with a grace divine,
And their fruit shall be sweeter than that of the vine.
Open the door!

Open the door to the heart; let in Sympathy sweet for stranger and kin.
It will make the halls of the heart so fair
That angels may enter unaware.
Open the door!

The GIRL from TIM'S PLACE

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

"It was all wrong, my coming here," she said, looking away to the village where lights twinkled; "I am not their sort nor they mine. I'd better go away."

Then, lifted a wee bit by this new resolve, she rose and returned to the house.

The tall clock in the sitting-room was just chiming ten when she entered, and Aunt Comfort was there alone.

"Raymond was here this evening," she said kindly, "and waited quite a spell. Where have you been?"

"Oh, nowhere," answered Chip, pleasantly, "only I was lonesome and went out for a walk."

Little did good Aunt Comfort realize what a volcano of hope, despair, shame and tender love was concealed beneath that calm answer, or the new resolve budding in Chip's heart.

No more did Ray suspect it when he met her coming home from school the next afternoon.

For during those two wretched hours when she was alone on the worn schoolhouse step, poor Chip McGuire, the low-born, pitiful waif, had become a woman and put away girlish impulses.

"I couldn't come to see you that first evening," he said at once, "for uncle and aunty kept me talking till bedtime. Where were you last night?"

"Oh, I didn't much think you would come," answered Chip, calmly, smiling at him in a far-off way, "I am a nobody here, as you will soon find out, and I don't expect—anything. I got lonesome last night and went off for a walk."

Ray looked at her in wide-eyed astonishment. And well he might, for only two short days since she had met him, an eager, simple girl, and now she spoke like a woman. No word, no hint of his neglect, escaped her; but a cool indifference was apparent.

"Tell me about the woods and Old Cy," she said, not waiting for him to speak again, "and how is the hermit? I want to know all about them."

"Oh, I left 'em all right," answered Ray, sullenly, for like a boy he wanted to be coaxed. And then, urged a little by Chip, he told his winter's experience.

One episode interested her most of all—the strange trapper's doings, his theft of their game, their pursuit of him and discovery of his hiding spot.

"I know who that was," she said, when it was all described. "It was my father, and if he had caught you spying upon him, I guess he'd shot you both. He always used to go somewhere trapping every fall; but nobody could ever find where."

This return to the memories of the wilderness wore away something of Chip's cool reserve, and when the house was reached her eyes had grown tender.

"I shall be glad to see you often—as—as your folks will let you come," she said, somewhat timidly when they parted; and scarce understanding this speech, Ray left her.

"Chip has changed a whole lot," he said to his aunt a little later, "and I wish she hadn't; she don't seem the same any more."

"I'm glad of it if she has," answered Angie, smiling at him. "There was need enough of it."

CHAPTER XIX.

Old Cy had builded wiser than he realized when he coaxed Ray to spend a winter in the woods.

The long tramps through the vast wilderness; the keen hunt for signs of mink, fisher, otter, and wildcat, with constant guard against danger; the unremitting though zestful labor of gum-gathering; the far-sighted need for winter preparation; and last but not least Old Cy's cheerful philosophy, had broadened the lad and developed both muscle and mind.

His success, too, had encouraged him. He was eager to try another season there, and planned for hiring men to gather gum, and saw in this vocation possible future.

But the change in Chip puzzled him. He had returned, expecting to find her the same timid, yet courageous little girl, ready to be his companion at all times and to kiss him when he chose—a somewhat better-educated girl, of course, using more refined language, but otherwise the same confiding child, as it were.

She was all this the day of his return; and then, presto! like a sudden blast of cold air came a change. Too loyal to her to question any one, he could only wonder why this change.

He called again soon after that first, unsatisfying walk home with her, to find her the same cool, collected young lady. She was nice to him, induced him to talk of the woods once more and his own plans; but it was not the Chip of old who listened, but quite another person.

"I am going back to the lake with uncle and aunt," he said at last, "and I mean to coax them to take you along. You have been shut up in school so long, it will do you good."

"Please don't say a word to them about it," she urged, in hurt tone, "for it will do no good. I wouldn't go, anyway."

"Not go to the woods if you could," he exclaimed in astonishment; "why, what do you mean?"

"Just what I say," she returned firmly, and then added wistfully, "I'd fly there, if I had wings. I'd give my life, almost, for one more summer like the last. But I shall not go again now, and maybe never."

It was unaccountable and quite beyond Ray's ken—this strange decision of hers—and her "Please don't say any more about it" closed the subject.

Another and even greater shock came to Ray when late that evening, on the porch, he essayed to kiss her.

"No, no; please don't," she said with almost a sob, pushing him away, "It's silly now, and—and—you mustn't."

A week later school closed, and Chip's conduct was then also a puzzle to Miss Phinney. As usual on these occasions, when the hour came, each pupil, young and old, filed past the teacher at her desk, the boys to shake hands, the girls to be kissed, and all bade good-by, after which they trooped away, glad to escape.

This ceremony now took place as usual. All departed except Chip, and she remained at her desk. Some intuition of pity or sympathy drew Miss Phinney to her at once; and then, at the first word from her, Chip gave way to tears—not light ones, but sobs that shook her as a great grief. Vainly Miss Phinney tried to cheer and console her, stroking the bowed head until her own eyes grew misty.

ROCHELLE SALTS IN NEIGHBOR'S WELL

Justice of the Peace John W. Young, of Dover, rendered a verdict of $200 in favor of Samuel McConnel in a suit for damages against Mrs. Annie Bennett, of Shippenport, Lake Hopatcong. McConnel claimed that Mrs. Bennett had poisoned his well, but the evidence was that she had put five pounds of Rochelle salts in the well on June 5.

McConnel's daughter, Mrs. Gordon, testified that she had seen Mrs. Bennett throw some white powdery substance into the well and that her father had climbed down and scraped some of the powder from the sides of the well above the water, which scrapings he sent to a chemist in Dover.

McConnel testified that when the white powder taken from the well came back from the chemist he put some on a piece of meat intending to give it to a dog that a friend wanted put out of the way, but another dog belonging to a neighbor ate the meat and died. McConnel said that he had lost the use of the well, having had to nail it up, and that now he had to walk a quarter of a mile to get water. He said that he was afraid of Mrs. Bennett and that his tenants threatened to leave because they had to fetch water from a distance. When asked if Mrs. Bennett was related to him, he replied: "It's hard to tell."

Albert Stevens seventeen years old, swore that on June 6 Mrs. Bennett told him that she had put five pounds of Rochelle salts in the well.

William Stevens another neighbor, testified that on June 21, Mrs. Bennett came to him about midnight and asked him to assist him in a little job. With a third man named Search, Stevens said, they went to McConnel's well and drew a pail of water which Bennett put in bottles and asked the witness and Search to hide them so that they might produce them if called upon to do so. Stevens said then that he was satisfied that the water was not poisoned and to prove it drank freely of it but suffered no ill effects.

LOTS OF COMPANY.

This Is Not An Isolated Or Individual Case in Plainfield.

What is told by this resident of Plainfield will prove invaluable to many people who go through the same daily experience. This short statement of the relief oztained from far too prevalent annoyances should convince the greatest skeptic that the merit of the article referred to is just as represented.

Mrs. J. Mottley, of 546 Sixth St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "About two months ago I was seized with a severe backache and dull pains in the top and back of my head. I could not rest nights, and had little desire to do housework and my strength seemed to be about all gone. I tried Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's drug store and can truthfully say that they gave me relief from my sufferings. My back and head do not ache and I am strong and vigorous, rest well at night, and have some ambition again. I am convinced that Doan's Kidney Pills are a first-class remedy for troubles arising from the kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MISS WILDEY'S TENNIS PROVOKES ENTHUSIASM

PLAINFIELDER IN FINE FORM IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNEY.

Miss Evelyn Sears, of Boston, yesterday won the women's singles lawn tennis championship of the United States for 1907, defeating in the final round of the national tournament at St. Marin's, Philadelphia, Miss Carrie B. Neely, of Cincinnati, by a score of two sets to nothing. There was no challenge round, because of the default of last year's champion, Miss Helen Homans, of New York.

The mixed doubles championship went to Miss May Sayres and Wallace F. Johnson, Merion Cricket Club, of Philadelphia, who defeated Miss Natalie Wildey, of the Plainfield Country Club, and W. M. Tilden, of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, in the final in straight sets, 6-1, 7-5. The play by Miss Wildey, as well as that of her sisters in the other events, carried the gallery by storm. Miss Natalie Wildey received the greatest applause for her fine playing. In several respects she was at a disadvantage, being required to play morning matches, which was against her custom, and besides she played an exhibition match. The honor of finishing second in the mixed doubles for the United States championship is no small one and Miss Wildey has been highly complimented for it.

Tennis Championship Play.

The tennis tournament for the championship of the Park Club, which was to have been started on Saturday, began yesterday on the club courts, when one match in men's doubles was played. Vaughn McGee and Harry L. McGee defeated Ray Lyman and Charles Lyman, 6-2, 6-0. Tomorrow there will be play in both men's and mixed doubles, and it is hoped to conclude the tournament at that time.

Change Race Timetable.

The matineel races at the Driving Park tomorrow will begin at 1:30 instead of 1 o'clock, as at first announced. The entry lists are large, and some great sport is expected. The running race will be a feature. Several Plainfield horses are entered in it.

(Other sporting news on page three).

PERSONAL.

Miss Addie Parker Jackson is registered at the Passaic, in Asbury Park.

Dr. C. Montford has gone to his home in Newburg, N. Y., where he will spend a week.

Miss Anna Hopewell, of East Fifth street, is spending two weeks with relatives in Hunterdon county.

John Fritts, of West Fifth street, is spending the summer at Manasquan at the cottage of W. J. Counihan.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. VanCleef, of East Fifth street, have returned from a visit with friends at Woodbourne, Pa., Flemington and Stanton.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Maxson and daughter, Miss Ruth Maxson, and Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Rogers left yesterday for Long Lake, Hamilton county, New York. Dr. Maxson and family will remain for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will return in two months.

OBITUARY.

Joseph J. Martin.

Joseph J. Martin, the youngest son of Joseph C. and Minnie M. Martin, of Duer street, died at the parents' home, last night, aged nine months and twelve days. The funeral will be held at the residence of the parents, Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

No Changes For the Present.

Owing to the fact that the city has a lease on the building now used as police headquarters, and which has been purchased by Henry Haurand, proprietor of the Central Cafe, no changes are anticipated at present. Eventually police headquarters will have to be moved and it is quite probable that an effort will be made to combine all of the city offices and various departments in one building. This could be done if the city should purchase the Woolston & Buckle building on North avenue, where several offices are now located and where the Common Council meets. That part of the building now used by Smalley Brothers, butchers, would meet the requirements of a police headquarters, the entrance to the building from Second street being considered an advantage.

FINDS LONG-LOST RECORD.

Vice Chancellor Howell Discovers Answer to Chancery Suit for Which Possessor Wants $1,500.

Jersey City, July 3.—Vice Chancellor James E. Howell, who is connected with the Newark Library, found, in a shop in West Sixth street, New York, recently an answer to a suit that had been filed in the Court of Chancery in 1751, and that has been missing for more than a century.

"How much do you want for this?" asked Mr. Howell.

"Fifteen hundred dollars," replied the dealer. Mr. Howell intends to lay the matter before Chancellor Magie, and an endeavor will be made to have the Legislature appropriate the amount so that the paper may be placed in the archives of the Court of Chancery, where it belongs.

Not much in definite detail is known about the suit of which the paper is a part.

Falling Babe Caught Unharmed.

New York, July 3.—Though only twenty months old, Sarafinia Sandrella broke a world's record yesterday afternoon. She fell five stories and landed in the arms of a woman who had not seen her coming, escaping without so much as a scratch. Mrs. Sandrella left her baby in a cradle, which had been drawn close to a front window of the Sandrella home on the fifth floor of the tenement No. 28 Chrystie street. Jumping up and down for several minutes the youngster finally plunged thru the window. In front of the tenement stood Mrs. Ida Schwartz and her daughter, Sarah, of No. 18 Chrystie street. They heard the shouts and looked upward tosee the cause of the excitement. Mrs. Schwartz had just turned her gaze skyward when the descending youngster plumped into her arms. She staggered under the shock, clung tightly to the youngster for a moment and then sank to the sidewalk in a faint. Little Sarofinia cried hysterically for a minute or so and then shouted lustily for her mother. A score of persons rushed to take her, but she ignored them all and toddled into the tenement.

"CENTRAL PARK"

Was—Is—Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central Park is that beautifully situated tract bounded by Park, Prospect, Hillside and Thornton Avenues.

SWACKHAMER AS ORATOR

Former Assemblyman Makes Patriotic Speech at Englishtown Observance.

CITIZENS' CELEBRATION

Speaker Frequently Interrupted By Hearty Applause of Big Audience—His Speech.

Former Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, was the orator of the day at the citizens' celebration commemorating the Fourth of July, at Englishtown yesterday. A great crowd heard the silver-tongued lawyer discourse on patriotism, his speech being frequently interrupted by the applause of the assemblage.

During the course of his remarks Mr. Swackhamer said:

"If our forefathers had not been 'stern men with empires in their brains;' if they had not won our independence and erected the well proportioned columns of constitutional liberty, the sun would have shone as bright today, and the heavens smiled with the same beneficence; the majestic rivers would flow to the gulf and the seas; the mountains would be clothed with the same rich mantel of trees and verdure; the valleys would smile with the same fertility; the mountains would hide the same metal and mineral wealth, and on the prairies would wave, 'the billowed seas of wheat and corn'; but what would all this be worth if today we could not sing with joyous hearts, 'My Country 'tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty.'

"There is an inspiration in the sublime courage and heroic self-sacrifice of the founders and defenders of this Republic. A man may be courageous and face the lightnings of war when animated by a hope of glory. Hannibal could brave the icy solitudes, and the slippery perils of the Alps, and venture so close to the gates of the Eternal City as to cast his sword over her walls, for he knew that the overthrow of the Roman Empire would write his name in fadeless characters on the imperishable roll of fame.

"With a country of boundless wealth and resistless power, in a time of profound peace and general prosperity, we are naturally lulled in the sense of security, and look with confidence to the future opening before us. We contemplate the nation's marvelous growth and development. We consider the inestimable privilege of equal rights and popular sovereignty; we may hold the flag, under whose folds the strongest must obey, and the weakest find protection, and we say, 'Here at last is the fountain of national youth, whence shall forever flow the blessings of civil and religious liberty;' but let us not be deceived, 'Eternal vigilance is the price of Liberty.'

"The rich fruitage of our fathers' sacrifices will crumble to ashes like the apples of Sodom if touched by the fingers of venality, or contaminated by the breath of luxury and corruption, unless the sons are animated by the spirit of the fathers: unless they are true to the great trust committed to their care; unless they foster the principles that give vitality and perpetuity to free institutions, the time will yet come when the country of Washington and Lincoln will share the fate of the republics that has gone before. The voice of God speaking by the pen of inspiration has said, 'Righteousness exalth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.'

"Having enjoyed so rich a heritage, it is incumbent upon us to hand it down untarnished to the generations that are to follow. It is incumbent upon us to cherish and maintain the principles of justice and equality. It is incumbent upon us to insure the due discharge of public duty by the cultivation of private virtue. It is incumbent upon us to prove worthy of the priceless blessings of American citizenship."

Negro Fined.

Lester Sheppard, colored, and his wife, Mary Sheppard, were arrested in front of police headquarters, last night, at 11 o'clock, by Chief Kiely and Overseer of the Poor Aleck Ayers. The man was noisy and refused to quiet down when the chief spoke to him. The woman stuck to the man, and shared his fate. Judge Runyon fined Sheppard $5 and suspended sentence on his wife, this morning.

Elizabeth City Hall Threatened.

The City Hall, Elizabeth, was discovered to be on fire at 9 o'clock last night, and for a time the building was threatened with destruction. The structure was set on fire by a sky rocket, which landed on the roof. When the fire department arrived the fire was burning briskly and it was fully an hour before it was finally extinguished. The damage will be about $200.

HERE IS A CASE OF "TOO MUCH JOHNSTON"

MAN GETS HIS HAMMER OUT—FURNITURE SMASHED.

The domestic tranquility at 14 Regent street was rudely disturbed this morning at 1 o'clock when the head of the house, Paul Johnston, returned with a full load of Fourth of July cheer. In a care free manner, he pranced about the house with a large hammer, using it with much results.

Regardless of the frantic appeals of his wife he quickly turned the new cook stove into scrap iron. Furniture and windows went likewise, and a general breaking up of housekeeping followed. The celebration attracted the attention of Officer Keller, who interrupted the sport and conducted Johnston to police headquarters. Johnston says he has no recollection of the Fourth. The trial will take place tonight.

FRESH AIR HOME'S CARNIVAL NETS $200

ATTRACTION DREW FAIR PATRONAGE ALL DAY.

The carnival for the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home on its grounds yesterday was largely attended all day and proved a complete success. About $200 was realized.

Three of the attractions were in the new auditorium. The restaurant was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Scriben, assisted by the Misses Helen Guttridge, Edna Willis and Miss Mc Niss. The cake booth was conducted by Miss Florence Hawkins, Miss Benedict, Mrs. Ada Cumming and Miss Cora Brokaw. Ice cream was also sold in the auditorium by Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hadley and Mr. and Mrs. David Hand. The auditorium was artistically decorated with flowers, ferns and vines.

Outside on the grounds the shooting gallery did a good business. It was managed by Harold Robert. Fancy articles were sold by the Misses Mardcastle and Giles and Mrs. George. Mr. Herbert Henry and the Misses Loizeaux were kept busy at the candy table.

A fine attraction drew crowds to the Japanese booth, where Gado, a Jap, painted small sketches while his patrons waited. He also sold Japanese cups and saucers. Mrs. J. Louis and Mrs. Broom had charge of the fish pond. Those to whom the love of chance appeals had an ample opportunity to try their luck at the wheel of fortune, manipulated by O. T. Lewis and T. Baron.

Memories of the old home and the farm were called to mind by the lemonade well, which represented the old well curb with the moss grown bucket, chain and sweep. Here, Miss Dorothy Smith, dressed as a country lass, handed out the lemonade which was drawn up in the bucket by Herbert Henry and Joseph Hawkins.

The most money was no doubt made at the fortune teller's booth, where R. H. McCready, dressed as a Turkish fortune teller, revealed the past, present and future of all who had the courage to listen.

The matron of the Home, Miss Sara Curry, participated in the affair. G. E. Hall and J. D. Loizeaux acted as general managers, and Mrs. Herbert Henry was chairman of the general committee.

Independence Day at Park Club.

The Independence Day celebration at the Park Club was largely attended and much enjoyed, as usual. In addition to the large gathering of members and friends on the club grounds to witness the fine display of fireworks in the evening, Washington avenue was thronged with people from all parts of the city and borough. The display lasted about an hour, after which the members and their guests enjoyed dancing in the clubhouse until a late hour. In the afternoon, during the progress of the championship tennis tournament, tea was served on the clubhouse veranda. A number of women presided at the tea table, while some of the younger women assisted.

Last Public Meeting.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors is holding its final public meeting in the Common Council rooms today. This will be the last opportunity the taxpayers will have to look over the assessments before the books are sent to the County Board of Taxation.

To Provide For Contingent Expenses.

The Common Council will hold an adjourned meeting on Monday night, July 15, when several street matters will be disposed of and a resolution will be adopted providing a contingent fund to meet expenses not included in the regular tax ordinance.

RUNNING RACE A WINNER

Mark Hoyt Resplendent in Gay Attire, but Another Mount Got First Money

LARGE CROWD ON HAND

Bookies Scared Off For Fear I. P. Runyon Would Do Something Terrible—A Good Holiday Card.

One of the largest crowds that has attended a race meet at the Driving Park in recent years was on hand yesterday afternoon when the Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club presented its holiday card. There were four events on the program, a 2:25 mixed trot and pace, a free for all, a 2:40 trot and a running race. The last named was a new feature for Fair Acres meets and did much to bring about the success of the day's sport.

The 2:25 trot and pace proved to be a good event and was won by J. S. Bornman's "Albert D.," taking three out of four heats. J. S. Irving's "Fred V." finished in the lead in the first heat. The free for all brought out four good entries and the heats were well contested but all went to Charles Brower's "Prince" in 2:23½, 2:23½ and 2:25.

Stonewall Jackson gave the spectators a good laugh in the 2:40 trot with a trotter that didn't trot, owned by Henry Weiss. He was entered under the name of "Grandpa," and showed by his actions that it was no misnomer. "Stony" had the time of his life trying to hold him down but he persisted in breaking every ten yards, just to show that grandfather horses can be skittish if they want to. He finished seventh in the race. There were seven entries.

The running race was in two heats, both of which were won by "Ida G.," owned by William Gross, of Fords Corner. Marcus Hoyt, mounted on Howard Woolston's "Red Squirrel," finished second ten lengths behind but got thee times the applause accorded the winner. "Mark" was garbed in one of the cutest riding suits ever seen on the track and the feminine portion of the grandstand was just positive he couldn't lose on its account, if nothing else. It was a cross between the garment worn by Jack Wilmerding at the Decoration Day steeplechase and the London-made suit sprung on the horse show folks by "Reggie" Vanderbilt. "Ida G.'s" rider, who had a name so long nobody could cipher it out, came on the track in the same clothes he uses when molding bricks at Perth Amboy, helped out by a pair of bicycle socks to keep his overalls from flapping, but he was the "candy boy" in the saddle. He rode with the supreme indifference of one of Buffalo Bill's Russian Cossacks and had time to figure up his winnings before the others came under the wire. Fear of I. P. Runyon kept the bookies away but it said "Red Squirrel" was backed heavily on the strength of "Mark's" uniform. The other entries were James Gethen's "Sligo Lass" and Lester Tingley's "Merry Sailor."

The results:

First Race—2:25 mixed trot and pace:

Albert D.	2	1	1	1
Fred V.	1	3	2	3
The Lawyer	3	2	3	3
Hartwood Belle	5	4	4	5
Billy Craig	4	5	5	4

Time 2:27½, 2:29½, 2:32, 2:39.

Second race, free for all:

Prince	1	1	1
Sir Arthur	3	3	2
Robert W.	4	2	3
Roan View	2	4	4

Time 2:23½, 2:23½, 2:25.

2:40 trot:

Maud C.	1	1	1
Artistic	2	3	3
Aleysia	4	4	2
Shamrock	6	2	6
Sidney Leland	3	5	4
Katherine Dillon	5	6	5
Grandpa	7	7	7

Time 2:34¼, 2:30, 2:35½.

Running Race:

Ida G.	1	1
Sligo Lass	3	3
Merry Sailor	4	4

Time .56¼, .57½.

The officers who presided at the meet were as follows: Starter, E. B. Allen; judges, Dr. Voorhies, A. S. Case and Adam Blair; timers, L. A. Bellis, J. W. Johnson and A. B. Grierson.

Mishap at Westfield.

A heavily loaded cannon was discharged on the trolley track at Broadway and Elm streets, Westfield, at one o'clock yesterday morning, directly in front of an eastbound trolley care. The concussion broke the vestibule windows and the glass of the headlight. Walter Sheets, the motorman, received an injury in the right hand. The men who fired the cannon will be given a hearing tonight.

CONFER ON BREWIN CASE

Psychic Research Society's Head Consults With Dr. J. H. Buchanan.

LETTER TO MISS BROWN

"Johnson" As Real Self to Be Put Under Hypnotic Influence—Seeking Alleged Relations.

Prof. James H. Hyslop, formerly of Columbia University, and head of the Society for Pyschic Research, who became interested in the Charles P. Brewin case so far as the dual personality is concerned, spent Wednesday afternoon with the man's physician, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan.

He believes that the Brewin case offers a fine opportunity for the society to study the phenomenon of dual personality. The professor believes that this is the only logical explanation of Brewin's case.

"The case of Mr. Brewin," said Prof. Hyslop, "is like that of many others who have suffered from dual personality, but this case is a remarkably clear one." He told everyone with whom he talked here that the case is a most desirable one for scientific study. The scientist said that he would go to Camden and ask permission of Brewin's relatives to study the case by observing Brewin personally. He is anxious to subject Brewin to hypnotic influence, believing that the second personality might be induced to boil to the surface again and Brewin would live over again his life as "Mr. Johnson." With the second personality again dominant the professor betlieves that "Frank G. Johnson" might be able to recall how it was that he had become Johnson and not Tom Smith or Paul Jones. That, in the professor's opinion, is one of the most interesting phases in the case.

Friends of Brewin are now anxious to find two women in this city, who were regarded by "Mr. Johnson" as his stepmother and his half-sister. With the return of his real personality a week ago, all recollection of these women faded from his mind. He now has no idea even when Anna C. Johnson, the beneficiary under his insurance policy, is or how he came to know her name. She is described in his Foresters' insurance policy as his sister, but he cannot recall her. Yet his friends say that when he was "Mr. Johnson" he frequently spoke of his step-mother and sister living in New York.

Another puzzling thing which Brewin's friends would like explained is a memorandum indicating that he loaned $700 to a New York man, when he was "Mr. Johnson." He cannot recall that incident now.

Yesterday Miss Mary Brown received a letter from Mr. Brewin in which he thanks her and her sister, Mrs. Denton, for their kindness and care of him during his troubles. He again explains that it seems as thought he had been away but a few days and that he does not seem to remember anything. He states that he will return to Plainfield Monday.

DELIGHTFUL DANCE AT "TRUELL HALL"

IDEAL RESORT RAPIDLY FILLING UP WITH GUESTS.

The Independence Day festivities began at Truell Hall on Wednesday night with a delightful dance given by Mrs. J. R. Truell for her guests and some friends from this city. More than 100 people were present to enjoy the fine program of music. The Hall was elaborately decorated for the Fourth, there being a profusion of roses, flowers, flags and bunting arranged in the reception hall, parlors and dining room.

A pleasing feature enjoyed by the guests was the opening of the large and handsome Japanese tea room. This attractive room is located between the large reception hall and the dining room. It is arranged in true Japanese style and makes an ideal place to enjoy a social time.

The Hall is rapidly filling up with guests from New York, Brooklyn and other cities. Yesterday there were a number of automobile parties who stopped at the ideal resort for dinner. Many arrivals are expected tomorrow.

Y. M. H. A. Outing.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association and its friends, to the number of about 100 spent yesterday at "Clam's Retreat," near New Providence, where dancing, boating and baseball were enjoyed. The party made the trip in four stages, and not the least enjoyable features was a fine dinner served at the popular resort to the company of Plainfielders.

REPORT FEW ACCIDENTS

Hospital Record and Police Blotter Show That Fourth Was Unusually Tame.

NONE SERIOUSLY HURT

Two Borough Childen Suffer from Explosion of Powder—Scotch Plains Boy Maimed By Cannon.

Though the customary number of burned fingers and singed eyebrows are everywhere in evidence, the Fourth of July celebration in Plainfield passed off without any fatalities occurring. Premature explosions of cannons and giant firecrackers and the careless handling of pistols and powder resulted in several accident cases that threatened to prove serious but have since been found to be not so bad. For the first time in many years, the police blotter did not have a single accident entry.

An explosion of loose powder came near resulting fatally to Anna Blume, the nine-year-old daughter of Mrs. Charles Blume, of Mountain avenue, and Dorothy Krewson, about the same age, daughter of Councilman Frank Krewson, of the borough. Anna secured a jelly glass filled with the black grains and took it over to Dorothy's home on Somerset street, the latter living with her grandmother, Mrs. Shepard. Budd Vail used some of the powder in shooting off a cannon and while doing so, the glass jar became broken. A few of the grains poured out and without realizing the danger, Anna touched a lighted punk to them as she and Dorothy were standing directly over the jar.

The entire mess of powder exploded, burning both children about the hands and faces. Anna's clothes were set afire and she ran screaming toward her home. Every step fanned the flames and she would undoubtedly have been burned to death but for Harrison Coddington, who caught hold of her and smothered the blaze with his coat. The greater part of her hair was burned off and she will be under the doctor's care for some time. Dorothy's burns were quite severe but her clothing did not catch fire. Dr. Hughes attended both children.

B. K. Burke, a prominent merchant of Dunellen, was shot and severely wounded by a stray bullet while at work in his barn, Walnut street and Prospect avenue, Dunellen, Wednesday night. He was tying a bag of feed, when the bullet struck his right wrist.

Mr. Burke's barn is in the middle of a four-acre lot, and he could not distinguish the report that preceded the shot. The ball ploughed through the flesh above his wrist, glanced along the bone, and lodged in the large muscle of the forearm. Dr. D. C. Main was called, and he cut out the bullet at once. The wound is not dangerous. There is no clue to the shooter, but there is no suspicion that the shooting was anything but accidental.

Harry Paff, the young son of Thomas Paff, of Scotch Plains, was handling a cannon yesterday afternoon and lingered around the touchhole a little too long after firing the stem of a charge, half of the boys' thumb went with it. He was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment and will be able to go home today.

While the premature celebration was in progress Wednesday night, some one set off a dynamite cracker on North avenue. The explosion hurled a loose stone through the window of the Chinese laundry in the Woolston & Buckle row and caused a stampede among the occupants. No one was hurt.

Some one handling a revolver on West Front street, sent a stray bullet through the window of Alex. Lusardi's fruit store, yesterday. It just escaped hitting a customer and everybody in the vicinity felt uneasy a good while afterward.

While in attendance at the Y. M. H. A. outing at New Providence, S. Rothberg shot himself in the hand with a blank cartridge. It was caused by a young woman shoving his elbow just as he was about to discharge the pistol.

Round Brook's Busy Fourth.

The 130th anniversary, as near as the season permits, of the winter encampment of Washington's army on Middlebrook Heights, one-half mile distant from Bound Brook, on ground now in the care of the Washington Camp Ground Association, was celebrated yesterday. A parade was reviewed at the Middlebrook County Club House by President C. C. Rawlings, of the association, and the mayors of Bound Brook and South Bound Brook. At the camp ground William H. Speer, prosecuting attorney for Hudson county, delivered the principal address.

PLAINFIELD'S POLICE SILENCE 50 REVOLVERS

COPS MAKE BIG HAUL IN ANNUAL PISTOL ROUND UP.

To guard against accidents from the vagrant bullets that seek to sneak into pistols designed for blank cartridges, the police, Wednesday night and yesterday, took up every revolver found in action on the street. They gathered fifty of them, mostly from boys and youths, and instructed the celebrators to appear in court this morning. The haul was the largest of its kind ever made known.

All but eight of them obeyed the order. Judge Runyon lectured them on pistol shooting in the street, and suspended sentence with a warning. The revolvers were returned. None of them taken up had ball cartridges in them.

SAYS HE WAS HELD UP IN NEW BRUNSWICK

LETTER CARRIER TELLS OF FALLING IN WITH JOVIAL HIGHWAYMEN.

Charles F. Glaentzer, of this city, a letter carrier, claims that he was held up and robbed on Burnet street, New Brunswick, Wednesday night, by members of a gang which makes its headquarter's around Grover's dock. Yesterday the police arrested John Wahler, Corey Meyers and John Kelly, charged with highway robbery and are holding them at the lock-up pending a further investigation.

Glaentzer says that he met a number of men on Burnet street, who induced him to go down to Grover's Dock. Then one of the men held his hands behind his back and two others went through his pockets. He says that the thing was done so good naturedly that he thought it was all a joke at first. There was no display of weapons, no threats, no violence, excepting the holding of his hands and he did not resist much.

But when a found that a gold watch and chain and a silver watch and gold chain, which he had had in his pockets, were gone after the men had gotten through with him, he decided that the thing was no joke at all.

He reported the robbery to the police at once and Detective Dunn was put on the case.

WEDDED AT ST. MARY'S.

Ceremony Unites Miss Margaret J. Rafferty and James H. Burns.

Miss Margaret J. Rafferty, daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Rafferty, of East Fourth street, and James H. Burns, of this city, formerly of Stonington, Conn., were married in St. Mary's church, Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Father Delehanty performed the ceremony in the presence of a gathering of friends.

Miss Rafferty was gowned in white point d'esprit over white taffeta and wore a white picture hat. She carcaried an ivory prayer book. Her attendant was Miss Nellie A. Drake, who wore white grepe de chine trimmed with Irish point lace and carried a large bouquet of white carnations. The best man was Henry J. Gaffney, of Somerville.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Burns left on a wedding trip that will include Niagara Falls. On returning they will reside on East Sixth street, where the groom has furnished a home. The bride presented her attendant with a gold bracelet and the groom gave the best man a diamond stick pin.

UNGALLANT DANCE PARTNER.

Stole Silver Watch of the Damsel He Was Piloting.

According to complaint lorged at police headquarters, Edward Little, colored, combined industrial activity with pleasure at the dance hall above Company K's armory early this morning. Helen Roy, a negress, who gave her address as 669 West Seventh street, made the complaint.

She said Little stole a silver watch from her while piloting her about in the staccato maze of the two-step at 2:30 o'clock. She said he replied to her demand for its return by running downstairs and over into North Plainfield. She reported the alleged theft to the police at once.

INCREASE IN SCHOOL TAX

Freeholders Learn why County Must Give State Over 100 Per Cent. More.

ADVANCED VALUATIONS

Jump In Ratables Led to the Rise—J. Brognard Betts Gives Detailed Explanation to Mr. Ackerman.

Explanation of the increase in the amount of the State school tax to be raised by Union county this year has been obtained by the committee appointed by the Board of Freeholders to investigate the subject. The great increase in ratables led to the advance. In connection with the report it makes on the subject, the committee urges that the attention of he State Board of Equalizaion and Taxes be called to the fact that Union county's increased valuation is larger than any other county of the State, and that the Freeholders protest against what is apparently a disproportionate increase in Union.

The committee's report, in part, is as follows:

"Your Commitee to whom was referred the matter of increase in the State Cchool Tax, desires to report that on June 17th, they visited the Superintendent of Schools and Comptroller at the State House in Trenton, that after a thorough investigation into the question fo said tax, they find that the ratables of Union county, upon which was based the State School tax paid in 1906, was $55,260,709; on this valuation the State School tax of Union county in January, 1907, was $98,778.51

"The ratables of Union county upon which is based the State school tax to be paid in January, 1908, is $106,259,437. This increase in the ratables is the reason that the State school tax to be paid in January, 1908, is $219,160.09, as the State school tax is based on the ratables of the county.

"It will be noticed that Union county will receive back the sum of $6,296.49 less than what is raised by taxation; this loss was the subject of considerable discussion in our interview with the State officials, but your committee were told that an increase in our school attendance was the only remedy for this.

"Your committee also desires to report that the attention of the State Board of Equalization and Taxes should be called to the fact that Union county has increased in valuation larger in proportion than any other county in the State and that is is reasonable for this Board to contend that other counties in this State have not complied with the spirit and letter of the laws relating to equal taxation, and your committee feels that the increase in valuation, in proportion, in Union county, should not be greater than any other county in the State.

A detailed explanation of the matter was secured by Senator Ernest R. Ackerman from J. Brognard Bette, Assistant State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Mr. Betts wrote to the Senator in response to a letter of inquiry sent by Mr. Ackerman when he learned of the big jump in the appropriation. Mr. Betts, under date of June 24, writes, in part, as follows:

"The State school moneys apportioned to the counties comes from several sources.

First—The $200,000 from the in come of the State School Fund. This is apportioned among the counties on the basis of the total days' attendance in the public schools. Second—appropriations from the State School Fund of about a million dollars in reduction of State School Tax, apportioned among the counties on the basis of their respective ratables. Third, the State School Tax. This tax is fixed by law at the rate of 2¾ mills, but the actual rate is reduced by reason of the State appropriation above referred to. Last year the State appropriation was 25 per cent. of the amount of State School Tax required to be raised, so that the actual rate of State School Tax was ¾ of 2¾ mills. Each county receives from the State Treasurer 90 per cent of the tax it raises.

"Fourth—The Reserve Fund, which is the remaining ten per cent of the State School Tax, and which is apportioned among the several counties in the discretion of theState Board of Education, it being the intention of the law that this money is to be so distributed that the counties which are relatively rich in ratables and poor in children shall assist the counties which are relatively poor in ratables and rich in children.

Fifth—The new railroad tax in excess of one-half of one per cent. of the value of first class railroad property.

"There is a slight reduction in the amount apportioned to Union county

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A number of the younger generation are carrying bruised and burnt fingers today, the result of the Glorious Fourth. The most serious accident of the day probably happened to Harry Paff, the young son of Thomas M. Paff, who lost his thumb by the premature explosion of a small cannon. The boy was hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital, where the injured hand was attended to. He will be detained at the hospital for several days.

The local ball team lost a well fought game with Clinton Avenue yesterday morning. Hewitt pitched a fine game after the first inning, and if anything had a shade the best of it with Randolph. Several decisions of Dalley's did not help the local team, but then this has to be taken as baseball luck. Calling Frentz out at the plate in the fourth inning was off color and prevented the score from being a tie.

The game between the home team and the All Stars, of Newark, yesterday afternoon was witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season. The game itself was a slugging match mixed with a comedy of errors, the home team finally winning out by the score of 11 to 9.

GOLF.

There were 114 entries for the amateur championship Wednesday at the office of W. Fellowes Morgan, secretary of the United States Golf Association. The committee will meet today to pair the players by drawing the names from a hat for the qualifying round. Unless there should be a 'rush of belated names today the entries for next week's contest at Cleveland will hardly equal those of the last two years, for there were 131 starters at Englewood and 129 at Wheaton. The most notable absentees are the Bostonians, A. G. Lockwood, J. G. Anderson, W. C. Chick and Richard Kimball. Otherwise about all the players of class are in from West and East. E. M. Byers, H. Chandler Egan, Walter J. Travis, Jerome D. Travers, John M. Ward, Tillinghast, Sawyer and Wood are sure starters.

There will be plenty of golf at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow, including the weekly competitions for the Golf Committee and Green Committee cups, the Scratch cup, in addition to the windup of the play for the club championship and consolation cup.

The Official Year Book and Directory of Golf and Automobiling, edited by C. Q. Turner and published by Settiner Brothers, is out. It contains much information of value to golfers and motorists.

August will be the quiet month of the season at the Plainfield Country Club. The only events scheduled will be the play for the Golf committee and Green committee cups and the preliminary play for the Scratch cup.

The play for the July cup will begin at the Park Golf Club tomorrow, and it promises to be one of the most interesting competitions of the season. The cup is offered by the club.

The special events at the Middlebrook Country Club yesterday attracted a large field to the course and many good scores were returned for the various prizes offered by the club.

Robert Abbott is making a strong bid for honors at the Plainfield Country Club since his return from Yale. His score of 79 last Saturday at the local course shows that he is playing a fast game.

Lester Glenney is playing a good game of golf at the Plainfield Country Club this season, and despite the fact that he does not have the time to spare on the course that he did when in college.

One thing that helps the White Sox to win games an makes them so hard to beat is that they do well under adversity. With regulars laid up they continue to put up a stiff game and always fight hard.

The Brooklyn Club has released Pitcher Henley to Rochester, of the Eastern League.

Roger Bresnahan will report to the New York Club this week, but will be unable to play for several days yet.

The New York Americans have signed a pitcher named Frank Arellanes. He hails from San Jose, was recommended by Hal. Chase and will not join the team until next year.

The amateur league games scheduled for tomorrow are Y. M. C. A. at Bound Brook and Scotch Plains at Raritan. The Clinton Avenues will play an out-of-town team at Crescent Oval.

Mike Lynch, formerly the star twirler of the Pittsburg team, but now with the Giants, was given a chance Wednesday in the box against Brooklyn. Neither he nor Ames was able to hold down the Trolley Dodgers. However, Lynch shared with Seymour in the batting, making two hits.

Every once in a while the best pitchers in the big leagues get bumped good and plenty, but little is thought of it. Yet if one of the youngsters fails to hold down an opposing team he is immediately realeased and sent back to the minor league.

Although Philadelphia trimmed the Pittsburgs three straight, the Smoky City aggregation is on the track again and putting up a finer article of ball.

The fans have given up making excuses for the New York Americans and are perfectly willing to leave them to their fate.

$5,000 In Prizes!

Grand Educational Contest

To introduce our new Piano, the Conway, we have decided to institute something entirely novel in the way of advertising, making it something of value to the readers of this paper as well as ourselves.

We propose to distribute FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN PRIZES, among the residents of Central New Jersey. Think of it $5,000! While the mere distribution of this amount in prizes would be a valuable advertisement in itself, you will, of course, admit that the distribution of so large a prize list would hardly be justified by the publicity itself would give us. But if we are able to impress the name "CONWAY PIANO" indelibly upon the minds of 300,000 people, then you will, of course, readily admit that we are justified in offering this large prize list. Therefore, to make the CONWAY PIANO occupy the place in your mind, that stands for all that is good in tone, quality, construction, design and finish, and that you may never forget the great name, we wish to see how many words you can form from the twelve letters containing the two words

CONWAY PIANOS

To the persons able to form the greatest number of words from the letters contained in the two words, CONWAY PIANOS, we will give one magnificent Conway Piano, valued at $365.00 together with a handsome scarf and stool.

To the next five nearest answers we will give credit bills worth $100 each.

Each of the competitors sending in the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bills for $1 less than the preceding prize, or $99.00, and following this in groups of two, each of the competitors sending the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bill for $1 less than the preceding prize, until the entire balance of $5,000 shall have been distributed.

Rules for Forming Words

Only such words are to be used as are found in Webster's International Dictionary. No proper names, foreign words, names of persons, town or places are to be used. Do not use a letter more times in one word than it appears in the words CONWAY PIANOS. Words spelled the same, but having a different meaning, can be used but once.

Rules and Conditions of Contest:

All answers limited to July 22, 1907.
Open to readers of this paper.
Those who receive credit bills can apply them on any new Pianos in our stock at the regular prices, which are always marked in plain figures on each instrument, but cannot apply them on any purchase made prior to opening day of contest.
Easy payments will be granted to those wishing to be accommodated by applying their credit bills and paying the balance in small monthly payments.
Not more than one credit bill will be accepted on the same Piano.
In the event of a tie between two or more contestants the Capital Prize will be divided equally and paid in gold.

COUPON

Cut, fill out, attach to your list of words and mail to the HALLET & DAVIS PIANO CO., 170 East Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

A GENUINE REDUCTION

The fairness of the above contest appeals to the public from the fact that we have for years been selling our instruments on the uniform or fixed price plan. As all instruments are marked in plain figures they are conclusive as to price. Therefore to all those who secure credit bills there is every assurance of a bona fide reduction in price.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD'S GREAT CELEBRATION

PARADES, SHAM BATTLE, FIREWORKS AND DANCE FEATURES.

South Plainfield's celebration of the Fourth, under the auspices of the Good Government Club and the Baptist church, was a most successful affair. It began at 10 o'clock in the morning and lasted until late a. night. A large crowd of pleasure-seekers from this city and other nearby places was drawn.

Celebration headquarters was at the lawn of Thomas Van Ness and the adjoining orchard. The grounds and the lake were strung with lanterns at night.

Parades for decorated carriages and bicycles opened the celebration at 10 o'clock. The prize for the best decorated rig was won by the Young People's Social Club, and for the most comically decorated one by the "South Plainfield Society Belles." At 12 o'clock, William Stewart read the Declaration of Independence to the assembled crowd. His reading produced a marked impression.

In the afternoon athletic events were conducted. Horace Vail won the 100 yard dash, Fred Stover coming in second, and Alfred Springer third. Springer won the broad jump, Stover second, and Orlando Lounsbury third. Edward Teeple won the tub race.

At 7 o'clock a sham battle was fought back of the lawn by the Seventh Regiment of Polish Artillery. They didn't discharge their pieces, but made a fine showing in skirmishing and flanking movements. The sword skirmish was especially effective.

There was a great display of fireworks at night. Refreshments and a dance at Washington Hall added to the enjoyment of the celebration.

Rev. C. W. Attlee was head of the committee. Mr. Frank Harris was secretary, and Mrs. Ida Harris was chairman of the dinner committee.

Miss Alice Brown, of New York, is visiting Mrs. Edward Shearer, of East Front street.

Rev. Father John J. Butscher, of Paterson, is spending the day with relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. F. G. Hammann and children, of Carlton avenue, have gone to Bethlehem, Pa., for a visit with relatives.

Theodore Zeller, a former resident of Plainfield, now located at White Plains, N. Y., was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

from the income of the State School Fund. This is due to the fact that there is a decided increase each year in the total days enrollment of pupils in the public schools. The increase in attendance in Union county is not as great as in some other counties in the State, hence the decreased amount. The increase of nearly $20,000 in the apportionment from the State appropriation in reduction of tax is a clear gain to the county, and is caused by the increased in the ratables of the county.

"The increase is over $98,000 in the 90 per cent of the tax is also due to the increase in the ratables, and while the actual amount of State School Tax raised by Union county is nearly double what it was a year ago, the county does not suffer by reason of such increase, because practically all the tax raised in the county is returned to it. The increase of nearly $6,000 in the Reserve Fund is due of course to the same cause, namely, the increase of ratables.

"The increase in the total amount apportioned to the county, exclusive of the railroad tax, is nearly $134,000. Add to this the amount apportioned from the new railroad tax, and the additional amount the current year apportioned to Union county is $305,124.78. For last year there was raised by local appropriations for school purposes over $399,000. The increased amount of moneys received from the State is about 96 per cent of the local appropriations for school purposes.

"The very large increase in the amount of State School Tax raised in your county is due to the tremendous increase in your ratables. The increase in the ratables for the entire State was about 36 per cent. The increase for Union county was over 92 per cent. The next highest was Cape May with 77 per cent, and the next Passaic with 66 per cent. It is very evident from this increase that the valuations in Union county prior to last year were very much lower than in any other county in the State, or else than Union county last year approached more nearly to true value than any other county in the State. The effect of this large increase in the ratables of the county will be to reduce the local appropriations for school purposes. Of course, it will not be possible to reduce the local appropriations to the full amount of the increase in the State appropriation, for the reason that there is a constantly increasing demand for more teachers and more school buildings.

"There is also a necessity for increasing the salaries of teachers, due to two causes: first, the demand on the part of our school boards for professionally trained teachers, who necessarily demand higher salaries, and, secondly, owing to the demand for teachers being in excess of the supply.

"The local appropriations for schools will not show the effect of the increased amount received from the State this year, because, first, the districts were compelled to make their appropriations without reference to the amount they might receive from the new railroad tax act, for had that been taken into consideration and the local appropriations corresponding reduced, the districts would be left with a deficit should the courts set aside the Perkins act, and, second, because the districts were compelled, in many cases, to make their local appropriations in advance of receiving definite information as to the amount they would receive from the State, and in order to be safe fixed their local appropriations at about the same figure as the preceding year. The local appropriations for the next year should show a very marked decrease, particularly if the Perkins act is sustained and this without any detriment to our schools, but allowing for the increase of our population.

"I stated above that the local appropriations last year were over $399,000. Nearly $104,000 of this was for building and repairing purposes and for payment of school bonds and interest, so that the increased amount to your county, including the new railroad tax, had the county received it this year, would have paid the entire current expenses of the schools without one dollar of local appropriations.

"I am unable to give you the amount which either district will receive from the railroad tax under the Perkins law, as that apportionment is made by the County Superintendent, and he has not filed a copy in this office. All the moneys apportioned by the State to any county is divided among the several districts on the basis of the number of teachers employed and the local days' attendance of the pupils in the public schools. The use of ratables as the basis of apportioning school moneys is not used by the County Superintendent in his apportionment as between the districts in his county."

HOLIDAY'S GOLF EVENTS

Large Field Engages in Championship Play at Plainfield Country Club.

WILL PLAY TOMORROW

E. E. Iremonger and L. L. Tweedy Win Independence Day Cups—Play at Park Golf Club.

Independence Day was a delightful one at the Plainfield Country Club, and the many attractions provided by the Golf Committee brought out an unusually large field of players both morning and afternoon, while the social features at the clubhouse were greatly enjoyed. In the afternoon music was provided and in the evening there was a large dinner-dance which was attended by many members and their friends.

The chief event of interest on the course was the commencement of play for the club championship. This attracted many of the best players in the club and low scores were the rule. There were twenty-six contestants who qualified, the first eight playing for the club championship, the second eight to play for the consolation cup and the third eight to play for the third eight cup.

The following contestants qualified in the three divisions:

Robert Abbott, 72; W. Lester Glenney, 77; F. O. Reinhart, 79; C. B. Morgan, 79; E. B. Shoemaker, 82; J. Whitney Baker, 82; R. S. Rowland, 82; Leighton Calkins, 86; H. D. Hibbard, 87; W. D. Riggs, 88; E. E. Iremonger, 88; E. H. Willson, 90; M. J. Dumont, 91; L. L. Tweedy, 91; C. C. Burke, Sr., 91; Percy Stewart, 92; A. G. Henderson, 93; W. T. Glenney, 94; C. A. Stover, 94; L. A. Chase, 95; G. F. Earl, 96; R. F. Murray, 97; J. E. Erickson, 98; J. R. Evans, 99; W. B. Tyler, 99; H. F. Fox, 100; Edward J. Patterson, 101.

Robert Abbott and Leighton Calkins withdrew from the first eight, allowing W. D. Riggs and H. D. Hibbard to take their places. The drawing for the first eight resulted as follows:

C. B. Morgan beat R. S. Rowland, 2 up and 1 to play; J. Whitney Baker beat H. D. Hibbard, 4 up and 2 to play; W. Lester Glenney beat E. B. Shoemaker, 7 up and 6 to play, and F. O. Reinhart beat W. D. Riggs, by default.

Second eight consolation cup—C. A. Stover beat C. C. Burke, Sr., 4 up and 3 to play; L. L. Tweedy beat E. H. Willson, 2 up; W. T. Glenney beat Percy Stewart, 2 up and M. J. Dumont beat A. G. Henderson, 4 up and 3 to play.

Third eight cup—L. A. Chase beat J. E. Erickson, 6 up and 5 to play; W. B. Tyler beat G. F. Earl, 4 up and 3to play; E. J. Patterson beat H. F. Fox, 1 up, and R. F. Murray beat S. H. Patterson, 7 up and 5 to play.

E. E. Iremonger won the Independence Day cup, Class A, with a score of 75, and L. L. Tweedy won the Class B cup with a score of 73. The scores:

Class A—E. E. Iremonger, 88, 13—75; W. Lester Glenney, 77, 0—77; Leighton Calkins, 82, 4—78; C. B. Morgan, 79, 0—79; W. D. Riggs, 88, 8—80; E. J. Patterson, 94, 14—80; J. Whitney Baker, 82, 0—82; H. D. Hibbard, 87, 4—83; G. F. Earl, 96, 12—84; W. B. Tyler, 99, 12—87; S. H. Patterson, 97, 10—87; Howard Lapsley, 102, 10—92.

Class B—L. L. Tweedy, 91, 18—73; A. G. Henderson, 93, 18—75; J. R. Evans, 99, 23—76; A. E. Barclay, 95, 18—77; Harold Serrell, 101, 23, 78; C. C. Burke, Sr., 91, 13—78; L. B. Alling, 102, 20—82; W. L. C. Glenney, 103, 20—83; H. F. Fox, 100, 15—85; J. Evarts Tracy, 120, 27—93; L. H. VanBuren, 111, 15—96.

In the driving competition R. S. Rowland was the winner, his average of 216 yards being the best. M. J. Dumont finished second with a distance of 211 1-3 yards. In this competition three drives were allowed each contestant, but only drives that were within bounds or at stakes set at each side of the fair green on first hole counted. The winner received a box of golf balls. Rowland's three drives were: 220 2-3, 197 2-3, 230 2-3. Dumont's drives were 206, 207, 221.

The semi-finals for the club championship, the consolation cup and third eight cup will be played tomorrow and the finals a week from tomorrow.

Play for the Holiday cup, morning and afternoon, with an approaching and putting competition in the afternoon, attracted an unusually large number of members and friends to the Park Golf Club yesterday. The course was in fine condition and just suited for low-score making. In addition to the events on the course, there was a tea at the clubhouse in the afternoon and several dinners were given in the evening. Another attraction was the opening of the tennis court, on which there was general play.

Charles W. McCutchen won the Holiday cup, being even up on bogey. J. B. Betts, Charles B. Morse and W. V. Byard were 3 down, and Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll was 5 down to bogey. The final play for the Hydewood Park cup, which was won by Rev. Dr. A. H. Carroll with a total of 19 points, resulted as follows:

FOURTH WELL OBSERVED BY NEW MARKET JUNIORS

HAVE ATHLETIC EVENTS, MUSIC AND FIREWORKS AT THE LAKESIDE.

The Independence Day celebration at New Market was as successful as in past years. Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., under whose auspices it was held, conducted it on lines that could not fail to make the affair one long to be remembered by those who took part in and enjoyed it. The celebration began at 2.30 o'clock, and from that hour until after dark Vail's Grove, a pretty bit of shady land along the lake, where it was held, was crowded with visitors. Many Plainfielders attended.

Athletic events were prominent features of the afternoon. They went as follows:

Swimming race won by Clarence Sofield; John Thornton, second; Charles Ward, third. Duck race, won by John Thornton; Clarence Sofield, second; Charles Ward, third. Tub race, won by Charles Bogue; John Thornton, second. Three-legged race, won by Maltbie-Churchill; Lake-Garretson, second; Fletcher-Ward, third. 100-yard dash, won by Chauncey Murphy; Charles Lake, second; John Loan, third. Standing broad jump, won by Chauncey Murphy; Churchill, second; Maltbie, third. 100-yard dash (special) won by Chauncey Murphy; Charles Lake second. Tug-of-war, won by the Voorhees' team, with T. Voorhees, captain; Garretson, Coriell, J. Voorhees, Logan, Tarpey, Ising; the Maltbies, the defeated team, was made up of Maltbie, captain; Fox, Smalley, Kinney, Danz, Osmun, Sofield.

There was a general good time after the events, which climaxed after dark in a brilliant display of fireworks. The refreshment booths, attractive both in appearance and for what they afforded, were liberally patronized. A brass band played through the afternoon and evening.

Charles S. Day was the chief pyrotechinist, and J. F. Dayton assisted him in setting off the fiery pieces and colored lights. The celebration committee was made up of H. J. Piddington, F. O. Nelson, Foster Sofield, Dr. D. C. Main and William Piddington.

OBITUARY.

Adam Young.

Adam Young, for twenty years a resident of the West End and one of the best known citizens in that section, died yesterday at his home on South Second street. He had been ill a long time with a blood disease which had manifested itself in various ways. During the first stage it was necessary to amputate his left arm and he partially recovered but the trouble reasserted itself in another form.

Mr. Young was in his sixty-third year and when he first came to Plainfield opened a shoe store on South Second street opposite the Grant avenue station. Later he embarked in the real estate business, principally dealing in West End properties, and he had been quite successful. He leaves a wife, who was formerly Mrs. Alonzo Ayers, and two sons and a daughter by a first wife. They are Mrs. Lillie Mague and Edward Young, of this city, and John Young, of New York.

The funeral will be held at his late home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and interment will be at Peapack.

Mrs. Williams W. Mills.

Mrs. Katie Mills, wife of William W. Mills, died Wednesday at her home on Howard street from pulmonary trouble. She was the daughter of the late Jeremiah and Katie Rowe and was in her thirty second year. She leaves two children. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

John Bemery.

John Bemery, colored, aged twenty-eight years, died yesterday at his home on South Second street. He was unmarried. The funeral will be held at the Calvary Baptist church, tomorrow afternoon, at 2.30.

J. P. Clark.

The funeral service of J. P. Clark, of Brooklyn, will be held from the New Dover M. E. church, Sunday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

Son Killed; Father Jailed.

The body of Claude Hampton, of Philadelphia, was found Wednesday night by the crew of an eastbound freight nearly opposite the New Jersey Central depot, in Somerville, with the limbs terribly mangled. His father, Elwood K. Hampton, went to Somerville last night and took charge of the remains. He declared his wife was living in Somervill under the name of Williams and that she had enticed her son away. When he found he could not take the body home without a permit from the authorities he became abusive and was lodged in jail over night.

George Simons, of East Third street, is spending his vacation at the seashore.

Too Much Culture.

"Aunt Penelope Wiggins," as everybody called her, was visited one summer by a niece, a Vassar college graduate. Aunt Penelope was one of the most hospital souls alive, by she was not greatly impressed by the superior learning of her young relative and one day she freed her mind about her thus:

"Talk to me about what a college education does for a girl! What do you suppose Matilda said to me the first day she came? She said: 'I'm so glad to meet you aunty! You accent your name on the Aunty Penultimate, don't you?' Did you ever hear such nonsense? I had to tell her my name wasn't Aunty Penultimate, but Aunty Penelope, and I thought she would die a-laughing!"

Tampering With the Truth.

A school teacher trying to explain to his class the meaning of the word "conceited" said:

"Suppose I would go around saying, 'Look how good I am to my class,' or bragging about how much I know or how good looking I am—what would you say I was?"

"A liar," instantly responded his class.

Some people are going to be mighty surprised when they find out that there is a difference between real goodness and a receipt for pew rent.—Florida Times-Union.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

INDIGESTION.

Show me a person who suffers from indigestion or dyspepsia and I will show you a person with the meanest disposition on earth. You can't blame them.

MRS. E. KEOGH.

Nothing in the world takes all the cheer and brightness out of life like a balky stomach. People who suffer in this way feel out of humor, out of sorts and irritable all the time. They can't eat a meal without suffering intensely afterward. Their faces are usually covered with pimples and blotches. They always have headache, constipation, are tired and listless and as many whom I have talked to put it 'just feel mean and bad all over.' They are always dosing themselves on pills and pre-digested foods and the like until they have so weakened their stomachs that they can't eat anything. It's all nonsense. I have seen and talked with people who had lived for months on milk and toast, take a bottle or two of Cooper's New Discovery and inside of two weeks sit down and eat a big meal at night then go to bed and sleep as well as any one. Here is one case I have in mind.

Mrs. Ellen Keogh, 1907 Ogden Ave., Superior, Wis., recently wrote me:

"No one knows what awful suffering I have endured from indigestion. My stomach would not digest the simplest foods and no matter what I ate I would be sure to suffer afterwards. I was also constipated and had queer dizzy spells and frightful headaches. Oft times I felt so badly that I could scarcely walk. I had taken Cooper's New Discovery but a short time when I noticed a decided improvement. Now I can truthfully say I feel greatly improved in every way and today for the first time in ten years I enjoyed a hearty meal. I am indeed very grateful to you."

The fact that Mr. Cooper's medicines enjoy larger sales than any others is proof of their great merit.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Brokaw's creamery on East Front street is the place to get absolutely pure milk, cream and butter and fresh eggs. The prices are right.

For the best sanitary plumbing consult A. H. Enander, of Watchung avenue. His work not only stands the test, but the prices are reasonable.

John Winzenreid, of Lee place, conducts a general trucking business. All orders are promptly attended to and the charges are reasonable.

Before purchasing your next supply of coal take a look at the anthracite sold by Boice, Runyon & Co., of Park avenue, and you will be so well pleased that you will order some.

A. E. Force, proprietors of "The White Store," invite your attention to the large stock of seasonable goods, including everything from the housefurnishing to the carpet departemnts. The line of women's dress goods is especially attractive and the prices will be found very low for such quality. There is also a nice line of summer hats, just the thing for the seashore or mountains.

Woes of the Rich Young.
The children of the rich today are not allowed to be imaginative. They have no illusions. They do not have the great and educative pleasure of pretense. In simpler, less material years the child "played at" something. A block of wood was a locomotive. A doll was a human being or a fairy. The tin horse was fleeter and more wonderful than Flora Temple or Dexter. Now everything must be done for the pleasure of a girl or a boy. The poor youngsters are not encouraged. They are hardly allowed to invent their own amusements, to turn plain and humble things into something rare and glorified by sheer force of imagination.—Boston Herald.

English Versus French Roads.
In England it is almost impossible to attain speed with safety. The roads twist and turn and the walls and hedges prevent the driver's seeing what there is beyond a curve. An average pace of twenty-five miles an hour is fairly good time in England. Of course the country is settled much more thickly than France, which adds to the danger of speeding. Speed laws are enforced with severity in England, but if you will try the mettle of your motor cross the channel. In France the road is yours.—Travel Magazine.

Will Play Ironsides of Newark.

The Clinton Avenue baseball team will cross bats with the strong Ironsides, of Newark, at Crescent Oval, tomorrow. A fine contest is expected as the Newark aggregation is considered one of the best semi-professional teams in the State, having lost only four out of eighteen games this season. Among their victories was one over the West Ends, of Somerville, defeating them 3 to 0.

Y. M. C. A. TROUNCES RARITAN TEAM TWICE

MORNING GAME 5 TO 1; AFTERNOON RESULT 6 TO 1.

Hitting when hits meant something won the game for Y. M. C. A. in the contest with the Raritans at Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon. The score was 5 to 2.

Minford, back in the game for the first time since his illness several weeks ago, was as effective as ever. He held the Raritans to four hits, and didn't issue a pass. Van Arsdale, who twirled for Dunellen, was in the box for Raritan, and the Plainfielders welcomed him with seven clouts, one of them a three-bagger. Dave Pond knocked that out in the eighth, and put the game in the refrigerator by sending two runners across the plate.

There were some flashes of brilliant playing. Craig made a sensational stop of a hot grounder and tagged a runner from second, robbing Hickey of a hit and the side a chance to score.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Accident at Hamden.

Elva Stiger, a young man aged 22 years, son of Joseph Stiger, of Hamden, Hunterdon county, met with a sad accident Wednesday night While setting off a giant firecracker it exploded in his hands, lacerating the right one so badly that amputation was necessary. Several bones of the left hand were also shattered. Dr. Frace, of Clinton, was called and gave temporary relief soon after the accident. Later Dr. Johnson, of Stanton, was summoned in consultation yesterday morning and decided that amputation of the hand was necessary. The young man is well thought of in the little town and the sympathy of all the people go out to him in his misfortune.

UNION WANTS AUTO RACE

County Board of Freeholders Seeks to Have Vanderbilt Cup Event Here.

MR. ACKERMAN ACTIVE

Route Extends From Elizabeth to Springfield, to Fanwood to Westfield and Elizabeth Again.

Union county will make a strong official bid for the Vanderbilt Cup automobile race which, in the event of the amendment to the Frelinghuysen act and other proposed legislation, may be run in New Jersey. Attorney-General McCarter has already drafted a bill to permit the holding of the race in this State, and will introduce it into the Legislature at today's session, while Governor Sokes declares himself in favor of it in case he is supported by public sentiment.

At Wednesday afternoon's session of the Board of Freeholders resolutions were offered requesting the Legislature to pass favorably upon the bill and calling the attention of the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey to a possible course in this county, and urging that it be inspected and accepted.

One of the proposed courses for the race extends from Elizabeth to Springfield; thence to Fanwood by way of Mountain avenue, to Westfield and back again to Elizabeth. This course would be about twenty-five miles long, and would have to be covered twelve time to complete the required distance of 300 miles.

Senator Ernest R. Ackerman has received this telegram from W. F. Sadler, Jr., president of the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey:

"Trenton, N. J.

"E. R. Ackerman,

"Elizabeth, N. J.

"Possible to get Vanderbilt Cup race to New Jersey. Would your county like to have it, and would you personally favor it?

"W. F. SADLER, JR."

Mr. Ackerman replied in the affirmative. The Union County Board of Freeholders on Wednesday adopted resolutions favoring the race.

Another route proposed is partly in Union and partly in Essex. It includes Springfield, Scotch Plains, Cranford, Elizabeth and Millburn.

It is said that holding the Vanderbilt Cup race in this county would save Union thousands of dollars in the care of roads. These would be repaved by the Automobile Association for two months before the race in October.

ENOUGH FOR TWO LOADS.

Senator Hale's Story Gives Neat Rebuke to Congressman.

Senator Hale had been inveighing at a dinner against long speeches.

"But, senator," said a congressman, "you can't accuse me of ever having made too long a speech, can you?"

Senator Hale smiled.

"Perhaps not," he said; "and again. But did you ever hear about the temperance lecturer? No?

"Well, you must know that there was a temperance lecturer in Maine who came to Ellsworth and lectured. He hit out pretty hard from the shoulder at these so-called moderate drinkers and at the end of his remarks an Ellsworth man took him aside and said in an aggrieved tone:

"'Look here, Jim; I am a moderate drinker, as all the town knows, and to many people it is going to seem as if a good part of your lecture was pointed at me. What did you want to do it for, Jim? You never saw me with more on board than I could carry.'

"'What's that?' said the temperance lecturer.

"'You never saw me with a bigger load than I could carry, did you?'

"The lecturer frowned.

"'Well, no,' he said, slowly, 'but I have seen you when I thought you'd have done better to go twice for it.'"

Cause for Celebration.

Bishop Talbot of central Pennsylvania is fond of relating amusing experiences while a missionary in the west. On one occasion he arrived at a mountain town and entered the hotel dining room, taking a seat. A resident who had been drinking fell into conversation with him. "I'm glad you've come here," said the man, "for the boys need somebody to give them advice. They drink a heap, I tell you." The bishop said: "I am sorry to hear that, my friend, but if you will pardon me, it seems as though you are troubled that way yourself." The mountaineer saw the point, but rejoined quickly: "Well, ye see, when the bishop comes a feller just has to celebrate some."

Foolish English "Smart" Set.

An American who has just returned from London expresses surprise mingled with disgust regarding the talk he heard among "smart" people there. For absolute silliness it was far ahead of anything he had ever heard. It is considered quite the thing to abbreviate words. He heard a grown woman say to a friend: "Isn't it terry to have neury on such a divey day?" Translated into English that means: "Isn't it terrible to have neuralgia on such a divine day?"

'PHONE CO. IN NEW HOME

Will Take Possession of Its $60,000 Building in East Fourth Street Tonight.

PLAN MANY CHANGES

Provision For Running 10,000 Wires Into Building—Appointments the Very Latest.

Some time tonight, the New York & New Jersey Telephone Company will make the first move in taking possession of its handsome new $60,000 building on East Fourth street, when one-half of the service, comprising 500 direct lines, will be "cut over" from the old building on Park avenue to the new one. The large force of workmen, including men from the Western Electric Company, the main office of the telephone company and others, have been working day and night in preparation for this event. The actual "cutting over" will require but a few minutes, and for a time both old and new buildings will be used. After the direct lines are changed the party wires will be taken over, and it is expected that the work will be completed within the next ten days.

The new building has been provided with the very latest equipment in every department and will amply take care of all the increased telephone business in Plainfield for years to come. Provisions have been made for running 10,000 lines into the new building while the present number is about 1,000.

One notable improvement to be adopted in the operation of telephones when the change is made is the use of what is known as the "common battery" system. This is installed at the "central" office, and will do away with the individual batteries now used in the various instruments. There will be a wall set at each private station, equipped with a small battery for ringing the bell.

The new telephone building, three stories in height, with a basement, is a model in every respect. The basement, which was constructed with every possible care, it being water-proof, will be used for storing supplies. The second floor will be used for the contracting department, two large offices being reserved in the front of the building. Directly back of them is a large room, thoroughly equipped for serving meals and lunches for the operators. A woman will be employed there to prepare the meals, and the company will provide such things as milk, sugar, coffee and other incidentals that go with lunches.

Back of the dining room is one provided with closets, where hats, coats and wraps will be kept, and just off of this room is another one to be used as a retiring room for the operators, when off duty and on relief. There is also provided a large and modern-equipped toilet room for the young women.

The second floor is devoted almost exclusively to the maintenance department. It is here that the large cables come into the building and the thousands of little wires are distributed through large iron frames. There are several of these iron frames, but only one or two of them will be used at present. The "common battery" is also installed on this floor, and the department for the wire chief and his assistant. It is the wire chief who looks after all the lines and to whom is reported any trouble, including "don't answers," and "I cannot get the party!" There is also a well equipped toilet room on this floor for the men.

The third floor is devoted exclusively to the operating department. A large modern switchboard arranged for twenty positions, and an auxiliary switchboard, have been installed here. These boards have all the latest appliances and the possibilities of an operator in sending and receiving calls is almost unlimited. Numerous small incandescent lamps dot the board from one end to the other and are so marked that the operator can tell instantly when a call is made whether it is on a direct, party or pay station line. The office manager, his assistant, as well as the information desk is located in the operating department and their desks are so equipped that they can go in on any line and get in communication with any department.

While the company does not anticipate any trouble in making the change from the old to the new building, the greatest care being taken to obviate any hitch, if one should occur, it will not last long. As things are now arranged it is the purpose of the company to continue the service without any interruption worth speaking about.

The new building itself is built of brick, with white brick facing. The construction so far as possible is fire and water-proof. The floors and sidewalls are of fire-proof material, and there has been no crowding of char-

BABBITT WILL START AFTER DOGS MONDAY

NO FOOLING ABOUT HIS JOB; TO USE WAGON, NET AND ASSISTANT.

Have your dogs chained up or muzzled by Monday. If you fail to attend to that matter, a dark man will be due to cross your path and make trouble for you. Which is to say, Jim Babbitt, the dog catcher, willl begin operations Monday morning, to remain thereafter, continuously active in the pursuit of all manner of outlaw canines until the nipping winds of late October removes all fear of hydrophobia from the minds of the citizenry.

Babbitt will be thoroughly equipped for the chase. He is having a wagon prepared today, and will go after unmuzzled and unleashed dogs by the wholesale. No pick-ups of a now-and-then character for him. He will cover the city systematically from end to end with his wagon, and he and his assistant will take up every dog that is not muzzled or led as the law provides. They will use a dog net of the latest pattern, and never a canine on which they swoop will have a chance to make a getaway.

The effect of the Mayor's proclamation and the appointment of Babbitt is seen already. A large percentage of the dogs now appear on the streets with muzzles of the latest fashion set jauntily over their jaws. Their enjoyment of the contrivances is palpable. It is evidenced by the way they pause and throw somersaults in their efforts to rip the things to pieces.

There is question as to the location of the pound. Samuel Rushmore has begged to be excused from harboring the captured dogs, and the city will have to get some place for Babbitt to keep them. Mr. Rushmore says he will be delighted to furnish the dogs with task room and a long, satisfying smell of illuminating gas, but he'd rather not have 'em around until they are all ready to wag farewell to an unfeeling world. Babbitt will probably have to keep the dogs on his own place for a few days, after which a permanent pound will be provided.

Summer Arrangements for Hope

W. D. Murray will have charge of the services at Hope chapel tomorrow morning and Leander Lovell will speak in the evening, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard, who has gone to Glencoe, Illinois, for a long rest. It is quite likely that Rev. Fred Newman, of Trenton, and Rev. Henry A. Pearce, both former residents will occupy the pulpit for several Sundays.

Robert Abbott in Championship.

Robert Abbott, of the Plainfield Country Club, is the only member of that club, to enter the amateur golf championship, which begins on the course of the Euclid Club at Cleveland, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. He has been paired with Lawrence Rea and the pair will start off at 1.35 o'clock in the afternoon. The different pairs will start off at five minutes intervals from 9 o'clock in the morning.

Officers Installed.

The installation of the officers of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., took place last night: Robert Jahn, chancellor commander; V. W. Nash, vice chancellor; Asa Pope, prelate; William Baker, master of work; Peter Lung, master of arms; Edward Bowman, inner guard. The installation was conducted by District Deputy Grand Chancellor Edward Bowman and staff.

Bernard Duvier, of Newark, is spending the week end at the home of his sister, Mrs. P. A. McVoy, East Front street.

NO-SCREEN CHARGE MADE

Ten Elizabeth Saloon-keepers Must Answer For Violation of the Law.

PLAN 30 MORE CASES

Recent Scoring by Grand Jury Leads to Strict Enforcement of Bishops Law, and Excise Board Says Nothing About Matter.

The Excise Board of Elizabeth yesterday afternoon decided to bring to trial ten saloon keepers charged with having violated the Bishops bill by failing to raise their screens on Sunday. The afternoon of August 2 was set apart for the hearings. The president of the board, John Keron, was authorized to indorse affidavits setting forth evidence against the alleged offenders, drawn up by City Attorney Connelly, and notices will be sent to the various proprietors.

Nearly thirty more saloon-keepers will have similar charges presented against them, cases being prepared by the city attorney at the present time. This action s directly due to the recent presentment of the Grand Jury which so stirred up Union county, the police, who were very vigorously scored, decided to enforce the screen law, which had almost become a dead letter in Elizabeth.

It had been expected by some that the board would follow the example set by the Elizabeth City Council and the Board of Fire Commissioners, who, in a set of resolutions, challenged the Grand Jury to indict them on the charges contained in its recent presentment, but the subject was not even discussed at the meeting. It had been hinted that if the Excise Board, which of all bodies was most severely arraigned by the grand inquisitors, had followed the lead of the other municipal bodies, there is little doubt of the Grand Jury producing the "goods."

Ex-Saloon Keeper to Speak.

Special services will be conducted in the Salvation Army Hall tonight and tomorrow by John Fulton, the ex-saloon keeper. Mr. Fulton was a prominent saloon keeper in Brooklyn for twenty years, until his conversion five months ago. Three thousand saloon keepers were recently invited to hear him speak in that city, many declaring it was the greatest meeting they had ever attended. An open air meeting will be held in Westfield at 4 p. m. Sunday and at 8 p. m. he will relate his thrilling story in the Army Hall in Plainfield. All are invited.

Will Start Work at Once.

C. M. Meeker, who has received the contract to macadamize several city streets, expects to start his work within a few days. It is likely that he will begin on Denmark road and continue the work on the other streets before finishing one. In this way he will complete the various streets at about the same time.

Hazelwood Apgar Better.

Hazelwood Apgar, of Clinton avenue, who was shot by his older brother, James Apgar, while hunting a few days ago, shows signs of improvement and it is now believed that he will recover. It was thought on Wednesday that pneumonia might develop, but signs of this have disappeared.

First Excursion to the Shore.

The first Sunday-school excursion to Asbury Park will be Thursday, July 11, when the First Baptist and Park Avenue Baptist churches and Faith chapel will join in their annual outing to the seashore. All arrangements have been completed for an enjoyable day at this popular resort.

HOUSE FAVORS BIG RACE

Lower Branch of Legislature Passes Bill to Permit Cup Contest in New Jersey.

SENATE ACTS NEXT

Amendment Barely Gets Through House—Perkins Hustles to Have It Passed.

The House at Trenton sanctioned the holding of the automobile race for the Vanderbilt Cup in New Jersey by passing the bill prepared by the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey last night.

The measure in effect permits the temporary suspension of the Frelinghuysen automobile law by local and county authorities and the vacating of public highways between September 1 and January 1, under such restrictions as may be deemed proper by the authorities and which so far as possible will confrom with the suggestion of the automobilists. Provision is also made by which it will not be necessary for automobilists attending the race to secure a New Jersey license, as the licenses of other states will be honored for the occasion.

The bill passed the House by the bare majority of one vote. There was no actual opposition to the measure, but it was not brought up until so late in the evening that a quorum was secured with difficulty. Assemblyman Perkins, who had the bill in charge, sent two automobiles to the Pennsylvana station and succeeded in collecting eight Assemblymen, who had started for their homes. With their assistances thirty-one of the sixty votes in the House was secured.

The same bill was introduced yesterday in the Senate, but, as the House measure was passed, it is the intention to drop the Senate bill and seek to secure the concurrence of the Senate in the House bill.

W. J. Morgan and Charles Smelzer, of Newark; Charles Tisne, of New York, and Spooner & Wells, photographers, together with local officials, made a tour of a prospective course in Union county, this afternoon, which can be recommended for the automobile race for the Vanderbilt cup next October.

This course is considered to be an excellent one, and will no doubt be submitted to the racing committee in charge of the big event:

Mountain avenue to Richmond street, to South avenue, to Westfield, to Elizabeth, to Springfield, to Scotch Plains, to Richmond street, to Mountain avenue. The above course is eight miles in length.

FRESH AIR HOME OPEN; 175 CHILDREN THERE

THIRTY-FIVE OTHER LITTLE CHARGES EXPECTED ON MONDAY.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home opened yesterday, with 175 boys and girls from the East Side of New York as charges. On Monday, thirty-five more children will be brought out from New York, ten of whom are cripples. The mothers accompany a good many of the children. Some are kept ten days, while others, who come from the poorest quarters, are kept two or three months. All invalids are kept until the season closes on Labor Day.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home differs from other homes of this kind from the fact that entertaining the children is a means to an end. The homes from which the children come are carefully investigated, and in this way the Fresh Air Home works with the parents, and in many cases brings about permanent results for good.

The first service at the Home will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss and George A. Chapman. There will be singing by Miss Harris and Miss Hinz.

A similar service is to be held at the Home every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, always with interesting speakers and good singing. Meetings will also be held on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of each week at 8 o'clock. Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings are left open for entertainments, music or any other form of special enjoyment which the friends of the children may wish to give them.

FORTY YEARS A MINISTER

Services to Commemorate Dr. Joseph Buchanan's Long Service as a Pastor.

WILL MAKE ADDRESS

Exercises to be Held Tomorrow in Scotch Plains Church which Was His First Charge.

Ordained as a pastor in the Baptist church forty years ago tomorrow, Rev. Dr. J. C. Buchanan, father of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Duer street, will preach a special sermon in commemoration of the anniversary at the Scotch Plains Baptist church tomorrow morning. Dr. Buchanan, who is now retired, was pastor of this church for eleven years, being called there directly after his ordination. Leaving there, he accepted a call to the Baptist church at Pemberton, and was prominent in the religious life there until his retirement a year ago.

Forty years ago tomorrow, Dr. Buchanan, who had just received his degree in divinity school, accepted his first call and became pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church. This church, of which Rev. T. Moore-Smith is at present the pastor, is the third oldest church of the Baptist denomination in New Jersey. Previous to Rev. Dr. Buchanan, Rev. Mr. Luke was the pastor there, but he accepted a call to the Baptist church at Greenpoint, L. I. At the occasion of Dr. Buchanan's accession to the Plains pastorate, the late Rev. D. J. Yerkes, of this city, preached the ordination sermon and Rev. J. D. Morell delivered the charge to the candidate. Rev. Dr. Buchanan entered upon the work in the Scotch Plains pastorate with a will and under his ministry the parish rose to a condition of prosperity. It was through the efforts of Dr. Buchanan that the present church building was erected, at a cost of $30,000.

Resigning the local pastorate September 1, 1878, Rev. Dr. Buchanan accepted a call to the Baptist church at Pemberton. He was in charge there until about a year ago, when failing health compelled him to resign from active service.

The service tomorrow will be of special significance to Rev. Dr. Buchanan. It will be an opportunity for him to again address his old parishioners, speaking from the pulpit of his first church, where his interests are still active for the welfare of the parish. The present pastor, Rev. T. Moore-Smith, has arranged that several of the deacons and former parishioners of Rev. Dr. Buchanan shall be present. In connection with the morning service, special music will be given by the choir.

Close to the People.

(From Daily Police News.)

Officer C. McCarthy reports that he found a horse tied at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, at 12.05 a. m. A lady complained that it had been there about six hours, and acted as if it was sick. McCarthy took the horse to Cole's stable. Later: Charles Ward, of Clinton avenue, claimed the horse.

Edward Little Remanded.

Edward Little, the colored gallant accused of stealing the silver watch worn by his partner in a dance Thursday night, was arraigned before Judge Runyon, sitting as a State magistrate this morning. The complainant, Helen Roy, was not present, and Little was remanded until Monday.

TRANSFER LICENSES OF OLD HOLSTERIES

JUDGE SCHENCK ALSO POSTPONES CONTEMPT PROCEEDING HEARING.

In the Somerset County Courts at Somerville yesterday the licenses on two of the oldest hostelries in Somerset county were transferred by Judge Louis H. Schenck. The Washington House at Basking Ridge, passed from the hands of John W. Hoffman into those of Howell Gibbs and the Waldorf Hotel, in Somerville, will be in charge of Louis Roller, instead of Lenus Kuhn.

The matter of the contempt of court proceedings instituted against Joseph Sansone, of Raritan, by Prosecutor Reger, came up for a hearing and was postponed for one week, because the defendant's counsel, John A. Frech, had not fully answered all the interrogatories. Sansone has now been in jail for some time and there is talk that he will be admitted to bail today. He was subpoenaed as a witness in the Annie Salsberger case, she being charged with lewdness, but failed to appear in answer to the summons. His wife was also cited, but she proved she was too ill to appear at the time the Salsberger case was tried.

Judge Schenck announced that during July and August court would be held hereafter only on the last Friday of each month.

CRACKER INJURES TWO.

Man's Ear Torn, and Woman's Face Swelled by Flying Fragments.

A giant "red terror" firecracker John Retzer, a tailor employed by Schwed Bros., and Mrs. Edward Shearer, of East Front street, to the list of Fourth of July victims. The cracker was thrown by a small boy near the curb on Watchung avenue, Thursday afternoon, and Retzer and Mrs. Shearer, the latter walking with her husband, were struck by big pieces of the exploding bombiet.

Retzer was struck behind the ear, and the latter was so severely torn that medical attention was required. Mrs. Shearer was struck on the side of her jaw, and her face swelled badly. She suffered considerably from shock.

Father Terrill and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends from this city, Scotch lains and other places. Burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being Dr. F. C. Westcott, Loftus Hollingsworth, Charles Ball, Richard McCullough, Joseph Blatz and Frank Highby, the last named of New York.

Freight Car Jumps Track.

One of several freight cars being drilled in the vicinity of Richmond street, late yesterday afternoon, struck the bumper posts at the end of the tracks near the fright house with such force as to throw it off the tracks. While the damage was slight, track No. 3 was blocked for a time and several trains delayed.

—Miss Lucile Ewart celebrated her 12th birthday anniversary yesterday at her home on Fairview avenue. She received many gifts.

BOROUGH TO EXPERIMENT

Will Expend $1,000 to Ascertain Merits of Hassam Pavement on Somerset Street.

P. S. C. GIVES $100

Pave to Be Laid Between Tracks—Only Two Dissenting Votes in Council Meeting.

In response to a request from the Public Service Corporation, the borough Council voted last night to place Hassam pavement between the trolley rails on Somerset street, in connection with the improvement contemplated on that thoroughfare between Park and Lincoln places. A resolution to this effect brought out a lengthy discussion and it was finally passed with Councilman Van Winkle and Krewson voting against it.

When the original permanent pavement resolution was passed, it was planned to lay the Hassam material only on the west side of Somerset street from the curb to the outer rail of the trolley track. It was stated at the time that the puting down of his short stretch was to be in the nature of an experiment. Since then the trolley people have re-laid their track and they decided it would be a good thing to have the material extended to the outer rail. Under the provisions of the street railway ordinance in North Plainfield, the officials arrange for all improvements and repairs on Somerset street and the Public Service has to pay one third of the cost. To place Hassam pavement between the rails would mean a further expenditure of $300 of which the company would pay $100.

When Mayor Smalley broached the subject, he explained that the property owners on the two blocks had already been seen and agreed to pay their share of the improvement, consequently it would be like asking too much to request them to bear any more of the expense. He suggested that the pavement be placed between the tracks with the understanding that the borough pay the remaining $200. A resolution to this effect was drawn by Councilman Waldron, chairman of the street committee, but it was not passed until after a "chalk talk" of nearly an hour.

Councilman Van Winkle, who was not present when the original paving matter was passed, declared that he was opposed to the extension for the reason that it was "spending public money for further experiment." He argued that as the borough had to pay at least $600 for the other work, there was no use in expending an additional $200 to attain the same result. When the vote was called for, Councilman Krewson joined him in the opposition but they were the only ones.

The pavement will cost the borough at large practically $1,000 as a big stretch of public property is located within the assessable zone. In addition to paying $600 of the original estimate of $1,800 and $200 for going between the rails, at least $200 more will be paid because of the Somerset school and fire house sites abutting on the west curb.

In referring to the Hassam pavement later in the evening, Mayor Smalley said:

"I expect to be in the stone business for at least five years more and if at any time during that period, any repairs are needed in the two-block stretch, I will furnish all material free of cost to the borough."

One of the councilmen made the remark that the Hassam people had guaranteed to make all repairs for five years and the mayor added:

"Well, if they don't make good my offer stands just the same."

In the transaction of routine business, the Council received a communication from the Borough Board of Health again calling attention to the fact that sewers were a necessity in North Plainfield. It was stated that at the last meeting of the Board, a resolution to this effect was passed and that it called upon the Council to take the necessary steps to secure a system. The councilmen have heard the same thing so many times before it failed to arouse any special enthusiasm for the moment but a little later in the evening some signs of interest were shown.

Mayor Smalley made some inquiries as to who was the head of the old sewage commission and what it had done and then Councilman Van-Arsdale presented a resolution. It made the request that the present commission be called upon to make some report of its investigations before the next regular Council session. After that the Health Board's communication was "placed on file."

Another sewer communication was received from Dunellen, signed by a long string of residents in the north part of that borough. They protest-

BOROUGH DROPS CLAIM FOR $58.32 INTEREST TO COLLECT TWENTY-SEVEN YEAR BILL OF 727.50

By agreeing to drop a claim for interest amounting to $58.32, North Plainfield has succeeded in collecting a bill of $27.50 that has been on its books for twenty-seven years. Although the claim has practically been outlawed four times over, both sides have been arguing the matter for the entire time and the legal bill accumulating will go beyond the original amount.

The claim was levied against the property of Bernard Coleman at 27 Jackson avenue for the Somerset street telford improvement in 1860. The matter stood on the borough collector's books for some years and then the owner was called upon to settle. He claimed that he had already done so but was unable to produce a receipt. The assessment continued to be carried along with various attempts at collection but with the same success.

The property in the meantime had changed ownership several times and it is now owned by Arthur Leask, who has been very anxious to have the bill cleared up. He recently engaged counsel to adopt some plan of action and the borough authorities were conferred with. It was finally decided that inasmuch as the owner could not prove that the claim had been paid, and North Plainfield could not prove that it had not been paid and the bill was outlawed anyway, the best thing to do was to go back to the first debt; accordingly Leask offered to pay the $27.50. Councilman John VanWinkle brought the matter before the Council last night and the members agreed to this settlement, dropping any right they had to insist on getting the $58.32 interest.

"Anyway," said Mayor Smalley, "it's like finding $27.50" and the Councilmen nodded assent.

PITCHER RANDOLPH EARNS RIGHT TO TITLE OF "IRON MAN" IN THE INTER-CITY LEAGUE

Cliff Randolph, of Grant avenue, the doughty young twirler of the Clinton Avenue baseball team, who bids fair to rank with the country's star slab artists in the due course of time when experience has fitted him for the role, has earned the title of the "Iron Man" of the Inter City Baseball League, and also of this section. Randolph performed a most remarkable feat on Independence Day, when he pitched the Clinton Avenue aggregation to victory in two games, twirling in all a total of twenty innings, one nine-inning game and the other an eleven inning contest.

On the morning of the Fourth "Iron Man" Randolph defeated Scotch Plains by the score of 2 to 1 in an Inter City League championship game on Crescent Oval. In the afternoon he stacked up against Bound Brook, at the latter place, and won out by the score of 4 to 3, in eleven innings. In the two games Randolph has sixteen strike-outs to his credit while the opposing batsmen in both games, made but thirteen hits.

Young Randolph is considered the pitching phenom of the season and will try his prowess against the Ironsides, of Newark, who play the Clinton Avenue nine on Crescent Oval this afternoon. New York fans have their "Iron Man" McGinnity, Baltimore, "Iron Man" Adkins, Newark, "Iron Man" Sammy Hope, and now local fans can claim Cliff Randolph as their "Iron Man" twirler.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Never pause to wonder about the quality of your meat when you buy at J. W. Van Sickle's store, North avenue. Good quality is certain.

There is much satisfaction in the meat and poultry sold by the Grandview Meat Market, Somerset street. Fresh and of unsurpassable tenderness.

When you want your house papered or painted let Charles Conover & Co., of Elmwood place, do the work. First class materials are used and the latest designs in wall-papers.

A fine warm weather smoke is the seasoned Nickel Yara cigar, sold by M. C. Dobbins. Unseasoned cigars are abominations in hot weather. Mr. Dobbins has a fine line of smoking tobaccoes. North avenue.

The H. E. Gayle Hardware Company is noted for selling the best goods, not only in hardware, but housefurnishings and builders' materials. The prices will suit you and you will always be a customer of this house forever afterward.

Besides selling the best meat to be found in the market, Roth & Co., of East Front street, make a specialty of fresh fish, game in season and such other things as can be found at a first class market of this kind. The prices are reasonable for such quality and prompt deliveries are made.

Up-to-date clothing, made of the best material and guaranteed to give satisfaction can be found at Weinberger's clothing store on West Front street at low prices; also men's furnishings of all kinds. This house carries a large line of men's straw hats, negligee shirts, collars and cuffs of the best manufacture.

DISSENSION IN CHURCH.

Trenton Congregation Stirred Up Over Appointment of Pastor as Presiding Elder.

Trenton, July 6.—Dissension has developed in the First M. E. church, this city, over the recent action of Bishop Warren in naming the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. Morgan Read, presiding elder of the Camden district, to succeed the late Presiding Elder Moore. So strong is the feeling that the official board of the church has issued an open letter condemning the bishop for his action.

The officers admit that under the laws of the denomination they have no appeal and assert that they will submit. The church has been heavily encumbered by debt for a number of years, and only recently has been able to see a way out. Dr. Read formally severed his connection with the church Thursday and will move to Camden soon.

Defaulter Runyan Caught.

New York, July 6.—Betrayed by a woman of the Tenderloin on whom he had lavished money, to whom he had promised thousands of dollars and who knew him only as "George" Chester B. Runyan, the defaulting teller of the Windsor Trust Company, was arrested at a pistol's point yesterday afternoon in a three-room flat at No. 619 West 144th street, which he had rented for the woman, whose acquaintance he made less than three weeks ago and for whom apparently he had no affection. Many features of the remarkable case suggest the old theory of two identities.

Money to the amount of $54,410 was found in the suit case which Runyan carried when he left the bank last Saturday and which since that time, filled with yellow backs, had been knocking about the Harlem flat. There is missing $25,000, and the police believe the woman, Mrs. Laura M. Carter, has the sum hidden. She denies she has a cent, and declares he does not even want the reward about $7,000—$2,000 in a lump sum and ten per cent of the sum recovered. It was decided, however, to hold her on a grand larceny charge.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $2 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

MOUNTS RHINOCEROS HEAD.

Dover Man Dresses Animal Killed by Americans in East Africa.

Flanders, July 6.—Ernest W. Smith, a taxidermist, of Dover, recently mounted a large black rhinoceros head for a New York man. It was killed by a party of American hunters in East Africa last winter and had two horns. The first sprouts from a point just over the nostrils, and is about twenty inches long, tapering to a sharp point and curving backward. The second is blunt, about half the length of the first, and stands nearly straight up between the eyes, which are remarkably small. The only hair was a dark fringe on the ears.

The black rhinoceros attains a length of ten to twelve feet and is stout. It is absolutely fearless and a good runner, bolting straight for anything that moves. Mr. Smith formerly was connected with the Museum of Natural History in New York city, and recently removed with his family to Millbrook, near Dover.

OPERATORLESS TELEPHONE IN J. F. DRYDEN'S HOME.

Ex-United States Senator John F. Dryden is having his country seat at Bernardsville equipped with a telephone system that is to cost between $3,000 and $4,000, and which will be the first large long distance equipment of its character in use. For over a year the New York and New Jersey Telephone officials have been experimenting with a system of this character at the residence of the late Charles F. Cutler, president of the company, and they have now perfected it. It is known as the automatic, operatorless and intercommunicating long distance system and is so arranged by a local keyboard that all points on an estate like that of Mr. Dryden's may connect with each other by simply pressing a button and without calling central. The Dryden keyboard is to be arranged to connect with twenty stations on the property, which will include the superintendent, butler, coachman, farmer, greenhouses, laundry, chef, housekeeper, etc. The keyboard is arranged with press buttons, each of which connects with all other departments of the property and also with the central telephone office. The caller presses the button, places the receiver to his ear, and when the person called is ready he presses the button marked "answer," and the connection is thus made without further trouble. To make a long distance connection it is necessary to press the button marked "central," and when central responds the connection is made as in ordinary cases.

JUST IN TIME.

Some Plainfield People May Wait Till It's Too Late.

Don't wait until too late.
Be sure and be in time.
Just in time with kidney ills
Means curing the black
Before backache becomes chronic.
Doan's Kidney Pills will do this.

Here is Plainfield testimony to prove it.

A. C. Lazzi, stone-cutter and carver, of 244 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For several years I was troubled with a distressing backache and with pains in the region of the kidneys. My head also ached severely and the secretions from the kidneys were not at all natural. I tried several doctors and some so-called kidney remedies, but none gave me any relief, and as my case became more and more persistent, I became somewhat discouraged because I could find no relief. I saw an advertisement regarding Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at Randolph's pharmacy. Soon after taking them my troubles vanished like the mist and since then I have felt stronger and better in every way."

BANK PRESIDENT ASKS A FAVOR.

"Mr. Smithly," said the bank president as he called the cashier into his private office and motioned him to be seated, "I want to ask you a few questions. Is it true that you just purchased a home at a cost of $35,000?"

"I—I have, sir," replied the cashier, as he turned pale.

"And that you own an automobile worth $5,000?"

"Y-yes, sir."

"And a yacht worth $7,000?"

"Y-yes, sir."

"And three race horses valued at $15,000?"

"I—I do, sir."

"And a dog worth $2,000?"

"Y-yes, sir."

"And that you sometimes lose vast sums at poker?"

"Y-yes, sir."

"And live at the rate of $50,000 a year?"

"P-pretty near that, sir."

"Mr. Smithly," continued the bank president as he lowered his voice, "I want to ask you a favor. Your salary is $2,000 a year, is it not?"

"It is, sir," replied the cashier as he arose from his seat and sighed and wiped the perspiration from his forehead. "I—I suppose I am to hand in my resignation at once, sir?"

"Not at all, my boy—not at all! I just want to ask if you won't change jobs with me for a few years. I don't seem to be able to make much headway in this institution on my measly salary of $20,000 a year."—A. B. Lewis, in Judge.

Judicial Flattery.

"On what ground, sir," sternly asked the judge, "do you seek to evade your duty as a citizen?"

"On the ground, your honor," responded the man who had been summoned as a juror, "that I am 65 years old and no longer legally liable to jury service."

"You don't look it by 20 years, sir," said the judge, "but your excuse is sufficient, and, of course, I shall not—"

"Still, your honor," interrupted the other, "inasmuch as your honor puts it before me in the light of my duty as a citizen, I am willing to waive my claim to exemption and will serve with pleasure."—Chicago Tribune.

Wild Scramble.

"How many courses do they have?" whispered the city man who was about to take his first meal in the country boarding house.

"Only one," replied the old boarder, "and we call that the 'race course.'"

"Race course? That's a queer name."

"Not at all. You have to race or you don't get anything at all."—Chicago News.

Grand Larceny Again.

Eva—And you confess that you kissed Ethel?

Jack—Most assuredly.

Eva—But when I asked you if you had ever kissed another girl didn't you say "No, honestly?"

Jack—Of course I did. You see I always kiss them dishonestly. It is no harm to steal a kiss, you know.—Chicago Daily News.

TOO BUSY TO TALK.

Mistress—How is it I never hear any talk in the kitchen, Jane, when your young man visits you?

Jane—Oh, ma'am, he's that modest that he does nothing but eat when he calls on me.

An Observation.

The man who has the softest snap
(It's saying nothing rash)
Is he who's almost always sure
To have the most hard cash.
—Judge.

Enough to Last.

"Are you going to the seashore this summer?"

"Nothing doing this summer."

"Why not?"

"I was done last summer."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Why He Stays Away.

Mrs. Jones—Do you feel that when your husband is away from home he is thinking of you?

Mrs. Smith—Yes. He thinks of me, and that's why he stays away.—Judge.

Beats Some Men.

"Is Tompkins's wife intellectual?"

"Is she! That woman knows all about a railroad time table."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Time to Break.

Miss Ascum—Have you really broken your engagement to him?

Miss Flytie—Oh, yes, I just had to. He was getting too sentimental—began to talk to me about matrimony.—Philadelphia Press.

$5,000 In Prizes!
Grand Educational Contest

To introduce our new Piano, the Conway, we have decided to institute something entirely novel in the way of advertising, making it something of value to the readers of this paper as well as ourselves.

We propose to distribute FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN PRIZES, among the residents of Central New Jersey. Think of it $5,000! While the mere distribution of this amount in prizes would be a valuable advertisement in itself, you will, of course, admit that the distribution of so large a prize list would hardly be justified by the publicity itself would give us. But if we are able to impress the name "CONWAY PIANO" indelibly upon the minds of 300,000 people, then you will, of course, readily admit that we are justified in offering this large prize list. Therefore, to make the CONWAY PIANO occupy the place in your mind, that stands for all that is good in tone, quality, construction, design and finish, and that you may never forget the great name, we wish to see how many words you can form from the twelve letters containing the two words

CONWAY PIANOS

To the persons able to form the greatest number of words from the letters contained in the two words, CONWAY PIANOS, we will give one magnificent Conway Piano, valued at $365.00 together with a handsome scarf and stool.

To the next five nearest answers we will give credit bills worth $100 each.

Each of the competitors sending in the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bills for $1 less than the preceding prize, or $99.00, and following this in groups of two, each of the competitors sending the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bill for $1 less than the preceding prize, until the entire balance of $5,000 shall have been distributed.

Rules for Forming Words

Only such words are to be used as are found in Webster's International Dictionary. No proper names, foreign words, names of persons, town or places are to be used. Do not use a letter more times in one word than it appears in the words CONWAY PIANOS. Words spelled the same, but having a different meaning, can be used but once.

Rules and Conditions of Contest:

All answers limited to July 22, 1907.

Open to readers of this paper.

Those who receive credit bills can apply them on any new Pianos in our stock at the regular prices, which are always marked in plain figures on each instrument, but cannot apply them on any purchase made prior to opening day of contest.

Easy payments will be granted to those wishing to be accommodated by applying their credit bills and paying the balance in small monthly payments.

Not more than one credit bill will be accepted on the same Piano.

In the event of a tie between two or more contestants the Capital Prize will be divided equally and paid in gold.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The events at the Plainfield Country Club today will include the semi-finals for the club championship, consolation and third eight cups, weekly competition for the Golf committee and Green committee cups and play for the Scratch cup. One week from today the finals for the championship and other cups will be played.

At the Park Golf Club today there will be initial play for the July cup, offered by the club, in addition to the weekly play for the President's and Golf Club cups.

It should have been stated in yesterday's report of the Independence Day golf at the Plainfield Country Club that E. E. Iremonger withdrew from the second eight for the consolation cup, allowing A. G. Henderson to take his place.

An interesting golf match to be played at Cranford tomorrow will be between "Marty" O'Loughlin and M. J. Dumont, of the Plainfield Country Club, and William Fullerton and E. M. Wilde, of the Cranford Club.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, a week ago, defeated the professional at the Brooklyn Marine and Field Club, returning a score of 79. It was the first time he had played on the course.

N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., has recovered from an attack of tonsilitis, and he was among the holiday golfers at the Plainfield Country Club His score, however, was not low enough to qualify

E. E. Iremonger, who won the Independence Day cup, Class A, at the Plainfield Country Club, with a net score of 75, played good golf, considering that he has not been on the course but a few times this season.

Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, who won the Hydewood Park cup at the Park Golf Club, has been steadily improving his game this season, and is now rated as one of the best players at the club.

Plan of the Park Golf Club in offering monthly cups for competition is proving very popular among the members. Today play will begin for the July cup and there is every assurance of a big field.

The driving competition at the Plainfield Country Club on Thursday attracted a number of contestants. A majority of them were unable to keep within bound.

DIAMOND DUST.

Clinton Avenue and Ironsides, of Newark, will meet on Crescent Oval this afternoon, and the fans should see a good game. The Newark aggregation is considered one of the strongest semi-professional teams in the State.

The Raritans made a good showing on the Fourth in their first appearance in the amateur league contest. This team promises to be a strong rival for pennant honors.

The Y. M. C. A. team will play the Laurels at Bound Brook, today and Scotch Plains will journey to Raritan to meet the team from that place. The outcome of these games will be watched with interest as it will materially affect the standing of the Clinton Avenue, Scotch Plains and Y. M. C. A. teams.

The Trolley Dodgers applied the whitewash brush to the Giants on Thursday for the second time this week, the score being 1 to 0. The Brooklyns are heading for first division at a rapid pace.

Walter Nelson, the catcher of the Y. M. C. A., gave a fine exhibition of throwing to bases on Thursday. He repeatedly nailed players who thought they could easily go from first to second.

One of the best fielders in the amateur league is Pond, of the Y. M. C. A. He is very fast chasing flies and running the bases.

Clinton Avenue has regained its old-time form and is now playing championship ball. The team is sure to make every other one in the league hustle to win the pennant. This nine has the advantage in having played together for several seasons, while in the other clubs this is the first season any of the players have been together.

ONE LAW FOR ALL.

It is not surprising that the newspapers about the State have risen up in arms against the scheme to make New Jersey highways a speed course for wealthy automobilists from other states. The Frelinghuysen law, which meets with the general approval of the inhabitants of New Jersey, is a most excellent measure. The fact is that it never occurred to anyone that there was need of a suspension of its provisions until some enthusiastic race promoters discovered that they might have their appetite for deadly speed contests satisfied by picturing the amount of money that would be spent in the State while the event is taking place. Surely what is not considered wise in New York could not be made to be proper in New Jersey. It would certainly be a serious reflection on our good name if the race were permitted to be held here after the Empire State has placed a ban on it.

The whole matter is a question of principle and not of dollars and cents. There is no reason whatever for allowing a coterie of foolish rich to indulge in a pastime which is of no practical benefit and which is denied the ordinary taxpayer of the State. The Paterson Guardian in pointing out the inconsistency of the race asks "How would it look now, to pass a special law to permit the speed maniacs to invade this State, simply because a bunch of millionaires are willing to pay for any damage done, and raise a purse for the surviving family of any unfortunate who may be killed during the racing or preliminary practice?"

"The roads of a commonwealth," adds the Guardian, "belong to its people, but for several weeks last year the roads of Long Island, selected for the cup race, belonged to the men rich enough to own racing automobiles. While automobiles were getting in readiness for the race, it became dangerous for vehicles and pedestrians to frequent any part of the thiry-mile course. On the day of the big race the life of a citizen of Passaic was sacrificed, and serious accidents to spectators were numerous. Because of these accidents New York refuses to permit any more cup contests on the highways of that State."

As the Elizabeth Journal says:

"It is the general opinion among the newspapers of the State, commenting on the proposed race, that the thing for the millionaires to do if they want the race to be held from year to year is to buy a tract of land and build a race course. This is the only thing for them to do."

"New Jersey has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in improving the roads throughout the State," says the Perth Amboy News. "This was done primarily to benefit the farmer and make it easier for him to reach markets with his truck. What, then, is the excuse for turning the roads over to a few millionaires that they may idle away a few hours of their time? The highways of New Jersey are for public use, not for private racing."

Along the same line, The Newark Evening News declares that "there will be no general criticism should the promoters, as the New York Tribune suggests, buy a plot of ground, fence it in and have their speed contest there, just as horsemen do. But to permit them the use of the public highways is outrageous under any circumstances conceivable. Those highways are nowhere adapted to such a purpose and they can at no time be devoted to it, no matter under what precautions, without doing vast injury to public property and placing the lives of many people in danger. Just one of the lives lost in the Vanderbilt race is worth a million fold more than all the so-called advantages to be derived from all such contests that have been or will be held."

MANY MOURN BESIDE BIER OF COL. M. W. TLYLER

BISHOP ASSISTS RECTOR IN CONDUCTING SERVICE—MANY FLORAL TRIBUTES

The funeral service of Colonel Mason Whiting Tyler was held from the late home on West Seventh street, yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including members of the New York Commandery of the Military Order Loyal Legion, the New York Bar Association, Society of Mayflower Descendants, of which Col. Tyler was the first governor; Society of Colonial Wars, the Plainfield Common Council, Board of Education, Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room, the New Jersey Historical Society and local organizations with which Col. Tyler was more or less interested and identified.

The Episcopal funeral service was conducted by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, where Col. Tyler was a communicant for many years and also active in the departments of the parish work. He was assisted by Rt. Rev. Dr. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, while Rev. Calvin Stebbins, of Framingham, Mass., pastor of the Unitarian church at that place, and a classmate of Col. Tyler at Amherst College, offered prayer. Mr. Stevenson conducted the greater part of the service, Bishop Scarborough reading the Scriptures.

The quartette choir of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church comprising Miss Mildred Graham, soprano; Miss Grace Carroll, contralto; Joseph Crawford, tenor, and James Stanley, bass, sang three hymns, "Abide With Me," "Hark, Hark My Soul," and "For All the Saints."

There was a large number of beautiful floral tributes from the various societies, relatives and friends. The casket was draped with the mortuary flag of the Loyal Legion.

Among the mourners present was Gen. Tremaine, of New York, an old partner of Col. Tyler in the practice of law.

The interment was in Hillside cemetery. The honorary pall-bearers were O. T. Waring, John B. Dumont, W. F. Merrill, J. E. Tracy, Dr. Leonard Waldo and J. S. Durand and the active bearers were Percy H. Stewart, Jackson E. Reynolds, Howard Huntington, Frederick Goddard, Orville G. Waring, Roy Cox, Frederick W. Yates and Frederick E. Mygatt, all of this city.

State Sewage Commission Writes to Assembly Probing Committee.

A SUMMARY OF WORK

Its Secretary Sets Forth What Board Has Done During the Year.

Jersey City, July 6.—With a desire to correct what it regards as a misunderstanding as to its work due to the scope of the Assembly investigating committee's recent inquiry into it, the State Sewerage Commission, over the signature of its secretary, Boyd Maclean, has sent to the house probers the following letter summarizing its labors during the last eighteen months:

"At a recent meeting of your committee, a partial examination of a cursory nature was mae in rdelation to the work of the State Sewerage Commission, which has been the basis of many erroneous allegations as to the nature and amount of work done by this commission. The commission believes that it should furnish to your committee some information as to the nature and amount of its work. For this purpose it has directed me to prepare and send to you the following summary of its work during the past eighteen months, from January 1, 1906, to July 1, 1907:

"Total meetings held, 68; meetings in Jersey City, 57; meetings elsewhere, 11; total matters considered, about 350; municipalities in which action taken, 116; counties in which action taken, 20; complaints of pollution received, 16; sanitary inspection, total 83; inspections by the commission, 8; inspections by commissioners, 32; inspection by commissioners, 32; inspection by inspectors, 43; total pollution cases, 193; total notices to cease pollution, 113; notices to corporations, 12; notices to individuals, 87; injunction suits ordered, 3; sewerage plans approved, 22; sewerage plans disapproved, 7; opinions and advice on sewerage, 33; hearing on complaints and petitions, 33; sanitary local action suggested, 15; repairs of sewage plants ordered, 14; sewage plants under supervision, 30; engineering reports prepared, 34; total letters sent out, 702.

PRESENTMENT TRIABLE?

Contention in Hudson County Has Direct Bearing on Union County Situation.

TEST CASE PROBABLE

Grand Jury There Criticized for Exceeding Its Alleged Authority—A Legal Question.

A situation which, it will be seen, has a decided local bearing, exists in Hudson county just now. During the argument of counsel on the motion of Counsellor Robert Carey to quash the indictment against City Collector Edward Fry, which bill was recently nolle prossed. Prosecutor Speer remarked that a presentment was triable. Supreme Court Justice Fort supplemented this by saying that under the constitution such would appear to be the case as it read that no person could be tried except "by indictment or presentment," thus showing, it is pointed out, that they were in law practically the same so far as charging violations are concerned.

Now that the Hudson County Grand Jury has presented the Jersey City police officials for alleged discrimination in making arrests and for reporting at Sunday excise violations, those who recall the court's remarks are considering the probability of Prosecutor Speer making a test case of the matter and proceedings to arraign and try some one of the officials in order to obtain adjudication on the point in the upper courts.

The question has never been threshed out in this State and a test would be of decided legal value, lawyers say. If a presentment is triable it will be another evidence of the almost limitless extent of Jersey law and would have, it is said, a radical effect of making officials live up to the laws on the statute books be they good or bad.

It is known that Prosecutor Speer has the matter under consideration, but it is not as yet settled whether any trials will follow the presentment.

Commenting on the action of Council in respect to the Grand Jury's recent presentment, the Hudson Observer says:

"Whether the city of Elizabeth is well or ill governed, we do not know. This is a question for its inhabitants, among whom the average of intelligence is very high, to determine for themselves. But in the controversy that has arisen between the Union County Grand Jury and the Elizabeth City Council, it is apparent, even to a non-resident, that the municipal representatives have much the better of it.

"The point is, that the presentment went far beyond the legitimate work of a grand jury. All of the authorities hold that these bodies have jurisdiction in criminal matters only. By ancient custom they are expected to visit and report as to the condition of the county institutions, but no such duty is imposed upon them by statute in this State.

"They are not the censors of the public morals, advisers of the body politic, critics of their fellowmen, or advocates of changes in government. Each of them, outside the jury room, may do in all of these matters as he likes. He may start a newspaper to voice his opinions, contribute to the columns of existing newspapers, or organize a political party to enforce his views; but, as a juryman, he has no right to use the office for any other office than the investigation of crime and the indictment of persons accused.

"When a jury have reasons to believe that there have been breaches of the law, it is their duty to indict. If they merely suspect wrongdoing, they have no moral right to pillory individuals in presentments which the accused no opportunity to obtain acquittals before juries of their peers.

"All of the members of the Elizabeth City Council have joined in a demand that the Grand Jury shall indict them. This is a perfectly proper insistment. If they are not indictable, they ought not to have been presented. It may be true, as Justice Fort says, that one may be tried under a presentment, but such a proceeding was never undertaken in this State.

"Any other policy leads to the misuse of the power of such tribunals and a neglect of work which ought to be performed. There is a strong suspicion throughout the State that the Union County Grand Jury was animated by partisan politics, and not by a sincere desire to bring wrong-doers to justice—as it should have been."

Ate Half Pound of Poison.

Lenox, Mass., July 6.—George Butler, Jr., thirty-two years old, died at his home in Lenox early yesterday as the result of eating half a pound of Paris green. His sister, Miss Elizabeth Butler, a Lenox school teacher, drowned herself in the Housatonic River in 1898, and Butler's grandfather, Cornelius Butler, threw himself into a well thirty years ago. George Butler told his parents he was tired of living and wanted to end it all.

ters in the general plan of arranging the rooms, the halls and rooms being wide, light and well ventilated from the basement to the roof. When the building is entirely completed and equipped it will represent the highest and most approved method of construction known in the electrical world, and marks and important point in the progress of the New York & New Jersey Telephone Company in this city.

In connection with the construction of the new building and the installation of the latest equipment, the company has continued its work of putting wires underground. All of the important streets in the city have been covered and this will materially add to the efficiency of the service from now on. The Plainfield office is now considered one of the best equipped among the many owned and operated by the company.

NEW YORK HOTTER; ICE SUPPLY IS CUT.

Tie-Up Tighter Than Ever As Result of Strike.

New York, July 6.—The ice situation in Manhattan cleared late yesterday. Business Agent Feratti still refused to call the strike off, but strikers kept returning to their work until most of the wagons were running as usual.

In Brooklyn the strikers held out, with few exceptions. There was considerable rioting on the Long Island side of the river and a number of strike-breakers were badly beaten.

The holiday Thursday made yesterday's demand unusually heavy. Refrigerators everywhere are empty. Saloon men and hotel and restaurant proprietors, ice cream manufacturers, butchers, commission men and the dispensers of soft drinks raised a tremendous outcry.

Beach Burning Boat.

New York, July 6.—Held up at Quarantine by Dr. Doty, so that nineteen persons whom it was feared had been exposed to fever might be taken off her, the steamship Monterey, in last evening from Havana, was found to be afire. Slipping the anchor, Captain Smith drove her ahead at full speed into the mud banks off Clifton, Staten Island. There the sea cocks were opened and she settled in fifteen feet of water, all except in thirteen of her passengers being taken off. Early this morning the fire was under control, but the vessel will be out of commission for some time.

ON ACCOUNT OF A MAN

By ALBERTA S. BROWNELL

(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

It was when I was waitin' on in Robinson's cafe that I first got to know Rose Noonan and Mame McMann.

Robinson's, yer know, is noted for its good food and pretty waitresses, if I do say it. No women is allowed in there at all, and yer can bet us girls used to thank our stars for that. A woman 'll come in, yer know, and set down and look at the menoo anywhere from ten to 20 minutes. Then she'll say, "I guess I'll have an eclair—no, a Charlotte ruche,—and does bread and butter go with it?" and then when yer git half way out to the kitchen she'll shout at yer, "Say, come back a minute; I changed my mind. I guess I will have an eclair after all."

Well, Mr. Robinson, he said he couldn't be bothered by nothin' like that, so he just catered to the business men, an' say, he done a pile of business. They'd flock in there noontimes as thick as women to a bargain sale.

As I said, we had the best lookin' waitresses in town and though we was all fair-lookers, Rose Noonan and Mame McMann was the prize beauties of the bunch. They was about of a prettiness, the one bein' light and the other dark complected.

Rose was an awful pretty girl, just like a dawl, pink and white, but it was Mame that had the tongue for yer. Say, she'd keep her customers in roars, and as soon as not, if ever they got too fresh, she'd lean over and give 'em a good swipe across the face with her hand.

Well, this Mr. Leighton that used to come was Mame's customer, and a real nice gentleman he was, too. I don't know just what he done, but he was some kind of a broker, I think. Some of the men that come in there used to be kind of flip with the girls, askin' insinuatin' questions, and tellin' stories. This Mr. Leighton was never like that. And he wasn't afraid of a good, fat tip, neither.

Well, one day he come in and Mame's seats was all full, so he goes up and sits down by Rose. The next thing I notice, he is settin' there all the time, and Rose and Mame ain't speakin'!

He got in a way of comin' after the rush hour was over, and sittin' way up at the end of the counter, and while he was eatin' he'd talk to Rose as serious, and she'd listen as earnest to everything he said. I used to wonder what in time they were gabbin' about, and I used to go slow past 'em to hear. It seemed to be mostly about books, and every now and then he was bringin' her a new book.

Rose always was awful studious. She was always tryin' to learn something. I could see it in her eye that she didn't mean to be a waitress the rest of her life.

Mr. Leighton had a way of bringin' her a flower, too, pretty near every day,—one of them thick-stemmed big cabbage-roses. Once I heard him sayin' to her, "This is the kind of rose that puts me in mind of you. You ain't like a wild rose, nor a tea rose, but you're strong and vig'rous and glowin' like this one," says he.

After that Mame she got as mean as dirt to Rose. Seemed as if there wa'n't nothin' she wouldn't do to torment her if she could. She'd steal her orders out in the kitchen; she'd hide her check punch on her; she'd run into her and spill a whole cup of coffee down the front of a nice, clean apron and shirt waist. That means something, too, when you're livin' on yourself in the city, and payin' 25 cents for the washin' of every clean waist you put on yer back. Once she come pell-mell through the swingin' doors,—she could see right well through the little glass winder who was on the other side, don't tell me she couldn't, and she run right plumb into Rose and made her drop her tray, and every blessed thing on it was smashed. Of course Rose was docked that out of her pay.

A little line would come between her two eyes, and her cheeks would grow redder, but she never said a word back. She wouldn't give Mame that satisfaction.

One day Mame and Rose had an awful set-to. I never seen Rose spunk up the way she did that time. She was just bringing' in an order, an' Mame jostled into her, so it spilled all over everything and was spoiled. Well, she never yipped, but she went out and she got another order. The boss, he see she'd spoiled the first one, and he pitched into her, an' told her she had no call to be so careless, and then she went into the customer, and he pitched into her, too, an' asked her didn't she think he had nothin' better to do than sit out there over half an hour waitin'.

Say, I was sorry for the girl. She didn't sass him back, either, but she walked out into the kitchen again, and her face was that white way down to her lips, yer could tell something was goin' to happen.

She walked straight up to Mame, and she says to her:

"You're a mean, contemptible sneak," she says. She always had that way of talkin'. She got it from readin' so much, I suppose. "An' I wouldn't work in the same place with yer an hour longer," she says. "I was leavin' tomorrow night, anyway, but I'm goin' now, yer low, jealous thing, yer, an' yer welcome to all my customers yer can git," she says, snappin' her fingers in Mame's face and walkin' away with her head high up, and never a look at anybody.

Say, Mame was stumped! I wish you could have seen her. She just stood there, dumb. Nobody ever seen Rose flare up that way, an' I guess they didn't think it was in her. She put on her hat, and she marched straight out, with never a look to this side nor that. Never stoppin' to ask for her pay even, so yer kin well see how mad she was.

Well, we didn't see no more of Rose from that day. She might have dropped off the earth for all we known.

When Mr. Leighton come in the next day, somebody told him how Rose had left.

"Is that so?" says he, raisin' his eyebrows, but he never made no more remarks. I supposed he didn't like to show his feelin's out too plain before everybody. After that, not knowin' the new girl and knowin' Mame so well, he got into the way of droppin' back into her place. Well, at first she wouldn't pay no attention to him. She'd wait on him good, and all that, but she wouldn't joke, nor chin with him nor nothin'. He kept that same polite, nice way with him though, and after a while yer could see Mame loosenin' up, and pretty soon she couldn't do enough for him. Still, she never forgot how we'd all been laughin' at her, and she had it in to get back at Rose, somehow. It was pretty near a year before she said anything, though.

Mr. Leighton come in early for his lunch that day and Mame had just brung his order in when she says: "Did yer hear about Rose Noonan?" He looked up, kinder surprised, but he says, "No, what's the news?" "Well, she says, tossin' her head in that way she has, "well, a certain party was tellin' me," she says, "that Rose has gone to the bad entirely."

I seen him lookin' at her, kinder queer, but he never said nothin'.

"Yer know," says she, "when she left here she went over to New York, and tried to go on the stage, but she wa'n't no good at it, and now they say she's gone from bad to worse. This party seen her all ragged up in a velvet suit, an' ostrich feathers, and she said it looked like she was touchin' up her face a bit, too, but they all do that. It's too bad, ain't it? Rose was such a pretty girl. Still, yer never can trust them quiet ones with the kitteny ways."

Then up gets Mr. Leighton, and he says: "Evidently yer didn't know," says he, "that I was married to Miss Noonan last week, and moreover," says he, "you can tell your 'certain party' that she's a damned liar, for it's a woman, I suppose," says he. "An' if yer won't tell her," he goes on, "send her to me and I will. Anybody that slanders my wife," says he, "has got to answer to me for it," and he goes out.

Well, I wish, I only wish yer could have seen the look of Mame. I wouldn't have took my week's pay to miss it. She'd made it all up of whole cloth, yer know, and she was certainly floored, but not for long. Trust her! She just tosses her head in the air and sniffs, and she says, "If ever I fished as hard for any man as Rose Noonan did for him," she says, "I bet it wouldn't take me no year to land him."

She didn't stay to Robinson's very long after that. We made life miserable for the girl, jollyin' an' pokin' fun at her. Last I heard of her she was workin' up in Tilden's as cloak model, makin' good money, too. She was smart, Mame was.

And Rose, they say she's got a lovely home, and a nigger waiter right at her elbow all the time. I heard that Leighton asked her to marry him before ever she left Robinson's, and she said no, she wa'n't good enough for him, not havin' no education to speak of. He wouldn't hear to that, but she held out, an' at last he said he'd like to send her to school for the winter and then marry her in the spring and that's where she was all that year

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

"I didn't mean to give way," Chip said at last, looking up and brushing away the tears, "but you've been so good and patient with me, I couldn't help it. I hain't many friends here, I guess, and—" choking back another sob—"I shall be more lonesome'n ever."

It was true enough, as Miss Phinney well understood, and somehow her heart went out to this unfortunate girl now, as never before.

"You mustn't think about that," she said at last, in her most soothing voice, "but come and see me as often as you can—every day, if you like, for I shall always be glad to have you. I'd keep on studying, if I were you," she added, as Chip brightened, "it will help you on; and I will gladly hear you recite every day."

Then hand in hand, like two sisters, they left the dear old schoolhouse. Little did Miss Phinney, good soul that she was, realize how recently poor Chip had cried her heart almost out on its well worn sill, or that never again would this strange, winsome woman-grown pupil enter that temple.

At the parting of their ways the two embraced, kissed, and with tear-dimmed eyes separated.

"I can't account for it," Miss Phinney said to herself when well away. "It may be a love affair with young Stetson, or it may be something worse."

That evening she called on Angie. The result was fruitless, so far as obtaining any light upon this puzzling matter was concerned, for Angie was either blind to the situation, or feigned ignorance.

"They were together all last summer, of course," she said, "in fact, they were forced to be like two children, you know. I was glad to have it so, feeling it would benefit the girl. If any love flame was started then, it has had ample time to die out since."

"There is something else the matter with Chip, then," Miss Phinney rejoined, "she has been moody and quite upset at times for the past few weeks, and to-day when school closed, she sobbed like a broken-hearted woman. It was quite pathetic, and I had to cry myself."

That night Angie took counsel of her husband.

"Well, what if it is so," he responded to her suggestion that a love affair might have started between them. "It won't harm either. So far as I've observed, the girl couldn't have been better behaved since she came here. She has never missed an hour at school all winter, no matter how cold it has been. Her teacher says she has made wonderful progress. She has attended church with you every Sunday, and as for Ray—well, if I were in his shoes I'd be in love with her myself."

It was clear enough that Angie's fears were not shared by Martin.

"But think of her origin and parentage," answered Angie, "and, that outlaw father who might appear at any time! The very idea of Ray marrying her is preposterous. It would wreck his life."

"But what about Chip?" returned Martin, who had broader views of life. "You brought her here to Christianize and educate her; do you propose to turn her adrift because she has a pretty face and the boy sees it? She isn't to blame for her origin. As for Ray, if he shows that he is able to support a wife and wants her, I honor him for it, and I'll give him a house to start with."

At Aunt Comfort's, however, no signs of love troubles were visible; in fact, no signs of any sort, except the malicious "hanging around" interference of Hannah whenever Ray was there. She seemed to feel it her duty to remain on guard at such times, much to Ray's disgust. No annoyance at this was apparent in Chip. She helped at housework, studied at odd hours, and when Ray came she met and talked with him as if he were a brother.

The day he was to leave Greenvale was close at hand, however, and the evening before he came early, bringing his banjo, and by tacit consent, perhaps to escape Hannah, they both left the house at once.

Just above the village there was a long, narrow pond, wooded upon one side and around its upper end, with partially cleared land and scattered trees along the opposite bank. One of these trees was a monster beech near the water's edge, the trunk of which was scarred by many intwined initials.

To this lovers' trysting tree now came Ray and Chip.

The evening was not one for romance, for no moon graced it—only stars were reflected from the pond's motionless surface, while fireflies twinkled above it.

The shadow of the near parting also hovered over these two as, hand in hand, they picked their way up and along the bank; and once seated beneath the tree, it seemed to forbid speech.

"I wish you'd play some of the songs you used to," Chip said at last hurriedly; "I'd like to think I'm back at the lake again."

Glad to do so, Ray drew out his banjo and began to tune it. He started a song also—one of the "graveyardy" ones which Old Cy had interdicted, but choked at once and stopped abruptly.

"I can't sing to-night," he said; "I'm too blue about going away."

There were two in this frame of mind, evidently, for Chip made no protest, and for another long interval they watched the fireflies and listened to the whippoorwills.

"I wish you were going back with us," Ray said at last. "It breaks my heart to go away so soon and leave you. Why won't you let me ask my uncle to take you? He might be glad to do it, just for me."

"No," answered Chip, firmly, "you mustn't. It would shame me so that I couldn't look them in the face." Then, as if this subject and their own feelings must be avoided, she added hurriedly, "Tell me what you will do when the folks come back—whether you will come with them or stay at the lake."

"Stay there, I suppose," answered Ray, somewhat doggedly, for money-making and love were in conflict. "Old Cy says we can make a lot of money if I will. I wish I were rich," he added with a sigh.

He was not the first young man to whom that wish had come at such a moment. But converse between them was at ebb tide just now, and the parting moment, ever creeping nearer, overshadowed all else. To Chip—known only to herself—it meant forever. To Ray, another long isolation from all the world and young associates, and all for a few hundred dollars sorely needed by him, yet seeming of scant value compared to the sweet companionship of this maid.

Then Chip's feelings and the reason for them were quite beyond him. He could not see why she was unwilling to ask to be taken to the woods again, nor why she held herself aloof from him. She had not done so at the lake, or when they met again, and why should she now?

Something of this might have been inferred by Chip, for she suddenly arose.

"I think we'd best go back," she said. "It's time and Hannah will be watching for me."

What Ray might have said had he been a worldwise man, does not matter. What he did was to pick up his useless banjo, and clasping Chip's arm, led her along the winding walk.

Below the falls and near the house they paused, for now the last moment alone together had come, and with it the real parting.

"Tell Old Cy I—I haven't forgot him," whispered Chip, her voice quivering, "and—and—you won't forget me either, will you, Ray?"

That little sob in her speech was all that was needed to break away the barrier between them, for the next instant Ray's arms were about the girl.

No words of love, no protestations, no promises. Only one instant's meeting of soul and impulse, fierce as love of life, sacred as the hand of death.

Love consecrated it. The shadowing maples blessed it. The stars hallowed it.

And yet it was a long, long parting.

When Ray rode away next morning he watched for her at the first sharp hilltop.

It was in vain, for Chip's resolve had been taken, and he never saw the forlorn figure crouching behind that bush-topped wall, or knew that two wistful, misty eyes had seen him depart.

CHAPTER XX.

For a few more days Chip lived the life that had now become unbearable, and then the end came. It was hastened, perhaps, by Hannah, for that ill-tempered spinster had been ever watchful, and with shrewd insight had seen or guessed all that had transpired.

"I s'pose ye know why the Frisbies hurried away so soon after Ray got back," she said to Chip that last day. "If you don't, I can tell ye. It was 'cos they noticed the goin's on 'tween you an' him an' wanted to head it off."

Not a word of protest came from the poor child in response to this sneer, and that night she wrote two notes, one to Miss Phinney, the other to Aunt Comfort. Then, making a bundle of the few belongings she could call her own—the beaded moccasins, cap and fur cape old Tomah had given her, and other trifles—she waited until almost midnight and stole out of the house.

Where to go, she knew not nor cared—only to leave Greenvale and all the shame, sorrow, and humiliation it held for her, and make her own way in the world as best she could.

The village street was as silent as midnight always found it. The low murmur of the Mizzy Falls whispered down the valley. A half-moon was just rising, and as Chip reached the hilltop where she had waited for Ray, she halted. From here must be taken the last glance at Greenvale, and as she turned about a sob rose in her heart, in spite of her stern resolve, for ties cannot be sundered easily.

And how vivid and life-lasting was that picture! The two long rows of white houses facing the broad street, the tall-spired church in the middle of them; scattered dwellings to the right and left; away to one side the little brown schoolhouse that had been her Mecca; the stream that wound through the broad meadows; and over all the faint sheen of the rising moon.

"I Wish You Were Going Back with Us."

Only for a moment she paused for this good-by look, then turned and ran. On and on she sped mile after mile, up hill, down hill, halting now and then for breath until a cross-road was reached, and here she stopped. Here also came the question of direction. To follow the main road was to reach Riverton, between which and Greenvale the stage journeyed. To go there meant being recognized perhaps. In her study of geography, she had found that the village which was her birthplace lay northeast from Greenvale. She meant sometime and somehow to reach that spot and visit her mother's grave once more, and also, if possible, to send word to Old Tomah. And so guided by this vague plan, she turned to the left.

From now on the road became narrow. Miles elapsed between houses, and Chip, wearied and heavy-eyed, could only creep along. The way became more devious now, bending around a wooded hill and then crossing a wide swamp to enter a stretch of forest. Direction became lost in these turnings, the road grew hilly and less traveled. The moon scarce showed it; and Chip, almost exhausted, stumbled over stones and felt that she was becoming lost in an unsettled country. And then, just as she emerged from a thicket and ascended a low hill, the light of coming dawn faced her, and with it the need of sleep and concealment.

Full well she knew she must avoid all observing eyes and place many more miles between herself and Greenvale to be certain of escape. And then, as the daylight increased, she caught sight of an old, almost ruined dwelling half hid among bushes just ahead. Even if empty, as it appeared, it would serve for shelter, and finding it so, she crept in, so wearied that she fell asleep at once on the warped and mouldy floor.

It was only a brief nap, for soon the rattle of a passing farm wagon woke her, but refreshed somewhat by it, she again pushed on.

Soon a brook, singing cheerfully as it tumbled down a ledge, was reached, and here Chip bathed her face and hands and drank of the sweet, cool water.

Hunger also asserted itself, but that did not daunt her. She had faced it once before.

Then something of a plan as to her future movements began to shape itself in her mind, following which came an increased courage and self-reliance. Not a cent did she now possess. Food she could not have until she had made good her escape and could earn it somewhere.

But the sun was shining, the birds were singing, her young, supple body was strong, life and the world were ahead; and, best of all, never again would she have to feel herself a dependent upon any one.

With these blessings, scant to most of us, hardened as she had been by servitude at Tim's Place, came a certain buoyancy of spirit and defiance of all things human.

No wild beasts were here to menace, no spites to creep and crawl along fence or hedgerow, no hideous half-breed to pursue, and as she counted her blessings, while her spirits rose, a new life and new hope came to her.

And now another feeling came—the certainty that she had come so far that no one would recognize her. At first that morning, when she heard a team coming or overtaking her, she had hidden by the roadside until it passed. When a house was sighted ahead, she made a wide detour in the fields to avoid it. Now this sense of caution vanished, and she strode on fearless and confident.

When night came again she crept into an unused sheep barn, and when daylight wakened her, she hurried on once more.

During all that first day's journey, her one fear had been that some one she would meet might recognize her and report the fact in Greenvale. To avoid that had been her sole thought. Now that feeling of danger was vanishing, and when people were met, she looked at them fearlessly and kept on. When cross-roads were reached and a choice in ways became necessary, she followed the one nearest to northeast, and for the reason that her school map had shown that her birthplace lay in this direction. How far away it was, she had not the faintest idea, or whether she could live to reach it. Her sole thought was to escape Greenvale and the humiliating life of dependence there, and when she was so far away that no one could find her, obtain work at some farm-house.

In New York the bank accounts of non-residents are subject to an inheritance tax at the death of the depositor. It will therefore be seen that it is greatly to the advantage of non-residents of New York to keep their checking accounts in the same State in which they reside.

Three per cent interest is paid by this Company on accounts of $200 or more, subject to check.

Three and one-half per cent interest is paid on accounts of $5.00 or more in the Special Department. Deposits made in the Special Department before the fourth of the month draw interest from the first.

ed against the establishment of a disposal system on or near the Abram Vail farm, declaring that it would mean financial loss to the nearby property owners and would endanger the health of the community. The communication mentioned the fact that sixty-four lots had been sold in that section within the last two weeks and Mayor Smalley remarked:

"That doesn't look as though the talk of a sewage system down there hurts property. This matter has been known and discussed for a month anyway and here we learn that sixty-four lots have been sold in the past two weeks. It has evidently caused a boom."

Residents of Chatham street complained that they were constantly annoyed by the practice of men and boys shooting craps and gambling in other forms along the banks of Tier's lake and asked that they be afforded better protection. The facts were set forth in a communication and the request was made that J. Worth Coddington be appointed a special marshal to look after that section. The request was complied with.

Recorder Dolliver reported that twenty-four arrests had been made in the past month and that $48 in fines had been collected. Permission was granted the N. Y. and N. J. Telephone Company to lay conduits in Lincoln place from Somerset to Grove streets and on motion of Councilman McGee the borough clerk was authorized to borrow $2,000 to meet expenses.

A petition was received from George F. White and J. B. Stewart asking that a short stretch of Giraud avenue, between Willow and Myrtle avenues, be macadamized. The estimated cost is $150 and they expressed their willingness to pay a third. The work was ordered done under this agreement.

Elvin Smalley, who has been acting tillerman in Hose Company No. 1 for the past month, was appointed to the place permanently.

Mrs. H. C. Runyon, of Madison avenue, went to Asbury Park this morning to spend two weeks.

"CENTRAL PARK"

Was—Is—Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central American Outlook.

Washington, D. C., July 6.—Despite the fact that President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, has withdrawn all his troops from Puerto Cortez, Honduras, official advices received here by Central American diplomats indicate that, owing to the recent breaking of the treaty of Amapala, there is no hope for peace in Central America on the present basis of relations beeween Nicaragua and Salvador. The recent attack on Acajutlt has served to render void all obligations in the Amapala compact between these two countries, and Salvador, it is said, is not willing to trust President Zelaya in carrying out any other treaty he may propose. On the other hand, President Zelaya asserts Salvador has not carried out secret obligations which it contracted with Nicaragua, and he is therfore unwilling to bin Nicaragua in the future.

PROBING COAL MONOPLY

Legislators to Confer With President as to Alleged Violations of Federal Law.

INTRODUCE RESOLUTION

Also to Ascertain Whether Reading Road Controls the Jersey Central—Report Due Sept. 3.

Assemblyman Edward A. Wright, of Essex, introduced in the House at Trenton last night a concurrent resolution appropriating $50 for expenses incurred by a joint committee of three from each house to be appointed by the president of the Senate and by the Speaker of the House to confer with President Roosevelt and other federal officials or departments in order to ascertain in what way the State government can best aid the federal government in the destruction of the alleged anthracite coal monopoly. The resolution calls for a report from the committee on September 3, 1907.

The action is taken, it is explained, because of alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law by the Reading company and other defendants. The preamble of the resolution states that the government has brought suit "for the purpose of he dissolution under the terms of the Sherman anti-trust law of an alleged criminal conspiracy between certain steam railroads which traverse the State of New Jersey to monopolize the trade in anthracite coal." The resolution also holds that the control of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey by the Reading Railroad system, if such control exists, is in defiance of the injunction issued by the Court of Chancery in New Jersey in the case of John P. Stockton, Attorney General of New Jersey, complainant, against the Port Reading Railroad Company and others, defendants. Other railroads are also brought into the charge of maintaining a coal monopoly.

HUNTERDON HOSPITALITY.

Following thir annual custom, Mrs. Julia F. Grandin and her daughters, Miss Sara Todd and Miss Elizabeth Grandin, entertained a party of Plainfielders over the Fourth at their beautiful home, "Grandinmere," at Hamdon, among the rolling lands of picturesque Hunterdon county. The guest included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr., and son, Albert C. Clark, of Jackson avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force and daughter, Miss Lillian A. Force, of Duer street, as well as Edward Hoffman, and son, Harry Hoffman, of Annandale.

The visitors were as delightfully entertained as in former years, the hostesses using every effort to make the stay as enjoyable as could possibly be. The front of the large and spacious house was elaborately decorated with American emblems. On the evening of the Fourth, a grand display of fireworks took place, which could be seen and appreciated by the neighbors for miles around. The Plainfielders returned last night. One member of the party in telling of the great time he had said that the hospitality of "Grandinmere" was known to the boarders of old Hunterdon but it seemed that on this occasion, Mrs. Grandin and her entertaining daughters had crowned their efforts in that direction by making every minute of the only too short time a pleasant memory for many years to come.

Died to Escape Ridicule.

Altoona, Pa., July 6.—Unable to stand the continual twittings of his friends about the failure of the scheme to makes ashes burn, which he backed financially, Dr. H. K. Hoy, one of the best known homoeopathic physicians in the State and one of Altoona's wealthy men, committed suicide yesterlay morning by swallowing the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid. John Ellemore, an ignorant Altoona cobbler, startled the country about six months ago by the announcement that he had discovered a process by which he could make ashes burn. Dr. Hoy, who had known Ellemore all his life, became interested in the invention and for a half interest became the financial backer of the cobbler. It took only a short time for scientists to declare the scheme a failure. Dr. Hoy did not mind the loss of the money, but he could not stand the ridicule of his friends. Letters were received from all over the country ridiculing him and he became morose and moody.

Fatal Shot Ends Dispute.

Grovetown, Ga., July 6.—While getting ready to settle with fists a dispute with one man over a Fourth of July baseball game, R. Young got into a second argument with another man, named Capers, by whom he was shot and instantly killed. Capers fled, but was captured and is now in Columbia county jail.

SALOONKEEPERS FAVOR THE BISHOPS' LAW.

Mercer German Liquor Dealers Say They Want No Change in Present Statute.

Trenton, July 6.—The Mercer County Greman Liquor Dealers' Association, in meeting Wednesday here, declared that no one now attempts to keep open his place of business on Sunday and they voted unanimously that they want no change in the "bishops' law."

Every saloonkeeper declared that to have Sunday off was something they now wanted. They admitted that much concern was felt about the operations of the "bishops' law," but they now want no more Sunday saloons.

The delegates to the German-American Alliance were seeking material for their fall campaign to get the "bishops' law" repealed. They did not get it.

It is said here that the resolutions of the Mercer county association will be rapidly followed by similar ones by other counties in the State, except Atlantic, Cape May, Essex and Hudson.

The State League of Liquor Dealers will hold its annual convention in this city on October 2 and 3 and a joint committee from the German Liquor Dealers' Association and from the Mercer County Liquor Dealers' Association will plan for the entertainment of the delegates.

Lives With Pierced Brain.

New York, July 6.—William Nordenschild, twelve years old, of No. 201 South Ninth street, Williamsburg, who was mistaken for a burglar last Sunday night and shot through the head by Samuel Milbauer, a wealthy merchant of Williamsburg, was alive at midnight last night, 120 hours after the shooting. His case is said to be one of the most remarkable in medical science. The bullet destroyed his left eye, passed through the brain and emerged at the back of the skull. At the Williamsburg Hospital it was believed the boy would die within a few hours after the shooting, but Dr. Victor Zimmerman removed bone splinters and several pieces of the bullet and trephined the skull. Since the operation Dr. Westover, house surgeon, has not left the patietn's bedside.

Oust Japanese.

Manila, P. I., July 6.—All of the Japanese working on the fortifications and around the Olongapo and Cavite naval stations have been discharged, including experts who have been in the service for some years. It is asserted by officers stationed here that the order for this action come direct from Washington and are peremptory. When interviewed Rear Admiral Hemphill and other navy officers denied that any extraordinary preparations were under way. Men who have watched the situation here, however, including those high in official life, believe that General Wood and Rear Admiral Hemphill are carrying out plans to put the defences of Manila and the two important naval stations in the Philippine Islands on a "war basis."

Ice Cream Poisons Town.

Stamford, Conn., July 6.—Illness, suffering and in several cases almost death came to scores or more persons here Thursday who ate ice cream infected with ptomaine poison. It is said dealers had been storing the supply to meet the Fourth trade.

Stops Woman's Funeral.

New York, July 6.—Receipt of an anonymous letter by Commissioner Bingham was the cause of stopping the funeral of Mrs. Catherine M. McBride, thirty-four years old, who died in her home, No. 476 West 145th street, Monday. The Rev. J. Melton Oaksford, of St. Luke's church, had just completed reading the burial service when a detective appeared with an order from Coroner Shrady directing that the body be taken to the city morgue. It was taken to the morgue and Coroner's Physician Schultz will perform an autopsy. Dr. T. M. Merrigan told the Coroner that he was called in to attend Mrs. McBride and found her in a serious condition because of the treatment to which she had been subjected.

N. F. A. HOME SERVICES

Dr. Chambliss, G. A. Chapman and Miss Curry Take Part in the Meeting.

IN THE NEW PAVILION

David Hand Offers Prayer—Meeting at Park Avenue Baptist Church at Night.

The first service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home was held yesterday afternoon in the new auditorium. George A. Chapman was the leader. In former years meetings of this kind have been held at a great disadvantage, owing to the fact that the Home was without proper accommodations. The problem has been solved by the erection of the auditorium, a structure of the pavilion type. It was built by David W. Hand in memory of his two sons.

Mr. Chapman opened the meeting with a few words of welcome to the children and the mothers. He spoke in enthusiastic terms, praising the work of Miss Curry. The camp children sang alone, and this feature was followed by a duet, also rendered by two camp children, Elsie and Helen Tudor. Mr. Chapman read the Scripture, which was followed with a prayer by David W. Hand. Twice during the meeting vocal selections were given by the Misses Harris and Hinz, of the choir of the First Baptist church.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss made the address. He took for his text the second Chronicles, 25:9: "But what shall we do for the hundred talents?" The speaker told the story of Ananias and showed that although the text is an old question, it is eternally new. In deciding between right and wrong, said he, it is not always a matter of money, but oftentimes popularity, and friendship. If you want to do God's will, he concluded, He will be with you every time.

A feature of the meeting was the interest shown by the children. The pale and pinched faces of the little East Side waifs shone with enthusiasm as they followed the trend of the doctor's remarks. Occasionally he asked a question, and every time but once received a prompt reply in chorus. This exception was when he asked if any had ever shot craps. There was visible a slight uneasiness on the part of the boys. Out of the 175 children assembled in the pavilion, five raised their hands in testimony as having been baptized.

In a few words Miss Curry responded to an earnest request to speak. In terms of deepest appreciation she thanked all who had so generously assisted in the work last year, which had proved to be the most successful thus far. She said any who have even an hour or two which they can spare at the Home, can be used to good advantage. Miss Curry concluded by asking for the help and prayers of the friends. In the closing remarks of Mr. Chapman he said that for every $60 in the treasury, last year, a child was brought from New York, kept ten days, and returned to his home.

A cornet solo was played by Whitney C. Frazee, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Chambliss.

A service for the purpose of arousing interest in the Netherwood Fresh Air Home was held last evening in the Park Avenue Baptist church. Miss Curry explained the work of the institution, showing clearly the great amount of good that has resulted from it. Rev. Dr. A. E. Finn and G. E. Hall also spoke. Twenty of the little charges from the camp were present, and sang. Other music was furnished by the Intermediate Christian Endeavor choir. A violin solo was played by Arthur S. Mosher; a cornet solo by W. C. Frazee; and Mrs. William H. Sebring sang "The Lost Chord."

Brakeman Thrown From Train.

Chas. Heiselmoyer, aged 23 years, of Weissport, Pa., employed as a brakeman on a Lehigh Valley freight train, received several severe contusions about the head yesterday by a fall from the top of a moving freight car. He was thrown from his standing position on the car by one of the ropes which hang over the tracks as a warning of an overhead bridge. In some way one rope caught in another forming a loop and the man's head was caught in it. The man was picked up unconscious and taken to the hospital, where today it was said he would recover. The accident happened near South Plainfield.

PASTOR'S ANNIVERSARY

Celebration Yesterday at the Scotch Plains Church in Honor of Rev. Dr. Buchanan.

EDIFICE THRONGED

Rev. Dr. J. H. Parks, Rev. T. Moore-Smith and Rev. Dr. J. C. Buchanan Speak—Special Music.

Services in celebration of the forty years' pastorate of Rev. Dr. Joseph C. Buchanan, now residing with his son, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of Duer street, was held at the Baptist church Scotch Plains, yesterday morning, of which congregation Dr. Buchanan was once the pastor. Among those present were representatives from four pastorates, widow of Dr. Brown, widow of Rev. Dr. James H. Park, Dr. Buchanan and Rev. T. Moore Smith, the present pastor.

On the platform with Dr. Buchanan were Deacons David Hand and William Archibold, the latter a deacon at the time of Dr. Buchanan's pastorate. Rev. T. Moore-Smith was in charge of the services and introduced Deacon Archibold, who paid a glowing tribute to his former pastor and told of the trials and blessings of forty years ago when services were held in the old building.

Deacon Hand followed and told in an amusing vein how he first came to be identified with the old church. He said that it was not Dr. Buchanan's preaching, but the fact that there was an old oak in the rear of the church, from the branch of which a swing had been hung and it was the custom of the boys to congregate there. Afterward he was impressed with Dr. Buchanan's constant preaching of redemption and the remission of sins and was finally converted.

Dr. Buchanan then made a short address, in which he said that he felt at home in the old church and among his former parishoners those of his first pastorate, he told of the kindly reception tendered him and his wife when they settled among them as strangers. The mistakes of the young preacher were overlooked and all joined in a common work for the Master—harmony prevailed, new members were added to the church and the new edifice was built.

Dr. Buchanan recalled the fact that during the first year thirty candidates appeared for baptism and were immersed in old Green brook, nearby. The doctor said that while the work was progressing he was possessed of a boyish idea. He made up his mind that he wanted the pastorate of a younger church in a growing community and for that reason accepted a call to the Baptist church at Pemberton. He remained there until a short time ago, when he resigned on account of ill health.

The doctor was asked what he would do if he had his life to live over again, and he replied he would be a minister of the Gospel and added that if God permits will still continue to do all the good possible. After the service, Dr. and Mrs. Buchanan held an informal greeting to old and new friends.

The day was ideal for good golfing and many low scores were returned during the day.

In the semi-finals for the club championship, C. B. Morgan beat J. Whitney Baker, 3 up and 2 to play, and W. Lester Glenney beat Frank Ott Reinhart, 1 up, the match being one of the best of the day, being very close throughout.

For the consolation cup, Charles A. Stover beat L. L. Tweedy by default and Morris J. Dumont beat W. T. Glenney, 1 up, which was another very close match. Afterward Dumont met Stover in the finals and beat him, 5 up and 4 to play.

In the semi-finals for the third eight cup, L. A. Chase beat Roger F. Murray, 3 up and 2 to play, and W. B. Tyler beat Edward J. Patterson, 3 up and 2 to play. The finals for the club championship and third eight cup will be played on Saturday.

In the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, C. B. Morgan won first honors with a net score of 74, while his gross score of 76 gave him a leg on the Scratch cup. Leighton Calkins won second honors for the Golf Committee cup with a score of 78, while W. Lester Glenney received the one point with a 79. The scores:

C. B. Morgan, 76, 2—74; Leighton Calkins, 81, 3—78; W. Lester Glenney, 78, plus 1—79; Charles A. Stover, 93, 9—84; Stuart H. Patterson, 95, 10—85.

In addition to the weekly competitions for the President's and Golf Club cups, play was started on Saturday for the July cup. C. F. Corning, with a net score of 73, one of the lowest of the season, won first honors for the President's and July cups, and with a gross score of 88 won first honors for the Golf Club cup, scratch event.

Low scores were the rule of the day, not a one of 90 or over being returned for the three trophies. Charles B. Morse finished second with a low score of 75, winning second honors for the President's and July cups and second for the scratch cup with a gross score of 96. W. V. Byard finished third for the President's and July cups, while Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll won the one point for the scratch cup. These scores were returned:

Charge Dismissed.

Edward Little, colored, charged by Helen Roy, also colored, with having stolen a silver watch from her at a dance Fourth of July night, was released by City Judge Runyon, sitting as a State magistrate, this morning. The girl had only her own impression of Little's guilt with which to substantiate the charge, and the allegation fell to the ground. Little voluntarily surrendered himself Friday night, and told a straight forward story.

Fitzsimmons Training.

Bob Fitzsimmons is training hard to get himself in condition. He has been running up and down West Front street daily for two weeks. Several battles in which he may figure have been talked of in the sporting world for a month or more.

AUTO COURSE A BAD ONE

The Proposed Route Through Union County Found Unsuited for the Purpose.

TOO MANY TRACKS

A Party of Plainfielders In Company of New Yorkers Go Over Suggested Course.

Dr. F. C. Ard, F. L. C. Martin, Paul Gillett, Chief P. S. Kiely and City Judge William N. Runyon, accompanied W. J. Morgan and Charles Smelzer, of Newark; Charles Tisne, and a firm of photographers, of New York, on a tour of a prospective auto course in Union county, which can be recommended for the Vanderbilt cup race next October.

The proposed twenty-eight mile course, as published in The Daily Press, Saturday, has several objections, and one thing was decided that if the race should be held over this course, Westfield would have to be eliminated, as the racing cars would be obliged to follow the trolley tracks a considerable distance and make several extremely hazardous turns. Another objectionable feature is found on the road leading from Elizabeth to Springfield. The trolley tracks run along this road for several miles and considerable trouble would be experienced in keeping the cars and crowds off the roadway. Still another objectionable feature is found on Richmond street, where the racers would have to cross trolley tracks again. It would be impossible to hold up the trolley cars for five or six hours during the progress of the race.

A member of the party was questioned as to whether it would be possible to decide on a suitable course by eliminating Westfield and obviating the other objectional points, and he said that in the opinion of those who went over the course Saturday, it would be almost an impossibility. The party was not as enthusiastic over the prospects of holding the race in Union county after its tour.

Just what recommendations will be made by the committee which went over the course, is not known, but it has been suggested that a study of a map of the county be made with a view to ascertaining whether another suitable course can be found.

CITY JUDGE RUNYON ON CONCEALED WEAPONS

GREAT MENACE TO PUBLIC: AS TO FIGHTING FOR WOMEN.

"Concealed weapons constitute one of the greatest menaces to the public, not only of Plainfield, but in the country at large," said City Judge Runyon in passing sentence this morning on Robert Wilson, colored, arrested last night, on complaint of John Rivers, also colored.

Rivers and Wilson quarreled on Central avenue, after attending church. The fight started over a colored belle, and it waxed warmer with each minute. Rivers detected symptoms of razor-swinging, and he hustled for police assistance. At the station house two razors were found on Wilson.

Counsellor S. S. Swackhamer appeared for Wilson, and made a plea for mercy. Judge Runyon made the statement quoted in replying to the plea. There was nothing very alarming in a fight over a woman, but the razors gave another tinge to the affair in hand.

"Men have fought over women," observed the Magistrate, "since Biblical times, and they will continue to do so until the end of time. In themselves, such fights give no cause for alarm, but when razors figure in them we must refuse to give them countenance. Wholly because he had the razors on his person, I must refuse the appeal for leniency. Ten dollars or twenty days."

The fine was paid.

Off Until September 1.

Physical Director G. L. Listman, of the Y. M. C. A., is steadily recovering from the effects of his attack of appendicitis and the operation is necessitated. He is at his home in Union street. He is able to walk about a bit, and will soon be strong enough to sit up all day. He has been granted leave of absence by the Y. M. C. A. until September. There is not much activity in the physical department during the heated spell, and his absence will not affect the department much.

BOLD THIEVES GET STOREKEEPER'S $200

WHLE ONE MAN HELD HIS ATTENTION, CONFEDERATE RIFLED THE TILL

Giuliano Cinquegrani, a fruit dealer whose place of business is on Watchung avenue near Fifth street, reported to the police Saturday afternoon that he had been robbed of $200 by bold thieves. Cinquegrani says he was alone in his store at 1 o'clock Saturday morning, when two well dressed men came in. One ordered some fruit to be delivered to "Mrs. King" in the Hand flats. He took Cinquegrani outside to the walk to point out the flats, leaving the other man alone in the store, and within reach of the till. Cinquegrani noted the location of the Hand flats well, and then the two strangers left. A little while after that the fruit dealer discovered the loss of the $200.

The money was the proceeds of the sale of fireworks, in the purchase of which Cinquegrani and Louis Skelly, of North avenue, entered into partnership.

BATTERY A. PASSES THROUGH PLAINFIELD

FIELD ARTILLERY RESTS WHILE EN ROUTE TO SEA GIRT.

Battery A, Field Artillery, of East Orange, under command of Captain Oscar H. Condit, passed through Plainfield, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, en route for Camp Stokes, Sea Girt, where they went into camp this morning. At Scotch Plains the soldier boys rested for a couple of hours.

The battery was nearly three hours behind time in leaving the armory at East Orange. The organization is equipped with new pieces and an extra amount of camp material was carried in a Regular Army baggage wagon covered with canvas.

The organization made a novel and picturesque appearance, as it passed through Plainfield. Saturday night the battery camped on the banks of the Raritan river, near New Brunswick, and yesterday resumed the march. Last night the battery camped alongside the Shrewsbury river and this afternoon will conclude its march to Sea Girt, going by the way of Long Branch, Asbury Park and Spring Lake. The members expect to take part in this evening's parade at Sea Girt.

HELD FIRE TEST.

Successful Trial of the Water Pressure Is Made.

Following the suggestion of Chief T. O. Doane, a test of several fire hydrants was made by the regulars and call men at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the presence of several city officials, including Councilman Herbert Buxton. Lines of hose were attached to hydrants at Central avenue and West Second street, New and West Second streets, Liberty and West Second streets, West Third and New streets and Madison avenue and West Third street, and in each instance the full pressure of seventy pounds was found to be satisfactory.

The chief declares that a stream was thrown fully twenty feet higher than the eighty foot brick chimney at the Spicer Universal Joint factory, and then a test was made with the use of the steamer. With the added 160 pound pressure, the Chief says, the stream went at least 75 feet higher than the chimney. The use of four lines of hose showed the same pressure and each stream was of the same height. Another authority declares that with the 160 pounds pressure, the stream was thrown about 120 feet.

Threw Away Sandwich.

Nelson Taylor, colored, arrested for vagrancy, Saturday afternoon, was released under suspended sentence by Judge Runyon this morning. He asked for a sandwich at Dr. F. C. Ard's house, Park avenue and Sixth street, and got it. Dr. Ard saw him throw the sandwich in the gutter when he left the house, and had him arrested. Taylor said he was hard up and hungry, but he threw the sandwich away because people stared at him when he started to eat it, and he was afraid it would lead to his arrest as a vagrant.

A Pleasing Singer.

Miss Etta Raybert, soprano, sang yesterday for the first time as a member of Trinity Reformed church choir. Her voice was much admired and her rendering of the solo, "Come Unto Me," at the morning offertory was pleasing to all.

ISAAC LEDERER IS DEAD

Former Local Merchant Passes Away in Hospital at Carlsbad.

TO BRING BODY HOME

Succumbed On June 21 But At His Request Family Was Not Notified By Cable—40 Years a Merchant.

Isaac Lederer, for nearly forty years one of Plainfielder's leading dry goods merchants, died in a hospital at Calsbad, on Thursday, June 21. Word of the death was received this morning by his son, Albert Lederer, from John Stuart Wells, the American Consul, who wrote a letter giving a few facts about Mr. Lederer and his illness. He was taken ill during the first week in June and his condition was such that it was necessary to remove him at once to a hospital. Everything possible was done for him, and Deputy American Consul Freund, a personal friend, remained almost constantly with Mr. Lederer until he died. Albert Lederer cabled this morning to Carlsbad for the purpose of ascertaining what arrangements can be made toward bringing the body home.

Isaac Lederer was born sixty-three years ago at Prague, Austria, and it was nearly forty years ago that he came to America and located in Plainfield. He first engaged in the dry goods business on Somerset street, where J. P. Humble's grocery is now. Later he removed to W. H. Shotwell's property on Lincoln place, and then for a time he conducted business where Chris. Gloeckler's saloon is at Front and Somerset streets. Afterward he moved to the Conklin building on West Front street. It was just twenty-four years ago that he bought the property, where Levy Brothers are now engaged in the dry goods business, and where he was in the same business until three years ago, when he sold out. Since that time he made three trips to Europe, combining pleasure with business.

Mr. Lederer sailed the last time on April 27 on the Amerika and he had been spending most of his time in Germany. He also visited his sister, Mrs. Mary Lederer, at Klattau, Austria. The family had received no letter from him during the past month and was greatly worried fearing that he was ill or that some accident had befallen him. According to his pre-arranged plan he was due to arrive home tomorrow or Wednesday, and only this morning, prior toreceiving word of his death, Albert Lederer remarked to a friend, that his father would be home tomorrow.

In the opinion of the son, Mr. Lederer died of congestion of the lungs, probably brought on by a heavy cold, and owing to his advanced age and general condition was not able to overcome the trouble.

When Mr. Lederer sailed he assured his family that he would return home in ten weeks, and the news of his death is a great shock to the relatives and his many friends here. He was one of the oldest merchants in the city and during the many years he was engaged in business here he bore the highest reputation for fair dealing and was in every sense a successful business man.

Mr. Lederer is survived by a wife, two sons, Albert and Arthur Lederer and a daughter, Miss Josephine Lederer.

Elevating Railroad Tracks.

During the progress of the work of elevating the tracks eight inches in front of the North Avenue station, the east and westbound trains are operated on the outside tracks at that point. Before the roadbed is put back in condition again, a concrete covering will be laid over the underground tunnels with a view to making them perfectly water-tight. While this work is going on the concrete platforms at both stations are being raised to correspond with the elevation in the tracks.

Start life afresh. Borrow from us to pay the several you owe and make payments in keeping with your income. By so doing you keep your credit good. Ease up the pressure on yourself and have a chance to "turn around" in other things needed for the family.

An Illustration

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

EIGHT DAYS GONE---

But the July Furniture Sale Lasts Thruout the Month.
Are You Counting Each Day's Lost Opportunities?

There seems plenty of time left you to buy furniture at reduced prices, but time flies, and each day's passing lessens your opportunities because each day some choice pieces, of which we have only one of a kind, and which, ofttimes, are the pieces most ruthlessly reduced, are picked up by thrifty folks who recognize bargains when they see them.

Don't wait for any greater reductions, for there will be none. Don't wait for any "August Sale" that may be held by New York stores, for none will compare with this one either in quality of goods or in low pricings.

Why should you put off buying another minute if there is something needed in the home or in the office?

Surely there is no way in which you can make money easier than by investing in needed furniture while our prices are reduced.

Eight days have passed! Many yet remain, but we'd advise you to come as early as you can for such things as you desire and for best choice.

Remember that anything in this furniture sale, although everything is reduced in price, can be bought on our popular Club Plan, which enables you to arrange the payments to suit your convenience.

STOP THAT RACE!

No matter what the Legislature may do, it is a serious question whether the foolish New York autoists will be able to pull off their dangerous speed spending contest in this State. Certainly among the ranks of our law-abiding and sensible citizens, there are men who will use every effort to have the courts restrain the promoters of the race from carrying out their plans. And there are lawyers who will fight the matter for them without a big legal retainer first being produced.

As we understand it, the proposition is not only to divert the public highways from the purposes to which they are dedicated but to call out the militia to guard the course. That there are constitutional barriers to both of these schemes is the argument made by lawyers of experience. Article 1, paragraph 12, of the Constitution, says that "The militia shall be in strict subordination to the civil power." This, it is argued, would prevent the militia from coming into Union county unless the local authorities are unable to cope with the situation. Another provision of the Constitution appears to serve as insurmountable obstacle to the idea of turning the highways into a race course. Article 4, section 7, paragraph 11, of that instrument, says: "The Legislature shall not pass private, local or special laws in any of the following enumerated cases, that is to say: Laying out, opening, altering and working roads or highways; vacating any road, town plot, street, alley or public grounds.

We hope and expect that, if it comes to the worst, the law will be resorted to to prevent disgrace being cast on New Jersey by such an exhibition.

The following letter with a two dollar bill enclosed was received at The Daily Press office this morning:

"Enclosed please find $2.00 for 'Netherwood Fresh Air Camp.'

"A FRIEND."

Let the good work go on! As in former years, this paper will receive, promptly acknowledge and transmit to the proper officers contributions for the work at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountains.

If the Frelinghuysen law is good for one day of the year it is good for every day in the year; if it is good for the taxpayers, it is good for nontaxpayers, and furthermore, if the race is not good in New York is it not good in New Jersey.

The Gloucester race track is an unpleasant memory. Then why substitute the auto for the horse and bring the State's name into disgrace again, even if for one day?

—Will F. Williams, manager for Mulford's Estil's store, who has been ill with an attack of tonsilitis, is at business again.

AT THE DENTIST'S.

"Do you give gas here?" asked a wild-looking man who rushed into a dentist's.

"We do," replied the dentist.

"Does it put a fellow to sleep?"

"It does."

"Sound asleep, so you can't wake him up?"

"Yes."

"You could break his jaw or black his eye and he wouldn't feel it?"

"He would know nothing about it."

"How long does he sleep?"

"The physical insensibility produced by inhaling the gas lasts a minute, or probably a little less."

"I expect that's long enough. Got it all ready for a fellow to take?"

"Yes. Take a seat in this chair and show me your tooth."

"Tooth nothing!" said the excited caller, beginning rapidly to remove his coat and vest. "I want you to pull a porous plaster off my back."

How He Caught Them.

Archbishop Whateley had a true sense of grammer, says an old Englishman who remembers him, and delighted to spring catch questions. One was:

The archbishop would smile then and say, "No. Puss, puss!"—Youth's Companion.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The 'Plains league team had its first chance at the Raritans Saturday afternoon, defeating them by the score of 3 to 2. The result of the game places the 'Plains team among the leaders, being tied for first place with the Clinton Avenues and Y. M. C. A. The game put up by Raritan was a surprise, Van Arsdale pitching well. Hewitt did the box work for the 'Plains and kept the Raritans guessing by mixing them up. The 'Plains team started scoring in the first, tallying one run; in the fifth two more were added. Raritan brought their only tallies across the plate in the sixth.

Following is the lineup and score by innings:

Umpire—Brown.

Henry Winters, while working at Scott's factory, Saturday, cut a bad gash in his hand with a chisel. It was necessary to take several stitches to close the wound and he will be unable to work for some time.

Hewitt, of the local team, seems to have struck his stride and is again in Hope chapel team form. His game on the Fourth and Saturday at Raritan shows he has the goods.

But few of the fans accompanied the local team to Raritan Saturday afternoon. The distance is most too far for any but the regular dyed in the wool cranks.

The regular monthly communion was held at the Baptist church yesterday mornin. No evening preaching service was held.

The school team defeated the Rushmore A. C. team, Saturday afternoon, on the local diamond by the score of 20 to 6.

The members of the Epworth League held their regular weekly meeting last night in the Methodist church.

The weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held last night in the parlors of the church.

Miss Rose Hocke, of Newark, was the guest over Sunday of Miss Florence Wade.

Miss Nancy Wade is spending a week with friends at Fairton, N. J.

THE FORUM.

No Dancing There.

Editor The Daily Press:

Dear Sir: Many thanks for the excellent article on our celebration which appeared in your columns July 5. Everybody read it. You were misinformed, however, as to the dancing, for there was none.

Very faithfully yours,
C. W. F. ATTLEE, Pastor.

Funeral of Adam Young.

A simple funeral service was held Saturday over the body of Adam Young, the West End's well known resident who died last week. It was conducted at his late home on South Second street by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends. Burial was made at Peapack yesterday.

Record Holiday Business.

FREAK EUROPEAN PAPERS.

Plans to Win Readers Failed to Prolong Their Lives.

A French magazine writer who has been looking into the subject of freak newspapers thinks that one of the most remarkable of these was the Luminaria, published in Madrid. The ink with which it was printed contained a small percentage of phosphorous, so that the letters were visible and the paper could be read in the dark.

Next after this he finds remarkable the case of the Regal, printed with an ink guaranteed nonpoisonous on thin sheets of dough. After absorbing all the information the sheet contained one could eat it, thus deriving from it nourishment for mind and body.

The publisher of a new Parisian journal, Le Bien 'Etre, promised to all subscribers for 40 consecutive years a pension and free burial. In spite of the inducement subscribers were so few that the paper died in a month. It was followed shortly after by a paper called Le Mouchoir, the handkerchief. It was printed on paper such as the so-called Japanese napkins are made of and might be used in case the reader forgot or lost his handkerchief. It did not last long.

At two different French seacoast resorts newspapers called the Courier des Baigneurs (Bathers' Courier) and La Naiade, which doesn't need translation, were printed on waterproof paper. The inducement was that the bather could take his paper into the sea with him and read it while he enjoyed his bath.

The climax of utility seems to be reached in Norway, where some of the newspapers used so tough a quality of paper that it can be cut into strips and twisted into serviceable rope when the news is all read.

HAS REAL GRIEVANCE.

Prisoner Suffers Inconveniences in an Indian Jail.

A prisoner in Rampore Boalla jail has a clear grievance against the government. There are certain inconveniences inseparable from prison life which all reasonable criminals more or less unwillingly accept, but the most complaisant draw the line at being marked down and clawed by a leopardess in the seclusion of the prison yard. The animal seems to have been inspired by a suffragette-like curiosity as to the inside of a prison, and having got in by the highly irregular method of leaping the wall she ensconced herself among the low brick piers on which the old barracks are raised from the ground. In the early afternoon she espied a prisoner in the yard clearing up, and, like the impulsive creature she is, promptly leaped upon him, striking him to the ground and clawing his back. Then, with the fickleness of her sex, she suddenly changed her mind, and in an access of shyness ran away and hid herself among the brick pillars. Now Col. R. R. Weir, inspector general of prisons, happened to be in the village, and to him the incident was reported. Though it cannot be said that the duties of an inspector general of prisons included the destruction of vermin, Col. Weir did not stop to consider technicalities, but borrowed a rifle. After some difficulty in getting within striking distance of the intruder as she lay in her fastness, he succeeded in planting his first shot behind her shoulder, after which nothing remained to be done but to drag off the carcass and record its tape measurements as more than seven feet.—London Daily Telegraph.

Among the Worst City Noises.

All American cities are afflicted with too many noises, most of them wholly unnecessary, and in the opinion of scientists this is the cause of many of the nervous disorders which are characteristic of the nation. None, however, is so useless and annoying as the raucous yelling of the street peddlers who drive their carts at a snail's pace through the residence districts, shouting at the top of their voices from morning until night. The practice is offensive enough to well persons who have enjoyed a night's rest, but to the sick and to night workers who are compelled to sleep in the daytime it is an intolerable hardship from which they have a right to be protected by law.—Kansas City Journal.

Taking Necessary Precaution.

Neighbor—No one ever hears you and your husband exchanging words. Do you get along so excellently together?

Wife—Not at all; but we discovered that the maid listened at the door. Now we quarrel only on Sunday afternoons between three and six, when she's out of the house.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Asking a Good Deal.

First Tramp—It's pretty cold today; I'd hate to live at the north pole.

Second Tramp—So would I; I wouldn't have the nerve to ask for a night's lodging, if the nights were six months long.—Smart Set.

Honeymoon on Desert.

During the honeymoon trip of Hon. William Bourke Cockran to Europe and Egypt, he spent part of the time with his wife in a tent on the desert of Sahara for the benefit of Mrs. Cockran's health.

At Three A. M.

His Wife—You needn't make any excuses, John. It's all right; you're just in time to walk the baby for an hour or two.—Puck.

SUCCESS.

How do you spell Success?
Says the lover with lisping voice,
"I spell Success with my sweetheart's yes,
When she owns I'm her only choice.
Yes—
Success!"

How do you spell Success?
Says the actorina gay,
"I spell Success p-r-e-double-s,
When the critics push my play.
PRESS—
Success!"

How do you spell Success?
Says the capitalistic cove,
"I spell Success with a capital S
And a couple of strokes, by Jove!
S—$uccess!"
—Robertus Love, in Judge.

Criticism.

"I almost landed a whopper. It was a big pike that was nearly two feet long and I'll bet it weighed over six pounds. I got it as far as the boat when my line broke."

"Nature fakir," was the only comment of the man to whom the speech had been addressed.—Detroit Free Press.

TOO LATE.

The Needy One—I say, old chap, could you lend me five for a day or two?

The Other One—My dear fellow, the five I lend is out at present, and I've several names down for it when it comes back.

Tragedy.

Man's Mental Superiority.

Mrs. Hayseed (on a crowded New York thoroughfare)—Sakes alive. How air we goin' to git across the street?

Mr. Hayseed (pointing to an elevated railroad station)—Now, see here, Amanda, you must stop actin' as ef you was never in a city before. Can't you see that bridge?—N. Y. Weekly.

Another Grievance.

"I am particularly and unalterably opposed to these grafters," said Senator Sorghum.

"They have done a great deal of harm."

"I should say so. They have brought into disrepute things that were heretofore considered legitimate perquisites."—Washington Star.

No Novice.

"Why," asked her mother, "do you think Mr. Sniggsley has had experience in lovemaking?"

"I noticed that he took pains whenever he tried to kiss me to arrange it so that we could not be seen by anyone who might be peeping through the keyhole."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Theory.

"Why is there so little appreciation of oratory?"

"I reckon," answered Farmer Corntossel, "it's because most o' the pieces they speak nowadays sound kind o' home made compared to those we used to get out o' the Fifth Reader."—Washington Star.

His Love Waned.

The Millionaire's Youngest—Say, pop, it was Monte Cristo who said "The world is mine!" wasn't it?

The Millionaire—Sure! But you know muck-rakers were unheard of in his time!—Puck.

"Shall you do it?"

"No; I will be more liberal and give him his answer in two letters."—The Royal.

TONS OF DIAMONDS.

An Estimate on the Output of the Mines of the World.

Like all precious metals and stones, the unit of weight usually employed in regard to diamonds is the carat, of which 151½ go to make up a single ounce. To think of sacks of diamonds by the ton staggers the imagination; indeed, the average annual output of the Kimberley mines is not more than half a ton all told.

Statistics have been published recently at Cape Town giving the output for several years past of the Kimberley mines and the river diggings. These yielded in the three years 1903-05 nearly 7,250,000 carats, say a ton and a half. The monetary value of these diamonds was £10,450,000. Since the first diamond was discovered by the banks of the Vaal in 1867 down to the end of 1906 it is estimated that the total weight of diamonds extracted from the Griqualand mines is over 13½ tons, of a market value of fully £95,000,000.

If statistics of this sort can be trusted—and in the case of the South African yield they closely approximate to the facts—only 17 tons of diamonds had been mined all over the world to the end of 1901. With the same relative output since that year from Brazil and India the world's output of diamonds is now more than 20 tons.

The figure seems small, considering the ages diamonds have been worked in India and elsewhere in the east, and must be largely guesswork with respect to the output in antiquity. It is, however, certain that more diamonds have been placed on the market in the last 40 than in the previous thousand years.—Pall Mall Gazette.

INNS OF OLD ENGLAND.

Fruitful and Interesting Fields of Study for Traveler Abroad.

Those who learn history from stones, those who travel to read the long account of races and nations in the time-scarred buildings of the past, will find in old inns one quality possessed in the same degree by no other remains of antiquity. They will find broad human nature.

Cathedrals will give you the history of the priest, castles and manors the story of the nobles, and cities the record of the guildsman and merchant. But it is at the wayside inn that all meet together. It is there, at the comfortable hostelry, that each, for a time, throws aside his calling and jostles with his neighbor as a wayfarer.

Inns have never been renowned for stiff-neckedness. It has ever been their pride to hold out welcoming arms to all who can pay their way, whatever their character or creed, and, indeed, they must run the risk of being cheated by those who have not a groat. They must find a room for the king, if need be, and a shelter for the polite stranger who nightly cuts purses on the king's highway.

The runaway couple must be worthily refreshed, while their smoking horses are led into the galleried courtyard, and within an hour mine host must screw up his face for a welcome to those who post in hot pursuit.—Indoors and Out.

Change of Scene for Holiday.

Too many people bear their tiring burden with them when they go away for rest. There must be a change of thought as well as scene. For the farmer there's nothing better than a glimpse of city life. But the city man should shun the summer resort. And that is where he is usually found. He has no plan about his vacation. Get away from the crowd. Get back to nature. Live in the open. Sleep in the open if you can. Make friends with the birds and trees and flowers. Rub up against rural nature and see what enlightenment will spring from it. Get the views of people who look at life clearly and frankly and at new angles. Get sunburned, get freckled, get tired and then get rested again.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Long in Public Life.

Judge John V. Wright, of Tennessee, now an attorney in the general land office, at Washington, who was 80 years old in June, has been connected with public life for a greater period than any other living American. He is still as vigorous as a man of 60 and keeps up with the things of to-day without forgetting what has passed and gone.

King's Restricted Diet.

When King Edward VII. visits Marienbad for the cure his diet is much restricted. For breakfast he may partake of eggs, cold ham, rusks and coffee. Luncheon is served about 1:30, and the following diet is recommended: Fresh trout, chicken, veal and compote of plums, while white wine with Geisshubler water is drunk.

Odious Comparisons.

"The money that built this library," said the person who is inclined to be fanatical, "is tainted."

"May be so," answered the literary individual, "but if it keeps all the modern fiction on its shelves the money couldn't be nearly as bad as some of the books."—Washington Star.

Rule Working Both Ways.

An English judge expresses the opinion that husbands should have the legal right to inspect and revise their wives' visiting lists. The women probably would be glad to acquiesce, provided they were granted the same privilege in respect to their husbands' visiting lists.—Washington Herald.

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

All that second day she plodded on that same patient up-hill, down-dale journey, never halting except to pick a few berries, or where a brook crossed the road to obtain a handful of watercress or some sweet-flag buds.

Now and then villages were passed, again it was country sparsely settled, where farm-houses were wide apart, and when this day was waning, even these had vanished and she found herself in almost a wilderness once more.

Hills now met her already weary feet; they seemed never ending, for as the crown of one was reached, another met her eyes. The roadway also became badly gullied, always stony, with grass growing in the hollows.

By now she was faint and dizzy from two days' fasting, and so footsore that she could scarce limp along. So far her defiant pride had kept her from begging food, but now that was weakening, and at the next house she would have asked a morsel. But no next house came. Only the same scrub growth along the wayside with now and then a patch of forest, with never a fence even, to indicate human ownership.

The sun had now vanished. Already the stretches of forest were shadowy, and as Chip reached the apex of another long hill, beyond and far below she could see another darkened valley. Night seemed creeping up from it to meet her. Not a house, not even a fence or recent clearing—only the unending tangle of green growth and this dark vale beyond.

"I guess I'll starve 'fore I find another house," poor Chip muttered, and then as the utter desolation of her situation and surroundings were realized for a moment, her defiant courage gave way.

For two days and half a night she had plodded on without food and with scarce a moment's rest. Her feet were blistered, her eyes smarted from sun and dust, her head swam. She was miles away from any human habitation, footsore, weary and despondent, with night enclosing her—a homeless waif, still clinging to the small bundle that contained her all.

But now as she crouched by the roadside, too exhausted to move on, the memory of those three days and nights of horror, one year ago, came to her. Her plight was bad enough now, but nothing to compare with what it was then, and as all the terror and desperation of that mad flight now returned, it renewed her courage.

"I ain't so bad off as I was then," she said. "I'm sure of finding a house to-morrow."

And now, as if this moment marked the turning point of her fortunes, from far down the hill she had climbed came the faint creak, creak, and jolting sound of an ascending wagon. Slowly it neared, until just at the hilltop where Chip sat, the tired horse halted, and its driver saw her rise almost beside the wagon.

"Mister," she said, "I'm nearly tuckered out and 'bout starved. Won't you please give me a lift an' a chance to earn my vittles for a day or two?"

The man gave a low whistle.

"Why sartin, sartin," he answered in a moment, "but who be ye? I thought for a minute ye was a sperit. Git up here," he added, without waiting for a reply and moving to make room. Then as Chip obeyed, he chirruped to his horse and down the hill they rattled.

"Who might be ye, girlie, an' whar'd ye come from?" he asked again, as they came to another ascent and the horse walked.

"My name's Vera, Vera—Raymond," answered Chip, "an' I run away from where I was livin'."

"That's curis," answered the old man, glancing at her; "whar'd ye run away from, some poor farm?"

"No, sir," replied Chip, almost defiantly, "but I guess I was a sort o' pauper. I was livin' with folks that fetched me out o' the woods an' was schoolin' me, and I couldn't stand it, so I run away. I don't want to tell where they be, or where I came from either," she added in a moment, "for I don't want them ever to find me."

"Wal, that's a proper sort o' feelin'," responded the man, still looking at his passenger, "an' I don't mind. I live down beyond here in what's called the Holler. Somebody called it Peaceful Valley once. We'll take keer o' ye to-night 'n', to-morrer we'll see what's best to be done. I guess ye need a hum 'bout ez bad ez a body kin, anyway."

And so Chip McGuire, waif of the wilderness and erstwhile protege of a philanthropic woman, as Vera Raymond found another home, and began still another life with this old farmer, Judson Walker, and his wife Mandy.

But a sorrow deeper far than Chip ever realized fell upon Aunt Comfort when her brimming eyes read her note the morning after her flight.

Dear Aunt Comfort:

I can't stand Hannah or being a pauper any longer. She as good as told me I wanted your money and I never thought of it. She said I wasn't good enough for Ray, either, and that was the reason Mrs. Frisbie took him away so soon. I know I ain't good for nothin' nor nobody, but I didn't ask to be fetched here and I am going away, never, never to come back. If ever I can, I will pay you and Mrs. Frisbie for all I've eat and had. Good-bye forever.

CHIP.

CHAPTER XXI.

When the sun rose again and Chip awoke, she scarce knew where she was. Outside, and almost reaching the one window of her little room, was the top of an apple tree in full bloom. Below she could hear ducks quacking, now and then a barnyard monarch's defiant crow, from farther away came the rippling sound of running water, and as she lay and listened to the medley, a robin lit on the treetop not ten feet away and chirped as he peered into her window. A scent of lavender mingled with apple blossoms became noticeable; then the few and very old-fashioned fittings of the room,—a chest of drawers with little brass handles, over it a narrow mirror with gilt frame, two wood-seated chairs painted blue, and white muslin curtains draped away from the window.

And now, conscious that she was in some strange place, back in an instant came the three days of her long, weary tramp, the nights when she had slept in a sheep barn and in a deserted dwelling, and at last, faint, footsore, and almost hopeless, she had been rescued from another night with only the sky for a roof.

Then the quaint old man, so much like Old Cy, whom she had accosted, the rattling, bumping ride down into this valley, and the nest where a cheery light beamed its welcome and a motherly woman made it real.

It was all so unexpected, so satisfying, so protective of herself, that Chip could hardly realize how it had come about.

No questions had been asked of her here. These two quaint old people had taken her as she was—dusty, dirty and travel-worn. She had bathed and been helped to an ample meal and shown to this sweet-smelling room as if she had been their own daughter.

"They must be awful kind sort o' people," Chip thought, and then creeping out of bed she dressed, and taking her stockings and sadly worn shoes in hand softly descended the stairs.

No one seemed astir anywhere. The ticking of a tall clock in the sitting-room was the only sound, the back door was wide open, and out of this Chip passed, and seating herself on a bench, began putting on stockings and shoes. This was scarce done ere she heard a step and saw the old man emerge from the same door.

"Wal, Pattycake, how air ye?" he asked, smiling. "I heerd ye creepin' downstairs like a mouse, but I was up, 'n' 'bout dressed. Hope ye slept well. It's Sunday," he added, without waiting for a reply, "an' we don't git up quite so arly ez usual. Ye can help Mandy 'bout breakfast now, if ye like, 'n' I'll do the milkin'."

And this marked the entry of Chip into the new home, and outlined her duties. No more questions were asked of her. She was taken at her own valuation—a needy girl, willing to work for her board, insisting on it, and yet, in a few days, so hospitable were these people and so winsome was Chip, that she stepped into their affection, as it were, almost without effort.

"I don't think we best quiz her much," Uncle Jud (as he was known) said to his wife that first night. "I found her on the top o' Bangall hill, where she riz up like a ghost. She

'lowed she run away from somewhar, but where 'twas, she didn't want to tell. My 'pinion is thar's a love 'fair at the bottom on't all; but whether it's so or not, it ain't none o' our business. She needs a home, sartin sure. She says she means to airn her keep, which is the right sperit, an' long as she minds us, she kin have it."

That Chip "airned her keep" and something more was soon evinced, for in two weeks it was "Aunt Mandy" and "Uncle Jud" from her, and "Patty" or "Pattycake," the nickname given her that first morning from them. More than that, so rapidly had she won her way here that by now Uncle Jud had visited the Riggsville store, some four miles down this valley, and materials for two dresses, new shoes, a broad sun hat, and other much-needed clothing were bought for Chip.

Neither was it all one-sided, for these people, well-to-do in their isolated home, were also quite alone. Their two boys had grown up, gone away and married, and had homes of their own, and the company of a bright and winsome girl like Chip was needed in this home.

Her adoption and acceptance of it were like a small stream flowing into a larger one, for the reason that these people were almost primitive in location and custom.

"We don't go to meetin' Sundays," Uncle Jud had explained that first day after breakfast. "We're sorter heathen, I s'pose; but then ag'in, thar ain't no chance. Thar used to be meetin's down to the Corners, 'n' a parson; but he only got four hundred a year, an' hard work to collect that, 'n' so he gin the job up. Since then the meetin'-house has kinder gone to pieces, 'n' the Corner folks use it now for storin' tools. We observe Sundays here by bein' sorter lazy, 'n' I go fishin' some or pickin' berries."

And then Uncle Jud was so much like Old Cy in ways and speech that her heart was won. And besides these blessings, the old farm house, hidden away between two ranges of wooded hills, seemed so out of the world and so secure from observation that she felt that no one from Greenvale ever could or would discover her. She had meant to hide herself from all who knew her, had changed her name for that purpose, and here and now it was accomplished.

That first Sunday, also, became a halcyon one for her, after chores, in the performance of which Chip made herself useful, Uncle Jed took his fish-pole, and giving her the basket to carry, led the way to the brook, and for four bright sunny hours, Chip knew not the lapse of time while she watched the leaping, laughing stream, and her second Old Cy pulled trout from each pool and cascade.

And so her new life began.

But the change was not made without some cost to her feelings, for heartstrings reach far, and Miss Phinney and her months of patient teaching were not forgotten.

Aunt Comfort and her benign face oft returned to Chip, "and dear Old Cy," as she always thought of him, still oftener. Ray's face also lingered in her heart. Now and then she caught herself humming some darky song, and never once did the moon smile into this quiet vale that her thoughts did not speed back to that wildwood lake, with its rippled path of silver, the dark bordering forest, and how she wielded a paddle while her young lover picked his banjo.

No word or hint of all this bygone life and romance ever fell from her lips. It was a page in her memory that must never be turned—an idyl to be forgotten—and yet forget it she could not, in spite of will or wishes.

And how as the summer days sped by, and Chip helping Uncle Jud in the meadows or Aunt Mandy about the house, and winning love from both, saw a new realm open before her. There was in the sitting room of this quaint home a tall bookcase, its shelves filled with a motley collection of books; works on science, astronomy, geology, botany, and the like; books of travel and adventure; stories of strange countries and people never heard of by Chip; and novels by Scott, Lever, Cooper, and Hardy. These last, especially Scott and Cooper, appealed most to Chip, and once she began them, every spare hour, and often until long past midnight, she became lost in this new world.

"I know all about how folks live in the woods," she said one Sunday to Uncle Jud, when half through "The Deerslayer." "I was brought up there. I know how Injuns live, and what they believe. I had an old Injun friend once. I've got the moccasins and fur cape he gave me now. His name was Tomah, 'n' he believed in queer things that sometimes creep an' sometimes run faster'n we can."

It was her first reference to her old life, but once begun, she never paused until all her queer history had been related.

"I didn't mean to tell it," she explained in conclusion, "for I don't want nobody to know where I came from, an' I hope you won't tell."

How near she came to disclosing what was of far more importance to herself and these people than old Tomah's superstition she never knew, or that all that saved her was her reference to Old Cy by that name only.

More than that, she had no suspicion that this kindly old man, so much like him in looks and speech, was his brother.

With the coming of September, however, a visitor was announced. "Aunt Abby's comin' to stay with us a spell," Uncle Jud said that day; "she's Mandy's sister, Abigail Bemis, an' she lives at Christmas Cove. It's a shore town, 'bout a hundred miles from here. She ain't much like Mandy," he added confidentially to Chip; "she's more book larned, so you'll have to mind your p's and q's. If ye like, ye can go with me to the station to meet her."

And so it came to pass that a few days later Chip, dressed in her best, rode to the station with Uncle Jud in the old carryall, and there met this visitor.

She was not a welcome guest, so far as Chip was concerned, wonted as she had now become to Uncle Jud and Aunt Mandy, whose speech, like her own, was not "book larned," and for this reason Chip felt afraid of her. So much so, in fact, that for a few days she scarce dared to speak at all.

DIAMOND DUST.

It will be good news for the fans to learn that the Clinton Avenue team may play the West Ends, of Somerville, a series of three games this season. Manager Bogert Conklin was anxious to play here on Saturday, but the contest with the Ironsides was scheduled first. However, Manager Conklin is willing to make the dates now and it is expected that they will be arranged soon. This will mean a revival of interest in the game. The West End aggregation is playing fast ball and so is the Clinton Avenue team. The Somerville boys would bring a big crowd of rooters to town with them, and it would be like old times. There is also a possibility that the Somervillians will play the Y. M. C. A. nine during the season.

"Phil." Smith had an excellent opportunity of pitching for the West Ends, of Somerville, this year, but evidently did not want to accept it. Manager Conklin made him a good offer and hoped he would decide to take it.

Clifford Randolph, who is pitching for Clinton Avenue this season, gives promise of being one of the best twirlers in this vicinity. He has the happy combination of speed, control and good judgment, all of which are helping him to win games.

It is not at all likely that the West Ends, of Somerville, will play Flemington again this season, on account of the treatment accorded them by the Hunterdon county aggregation. It is the proud boast of Flemington that it has not lost a game on its home grounds in seven years, and there appears to be a good reason for—"the umpire won't let them." Such work is not conducive to the promotion of good sport. It is almost a sure bet on Flemington when they play at home.

When the Westfield Lackawanna League team cannot draw over 200 people to a game, there must be something wrong. It cannot be that the team is not putting up the right kind of ball, and the only conclusion left is that the people are not interested in the game as in past seasons.

Speaking of the lack of interest in baseball there is no doubt but that golf has had much to do with it, especially in this part of the State. Nearly everyone who is now playing golf in Plainfield used to be a regular attendant at the baseball games, but one hardly ever sees them there nowadays. There was a time when it was not difficult to get a crowd of 3,000 or more people to a ball game. Now it is hard to get 300 there.

Arrangements are being made for a game between the local newspaper men and the Newark News team, in Newark. The contest will probably take place in Newark, next Saturday afternoon.

The Police nine is looking for a practise game. The Newspaper Men may take them on.

GOLF.

The pairings for the thirteenth annual championship tournament of the United States Golf Association, to be held at Cleveland, beginning tomorrow morning, have been made, and there should be some exceptionally fine matches. Jerome D. Travers, of Montclair, the Metropolitan and New Jersey champion, has been bracketed with H. Chandler Egan, of Exmoor, a former national title holder. The start will be made at 9 o'clock in the morning, when Daniel Chauncey, president of the association, will drive off. He has been paired with J. A. Ellen, of Pittsburg. Another early pair are T. G. Stevenson, of Boston, and Lowndes Rhett, of Dyker Meadow, who start at 9:15. Robert Abbott, the lone entrant from the Plainfield Country Club, and Lawrence Rea will start at 1:25 in the afternoon.

W. S. Flynn, of Milton High, led the twenty-six in the qualifying round of the Boston Interscholastic tournament last week with 77. Newton School won the team championship with 331.

Hon. Robert T. Lincoln, of Chicago, has been elected president of the Ekwanok Country Club, of Manchester, Vermont.

Bob Simpson, of the Omaha Country Club, who won the Western open championship at Hinsdale, last week, is the first professional from the west of the Mississippi River to gain the title.

The finals for the club championship at the Plainfield Country Club will be an interesting event on Saturday. The finals for the consolation cup and the third eight cup will also be played.

The weekly play for the Scratch cup at the Plainfield Country Club is proving to be very popular. It serves as a test for a contestant to engage in a competition from scratch and brings out his best points.

Tracy L. Smith, of the Ross Hall Golf Club, defeated Mortimer A. Wilson for the championship of the club Saturday in a contest that was exciting from start to finish, obtaining 72 in the morning and 74 in the afternoon. This is the sixth year in succession in which Smith has carried off the honors. For winning the championship Smith also won a handsome silver cup presented by the club and a silver selected score cup having a selected score of 65.

A woman's hairpin is the latest hazard of the links. In a recent competition at Troon, Scotland, for the Hillhouse cup, open to not more than four competitors from any club in Aryshire, there were twenty-nine players representing ten clubs. It was an eighteen hole scratch contest and J. L. C. Jenkins of Troon, and Frank Peebles, of St. Cuthbert, tied at 76. Robert Andrew, who secured the cup for St. Cuthbert's last year with 75, went out with Jenkins, and the surmise that one or the other of them would be found at the top turned out correct, but it was not Andrew, although he was playing well up to a certain point and was out in 38. Playing to the twelfth hole a most extraordinary thing happened. Andrew's ball landing into a lady's hairpin, which must have been sticking in the ground points upward, as both points were firmly embedded in the ball. He struck his second well, but it went no distance, and he took four to get on to the green. As there was no rule bearing on the point he putted out with the hairpin adhering to his ball, but the latter ran right round about him, and he took six on the green. Of course this spoiled Andrew's chances. On arriving home the "echo of the Ladies' Championship" was the centre of attraction, and it is to be preserved as a curio.

WESTFIELD IN TROUBLE.

Lackawanna League Team Wants to Go On the Road.

The Westfield Baseball Club is in trouble. The game scheduled for Recreation Park on Saturday with Chatham was cancelled and it is doubtful whether the team will play at home for the rest of the season. Less than 400 persons attended the Elizabeth-Westfield game on July 4, when Westfield lost by a score of 5 to 1. The management went further into debt on the holiday and chalked up another $100 loss, making the total loss to date, $500. A carnival was held last week for the benefit of the club, but this was not a success and scarcely $200 was realized as profit.

Westfield has asked for a special meeting of the Lackawanna League for this week, when it will make application to become a travelling team, the same as Elizabeth and Irvington. If the application is granted Westfield will continue the season, otherwise it will probably disband.

Y. M. C. A. WINS AGAIN.

Defeats Bound Brook By Score of Three to Two.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball nine won from Bound Brook, at that place, Saturday, by the score of three to two. It was a close game throughout. Each side made seven hits, and two errors. Dupee, of the Y. M. C. A., pitched the last three innings, and won the game by a hit in the eighth. Minford pitched the first part of the game for the Y. M. C. A., and Nelson caught. The Bound Brook battery consisted of Harney and Graham.

IRONSIDES DEFEATED BY CLINTON AVENUE

WELL-KNOWN NEWARK TEAM FALLS BEFORE STRONG PITCHING OF RANDOLPH

Strong pitching by Randolph and heavy hitting by his team-mates resulted in the defeat of the crack Ironsides, of Newark, at the hands of the Clinton Avenue nine Saturday afternoon. The score was 8 to 0.

Randolph pitched in splendid form. He struck out thirteen men and the five hits garnered by the Newarkers were so scattered as to be an entirely negligible quantity. The game was soured a bit by kicks from the Ironsides on Walters' umpiring. Some criticism was due on ball and strike decisions, but the visiting athletes overdid their part to an extent that tired the most patient fan. They quit trying for the game with singleness of purpose after the second inning, and the madder they got the less they could hit and made costly bungles in the field.

Clinton Avenue played snappily. The players went into the game expecting a gruelling battle and they were keyed up to a great pitch. They hustled tirelessly, let nothing get away, and clouted out thirteen hits, three of them two baggers. In the eighth inning, Schroeder replaced Ulrich in the box, but the change made no difference to the Plainfielders. Brit Martin got four hits.

Trinity's Summer Services.

Reports that Trinity Reformed church will be closed during the last two Sundays in July and all of August are incorrect. The truth of the matter is that the edifice will only be closed on Sunday evenings during August and at all other regular times the stated services will be conducted as usual, excepting the last two Sunday evenings in July. On next Sunday morning and evening, Rev. Dr. Searles, of New Brunswick, will occupy the pulpit.

Rev. Dr. Shaw's Sermons.

Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, occupied Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck's pulpit in Trinity Reformed church, yesterday morning and evening and delivered two excellent sermons, the one in the morning being on "Meditation," from the text Genesis 24, part of the 63d verse. In the evening Mr. Shaw gave a very lucid exposition of Isaiah's vision of God's glory as contained in the sixth chapter of Isaiah, reciting the whole chapter from memory.

Cable Car on Steep Hill Arouses Suspicion of Woman Passenger to High Point.

A few years ago when they were operating cable cars up and down a steep hill in one of the New England cities, a middle-aged lady, who had never seen them before, entered a car one day that contained only two other people, seating herself as near the conductor as possible, relates the Philadelphia Ledger, and when he had collected her fare she spoke to him and said:

"Is this car perfectly safe?"

"I hope so, madam," replied the conductor.

"Have you ever had accidents on this awful steep hill?"

"Well," replied the conductor, "there have only been a few small accidents; nothing serious."

"Where would I go," she then inquired, "if this car should get away and go sliding down this steep hill?"

"Well, madam," said the conductor, "it would all depend on how you have lived your past life."

Dance at Truell Hall.

The customary weekly dance at Truell Hall, Netherwood, on Saturday night proved to be a particularly delightful affair. Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnished the music and those who preferred to promenade on the large porches enjoyed the pleasing airs as much as those who indulged in Terpsichorean pleasures. Both Saturday and Sunday there were an unusual number of auto parties for dinner.

No Action on Race By Senate.

The Senate at Trenton adjourned for a week, today, without taking action on the bill to legalize the Vanderbilt Cup race. The fate of the measure at the hands of the upper house is in doubt.

STORM HITS PLAINFIELD

Lasted Only Short Time But Accomplished a Lot of Damage.

MANY TREES UPROOTED

Though it lasted little more than half an hour, a typical midsummer thunder storm which broke over the city shortly after 8 o'clock last night left damage enough in its wake to give the impression that a small-sized Kansas cyclone had drifted into Jersey. After ominous-looking clouds had given warning during the evening that something was about to happen, thunder and lightning in the third degree were turned loose and accompanied by a deluge of water and a gale of wind proceeded to tear up the town. Trees were struck and torn up, electric light and telephone wires were ripped from their poles and in some sections of the city and borough, raging torrents ran through the streets.

While the lightning was incessant and vivid, but little of it was of the striking kind and so far as can be learned no residences were damaged by it. On second place, a bolt struck a large tree and beside laying it prostrate, gave the entire neighborhood a large sized scare. The wind made up for what the lightning failed to do, and other trees were torn up by the roots or stripped of their branches. Two large ones in front of Mrs. Mali's residence on East Front street were started on the kindling wood route and others were reported down on Webster place, Franklin place, Putnam avenue and on South avenue at Scott place. As soon as the obstructions were noticed, the police department put out a supply of red lanterns to warn pedestrians and teams.

The local telephone exchange came in for a generous slice of the trouble and when the clouds began to drift away at 9 o'clock 145 "hello" machines were out of gear. The big gang of men which has been conducting the cut-over to the new building was put to work and by 9 o'clock this morning the number had been reduced to ninety. Most of the instruments affected were in the northern and eastern sections of the city which seemed to be the pivotal points of the storm. In the business section and the West End almost everything remained intact.

The Public Service Corporation was also reminded in a forcible way that the elements were in an angry mood and for the remainder of the night trolleys ran on a rag-time schedule and electric lights refused to shine. The cars were held up by prostrate trees and limbs and the extinguishing of the lights was brought about by crippled wires. Trouble in either instance was overcome as soon as possible but it was not until this morning that normal conditions were resumed.

It was reported that a lightning bolt ran down the trolley pole of a West Fourth street cars and handed the motorman a healthy shock. His name was given as Walters and it was said that he was down and out for some time. It couldn't have hurt him much, however, as he was seen drinking a glass of sarsaparilla in a Watchung avenue store shortly before midnight.

Over in the borough, the storm cut up high jinks with shade trees and wires and danger lurked in many sections because of prostrate electric light stands. These were down on Grandview and Mercer avenues and also at Manning and Watchung avenues.

Trees were uprooted on Johnston's Drive, on Somerset street at Codington avenue, in the Grace M. E. church grounds, in Mercer avenue in front of Holy Cross church, in the yard of James Brown on Stone street and on Grandview avenue in the rear of Phillip Currin's grocery store. The only street lights in the borough that remained intact were those on Somerset street from Park place to Green brook. The police went out while the rain was still beating down and looked after the safety of people.

In the first onslaught of the storm, the fire bell went on a rampage and continued to ring until the mechanism ran down. An electrician was sent on the trail and located the trouble in a crossed wire.

A large limb was broken off a tree in an adjoining yard, crushing a lawn swing in the yard of James R. Blair, 78 Duer street. One of the large trees in front of the home of Andrew Lutkins on Somerset street, near Park place, was blown across the street, blocking travel for some time. There was a great electrical display on Duer street and Park place, where the limbs on two trees

REV. AUG. F. TODD DEAD

Retired Minister of the Reformed Church Dies at the Age of Eighty-One.

DUNELLENITE 21 YEARS

Venerable Man Had Been Member of Reformed Church at Somerville Sixty-One Years—Leaves Five Children.

Rev. Augustus F. Todd, a retired clergyman of the Reformed church, died at his home in Dunellen, yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Todd was in his eighty-second year. He had enjoyed fairly good health until two weeks ago, when he was taken ill. The two extremely hot days last week seemed to weaken him greatly and no doubt hastened his death. For the last week he was frequently heard praying, repeating over and over again: "Oh, Father take me Home." He felt that his life-work was completed.

Rev. Mr. Todd was born near Somerville, on February 11, 1826. He was graduated from Rutgers College in 1855, and from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary in 1858. Among the Reformed churches of which he was pastor were those at Athens, Pa., Piermont, N. Y., Boonton, N. J., Bloomingburg, N. Y., Schoharie, N. Y., and Bound Brook, N. J. From the latter place he removed to Dunellen, where he resided for twenty-one years. In May, 1886, he retired from the active ministry. For sixty-one years he was a member of the First Reformed church of Somerville.

Rev. Mr. Todd married Miss Meribah Toms, of Somerville, in September, 1858. She died five years ago. He leaves five children: Augustus F. Todd, Jr., John H. L. Todd, of Fanwood; Theodore S. Todd, of Brooklyn; Miss Meribah G. Todd, and Miss Anna C. Todd.

For forty years Rev. Mr. Todd was an honorary member of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church of America. He was also a member of the American Seamen Friends' Society for forty years. The last active service in which he engaged was in June a year ago, when he was a delegate from the Classis of New Brunswick, to the General Synod of the Reformed Church of America, which met at the Collegiate church in New York city. He attended the entire session and took an active part in the work of the Synod. During his residence in Dunellen, he was an active attendant at Trinity Reformed church, of this city.

The funeral will be held from his late home, No. 205 Front street, Dunellen, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 Rev. Dr. James Le Fever, an old classmate of Rev. Mr. Todd's, will officiate. Rev. Daniel Rapalje, also an old classmate, will take part in the service. They will be assisted by Rev. John Hart, of Neshanic, and Rev. Walter T. Griffin, of this city.

MET. TEAM GETS CUP.

Olympic Trophy Winners Make a 641 Score.

The Olympic Cup, open to teams of four, was won yesterday by a team from the Metropolitan Golf Association on the course of the Euclid Golf Club, Cleveland, the winning score being 641 strokes. Robert Abbott was a member of the New Jersey Golf Association team, and although he returned next to the lowest score for his team, 82, 85—167, the best the team could do was 685 strokes.

This event, which was preliminary to the National amateur golf championship, which started today, was played in the teeth of a gale over the Euclid Club links. As a result of yesterday's play the Western Association lost the International trophy by seven strokes.

Dog Catcher at Work.

After two trips, Jim Babbitt, the dog catcher, got fifteen dogs as a result of his first day's work yesterday. He gathered in about eight in the morning, and the rest in the evening. He started out again this morning. The dogs will be kept at the sewer farm. They are to be held four days after capture. If unredeemed after that time the dogs will be killed by gas.

Damaged Boats.

Three of the pleasure boats used by young people on South Plainfield lake were damaged by malicious mischief-makers this week. The "Vim," the largest boat on the lake, had a large hole cut in it. Another had six holes cut in it and boards were broken from another. Justice of the Peace Smith has offered $5 reward for the conviction of the guilty persons.

EXCISE VIOLATOR FIGHTS

30 DISREGARD THE LAW

Liquor Men In Elizabeth Continue to Break Provisions of the Bishops' Bill—Condition Serious.

Thomas Fitzgibbons, who keeps a saloon on Elizabeth avenue, between First and Front streets, Elizabeth was held for the Grand Jury in police court at Elizabeth, yesterday, charged with having violated the excise laws by selling liquor Sunday. His case will also be referred to the Excise Board.

Despite the activity of the police, due to the recent presentment of the Grand Jury, saloon-keepers have not entirely got rid of the idea that liquor can be sold in Elizabeth on Sunday. An evidence of the way they views things was given late Sunday night, when Detective Brogan made a tour of inspection to see that everything was closed tight until midnight. When he attempted to enter a saloon at 153 Fifth street he was attacked by the saloon-keeper. Charles Fredericks, and several men who had been in the place and badly bruised before he got into the street again. Then the place was shut up tighter than the proverbial clam.

At Trumbull street and the Long Branch Railroad, where another saloon seemed to harbor suspicious activity, he met with the same treatment, being attacked by the proprietor, Charles Walters, and held outside until all those who had been inside escaped. Charges of assault and battery upon an officer were lodged against both Walters and Fredericks yesterday before Judge Mahon, and the two men will be taken into custody today.

Nearly thirty violations of the screen law were noted by the police on Sunday. Fully half of them were in saloons where violations were noted last Sunday, and whose proprietors have been summoned to appear before the Excise Board. It is said that there is an intention to contest the constitutionality of the law.

PLANS FOR ANOTHER CENTRAL JERSEY LEAGUE.

Scheme Underway to Form a New Baseball Organization in This Section.

Plans are underway for the formation of a new baseball league in Central New Jersey, the idea being to take in Westfield, Bayonne, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Somerville and possibly Perth Amboy. Games will be played Saturday afternoons only.

S. J. Weidenhamer, of Bayonne, has taken the initiative in the matter, and it is his purpose to perfect the details of the organization this season so that everything will be in readiness for next summer. Herbert Martin, formerly of this city, but now the Bayonne correspondent of the Jersey City Evening Journal, is also interested in the project. At Bayonne there will be an enclosed field and there is now the nucleus for a strong team.

Mr. Weidenhamer intends to communicate at once with representatives in the various towns mentioned and it is supposed to hold a meeting in the near future to discuss plans. It is argued that all of the towns mentioned for the league being on the line of the New Jersey Central they will be easy of access and there should be a strong rivalry among the fans in each place.

Building and Loan Work.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Building and Loan Association, last night, a new series was opened and about two hundred shares were taken. In addition to routine business, several applications for loans were acted upon and granted. The reports of the various committees presented shows the Association to be in a prosperous condition.

Camp Wanamassa, at the head of which is Fred Whitney, of this city, has opened at Deal Lake. It is bigger than last year, a bungalow having been added. The camp, which is a popular place with Plainfield young men, will remain open until Labor Day.

RUNAWAY CAUSES DEATH

W. H. Hayden Thrown From Rig Dies in Littleton, N. H. Hospital.

WELL KNOWN HERE

W. H. Hayden, of Boston, advertising agent of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company, and formerly holding a similar position on the Jersey Central, died at the Littleton Hospital, at Littleton, N. H., yesterday, as a result of injuries received in a runaway accident on Sunday.

Mr. Hayden was driving with Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Mears, of Boston, on the Mount Washington Base Road, near Twin River. The horse became frightened at something, and, giving a sudden start, threw Mr Hayden out and over the edge of the bridge to the rocks on the banks of the river. His head was cut open and his chest and ribs were crushed. He was brought to Littleton on a special train and taken to the hospital, where he died yesterday afternoon.

The other occupants of the carriage also were thrown out, but not seriously hurt. Mr. Hayden was about thirty-five years old and had a host of friends along the lines of the Jersey Central road. He formerly lived in Elm street, Elizabeth.

STONE ROAD PROBERS MEET.

Commission Hutchinson to Get Data From Other States.

The members of the special committee appointed by Governor Stokes under a resolution of the present Legislature to investigate the reasons of the increased cost of stone roads in this State met in the office of State Road Commissioner E. C. Hutchinson at the State House at Trenton yesterday. Plans for the future proceedings of the committee were discussed at length and it was finally decided to have Mr. Hutchinson, who is the chairman of the committee, gather data relative to the cost of construction of stone roads in other States before the actual work of probing is begun.

It was expected that the committee would select its counsel at this morning, but no positive step in this direction was made. The committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

GOVERNOR'S DAY CHANGED.

It Will Be on Fridays Hereafter at the State Camp.

Governor Stokes, who opened his summer "capital" Saturday, at the State Camp at Sea Girt, came up to Trenton on business yesterday. He announced that as the result of a conference at Sea Girt it has been decided that Governor's Day shall be Fridays at the camp this summer, instead of Thursday, as has been the custom for years. The evening review of troops by the Governor will also be changed from Thursday to Friday, and beginning next Friday the hour for this will be 5 p. m. The daily evening parade of the troops has been changed to 5:30 o'clock.

Governor's Day is the most important at camp each week. Politicians flock there and it is a time for launching booms and writing political slates. The change has no political significance.

HUTCHINSON HELD UP.

Constable Stops Road Commissioner For Over-speeding.

State Road Commissioner Elijah C. Hutchinson, of Trenton, who inspects Jersey roads in a large State automobile, was held up at Magnalio late Sunday night by a constable, who charged him with exceeding the speed limit, and pulled a stop watch on the commissioner to prove it. Mr. Hutchinson denied that he was going too rapidly, and asserted that his speedometer showed he was running at a legal rate.

After a lively discussion the constable was asked what he proposed to do, whereupon he pulled out a book and asked the automobilist his name. He was much astonished when Mr. Hutchinson replied:

"I am the State Road Commissioner."

Quickly the officer closed his book and told Mr. Hutchinson he would send for him if he was wanted.

Quiet District Court.

The District Court session this morning was brief. No cases were contested and no contract case judgments were entered. All the important cases were adjourned.

Methodist Church Excursion.

The First Methodist church excursion will be held on July 25. The destination, as usual, will be Ocean Grove.

KILLED BY FAST TRAIN

Westfield Woman Meets Death as She Attempts to Cross Track.

DISREGARDED WARNING

Had Been Told to Guard Herself, But Gave No Heed—Narrowly Escaped Her Fate Yesterday.

At almost the same spot where she narrowly escaped death yesterday, under the wheels of the same train, Mrs. Mary Feeley, a widow, 65 years old, living at 146 South avenue, Westfield, was struck by a Philadelphia flyer on the Central Railroad tracks in Westfield this morning. Her head was crushed in and the body was terribly mangled. The train that struck her was due here at 9:13 o'clock.

Mrs. Feeley was killed at the Westfield avenue bridge. She was attempting to cross the tracks, and apparently paid no attention to the possibility of trains running her down. She had been in the habit of going over the tracks, and seemed to grow more indifferent every day to the danger of the fate that finally overtook her. She was warned a number of times by railroad employes and others, but gave no heed.

Within a few feet of where she was killed, she came within an ace of being run down by the flyer yesterday morning. Seemingly oblivious to the approach of the train she crossed the track almost in front of it, and not more than four inches separated her from the cars as they swept by. The experience, which would probably have unnerved the ordinary woman for a week, seemed to have made no impression on her, at all. She started across the track this morning with her old indifference, and the train got the victim of which it was cheated yesterday.

The body was taken to the freight house, from where it was removed to an undertaker's rooms. The train was delayed fifteen minutes by the accident.

Mrs. Feeley is survived by two sons, John and Bernard Feeley.

CANNOT BRING HOME MR. LEDERER'S BODY NOW.

Arrangements Will Be Made to Send the Remains Here in October.

In reply to his cable sent yesterday to John Stuart Wells, the American Consul at Carlsbad, Austria, inquiring as to what arrangements could be made for sending the body of Isaac Ledered to Plainfield, his son, Albert Lederer, received a cable this morning informing him that according to the laws of the country, the body cannot be sent until October.

Mr. Lederer said today that he would go on and perfect the details so that the body can be shipped as early in October as possible, it being the wish of the family that it be buried in Plainfield. No further information regarding Mr. Lederer's last illness and death has been received.

Firemen's Relief Picnic.

The North Plainfield Firemen's Relief Association held a meeting last night at the home of J. J. Stahl, and voted to hold a picnic. No definite plans were made, except arranging for a meeting to be held the latter part of this week, when committees will be appoined and the details arranged.

FELL 70 FEET TO DEATH

Rocco De Mazzi Killed at Wilson's Stone Quarry This Morning.

DEATH INSTANTANEOUS

Dislodged Ledge of Rock On Which He Worked and Fell Over Cliff to Road Below.

By the splitting off of a ledge of rock loosened by his own bar, Rocco De Mazzi, an Italian employed in Wilson's stone quarry, fell seventy feet to instant death from the ledge on which he was working early this morning. The accident happened at shortly after 8 o'clock. De Mazzi, with other Italians, was at work with a crow bar at the top of the quarry ledge, barring off the loose stone. In his work near the edge of the cliff of rock, De Mazzi, while attempting to ledge out a large piece of rock, dislodged the entire side of the cliff for several feet, including the part on which he was standing. Unable to save himself, he toppled over the edge of the cliff and was hurled headlong to the road level, seventy feet below. Fellow workmen rushed to him, as he lay among the rocks at the foot of the cliff, and he was carried to the crusher. There it was found that death had been instantaneous. The body was horribly mutilated. His skull was badly crushed, his back broken and left arm and leg crushed and broken.

Foreman Snowden, in charge of the men at the quarry, summoned Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, but De Mazzi had been instantaneously killed. Subsequently Undertaker De-Mott was summoned, and the body removed to the undertaking rooms on Somerset street. The gang of Italians, numbering twenty men, who were working at the quarry at the time, were horror-stricken by the accidents and could not be induced to continue work.

De Mazzi, who had been in the employ of the company for nearly eight years, was forty-seven years of age. He leaves a wife in Italy and four children, three girls and a boy. He saw them last about two years ago, when he returned to Italy for a visit. He was living with other employes of the company near the crusher in a house owned by one of the men.

The funeral will be from St. Joseph's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

NEXT YEAR'S REUNION TO BE HELD IN NEW JERSEY.

Frederick, Md., July 9.—A reunion of the survivors of the Fourteenth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, was held here last night preparatory to the unveiling today of the monument to the regiment erected on the Monocacy battlefield, near Frederick. Henry C. Larowe, of New York, retiring president of the Regimental Association, presided at the meeting, which was attended by over 100 members, many of whom were accompanied by their wives or other relatives.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, John C. Patterson; secretary, William S. Foster; treasurer, R. C. Johnston. The association decided to hold a reunion in September, 1908, at Point Pleasant, N. J.

The monument, which is a shaft of granite, surmounted by the figure of an infantryman cut from the same stone, will be unveiled today by Miss Alida Pattersen, daughter of Major John C. Pattersen, chairman of the monument commission, and Miss Foster, daughter of Adjutant William H. Foster.

Governor Stokes, of New Jersey, was to have attended the unveiling and accept the monument from the State, but he was unable to come, and sent Rev. Dr. W. W. Case, of Trenton, N. J., as his representative.

SEWER AGENT DISAPPEARS

Thomas Cusack Missing and 75 Italian Laborers are Minus a Month's Wages.

POLICE CALLED OUT

Men Storm Homes of Foremen—Surety Company Notified—Sewer Work at Standstill.

The troubles which have from time to time held up the work on the Southside sanitary sewer, reached a climax yesterday afternoon, when Thomas J. Cusack, who was acting as attorney for Peter Morgan, of Poughkeepsie, to whom the city gave the contract for the work, left the city. He failed to pay the gang of seventy or seventy-five Italians employed here a month's wages due them.

Patsy Miehle, of New York, who is a contractor of Italian labor, and who was here in charge of the men, learned of the absence of Mr. Cusack, and the Italians quickly discovered that something was wrong this morning when they reported for work. Failing to find Mr. Cusack, the Italians went to the home of H. H. Owen, 126 Watchung avenue, where J. H. Crow, a foreman, is boarding. Edward O'Neil, another foreman, boarding at Mrs. Hansen's at Washington and Second streets, was also sought, in the hope of getting the money due.

The gang at Mr. Owen's home was noisy and threatened violence and to prevent any trouble, police headquarters was notified. Sergeant Overbaugh was detailed on the case and he dispersed the crowd as soon as he arrived at Mr. Owen's home. In the meantime Street Commissioner Gavett was notified and he took charge of the affairs, first notifying the Metropolitan Surety Company, of New York, surety for Peter Morgan, then sending word to Mr. Morgan. The sewer work is now at a standstill, but it is expected that it will be resumed within a short time.

The gang of Italians are mostly concerned about the money due them. It is alleged that when Mr. Cusack left the city he not only failed to pay the men, but forgot to settle for materials purchased, and it is estimated that the whole amount involved is over $2,000. Patsy Miehle is now representing the Italians in securing a settlement from the city. The number of every man employed on the work, together with his time is being tabulated, with a view to ascertaining exactly the amount due them.

In addition to securing Italian laborers for the work, Patsy Miehle also provided accommodations for the men. A large shanty was erected on Randolph road and the Italians boarded there. The rule has been that when the men were paid off they would give their money to Miehle, who would deduct the amount due for boarding, giving the men the balance. For this reason Miehle is particularly anxious that the men shall receive all that is due them so that he may get his proportion for boarding them.

When the contract for the sewer was awarded, the street committee first gave Peter Morgan an opportunity to come here, look over the ground and decide whether he wanted the work. After an inspection, Mr. Morgan informed the committee that he would take the contract. Soon afterward his health was reported to have been impaired and that he went to a sanitarium at Clifton Springs, N. Y. Then word was received to the effect that Thomas J. Cusack, of Kingston, had been appointed an attorney for Mr. Morgan. This was accepted by the Common Council and the work proceeded.

Since that time the contractor has had more or less trouble with the Italians employed in building the sewer. First there was a complaint about the wages, the rate being lower than is usually paid for labor of this kind. Another complaint made by the men was that they objected to being paid once a month, claiming that they had to wait too long for their money. These and various other rules adopted by the contractor served to keep the men in a constant turmoil. Several gangs went on a strike, only to be succeeded by other men.

As the city is protected by the Metropolitan Surety Company, it will not lose anything as a result of the suspension of the work and the failure of Mr Cusack to pay the men. It is expected that Mr. Morgan will come to Plainfield at once and arrange for the continuation of the work.

This afternoon it was reported that the Dunellen Cement Block Company, to whom was sub-let the contract for building the station for the pumping plant on Randolph road, had given up the contract, and that other arrangements must be made to complete this part of the work.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

It is unfortunate that the amateur league officials did not allow for more open dates when the schedule was fixed for the season. As matters stand now it will be late in the season before any of the local teams can schedule contests with teams outside the league. Manager Bogert Conklin, of the Somerville team, is anxious to play either the Clinton Avenue or Y. M. C. A. teams, but there will be no open dates before the latter part of the season.

There should be a real live contest on Crescent Oval, Saturday, when the Y. M. C. A. and Clinton Avenue teams meet. These teams together with Scotch Plains are tied for first place with a percentage of .750 and upon the result of Saturday's game much will depend.

Scotch Plains will play the Raritans at home on Saturday and judging by the kind of ball the Somerset county boys played last week, they will make the Plains aggregation hustle to win.

Gilman, of the Clinton Avenues, still continues to put up a fast game and his timely hitting helps the team to win games.

The Scotch Plains team is certainly one of the best fielding and hitting aggregations in the amateur league and an opposing team has to play ball all the time to win.

The Laurels, of Bound Brook, are making a plucky fight in the amateur league. They have had hard luck in a number of games this season, losing extra inning contests by a narrow margin; in fact all their scores have been very close. Harney, the star pitcher of the team, continues to hold his own and it is not his fault that many games have been lost.

Bresnahan, of the Giants, expects to return to the game next week. His presence will bring added strength to the team and may help them to regain their old-time playing form.

It must be borne in mind that the Giants have been playing in hard luck during the past few weeks. With several injured players, the nine could not put up its usual fast game. It is predicted that McGraw's players will yet make it interesting for the Chicagoes before the season is over.

GOLF.

Robert Abbott's play for the Olympic cup at the Euclid Golf Club, on Monday, shows that he is at the top of his game and he will probably show up well in the championship tournament.

Frank O. Reinhart has been devoting considerable time to the game this season and his low scores indicate that he is in good form.

Robert B. Tait, the VanCortlandt professional, has been playing great golf of late, and bids fair to have much more than a look-in at the professional championship which is to be played on the VanCortlandt links on August 1 and 2 next. Aleck Smith has held both the seventy-two hole record and the eighteen hole record on these links for some time; but Tait recently won them both.

Charles Kirckner, of this city, is chairman of the committee of arrangements for the four days' amateur and professional tournament to be held on the VanCortlandt Park links, July 30 and 31 and August 1 and 2. The amateurs will have the first two days and the professionals the last two. This will afford followers of the game the unusual opportunity of seeing amateurs and professionals competing practically at the same time.

The amateur part of the program, on July 30 and 31 at VanCortlandt Park, will be under the auspices of the New York Golf Club. Six medals will be played for the first day—a gold, a silver and a bronze medal for the three best gross scores; and a gold, a silver and a bronze medal for the three best net scores. The play will be on the handicap basis. All persons are eligible within the Metropolitan district.

The handicap basis will allow every one to play, no matter how good or how bad, and each player will have a chance to win a prize. The handicap committee will know the ability of each player in the Metropolitan district and will handicap accordingly, so that everybody will have a chance.

The second day will be devoted to Scotch foursomes, in which an amateur and a professional will play against an amateur and a professional. The best ball counts. Medals will be offered. The amateur will play on his handicap. The professional tournament will be under the direct supervision of a committee consisting of Alex Ross, present open champion of the United States; Alex Smith, ex-champion; George Low, present metropolitan champion; Donold Ball and Willie Norton.

Thirty-six holes will be played each day by the professionals, and many prominent "pros" will enter, as this is looked upon as a great test. The professional having the lowest score for the seventy-two holes will receive a purse of $150 in gold. A number of other purses will be given. The money will be raised through contributions, and the committee already has several hundred dollars in hand.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. His Wife Won.

A Georgia man who was unpopular in his community insured his life for $2,000. He took the policy home to his wife and said:

"Maria, here's a life insurance document for $2,000."

"Thank you, dear," said the wife. "How are you feeling today?"

"Not well," he replied, "and I don't think I am long for this world, and when I die it is my wish that you devote $1,000 of the money to defraying my funeral expenses."

"Mercy on me!" exclaimed the wife. "Why do you want such an expensive funeral?"

"I'll explain. I'm well satisfied that nobody will attend my funeral, and I want to hire people to go at so much a head. I'm going out today and see what arrangements I can make for attendants on that melancholy occasion. If they won't come gratis, why, I'll hire 'em an' give 'em an order on you for the money."

He went forth and at nightfall returned with a dejected look.

"Maria," he said, "it's no use. You can have the whole $2,000. Just go to my funeral yourself."—Atlanta Constitution.

Home Dressing.

To get a child's skirt perfectly even at the bottom let the child kneel on a table; then turn the skirt up and pin or mark the exact length with a piece of tailor's chalk. Another way which will be found to simplify the dreaded ordeal of hanging a skirt, but which should not be depended on as final, is to baste the waistband of a finished skirt and that of the one being made together and hang the skirt on a skirt hanger; then mark the new skirt at the bottom according to the length of the old one. Baste the skirt up and try on. It will be quite easy to make any little alteration that may be found necessary.

HIGHWAYS NO RACE TRACK.

After racking his brains for some show of argument in favor of a death-dealing tournament of auto speed merchants, the editor of the Newark Morning Star springs this warm weather effort on a public which is not as gulliable as he would wish to have it:

"In all probability the Senate will pass the House bill legalizing the holding of the great international automobile race in New Jersey on October 12. Mollycoddle objections did not have much effect in the vote on the bill in the House, and they should not have much effect on the judgment of the Senate or that of the Governor. By a simple enactment a splendid spectacle of world-wide interest will be brought into New Jersey. It won't hurt the roads, it won't hurt anybody save, perhaps, the racing chauffeus, and it will cost the State nothing in the way of expense. A regiment of the National Guard will merely be permitted to help guard the course, a permission the guardsmen will eagerly avail themselves of.

"On the other hand, the State will be signally benefitted. It will get a world-wide advertisement for its improved roads. The race will attract into the State half a million of strangers, who will not fail to leave considerable wealth in the hands of our storekeepers and others. Many visitors will behold for the first time the advantages of suburban residence in New Jersey. If they are seeking new homes they cannot fail to be impressed by our beautiful suburban communities. The State wants new residential population of the very kind that will be attracted by the automobile race. Opposed to these reasons for legalizing the race are objections that are as vague as they are trivial. Let the race be held."

It is only too true that the protests, which the Morning Star styles "mollycoddle objections," did not carry any weight in the House but there is no reason to suspect that the Senate will be guided by the judgment or rather action of the lower branch of the Legislature. The Upper House has adjourned for one week without taking any stand in the matter and we believe that before the sessions are resumed the majority of members in that body will heed the protests made by the leading newspapers of the State and will refuse to sanction an exhibition which may not only result in loss of life but will bring disgrace on the State.

Just what warrant the Star has for prophecying that the race "won't hurt anybody save, perhaps, the racing chauffeurs" is hard to understand. In the last cup contest a resident of Passaic lost his life and others had narrow escapes. But be as it may, the lives of chauffeurs are just as precious as those of other men. There are laws against self-destruction on the statute books and for that reason, if for no other, the State has no right to give its authority for a possibly suicidal contest.

The picture of the spectators "leaving considerable wealth in the hands of our storekeepers and others" is an alluring bait no doubt. We do not believe, however, that it would come to pass. The "half million of strangers" are likely to spend a few dollars with those who may place little stands along the route, but just as soon as the race is over, they will speed back to New York with all possible haste. The autoists, to a great extent, bring in their cars all they will need to eat and a lot that they will not need to drink. Then they will head their machines for the Broadway restaurants, where they will satisfy their appetites and settle their bets. As for these people being afforded a chance to see our beautiful country there is plenty of opportunity for them to do that any day of the week and it would require no such an attraction for them to be induced to come over into Jersey.

We echo the Star's exclamation "Let the race be held" but we add that it should only take place on private property acquired by the promoters for that purpose.

A FAITHFUL SERVANT.

Not content with the earliest and signally effectual work he has done as the representative of Union county in the State Senate, Ernest R. Ackerman has sailed for Europe to pursue further his labors as a public servant. Most men of wealth are in the habit of spending the summer months traveling in foreign parts or resting at the coast or mountain resorts, but he is a marked exception to the general rule. In former years he has used the vacation period in seeking instruction in other lands and has put the information gathered to a practical use by imparting what he has learned to his fellow citizens in the shape of illustrated talks. This summer, however, the Senator will devote in gaining knowledge for the benefit of the whole State, his mission being to ascertain during his travels in the countries of Europe the modes of treatment for the most serious crimes and the effect of capital punishment. The task is not an easy one, but as the Senator never leaves anything half done the Legislature may expect a comprehensive report on his return.

That the people of Union county made no mistake in selecting Mr. Ackerman as their representative in the Upper House has been amply demonstrated. From the time he took the oath of office he has discharged his duties with the utmost fidelity, ever alert to protect the best interests of his constituents and the State at large at the sacrifice of time which he should necessarily have devoted to his own business. He is a faithful and conscientious public servant; one that should serve as an example in every county in the State.

It is a reflection on the intelligence of its readers for a newspaper to waste its space in declaring that Union county furnishes a fine course and that there is a probability of the Vanderbilt cup race being run here. That the proposed course in this section is entirely unsuited for the purpose is admitted and that there is absolutely no likelihood of the promoters selecting it goes without saying. If the race is held at all, and we do not believe it will be, it will probably be run off in Ocean and Monmouth counties.

An exchange ventures the prediction that the next Republican candidate for the gubernatorial office "will naturally be taken from Essex." Don't be in a hurry, please. Union desires to be heard from before the vote is taken.

THE FORUM.

Local S. P. C. A.'s Jurisdiction.

Editor The Daily Press:

My attention has been called to an article in your paper of yesterday under heading of "Work for S. P. C. A." signed by Mr. DeWitt P. Brokaw.

The officer to whom Mr. Brokaw reported the case was quite right in his statement to Mr. Brokaw as to the territorial jurisdiction of our local society. It is a fact that our society's jurisdiction does not at present include North Plainfield. The Somerset county S. P. C. A. has jurisdiction in that territory. If Mr. Brokaw had applied to the Somerset County Society doubtless the suffering animal referred to in Mr. Brokaw's article would have received immediate attention.

Our society is endeavoring to obtain authority to act in North Plainfield as well as in the city of Plainfield. Special agents are about to be appointed with full authority to cope with any urgent cases whatever, whether in Plainfield, North Plainfield or elsewhere.

I would say that the owner of the horse referred to is liable to prosecution under the law for allowing his horse to remain in such suffering condition as indicated by Mr. Brokaw's article. When the owner learned that the man he had sent for to put the horse out of the way would not arrive for several hours it was clearly the owner's duty to kill the horse himself at once. There is more than one painless way of killing a horse.

The object of the Plainfield S. P. C. A. is to do everything its power for the alleviation of the suffering of animals and it has never refused to act where action has been within its power.

JUSTICE FORT IS OFF FOR EUROPE

WAVES FAREWELL TO JERSEY SOIL AS HE SAILS AWAY.

Supreme Court Justice Fort is now on the ocean, bound for Europe. He sailed yesterday morning on the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser William II., on which he engaged berths for himself, his wife and daughter some time ago.

In taking his formal leave at the Hudson County Court House, Justice Fort summoned all the clerks to the Supreme Court room, where he shook hands with each of them, and, with a few words of farewell, he took leave of his official family. He then went to New York with Foreman Lockwood, of the Grand Jury, and both had dinner, after which he hurried to his home in East Orange to prepare for the trip.

Miss Gordon, a friend of Mrs. Fort, accompanied the party, and will remain with them until they return.

The fast liner will land them at Cherbourg, France, and then there will be a jolly sightseeing expedition throughout the famous Old World, or as much of it as can be covered before September 5, when they intend to return, the justice being anxious to get back in time for the primaries.

He declined to be interviewed regarding the political situation.

When the justice and his party set foot on European soil they are going to take a peep at France and dainty "Paree." Then they will get a glimpse of Italy and some of her famous spots. Leaving Italy, they will go into picturesque Switzerland, and finally end up in Spain.

From Spain the party will scamper back to Italy, and will leaves Naples on the 5th of September for home.

R.R. BOARD TAKES MODEL

Newly Created Commission at Its Initial Session Agrees on Interstate Plans.

GEN. CONGDON SPEAKS

Tells of Decision to Adopt Procedure of Federal Commission as Basis of Treatment of Complaints and Disposition Thereof.

That the newly created State Railroad Commission shall follow the general scheme of procedure of the Interstate Commerce Commission was determined at the first meeting of the former body held in the Governor's office at Trenton yesterday.

It was decided that complaints and accidents shall be taken up and investigated in the order of their receipt, it being necessary to support all complaints by affidavits in order to secure the attention of the commission. The corporation or person complained of must reply to the commission within ten days from the time of making the complaint.

It was stated that Alfred N. Barber, of Mercer county, secretary of the commission, at a salary of $3,000 would resign from the Assembly should the Legislature adjourn to September.

General Congdon, for the commission, after the meeting said that in all probability an arrangement would be made with the railroads so that as with the national commission trivial accidents need not be reported.

"Our inspector is today investigating the Trenton freight yards case," General Congdon said. "We expect to give the Trenton Board of Trade and the railroads a full hearing of that.

"There is a complaint before us from the Taxpayers' Association of Paterson as to railroad stations in that city and we will notify the complainants of the course to be pursued in such a case. We have a communication from our inspector in regard to the recent accident on the Montclair division of the Lackawanna Railroad. Among cases immediately to be taken up will be last Sunday's accident at Keyport, in which a Paterson silk manufacturer was killed in his automobile."

General Congdon said that the rules had been adopted only after the most careful scrutiny by Commissioners Edmund Wilson and Whiting, both of whom are lawyers.

"I want to say," he added, "that there will be no exparte arrangement in this commission. We are not going to meet without consulting the railroads and are not going to try cases without notifying the railroads, and giving them an opportunity to send proper officials to represent them.

"We are not going to try to run the railroads."

A grade crossing resolution was adopted just before the commission adjourned to meet next Tuesday.

PNEUMONIA INCREASE IN MONTH OF JUNE.

Nine Cases Higher Than the Average, According to State Health Board Report.

Trenton, July 10.—According to the June report of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the New Jersey State Board of Health, there has been an increase in New Jersey in cases of pneumonia. During last month 264 cases of this disease were reported and these figures show an increase of nine cases over the average of 255 for the preceding eleven months.

Pulmonary tuberculosis caused 345 deaths in June, a decrease of fourteen as compared with the preceding month.

The total number of certificates of deaths received for the month ending June 15, was 2,705, a decrease over May of 283 and a decrease from the average of the preceding eleven months of 223. The deaths under one year numbered 434; over one year and under five years, 225; sixty years and over, 779.

NO PUBLIC UTILITY LAW

Bill Killed in the Assembly Last Night by a Decisive Vote of 27 to 13.

ADJOURN TO SEPT. 13

State Moneys to Be Deposited In Trust Company or Bank at 2 Per Cent. Interest—Other Bills Passed.

The Wright public utility bill was defeated in the House at Trenton last night by a vote of 27 to 13. The belief is that there will be no public utility legislation this session. The Senate has a special committee at work drafting a bill, but it will provide for an appointive commission, probably the present railroad commission. The House bill provides for an elective commission, and the Republicans will not agree to that, neither will the Democrats consent to an appointive commission. That is on the rock on which they have split. Abram Klenert, of Passaic, the Democratic leader, changed his vote, in order that he might move for a reconsideration. This he did, and Archibald S. Alexander, of Hudson, moved to lay the motion on the table. This prevailed, although Randolph Perkins, Republican, moved to postponed indefinitely. This will afford an opportunity for a vote to reconsider later on, but it will probably never be availed of.

After the defeat of the utilities measures and the passage of a few bills, including one that all heads of State departments shall deposit all moneys in some bank or trust company, which shall bear interest of not less than 2 per cent., the House passed a resolution adjourning three days at a time until Tuesday, September 17, and the members left singing and shouting. The date fixed for adjournment is after the primaries.

A number of more or less important bills were taken up and passed during the afternoon, including the bills of Klenert and VanBlarcom, allowing Paterson to get a water supply of its own independent of the trunk sewer and Hahn's bill excepting Newark from the provisions of the potable water law, so it would not have to pay extra taxes on the water supply it owns. The bill abolishing outright the State Board of Arbitration was also passed.

Mrs. James C. Keegan, of New York, has returned after a visit with her father, John Schwartz, of East Front street.

Louis Lowenstein, of Norfolk, Va., is spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Goldsmith, of Fairview avenue.

Miss Blanche Heideloff, of East Fifth street, is expected home this week from Chicago, where she has been visiting for six weeks.

Mrs. Thomas Fay, of West Second street, returned yesterday after a visit with relatives and friends at Newburg, N. Y.

NEWEST APRONS.

They May Be Daintily Trimmed With Lace and Ribbons.

The dainty aprons which appeal so strongly to a woman can be made to be both useful and ornamental. Both for fancy work and afternoon tea or for a chafing-dish party a pretty apron is a very necessary as well as an attractive addition to one's dress.

Every one likes a novelty, and even the work apron can be cut in a new shape, while those for afternoon tea or to be used with the chafing dish can be made as charming as possible.

They may be very elaborate with lace and embroidery and bright ribbons to add to their beauty or quite simple of fine sheer material, with a featherstitched ruffle, edged with valenciennes lace, as the only decoration.

Some women wear fancy aprons when they are dressed for an afternoon at home, and a fine white one can be changed in appearance by having several shades of delicate ribbons to use on different occasions.

These aprons are tiny acairs, just large enough to serve the purpose and preserve the name. The more useful work apron should be of generous proportions, as it is not generally used for dressy occasions.

Colored embroidery is used frequently upon fancy aprons with dainty effect and is a welcome change from the all white embroidery.

Attractive little aprons of colored lawn or dimity are shown to be worn with light dresses. One of pale blue lawn, embroidered with white mercerized cotton, will be quite effective. The ruffle on this is graduated in shape and lies perfectly smooth along the sides.

The hem is finished with featherstitching, also in white, and edged with valenciennes lace. Large polka dots are embroidered around the edge of the apron where the ruffle is joined, and this hem may also be finished with featherstitching.

The band for the top is of wide cambric beading, through which pale blue satin ribbon is run for the strings.

Any light color, also white, can be used for this apron.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

Full well she knew now what must have been in his heart that last evening and why he acted as he did. Hannah had told her the bitter truth, as she had since realized. Ray had been assumed that she was an outcast, and despicable in the sight of Greenvale. He dared not say "I love you; be my wife." Instead, he had been hurried away to keep them apart; and as all this dire flood of shame that had driven her from Greenvale surged in her heart, the bitter tears came.

In calmer moments, and when the heart-hunger controlled, she had hoped he might some day find her and some day say, "I love you." But now, so soon, to make herself known, to tell who she was, to admit to these new friends that she was Chip McGuire with all that went with it, to have to face and live down that shame, to admit that she had taken Ray's first name for her own—no, no, a thousand times no!

But what of Old Cy and Uncle Jud, and their life-long separation?

Truly her footsteps had led her to a parting of the ways, one sign-board lettered "Duty and Shame," the other a blank.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Old Cy especially found life dull after Ray had gone. The hermit also appeared to miss him and became more morose than ever. He never had been what might be termed social, speaking only when spoken to, and then only in the fewest possible words. Now Old Cy became almost a walking sphinx, and found that time passed slowly. His heartstrings had somehow become entwined with Ray's hopes and plans. He had bent every energy and thought to secure for Ray a valuable stock of furs and gum, and, as with his nature, felt a keen satisfaction in helping that youth to a few hundred dollars.

Now Ray had departed, furs, gum and all. He had promised to return with Martin and Angie later on, but of that Old Cy felt somewhat dubious, and so the old man mourned.

There was no real reason for it, for all Nature was now smiling. The lake was blue and rippled by the June breezes; trout leaped out of it night and morning; flowers were blooming, squirrels frisking, birds singing and nest-building; and what Old Cy most enjoyed, the vernal season was at hand.

Another matter also disturbed him—the whereabouts of McGuire and the half-breed, Pete Bolduc.

Levi had brought the information that neither had been seen nor heard of since the previous autumn; but that was not conclusive, and somehow Old Cy felt that a certain mystery had attached itself to them, and once we suspect a mystery, it pursues us like a phantom. He did not fear either of these renegades, however. He had never harmed them. But he felt that any day might bring a call from one or the other, or that some tragic outcome would be disclosed.

Another problem also annoyed him—who this thief of their game could be, and whether his supposed cave lair was a permanent hiding spot.

Two reasons had kept Old Cy from another visit to that sequestered lake during the fall trapping season: first, its evident danger, and then lack of time. But now, with nothing to do except wait for the incoming ones, an impulse to visit again this mysterious spot came to him.

He had, at the former excursion, felt almost certain that this unknown trapper was neither McGuire or the half-breed. Some assertions made by Levi seemed to corroborate that theory, and impelled by it, Old Cy started alone, one morning, to visit this lake again. It took him until midday to carry his canoe, camp outfit, rifle, and all across from the stream to stream, and twilight had come ere he reached the lagoon where he and Ray had left the main stream and camped. Up here Old Cy now turned his canoe, and repairing the bark shack they had built, which had been crushed by winter's snow, he camped there again.

Next morning, bright and early, he launched his canoe and once more followed the winding stream through the dark gorge and out into the rippled lake again.

Here he halted and looked about.

No signs of aught human could be seen. The long, narrow lakelet sparkled beneath the morning sun. The bald mountain frowned upon it, the jagged ledges just across faced him like serried ramparts, an eagle slowly circled overhead, and, best indication of primal solitude, an antlered deer stood loking at him from out an opening above the ledges.

"Guess I'm alone here!" exclaimed Old Cy, glancing around; "but if this ain't a pictur worth rememberin', I never saw one. Wish I could take it with me into t'other world; an' if I was sure o' findin' a spot like it thar, I'd never worry 'bout goin' when my time comes."

After a long wait, as if he wanted to observe every detail of this wondrous picture of wildwood beauty, he dipped his paddle, crossed the sheet of rippled water, and stepped ashore at the very spot where he and Ray had landed over eight months before.

ing around, "if that ain't a canoe, bottom up! Two, by ginger!" he added, as he saw another drawn out and half hid by a low ledge.

To this second one he hastened at once and looked into it.

It had evidently rested there all winter, for it was partially filled with water, and half afloat in it were two paddles and a setting pole. A gunny-cloth bag, evidently containing the usual coking outfit of a woodsman, lay soaking in one end, a frying-pan and an ax were rusting in the other, and a coating of mould had browned each crossbar and thwart.

"Been here quite a spell, all winter, I guess," muttered Old Cy, looking it over, and then he advanced to the other canoe. That was, as he asserted, bottom up, and also lay half hid back of a jutting ledge of slate. Two paddles leaned against this ledge, and near by was another setting pole. All three of these familiar objects were brown with damp mould and evidently had rested there many months.

"Curis, curis," muttered Old Cy again. "I callated I'd find nothin' here, 'n' here's two canoes left to rot, 'n' been here all winter."

Then with a vague sense of need, he returned to his canoe, seized his rifle, looked all around, over the lake, up into the green tangle above the ledges, and finally followed the narrow passage leading to where he had once watched smoke arise. Here on top of this ledge he again halted and looked about.

Back of it was the same V-shaped cleft across which a cord had held drying pelts, the cord was still there, and below it he could see the dark skins amid the confusion of jagged stones.

Turning, he stepped from this ledge to the lower one nearer the lake, walked down its slope, and looked about again. At its foot was a long, narrow, shelf-like projection, ending at the corner of the ledge. Old Cy followed this to its end and stepped down into a narrow crevasse.

"Great Scott!" he exclaimed, taking a backward step as he did so.

And well he might, for there at his feet lay a rifle coated with rust beside a brown felt hat.

Had a grinning skull met his eyes he would not have been more astounded, in fact, that was the next object he expected to see, and he glanced up and down the crevasse for it. None leered at him, however, and picking up the rusted weapon, he continued his search.

Two rods or so below where he had climbed the upper ledge, he was halted again, for there, at his hand almost, was a curious doorlike opening some three feet high and one foot wide, back of an outstanding slab of slate.

The two abandoned canoes had surprised him, the rusty rifle astonished him, but this, a self-evident cave entrance, almost took his breath away.

For one instant he glanced at it, stepped back a step, dropped the rusty rifle and cocked his own, as if expecting a ghost or panther to emerge. None came, however, and once more Old Cy advanced and peered into this opening. A faint light illumined its interior—a weird slant of sunlight, yet enough to show a roomy cavern.

The mystery was solved. This surely was the hiding spot of the strange trapper!

"Can't see why I missed it afore," Old Cy muttered, kneeling that he might better look within, and sniffing at the peculiar odor. "Wonder if the cuss is dead in thar, or what smells so!"

Followed the Winding Stream.

Then he arose and grasped the slab of slate. One slight pull and it fell aside.

"A nat'ral door, by hokey!" exclaimed Old Cy, and once more he knelt and looked in.

The bravest man will hesitate a moment before entering such a cavern, prefaced, so to speak, by two abandoned canoes, a rusty rifle, human head covering, each and all bespeaking something tragic, and Old Cy was no exception. That he had come upon some grewsome mystery was apparent.

canoes were not left to rot in the wilderness or rifles dropped without cause.

And then, that hat!

Surely here, or hereabouts, had been enacted a drama of murderous nature, and inside this cavern might repose its blood-stained sequel.

But the filtering beams of light encouraged Old Cy, and he entered. No ghastly corpse confronted him, but instead a human, if cramped, abode. A fireplace deftly fashioned of slate occupied one side of this cave; in front a low table of the same flat stone, resting upon small ones; and upon the table were rusty tin dishes, a few mouldy hardtack, a knife, fork, and scraps of meat, exhaling the odor of decay. A smell of smoke from the charred wood in the fireplace mingled with it all. In one corner was a bed of brown fir twigs, also mouldy, a blanket, and tanned deerskins.

The cave was of oval, irregular shape, barely high enough for Old Cy to stand upright. Across its roof, on either side of the rude chimney, a narrow crack admitted light, and as he looked about, he saw in the dim light another doorlike opening into still another cave. Into this he peered, but could see nothing.

"A queer livin' spot," he muttered at last, "a reg'lar human panther den. An' 'twas out o' this I seen the smoke come. An here's his gun," he added, as, more accustomed to the dim light, he saw one in a corner. "Two guns, two canoes, an' nobody to hum," he continued. "I'm safe, anyhow. But I've got to peek into that other cave, sartin sure," and he withdrew to the open air.

A visit to a couple of birches soon provided means of light, and he again entered the cave. One moment more, and then a flaring torch of bark was thrust into the inner cave, a mere crevasse not four feet wide, and stooping, as he now had to, Old Cy entered and knelt while he looked about.

He saw nothing here of interest except the serried rows of jutting slate, across two of which lay a slab of the same—no vestige of aught human, and Old Cy was about to retreat when his flare burning close to his finger tips unnoticed, caused him to drop it on the instant, and drawing another from his pocket he lit it while the flame lasted in the first one.

It is said that great discoveries are almost invariably made by some trifling accident—a gold mine found by stumbling over a stone, a valley prolific of diamonds disclosed by digging for water.

In this case it was true, for as Old Cy bent to light his second torch ere he withdrew from the inner cave, a flash of reflected light came from beneath this slab—only for one second, but enough to attract his attention.

He stooped again and lifted the slab. Six large tin cans had been hidden by it. He grasped one and could scarce lift it. Again his fingers closed over it. He crawled backward to the better-lighted cave and drew the cover off the can with eager motion, and poured a heap of shining, glittering coin out upon that food-littered table.

Into that dark hole he dived again, as a starved dog leaps for food, seized the cans, two at a time, almost tumbled back, and emptied them. Four had been filled with gold coin and two stuffed with paper money.

Folded with these bills of all denominations from one to fifty dollars was a legal paper yellowed by age, with a red seal still glowing like a spot of blood.

It was an innholder's license, authorizing one Thomas McGuire to furnish food, shelter, and entertainment for man and beast.

With eyes almost tear-dimmed and heart throbbing at having found poor Chip's splendid heritage, Old Cy now gazed at it.

The sharp stones upon which he knelt nearly pierced his flesh, but he felt them not.

The glint of sunlight from the crack above caressed his scant gray hairs and white fringing beard, forming almost a halo, yet he knew it not.

He only knew that here, before him, on this rude stone table, lay thousands of dollars, all belonging to the child he loved.

"Thank God, little gal," he said at last, "I've found what belongs to ye, 'n' ye hain't got to want for nothin' no more. I wish I could kiss ye now."

Little did he realize that at this very moment of thankfulness for her sake, poor Chip was lost to all who knew her, and, half starved and almost hopeless, knew not where to find shelter.

LACKAWANNA LEAGUE DROPS WESTFIELD TEAM

FRANCHISE FORFEITED BY FAILING TO PUT NINE ON THE FIELD.

It was decided at a meeting of the Lackawanna League directors held in the Scheuer Building, Newark, last night, that the Westfield Club had forfeited its franchise by failing to put a team on the field on two separate occasions, and the club was dropped from the league, after which the two games that the Westfield Club forfeited were given to the teams that were supposed to have played.

The meeting was called at the request of the Westfield Club, so that it could make an application to the league to become a traveling team. The proposition was met with considerable opposition especially on the part of William H. Cawley, of the Dover team. Manager Smith, of Westfield, explained that if his team remained in the league and played in Westfield it would lose money. Mr. Cawley then made a motion that Westfield be dropped from the league and it was promptly carried, although R. J. Murphy, of Summit, and Dave Driscoll, of Elizabeth, refused to vote on the motion.

One of the reasons why Westfield was dropped was its failure to put a team on the field at Dover on July 4 and that they did likewise against the Chatham team Saturday at Westfield. The league will continue at present with five clubs. Manager Smith said after the meeting that he would bring action against the league for not returning his franchise money.

BASEBALL AND SALVE; HOW THEY DON'T MIX

TREATISE FOR MANAGER AND PLAYERS WHO HUNGER FOR MUSH-AND-MILK.

In lieu of a statement on the meeting after the league confab last night, Ernest Dorflinger, who pilots the Clinton Avenues, told the reporters how mean the papers have been to Clinton Avenue. The Clinton Avenues feel hurt because their games aren't boomed on the front page every day, and because the heartless sporting writers say just what they think of shaky umpiring and petrified playing. Kicks of that sort are childish. If a team or a league can't stand on its own merits it is best for the sport that it fall and fall quickly. Coddling, and silence as to faults in management and playing, don't help to carry the sport along. The fans are a wise bunch, and they see the yellow in the game as quickly as anybody, and the only result of silence on the part of the sporting writers is to bring them into line for knocks and contempt at the hands of the fans—and justly, too. If some of the pained managers could hear the bloodthirsty pleas for "roasts" put up to the sporting writers by fans after slow or badly umpired games they would shiver with apprehension every time they saw a newspaper or faced a gathering of bleacherites. All of which points to one moral: Play ball hard, look only for the credit that is due, and expect the consequences of mistakes or faults. Teams and leagues, like men, must earn the class A mark. False values never last.

FAIR ACRES CLUB PLANS ANOTHER FREE MEET

FOUR RACES AND A FEATURE EVENT ON THE CARD.

At the meeting in the Iroquois Hotel parlors Monday night, the Fair Acres Driving and Riding Club arranged for another free matinee race meet at the Driving Park Saturday afternoon. Four events, mixed trot and pace, were decided upon and a good list of entries have already been received.

A feature event has been arranged in the nature of a race against the track record by "Prince," winner of the free-for-all on July 4. The animal will be driven by Charles Brower and will be paced by Howard Woolston's runner, "Red Squirrel," ridden by Marcus Hoyt. If Brower succeeds in lowering the record of seventeen and a quarter, the Fair Acres Club will present him with a handsome cup. As admission to the races is free and the card is one of the best ever prepared for a matinee, a well-filled grandstand is looked for.

The entries for the four races are as follows:

Class A—"Fred V," J. S. Irving; "Albert D," J. S. Booream; "Maud C," R. L. Edwards; "Hartwood Bell," J. B. Osborne; "Belle," A. I. Smalley.

Class B—"Sidney Leland," J. B. Gutiridge; "Abbey Kelley," W. C. Smith; "Steve K," Mr. Kingston; "Star Direct," Thomas Brantingham, "Florence D," C. M. Sterling; "Lenola," J. B. Osborne.

Class C—"Malba," N. M. Giles; "Grandpa," Henry Weiss; "Fifer," H. W. Evans; "Katherine Dillon," J. H. Greene, Jr.; "Alceyetta," M. M. Hodge; "Harmonia," C. C. Brower.

Class D—"Elsie Hammond," C. B. Smith; "Prince B," Dr. Butler; "Lady Cranford," J. H. Senior; "Oscar Lake," Edward Kinsey; "Molly Clay," C. Crigenberger; "Perfection," George Forgerson.

DIAMOND DUST.

The managers of the Inter-City Baseball League held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night. They said afterward that it wasn't what you might call a meeting, and the newspapers couldn't have anything about it, anyway. A hammer or two must have been at work.

ROBERT ABBOTT ONLY SEVEN STROKES BEHIND TRAVIS.

Plainfielder Returns An 82 In the First Half of 36 Hole Play.

At the end of the first half of the thirty-six hole medal play qualifying round of the thirteenth annual championship tournament of the United States Golf Association decided yesterday on the links of the Euclid Club, in Cleveland, three players tied for low score at 75. They were Walter J. Travis and Fred Herreshoff, of Garden City, and Walter Egan, of Chicago. The surprise of the day was the indifference of Eben Byers, the title-holder, who returned a score of 85.

Robert Abbott, of the Plainfield Country Club, was one of seven players who returned a score of 82, which was only seven strokes higher than the lowest score of 75 returned by Travis. He played a steady game throughout, and now that he is better acquainted with the course, it is expected that he will do even better today in the second half of the thirty-six hole play.

STREET CAR TROUBLE BREWING IN ELIZABETH

COUNCIL AGITATED OVER ALLEGED POOR SERVICES.

Legal complications involving the city of Elizabeth and the Public Service Corporation are considered almost a certainty as the result of an ordinance adopted by the Elizabeth Council, designed to regulate the headway upon which trolley cars in the streets of Elizabeth shall be run, that is, if the enforcement of the ordinance should be attempted, which many are inclined to doubt. The ordinance goes into effect next Monday. The company is liable to a fine of $25 for every violation.

Agitation for better trolley service in Elizabeth has been going on for several years. In one direction the movement met with a flat failure, for a case brought by the Board of Health against the Public Service Corporation for maintaining a nuisance in form of a car with flat wheels was thrown out of court.

The schedule calls for more cars on almost all lines. On the First and Third street branches, purely local lines, between the hours of 6 and 8 a. m. and 5 and 6 p. m., cars must be run every five minutes, and the schedule for other hours of the day likewise calls for greater frequency. On the South Board street, Fifth street and West Jersey street lines the demands for better service are just as great.

—The New Jersey Central bridge construction gang has about completed the work on the Clinton avenue bridge and the work on the Park avenue bridge is now well underway.

FELT HE MUST ACCEPT CALL TO NEW MARKET

REV. GEO. H. GARDNER'S LETTER TO HIS CONNECTICUT CONGREGATION.

Rev. George H. Gardner, who accepted the call to the New Market Baptist church several weeks ago, has handed his formal resignation to the congregation at Plantsville, Conn. It is as follows

"To the Members of the Plantsville Baptist Church:

"After careful and prayerful consideration, and led, I trust, by the spirit of God, I desire to present my resignation as pastor of the Plantsville Baptist church.

"I believe the Lord brought us together as pastor and people. Friendships have been formed which death alone can dissolve. Our Christian fellowship has been sweet and delightful. Harmony has prevailed. We have labored together in the name of Christ. Now we have come to the parting of the ways. It has been no easy task to bring this pastorate to a close.

"You know I have turned my face away from the invitations, and turned a deaf ear to the calls. But this last will not down, I believe it to be my duty. The voice of duty calls, and at whatever sacrifice of friendship and pleasant associations I obey the higher call. The citizens of Southington have honored me also. I took a public office as a solemn trust and I have tried to be faithful to its obligations—and I shall be to the end.

"The exact date when this pastorate will terminate will be announced later.

"Praying that the Great Head of the church will keep and bless you,
Yours in the Master's name,
and cause his face to shine upon you,
"GEORGE H. GARDNER."

As if in anticipation of his resignation a petition signed by members of the church and citizens that he recall his resignation has been received by Mr. Gardner. There is general regret over Mr. Gardner's departure.

Mr. Gardner went to Plantsville church from Deep River, six years ago. He has done much for the church and the community, for his work for good has been general.

From the first he has been popular and this was emphasized last fall when he was elected a member of the present general assembly, where he has proved himself a useful member, and in the opinion of the citizens "the best representative the town ever had." It is not out of place to say that his resignation will cause regret among all classes, and especially with the young people.

CRASH ON THE ERIE; SEVERAL ARE HURT

PASSENGER TRAIN DASHES INTO A FREIGHT AT CALDWELL.

Failure of a flagman to go back far enough is said to be responsible for a rear end collision at Caldwell yesterday afternoon between an Erie passenger train arriving from New York and a freight train standing at the depot, in which several persons were severely hurt. Those injured are:

Howe, Charles—baggagemaster; rib broken, internally hurt.

Jackson, Lorella, fourteen, of Essex Falls; right leg broken; bruised and cut.

Peterson, Miss Ida—of New York, on her way to Pine Brook; leg broken near the thigh; bruised and sucering from shock.

Sigler—conductor; broken rib.

Besides these a dozen or more passengers were bruised and forty or fifty were shaken up. The worst injured were in the forward car, which was derailed.

The road is a branch of the Greenwood Lake division of the Erie. The tracks approach the depot around a rather sharp turn. The freight train had stopped at the depot while cars were being shunted.

The passenger train was No. 481, due at 3.40. It had slowed down for the curve and to stop at the depot and was moving slowly when the engineer saw the train ahead. He attempted to stop, but the distance was too short and his engine hit the rear car of the freight and derailed that.

Those on the train were mostly residents of New York, Pine Brook and Essex Falls, and many of them were on their feet preparing to alight when the crash came and were thrown down.

After the accident carriages and automobiles were obtained and the injured were hurried away from the depot to their homes or the homes of friends.

Painters at Asbury Park.

Charles Conover and James Hansen, are among the Plainfield painters attending the 3rd annual convention of the New Jersey State Association of Master Painters and Decorators, which opened at Asbury Park, yesterday. More than 300 delegates are present from all parts of the State. They were welcomed by Dr. H. S. Kinmouth, president of the Common Council, after which President Charles E. Van Syckle, of Newark, delivered the annual address.

"CENTRAL PARK"

Was—Is—Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm.

IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central Park is that beautifully situated tract bounded by Park, Prospect, Hillside and Thornton Avenues.

Lots selling rapidly—Prices very low—Great investment or speculative opportunities.

Iceberg Hits Liner.

New York, July 10.—The North German Lloyd flyer, Kronprinz Wilhelm arrived from Bremen at 9 o'clock this morning, with her bow looking as if a giant fist had landed a heavy left-hand blow on her nose. It turned out that a fifty-foot iceberg had struck the vessel a sidelong blow shortly after midnight Monday morning, the berg having been sighted, and the steamship turned sharply to one side just in time to avoid a head-on collision.

STORM HITS PLAINFIELD

Lasted Only Short Time But Accomplished a Lot of Damage.

MANY TREES UPROOTED

Though it lasted little more than half an hour, a typical midsummer thunder storm which broke over the city shortly after 8 o'clock last night left damage enough in its wake to give the impression that a small-sized Kansas cyclone had drifted into Jersey. After ominous-looking clouds had given warning during the evening that something was about to happen, thunder and lightning in the third degree were turned loose and accompanied by a deluge of water and a gale of wind proceeded to tear up the town. Trees were struck and torn up, electric light and telephone wires were ripped from their poles and in some sections of the city and borough, raging torrents ran through the streets.

While the lightning was incessant and vivid, but little of it was of the striking kind and so far as can be learned no residences were damaged by it. On second place, a bolt struck a large tree and beside laying it prostrate, gave the entire neighborhood a large sized scare. The wind made up for what the lightning failed to do, and other trees were torn up by the roots or stripped of their branches. Two large ones in front of Mrs. Mali's residence on East Front street were started on the kindling wood route and others were reported down on Webster place, Franklin place, Putnam avenue and on South avenue at Scott place. As soon as the obstructions were noticed, the police department put out a supply of red lanterns to warn pedestrians and teams.

The local telephone exchange came in for a generous slice of the trouble and when the clouds began to drift away at 9 o'clock 145 "hello" machines were out of gear. The big gang of men which has been conducting the cut-over to the new building was put to work and by 9 o'clock this morning the number had been reduced to ninety. Most of the instruments affected were in the northern and eastern sections of the city which seemed to be the pivotal points of the storm. In the business section and the West End almost everything remained intact.

The Public Service Corporation was also reminded in a forcible way that the elements were in an angry mood and for the remainder of the night trolleys ran on a rag-time schedule and electric lights refused to shine. The cars were held up by prostrate trees and limbs and the extinguishing of the lights was brought about by crippled wires. Trouble in either instance was overcome as soon as possible but it was not until this morning that normal conditions were resumed.

It was reported that a lightning bolt ran down the trolley pole of a West Fourth street cars and handed the motorman a healthy shock. His name was given as Walters and it was said that he was down and out for some time. It couldn't have hurt him much, however, as he was seen drinking a glass of sarsaparilla in a Watchung avenue store shortly before midnight.

Over in the borough, the storm cut up high jinks with shade trees and wires and danger lurked in many sections because of prostrate electric light stands. These were down on Grandview and Mercer avenues and also at Manning and Watchung avenues.

Trees were uprooted on Johnston's Drive, on Somerset street at Codington avenue, in the Grace M. E. church grounds, in Mercer avenue in front of Holy Cross church, in the yard of James Brown on Stone street and on Grandview avenue in the rear of Phillip Currin's grocery store. The only street lights in the borough that remained intact were those on Somerset street from Park place to Green brook. The police went out while the rain was still beating down and looked after the safety of people.

In the first onslaught of the storm, the fire bell went on a rampage and continued to ring until the mechanism ran down. An electrician was sent on the trail and located the trouble in a crossed wire.

A large limb was broken off a tree in an adjoining yard, crushing a lawn swing in the yard of James R. Blair, 78 Duer street. One of the large trees in front of the home of Andrew Lutkins on Somerset street, near Park place, was blown across the street, blocking travel for some time. There was a great electrical display on Duer street and Park place, where the limbs on two trees

Retired Minister of the Reformed Church Dies at the Age of Eighty-One.

DUNELLENITE 21 YEARS

Rev. Augustus F. Todd, a retired clergyman of the Reformed church, died at his home in Dunellen, yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Todd was in his eighty-second year. He had enjoyed fairly good health until two weeks ago, when he was taken ill. The two extremely hot days last week seemed to weaken him greatly and no doubt hastened his death. For the last week he was frequently heard praying, repeating over and over again: "Oh, Father take me Home." He felt that his life-work was completed.

Rev. Mr. Todd was born near Somerville, on February 11, 1826. He was graduated from Rutgers College in 1855, and from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary in 1858. Among the Reformed churches of which he was pastor were those at Athens, Pa., Piermont, N. Y., Boonton, N. J., Bloomingburg, N. Y., Schoharie, N. Y., and Bound Brook, N. J. From the latter place he removed to Dunellen, where he resided for twenty-one years. In May, 1886, he retired from the active ministry. For sixty-one years he was a member of the First Reformed church of Somerville.

Rev. Mr. Todd married Miss Meribah Toms, of Somerville, in September, 1858. She died five years ago. He leaves five children: Augustus F. Todd, Jr., John H. L. Todd, of Fanwood; Theodore S. Todd, of Brooklyn; Miss Meribah G. Todd, and Miss Anna C. Todd.

For forty years Rev. Mr. Todd was an honorary member of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church of America. He was also a member of the American Seamen Friends' Society for forty years. The last active service in which he engaged was in June a year ago, when he was a delegate from the Classis of New Brunswick, to the General Synod of the Reformed Church of America, which met at the Collegiate church in New York city. He attended the entire session and took an active part in the work of the Synod. During his residence in Dunellen, he was an active attendant at Trinity Reformed church, of this city.

The funeral will be held from his late home, No. 205 Front street, Dunellen, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 Rev. Dr. James Le Fever, an old classmate of Rev. Mr. Todd's, will officiate. Rev. Daniel Rapalje, also an old classmate, will take part in the service. They will be assisted by Rev. John Hart, of Neshanic, and Rev. Walter T. Griffin, of this city.

MET. TEAM GETS CUP.

Olympic Trophy Winners Make a 641 Score.

The Olympic Cup, open to teams of four, was won yesterday by a team from the Metropolitan Golf Association on the course of the Euclid Golf Club, Cleveland, the winning score being 641 strokes. Robert Abbott was a member of the New Jersey Golf Association team, and although he returned next to the lowest score for his team, 82, 85—167, the best the team could do was 685 strokes.

This event, which was preliminary to the National amateur golf championship, which started today, was played in the teeth of a gale over the Euclid Club links. As a result of yesterday's play the Western Association lost the International trophy by seven strokes.

Dog Catcher at Work.

After two trips, Jim Babbitt, the dog catcher, got fifteen dogs as a result of his first day's work yesterday. He gathered in about eight in the morning, and the rest in the evening. He started out again this morning. The dogs will be kept at the sewer farm. They are to be held four days after capture. If unredeemed after that time the dogs will be killed by gas.

Damaged Boats.

Three of the pleasure boats used by young people on South Plainfield lake were damaged by malicious mischief-makers this week. The "Vim," the largest boat on the lake, had a large hole cut in it. Another had six holes cut in it and boards were broken from another. Justice of the Peace Smith has offered $5 reward for the conviction of the guilty persons.

EXCISE VIOLATOR FIGHTS

30 DISREGARD THE LAW

Liquor Men In Elizabeth Continue to Break Provisions of the Bishops' Bill—Condition Serious.

Thomas Fitzgibbons, who keeps a saloon on Elizabeth avenue, between First and Front streets, Elizabeth was held for the Grand Jury in police court at Elizabeth, yesterday, charged with having violated the excise laws by selling liquor Sunday. His case will also be referred to the Excise Board.

Despite the activity of the police, due to the recent presentment of the Grand Jury, saloon-keepers have not entirely got rid of the idea that liquor can be sold in Elizabeth on Sunday. An evidence of the way they views things was given late Sunday night, when Detective Brogan made a tour of inspection to see that everything was closed tight until midnight. When he attempted to enter a saloon at 153 Fifth street he was attacked by the saloon-keeper. Charles Fredericks, and several men who had been in the place and badly bruised before he got into the street again. Then the place was shut up tighter than the proverbial clam.

At Trumbull street and the Long Branch Railroad, where another saloon seemed to harbor suspicious activity, he met with the same treatment, being attacked by the proprietor, Charles Walters, and held outside until all those who had been inside escaped. Charges of assault and battery upon an officer were lodged against both Walters and Fredericks yesterday before Judge Mahon, and the two men will be taken into custody today.

Nearly thirty violations of the screen law were noted by the police on Sunday. Fully half of them were in saloons where violations were noted last Sunday, and whose proprietors have been summoned to appear before the Excise Board. It is said that there is an intention to contest the constitutionality of the law.

PLANS FOR ANOTHER CENTRAL JERSEY LEAGUE.

Scheme Underway to Form a New Baseball Organization in This Section.

Plans are underway for the formation of a new baseball league in Central New Jersey, the idea being to take in Westfield, Bayonne, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Somerville and possibly Perth Amboy. Games will be played Saturday afternoons only.

S. J. Weidenhamer, of Bayonne, has taken the initiative in the matter, and it is his purpose to perfect the details of the organization this season so that everything will be in readiness for next summer. Herbert Martin, formerly of this city, but now the Bayonne correspondent of the Jersey City Evening Journal, is also interested in the project. At Bayonne there will be an enclosed field and there is now the nucleus for a strong team.

Mr. Weidenhamer intends to communicate at once with representatives in the various towns mentioned and it is supposed to hold a meeting in the near future to discuss plans. It is argued that all of the towns mentioned for the league being on the line of the New Jersey Central they will be easy of access and there should be a strong rivalry among the fans in each place.

Building and Loan Work.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Building and Loan Association, last night, a new series was opened and about two hundred shares were taken. In addition to routine business, several applications for loans were acted upon and granted. The reports of the various committees presented shows the Association to be in a prosperous condition.

More Childen at Camp.

Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, brought a party of seventeen young children from New York to the camp in Netherwood yesterday afternoon. There are now nearly 200 children and mothers there and more are to be brought out Monday.

Wanamassa Camp Open.

Camp Wanamassa, at the head of which is Fred Whitney, of this city, has opened at Deal Lake. It is bigger than last year, a bungalow having been added. The camp, which is a popular place with Plainfield young men, will remain open until Labor Day.

RUNAWAY CAUSES DEATH

W. H. Hayden Thrown From Rig Dies in Littleton, N. H. Hospital.

WELL KNOWN HERE

W. H. Hayden, of Boston, advertising agent of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company, and formerly holding a similar position on the Jersey Central, died at the Littleton Hospital, at Littleton, N. H., yesterday, as a result of injuries received in a runaway accident on Sunday.

Mr. Hayden was driving with Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Mears, of Boston, on the Mount Washington Base Road, near Twin River. The horse became frightened at something, and, giving a sudden start, threw Mr Hayden out and over the edge of the bridge to the rocks on the banks of the river. His head was cut open and his chest and ribs were crushed. He was brought to Littleton on a special train and taken to the hospital, where he died yesterday afternoon.

The other occupants of the carriage also were thrown out, but not seriously hurt. Mr. Hayden was about thirty-five years old and had a host of friends along the lines of the Jersey Central road. He formerly lived in Elm street, Elizabeth.

STONE ROAD PROBERS MEET.

Commission Hutchinson to Get Data From Other States.

The members of the special committee appointed by Governor Stokes under a resolution of the present Legislature to investigate the reasons of the increased cost of stone roads in this State met in the office of State Road Commissioner E. C. Hutchinson at the State House at Trenton yesterday. Plans for the future proceedings of the committee were discussed at length and it was finally decided to have Mr. Hutchinson, who is the chairman of the committee, gather data relative to the cost of construction of stone roads in other States before the actual work of probing is begun.

It was expected that the committee would select its counsel at this morning, but no positive step in this direction was made. The committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

GOVERNOR'S DAY CHANGED.

It Will Be on Fridays Hereafter at the State Camp.

Governor Stokes, who opened his summer "capital" Saturday, at the State Camp at Sea Girt, came up to Trenton on business yesterday. He announced that as the result of a conference at Sea Girt it has been decided that Governor's Day shall be Fridays at the camp this summer, instead of Thursday, as has been the custom for years. The evening review of troops by the Governor will also be changed from Thursday to Friday, and beginning next Friday the hour for this will be 5 p. m. The daily evening parade of the troops has been changed to 5:30 o'clock.

Governor's Day is the most important at camp each week. Politicians flock there and it is a time for launching booms and writing political slates. The change has no political significance.

HUTCHINSON HELD UP.

Constable Stops Road Commissioner For Over-speeding.

State Road Commissioner Elijah C. Hutchinson, of Trenton, who inspects Jersey roads in a large State automobile, was held up at Magnalio late Sunday night by a constable, who charged him with exceeding the speed limit, and pulled a stop watch on the commissioner to prove it. Mr. Hutchinson denied that he was going too rapidly, and asserted that his speedometer showed he was running at a legal rate.

After a lively discussion the constable was asked what he proposed to do, whereupon he pulled out a book and asked the automobilist his name. He was much astonished when Mr. Hutchinson replied:

"I am the State Road Commissioner."

Quickly the officer closed his book and told Mr. Hutchinson he would send for him if he was wanted.

Quiet District Court.

The District Court session this morning was brief. No cases were contested and no contract case judgments were entered. All the important cases were adjourned.

Methodist Church Excursion.

The First Methodist church excursion will be held on July 25. The destination, as usual, will be Ocean Grove.

KILLED BY FAST TRAIN

DISREGARDED WARNING

Had Been Told to Guard Herself, But Gave No Heed—Narrowly Escaped Her Fate Yesterday.

At almost the same spot where she narrowly escaped death yesterday, under the wheels of the same train, Mrs. Mary Feeley, a widow, 65 years old, living at 146 South avenue, Westfield, was struck by a Philadelphia flyer on the Central Railroad tracks in Westfield this morning. Her head was crushed in and the body was terribly mangled. The train that struck her was due here at 9:13 o'clock.

Mrs. Feeley was killed at the Westfield avenue bridge. She was attempting to cross the tracks, and apparently paid no attention to the possibility of trains running her down. She had been in the habit of going over the tracks, and seemed to grow more indifferent every day to the danger of the fate that finally overtook her. She was warned a number of times by railroad employes and others, but gave no heed.

Within a few feet of where she was killed, she came within an ace of being run down by the flyer yesterday morning. Seemingly oblivious to the approach of the train she crossed the track almost in front of it, and not more than four inches separated her from the cars as they swept by. The experience, which would probably have unnerved the ordinary woman for a week, seemed to have made no impression on her, at all. She started across the track this morning with her old indifference, and the train got the victim of which it was cheated yesterday.

The body was taken to the freight house, from where it was removed to an undertaker's rooms. The train was delayed fifteen minutes by the accident.

Mrs. Feeley is survived by two sons, John and Bernard Feeley.

CANNOT BRING HOME MR. LEDERER'S BODY NOW.

Arrangements Will Be Made to Send the Remains Here in October.

In reply to his cable sent yesterday to John Stuart Wells, the American Consul at Carlsbad, Austria, inquiring as to what arrangements could be made for sending the body of Isaac Ledered to Plainfield, his son, Albert Lederer, received a cable this morning informing him that according to the laws of the country, the body cannot be sent until October.

Mr. Lederer said today that he would go on and perfect the details so that the body can be shipped as early in October as possible, it being the wish of the family that it be buried in Plainfield. No further information regarding Mr. Lederer's last illness and death has been received.

FELL 70 FEET TO DEATH

Rocco De Mazzi Killed at Wilson's Stone Quarry This Morning.

DEATH INSTANTANEOUS

By the splitting off of a ledge of rock loosened by his own bar, Rocco De Mazzi, an Italian employed in Wilson's stone quarry, fell seventy feet to instant death from the ledge on which he was working early this morning. The accident happened at shortly after 8 o'clock. De Mazzi, with other Italians, was at work with a crow bar at the top of the quarry ledge, barring off the loose stone. In his work near the edge of the cliff of rock, De Mazzi, while attempting to ledge out a large piece of rock, dislodged the entire side of the cliff for several feet, including the part on which he was standing. Unable to save himself, he toppled over the edge of the cliff and was hurled headlong to the road level, seventy feet below. Fellow workmen rushed to him, as he lay among the rocks at the foot of the cliff, and he was carried to the crusher. There it was found that death had been instantaneous. The body was horribly mutilated. His skull was badly crushed, his back broken and left arm and leg crushed and broken.

Foreman Snowden, in charge of the men at the quarry, summoned Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, but De Mazzi had been instantaneously killed. Subsequently Undertaker De-Mott was summoned, and the body removed to the undertaking rooms on Somerset street. The gang of Italians, numbering twenty men, who were working at the quarry at the time, were horror-stricken by the accidents and could not be induced to continue work.

De Mazzi, who had been in the employ of the company for nearly eight years, was forty-seven years of age. He leaves a wife in Italy and four children, three girls and a boy. He saw them last about two years ago, when he returned to Italy for a visit. He was living with other employes of the company near the crusher in a house owned by one of the men.

The funeral will be from St. Joseph's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

SEWER AGENT DISAPPEARS

Thomas Cusack Missing and 75 Italian Laborers are Minus a Month's Wages.

POLICE CALLED OUT

Men Storm Homes of Foremen—Surety Company Notified—Sewer Work at Standstill.

The troubles which have from time to time held up the work on the Southside sanitary sewer, reached a climax yesterday afternoon, when Thomas J. Cusack, who was acting as attorney for Peter Morgan, of Poughkeepsie, to whom the city gave the contract for the work, left the city. He failed to pay the gang of seventy or seventy-five Italians employed here a month's wages due them.

Patsy Miehle, of New York, who is a contractor of Italian labor, and who was here in charge of the men, learned of the absence of Mr. Cusack, and the Italians quickly discovered that something was wrong this morning when they reported for work. Failing to find Mr. Cusack, the Italians went to the home of H. H. Owen, 126 Watchung avenue, where J. H. Crow, a foreman, is boarding. Edward O'Neil, another foreman, boarding at Mrs. Hansen's at Washington and Second streets, was also sought, in the hope of getting the money due.

The gang at Mr. Owen's home was noisy and threatened violence and to prevent any trouble, police headquarters was notified. Sergeant Overbaugh was detailed on the case and he dispersed the crowd as soon as he arrived at Mr. Owen's home. In the meantime Street Commissioner Gavett was notified and he took charge of the affairs, first notifying the Metropolitan Surety Company, of New York, surety for Peter Morgan, then sending word to Mr. Morgan. The sewer work is now at a standstill, but it is expected that it will be resumed within a short time.

The gang of Italians are mostly concerned about the money due them. It is alleged that when Mr. Cusack left the city he not only failed to pay the men, but forgot to settle for materials purchased, and it is estimated that the whole amount involved is over $2,000. Patsy Miehle is now representing the Italians in securing a settlement from the city. The number of every man employed on the work, together with his time is being tabulated, with a view to ascertaining exactly the amount due them.

In addition to securing Italian laborers for the work, Patsy Miehle also provided accommodations for the men. A large shanty was erected on Randolph road and the Italians boarded there. The rule has been that when the men were paid off they would give their money to Miehle, who would deduct the amount due for boarding, giving the men the balance. For this reason Miehle is particularly anxious that the men shall receive all that is due them so that he may get his proportion for boarding them.

When the contract for the sewer was awarded, the street committee first gave Peter Morgan an opportunity to come here, look over the ground and decide whether he wanted the work. After an inspection, Mr. Morgan informed the committee that he would take the contract. Soon afterward his health was reported to have been impaired and that he went to a sanitarium at Clifton Springs, N. Y. Then word was received to the effect that Thomas J. Cusack, of Kingston, had been appointed an attorney for Mr. Morgan. This was accepted by the Common Council and the work proceeded.

Since that time the contractor has had more or less trouble with the Italians employed in building the sewer. First there was a complaint about the wages, the rate being lower than is usually paid for labor of this kind. Another complaint made by the men was that they objected to being paid once a month, claiming that they had to wait too long for their money. These and various other rules adopted by the contractor served to keep the men in a constant turmoil. Several gangs went on a strike, only to be succeeded by other men.

As the city is protected by the Metropolitan Surety Company, it will not lose anything as a result of the suspension of the work and the failure of Mr Cusack to pay the men. It is expected that Mr. Morgan will come to Plainfield at once and arrange for the continuation of the work.

This afternoon it was reported that the Dunellen Cement Block Company, to whom was sub-let the contract for building the station for the pumping plant on Randolph road, had given up the contract, and that other arrangements must be made to complete this part of the work.

Killed For a Ticket.

New York, July 9.—In view of a crowd of passengers at the South ferry station of the subway yesterday morning George Metzinger, sixty years old, employed there as a gateman, was thrust from the platform by William Curtis, a negro, and, falling between two cars of a train which was drawing out of the station, was so badly crushed that he died half an hour later without having recovered consciousness. Curtis was sent to the Tombs without bail on a charge of homicide. Witnesses said Curtis dashed hurriedly through the gate as an express train was about to start on its return trip up town. He brushed aside the ticket chopper and Metzinger interfered. In a struggle, the witnesses asserted, Curtis pushed Metzinger directly in the path of the train. Metzinger tried to roll to one side of the track, but he was caught between the cars.

A Blow At Tammany.

New York, July 9.—Mayor McClellan yesterday removed William B. Ellison, as Corporation Counsel; removed Alfred J. Talley, as Civil Service Commissioner; accepted the resignation of Macdonough Craven, as Commissioner of Street Cleaning, and appointed James J. Martin as City Chamberlain, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Patrick Keenan. In place of Mr. Ellison the Mayor appointed Francis Key Pendleton. Dr. Walter Bensel was made Commissioner of Street Cleaning and Frank L. Polk became a Civil Service Commissioner. By these changes, it is believed, the Mayor has once for all broken with Timothy D. Sullivan and Timothy P. Sullivan and has, once more, aimed a heavy blow at Charles F. Murphy and his leadership in Tammany Hall.

were broken, carrying down telephone and electric light wires on the Day and Bailey properties, and putting out the street lights on Duer street, above Mercer avenue. The wires were not broken, but sagged so low that they were grounded.

Lightning and wind united in reducing a small outbuilding, used as a storehouse by Horace G. Adams, of Johnston avenue, to kindling wood. A bolt struck the roof and ripped it to pieces, and before the frame was through shaking the wind knocked it flat. The structure was demolished.

Give Skin For Motorman.

Chicago, Ill., July 9.—John Maloney, a motorman, who averted disaster on a Chicago and Oak Park elevated train on May 15 by sticking to his post in the midst of flames, with his clothing ablaze, until a station was reached, underwent the operation of skin grafting in St. Ann's Hospital yesterday. Twenty of his friends surrendered sections of their skin for his benefit, and the operation was said to be one of the largest of the kind ever performed. Maloney suffered from burns on the breast, face, arms, hands and abdomen, and for several weeks his life was despaired of, but at last the burns began to heal and the surgeons watched anxiously for the favorable moment when new skin might be grafted on the flesh. About seven square inches of epidermis was taken from each of the twenty men. The operation required two hours and at the end of that time about one hundred and fifty square inches of skin had been grafted on the patient.

Geronimo on War Path Again.

St. Louis, July 9.—Geronimo, the old Apache warrior who terrified the Southwest for years and who now lives under guard at Fort Sill, tried to escape last night while attending a celebration at Cache as the guest of Tunah Parker, the Comanche chief. Geronimo was under parole and, hearing that the Apaches in Arizona were getting restless he deserted camp with the intention of joining them. He was soon missed, however, and soldiers sent in pursuit from Fort Sill quickly recaptured him. Excessive drink and troubles with his eight wives are said to have unbalanced Geronimo's mind, although he recently joined a church.

HOUSE MAPS OUT PLANS

Democrats Decline to Adjourn Sine Die Irrespective of Senate's Action.

AUTO TAX ACT IS UP

Bill Follows Letter From State Road Chief Favoring Higher License —Coal Trust Probe.

To round up all the missing Democrats in the House; pass the Wright public utilities bill, which is a special order of business this afternoon, at 2 p. m.; push through all the recommendations of the Hahn report, for which there are bill now pending of Democratic initiative; do this work by late today, if possible, and then adjourn until September, irrespective of what the Republican Senate might do, was the result of the Democratic caucus of House members, held after the session at Trenton yesterday.

The Republicans will oppose this program, and will make things howl, though they have not the votes to keep the Democrats at work. What the House Republicans want to do is to finish their work and then adjourn sine die, but the Democrats point to the Hahn investigation committee, to report to the House in September, and the Coal Trust investigating committee, to report, also, September 3, or later, and say they cannot adjourn sine die.

Another matter that caused some astonishment was a measure introduced by Mr. Hahn, Essex, raising the license on automobiles to $15 for all cars under 30-horse power, and $25 for cars over that power. The license fees are now $3 and $5, respectively, for the named horse-power cars.

This move was the result of a letter from State Road Commissioner Elijah C. Hutchinson to the Essex County Federation of Improvement Associations, which defines the commissioner's views on automobile licenses, which is as follows:

"I think the license fee for automobiles should be increased at least $15 for all cars under 30-horse-power and for cars more than that $25, and my opinion is that no one will object to the repair of roads.

"We have now about 2,000 miles of road in the State which are averaging about $400 to $500 a mile per year to keep in repair. That is a pretty heavy tax burden upon the people, and my opinion is that the automobilists will have no objections to paying their share of the damages to roads which is considerable."

The commissioner said yesterday that this move had the indorsement of all the boards of freeholders of the State. It will be pushed to passage in the House today, if possible.

Just before adjournment the following bills were put in, and referred to committee:

House 529, by Mr. Klenert, permitting Paterson to build a sewage disposal plant.

House 530, by Mr. Van Blarcom, making water districts in Acquackanock township, Passaic county.

House 531, by Mr. Hahn, a supplement to the motor vehicle law (Jud).

No attempt was made to hold a session of the Senate yesterday, that body adjourning last week to meet again at the call of the president.

THE FORUM.

Docked Horses.

Editor The Daily Press:

As a visitor to Plainfield I have been grieved to note, among the great number of otherwise beautiful horses driven here, so large a proportion of them with docked tails, victims of a mistaken idea of beauty and good style. Their owners may argue that they did not do the docking and are therefore not responsible for the injury and disfigurement, but if would-be purchasers would refuse to buy a horse with a docked tail the practice would soon cease.

In these mosquito-infested days let the admirers of docked tails imagine their hands powerless to drive away the pests and they can fancy their horse's feelings at having no tail with which to brush away the flies. Some of these docked horses have already descended from their high estate of well-groomed carriage horses to drudges pulling delivery wagons, where the would-be style of the docked tail looks decidedly out of place, and as they gradually descend in the equine scale, for it is a sad truth that a horse's last days are his worst days. They may greatly miss this aid to comfort in less cleanly and well-cared for quarters. Horses are nervous creatures and anything that adds to their nervousness is a positive cruelty. The rhythmic swing of a long tail when they are annoyed with flies is apparently as soothing to them as is the gentle waving of a fan to one tortured with heat and mosquitoes.

After this complaint of Plainfield horse owners in justice it must be said that it is a pleasure to see that the torturing overhead check-rein is less in evidence here than in some other cities.

A SPEAKMAN.

Work for S. P. C. A.

Editor The Daily Press:

In the columns of your paper I have many times noticed accounts of the valued work done by the Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. While walking along the second Valley road last Sunday, I saw a horse lying on his side in a field and upon going nearer I observed that he was suffering intensely. Making inquiries I learned that he had been lying there for twenty-four hours. All through a terrible rain storm, having been so badly injured by a fall on the rocks that death only would relieve his lingering agonies. The owners had sent for someone to come and put the poor creature out of his misery, but the man could not arrive until late the next day as he had gone out of town. Twenty-four hours of unimaginable suffering.

I hurried home and telephoned to one of the members of the S. P. C. A. organization and explained the matter fully to him. I was informed at length that the society did not go beyond the limits of Plainfield proper in matters of this kind. I then tried to 'phone the North Plainfield Police Headquarters but did not get any response after repeated trials. At last I 'phoned the Plainfield Police Headquarters, and there I found men who were ready to do something in the interest of a suffering animal. They, also, could not go out of the limits of Plainfield, but they were willing to find someone who would do so, and they finally found a man who would go and end the sufferings of the helpless animal.

I am glad that Plainfield has in its police organization such a humane and sympathetic body of men, but I am sorry that there is a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals which could not undertake to interest themselves in a case which demanded such urgent attention. It would seem as if they should have at least undertaken to find someone who would perform the duty, as they are the only society organized for that specific object in this locality.

There is a Humanity higher than the statute law.

"He prayeth well, who loveth well,
Both Man and Bird and Beast."

DeWITT P. BROKAW.

BREWIN BACK TO WORK

Brought to Plainfield Yesterday and Resumes His Position at Miss Brown's.

HAD TO BE INTRODUCED

Failed to Recognize Friends Who Knew Him When He Believed Himself "Frank Johnson."

Charles P. Brewin, the Burlington man who was lost to himself for four years and lived in this city during that period as Frank P. Johnson, returned to Plainfield yesterday to reside permanently. He was accompanied by his wife and son, and the former will remain with him.

Brewin was at once taken to the dyeing shop of Miss Mary Brown, in West Second street, and his entrance marked further evidence of his wonderful dual personality. Though he had worked in the place with Miss Brown and other employes all the time that he believed himself Johnson, he failed to recognize any of them.

It became necessary to introduce him, and when he expressed his willingness to return to his old place, Miss Brown had to show him the implement he had been using and where they were kept. Persons he had been accustomed to meeting and exchanging greetings with day after day were passed unnoticed, and it was only when they started speaking to him that he realized he had known them.

When questioned by a Daily Press reporter last night, Frank Brewin, the son, declared his father to be in excellent health and that the family was fully satisfied that he was completely himself again. It was he who broached the subject of returning to Plainfield and as Mr. Brewin was willing to come to this city, it was arranged that the plan be followed out. They will board at Mrs. Dennis on Norwood avenue, and Brewin will resume the position at Miss Brown's he held as Johnson.

In commenting on this strange case of dual personality, the Newark News had the following to say last night:

The case of Charles P. Brewin, of Burlington, the tailor, who lost his identity for four years, three of which he lived under the name of Frank G. Johnson, in Plainfield, has attracted sufficient attention to deserve comment. While it is a very striking instance of what is often called dual personality, it is simple in comparison with other more noted cases—such cases, for example, as that of Rev. Ansel Bourne, who was restored to his original personality at the hands of Professor William James, of Harvard, by hypnotic suggestion and restrained from lapsing back into the second personality by post-hypnotic suggestion. Still more interesting is the case of Rev. Thomas Hanna, whose story is told to the last detail by Boris Sidis. In this case the two personalities came and went for a long period of time and were finally merged into one that has remained constant ever since. The case of Miss Beauchamp, a patient of Dr. Prince, of Boston, is even more remarkable than any of these for two reasons. In the first place three personalities appeared, known as "B1," "B2" and "Sally." And in the second place, while "B1" and "B2" were unacquainted with each other, as in the Brewin case, or with "Sally," yet "Sally" was perfectly familiar with "B1" and made life miserable for it in every way she could. For instance, "B1" would work industriously upon some knitting she was doing; when "Sally" became dominant she would unravel it all and leave it for "B1" to do over again. Or she would take the trolley far out into the country, then disappear and leave "B1" penniless to return home as best she could.

There is not yet sufficient data for a complete understanding of these strange experiences, and yet they are so well authenticated and accepted as actual phases of psychic life that they have thrown light into unexpected places; a psychology has been written to account for them. Of course, no new personality is really formed. The whole process is largely one of amnesia. Our detached, forgotten memories do not become active and set up house keeping in their own behalf. Psychologically, multiple personalities, as they are called, are probably to be explained as tracts of consciousness, separated by gaps, by breaks, which cannot for the time being be bridged over. A tract of consciousness may be affected through some shock or through the influence of toxic or auto-toxic stimuli acting on the psycho-physiological system and bringing about dissociation in the mental continuity.

In the case of Mr. Brewin the trouble is tracted to a sunstroke experienced during the Civil War. Probably a clot formed on some part of the brain, which occasioned his headaches and head pains. By the excitement attending his discovery in Plainfield the flow of blood may have been quickened sufficiently to wipe it away. It would not be unreasonable to presume that when certain parts of the brain refused to respond to stimuli because of the clot pressure, other and hitherto less active parts might become more susceptible to stimuli and respond with unwonted energy. In cases of interrupted consciousness through lapses of memory, hypnotic suggestion becomes a sort of artificial memory to lead the patient over the gap and restore the continuity of consciousness that will lead him back to his original self. This would be a perfectly legitimate field for hypnotism and an occasion when it would be joyfully welcomed. Multiple personalities are thus resolved into multiple consciousnesses, and it does not require a great deal of imagination to see how many of the results attributed to spiritism may be explained when once we realize that there have been cases where the subject could transfer himself from one consciousness to the other at will, or be transferred by some influence, as in the case of Miss Beauchamp.

BALLADE OF THE RECEPTION.

Dear me, how do you do!
I've longed to see you so.
Why, what a pretty blue!
It's new I'm certain—No?
My dresses always show;
But you—you've such a way—
A bit of lace—a bow—
(Yes, such a pleasant day!)

That Smith woman! Well, who Invited her here? Oh,
Indeed! You like her, too?
But she's so common, though;
Yes, really quite de trop.
And then the neighbors say—
Of course these stories grow—
(Yes, such a pleasant day!)

Dear Mrs. Smith, it's you!
Here I've looked high and low
To find some one I knew.....
A song! How beastly slow!
And May!—voice like a crow.
I loved that last one, May,
It seemed so apropos—
(Yes, such a pleasant day!)

ENVOY.

No, really, I must go;
I'd simply love to stay,
But—"best of friends"—you know—
(Yes, such a pleasant day!)
—Horatio Winslow, in Puck.

Encouraging.

"Of course you entertained during the social season?"

"Well," answered Mr. Cumrox, "mother and the girls didn't think much of me as an entertainer, but I overheard several visitors say I was one of the most amusin' people that ever broke in."—Washington Star.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

With Westfield, Elizabeth and Irvington traveling teams, and Chatham playing at Madison, the Lackawanna League is left with only two home clubs.

Jack Martin is putting up a fast game of ball for Clinton Avenue. He hits the ball on the nose and when it comes to fielding he is right there every time. He and his brother, Brit. Martin, make two strong infield men.

In addition to Westfield's request to become a traveling team, the Lackawanna League will also have two knotty problems to solve at this week's meeting. There are two protests from Dover, one regarding Westfield's failure to appear on the Fourth and the other on a decision by the umpire that may have given the game to Irvington on the Fourth.

Jim Adams, of Dover, has yet to make his first error this season at first base.

Clinton Avenue, Scotch Plains and the Y. M. C. A. teams, of the amateur league, seem to have struck their proper gait and every team is playing fine ball. It will undoubtedly be a toss up between these nines as to who gets the pennant.

Y. M. C. A. will meet Clinton Avenue at Crescent Oval on Saturday and the fans hope that both teams will be in good condition and give them a first-class exhibition. Minford and Randolph will oppose each other in the box.

Barnes, the star first baseman of the Clinton Avenue team, continues to hold down the initial bag to perfection and crack out hits when needed.

With the exception of the pitching department, the Scotch Plains team can hold its own with any other team in the amateur league. In fielding and hitting the players are right on the job.

ROD AND GUN.

The Independent Gun Club, of this city, will be among the clubs from various parts of the State to take part in the shoot to be held at Rahway on Saturday, under the auspices of the Rahway Gun Club. It will be a State shoot and promises to eclipse all previous records of the club in that line. Six events will be decided. Four of these are sweepstakes at twenty targets, one merchandise event at thirty targets and a final event for five-man teams that will draw together many of the best shots of the State.

Five solid gold medals will be awarded in the latter event. Clubs may enter as many members as they wish under the club name, and the five high scores of these will count. Division in the sweeps will be determined by the Rose system. In addition to the entrance money in the sweeps the club will add 10 per cent. of the gross total. The prizes in the merchandise event will consist of ivory, cut glass, scarf pins, watch fobs, silverware, etc.; twenty prizes in all. High gun will receive first prize. A silver cup will be awarded for amateur high gun shooting through the program.

The grounds will be thrown open at 9:30 a. m., and the first event will begin at 10:30 o'clock sharp. The club is making extensive arrangements for the entertainment of the contestants and its many friends. Among the clubs that will compete are The Independents, of Plainfield; the Montclair Gun Club, the Jersey City Gun Club, and the Aquehonga Gun Club, of Tottenville, Staten Island. George H. Piercy, amateur champion of New Jersey, has accepted the club's invitation to attend.

GOLF.

The finals for the club championship between W. Lester Glenney and C. B. Morgan will be one of the chief attractions at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday and it should be a match well worth seeing as both players are in top form. At the same time L. A. Chase and W. B. Tyler will play the finals for the third eight cup.

Other events on Saturday at the Plainfield Country Club will be the weekly play for the Golf Committee and Green Committee and Scratch cups.

Judging by the interest shown on Saturday in the initial play for the July cup at the Park Golf Club, this to be played by the summer residents at the Newport Golf Club took place on Saturday in honor of the opening of the club. H. R. Sedgwick won the initial event.

Those interested in golf are promised another opportunity to see the finest players in America within the borders of New York city. The committee which has for the last three years volunteered in conducting a big professional tournament has competition promises to exceed in interest those previously held this season.

The first golf match of the season arranged to repeat the tournament on August 1 and 2 at Van Cortlandt Park. An innovation will be the amateur tournament which will be held on the two preceding days. The committee that will have charge of the details of the entire tournament consists of Charles Kirchner, William H. Beers, Harry E. Pyrke, Albert Lawyer, S. Ogden Davidson, of the New York Golf Club; J. P. O'Connell and A. Lawrence Gunther.

The amateur tournament will be under the auspices of the New York Golf Club. Six medals will be played for the first day. A gold, silver and bronze medal for the three best gross scores and a gold, silver and bronze medal for the three best net scores. The play will be on the handicap basis. All persons are eligible within the metropolitan district.

On the second day for the amateurs an amateur and a professional will play against an amateur and a professional. The best ball counts. Medals will be offered for these events. The amateur will play on his handicap, which will give them all a chance.

The professional tournament will be under direct supervision of the tournament committee, consisting of Aleck Ross, present open champion of the United States; Aleck Smith, ex-champion, who is now playing in England, but will return in time for this tournament; George Low, ex-champion and present metropolitan champion; Donald Ball and Willie Norton. The professional having the lowest score for seventy-two holes will receive a purse of $150 in gold. A number of other purses of a large amount will be given, which will depend solely on the amount raised by the committee. It is hoped that this year the largest purses ever given in a golf tournament will be offered. The committee already has several hundred dollars in hand.

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

Her timidity wore away in due time, for Aunt Abby—a counterpart of her sister—was in no wise awe inspiring. She saw Chip as she was, and soon felt an interest in her and her peculiar history, or what was known of it. She also noted Chip's interest in books, and guessing more than she had been told, was not long in forming correct conclusions.

"What do you intend to do with this runaway girl?" she said one day to her sister, "keep her here and let her grow up in ignorance, or what?"

"Wal, we ain't thought much about that," responded Mandy, "at least not yet. She ain't got no relations to look arter her, so far ez we kin larn. She's company for us, 'n' willin'. Uncle Jud sets lots of store by her. She is with him from morn till night, and handy at all sorts o' work. This is how 'tis with us here, an' now what do you say?"

For a moment Aunt Abby meditated. "You ought to do your duty by her," she said at last, "and she certainly needs more schooling."

"We can send her down to the Corners when school begins, if you think we orter," returned her sister, timidly; but we hate to lose her now. We've kinder took to her, you see."

"I hardly think that will do," answered Aunt Abby, knowing as she did that the three R's comprised the full extent of an education at the Corners. "What she needs is a chance to mingle with more people than she can here, and learn the ways of the world, as well as books. Her mind is bright. I notice she is reading every chance she can get, and you know my ideas about education. For her to stay here, even with schooling at the Corners, is to let her grow up like a hoyden. Now what would you think if I took her back to Christmas Cove? There is a better school there. She will meet and mingle with more people, and improve faster."

"I dunno what Judson'll say," returned Aunt Mandy, somewhat sadly. "He's got so wonted to her, he'll be heart-broke, I'm afraid." And so the consultation closed.

The matter did not end here for Aunt Abby, "sot in her way," as Uncle Jud had often said, yet in reality only advocating what she felt was best for the homeless waif, now began a persuasive campaign. She enlarged on Christmas Cove, its excellent school and capable master, its social advantages and cultured people, who boasted a public library and debating society, and especially its summer attractions, when a few dozen city people sojourned there. Its opportunities for church going also came in for praise, though if this worthy woman had known how Chip felt about that feature, it would have been left unmentioned.

"The girl needs religious influence and contact with believers, as well as schooling," she said later to Aunt Mandy, "and that must be considered. Here she can have none, and will grow up a heathen. I certainly think she ought to go back with me for a year or two, at least, and then we can decide what is best."

"There's one thing ye ain't thought 'bout," Mandy answered, "an' that's her sense o' obligation. From what she's told me, 'twas that that made her run away from whar she was, 'n' she'd run away from here if she didn't feel she was earnin' her keep. She's peculiar in that way, 'n' can't stand feelin' she's dependent. How you goin' to get round that?"

"Just as you do," returned Aunt Abby, not at all discouraged. "We live about as you do, as you know, only Mr. Bemis has the mill; and she can help me about the house, as she does here."

But Chip's own consent to this new plan was the hardest to obtain.

"I'll do just as Uncle Jud wants me to," she responded, when Aunt Abby proposed the change; "but I'd hate to go 'way from here. It's all the real sort o' home I've ever known, and they've been so good to me I'll have to cry when I leave it. You'd let me come here once in awhile, wouldn't ye?"

As she seemed ready to cry at this moment, Aunt Abby wisely dropped the subject then and there; in fact, she did not allude to it again in Chip's presence.

But Aunt Abby carried her point with the others. Uncle Jud consented very reluctantly, Aunt Mandy also yielded after much more persuasion, and when Aunt Abby's visit terminated poor Chip's few belongings were packed in a new telescope case; she kissed Aunt Mandy, unable to speak, and this tearful parting was repeated at the station with Uncle Jud. When the train had vanished he wiped his eyes on his coat sleeves, climbed into his old carryall, and drove away disconsolate.

"Curis, curis, how a gal like that un'll work her way into a man's feelin's," he said to himself. "It ain't been three months since I picked her up, 'n' now her goin' away seems like pullin' my heart out."

CHAPTER XXII.

Christmas Cove had entered its autumn lethargy when Aunt Abby Bemis and her new protege reached it. Capt. Bemis, who "never had no say 'bout nothin'," but who had cooked his own meals uncomplainingly for three weeks, emerged white-dusted from the mill to greet the arrivals, and Chip was soon installed in a somewhat bare room overlooking the cove. Everything seemed slightly chilly to her here. This room, with its four-posted bed, blue painted chairs, light blue shades, and dark blue straw matting, the leafless elms in front, the breeze that swept in from the sea, and even her reception, seemed cool. Her heart was not in it. Try as she would, she could not yet feel one spark of affection for this "book larned" Aunt Abby, who had already begun to reprove her for lapses of speech. It was all so different from the home life she had just left; and as Chip had now begun to notice and feel trifles, the relations of the people seemed chilly as the room to which she was consigned.

When Sunday came—a sunless one with leaden sky and cold wind bearing the ocean's moaning—Chip felt herself back at Greenvale with its Sundays, for now she was stared at the moment she entered the church. The singing was, of course, of the same solemn character, the minister's prayers even longer, and the preaching as incomprehensible as in Greenvale.

With her advent at school Monday came something of the same trouble met at Greendale, for the master, a weazen, dried-up little old man, who wore a wig and seemed to exude rules and discipline, lacked the kindly interest of Miss Phinny.

Chip, almost a mature young lady, was aligned with girls and boys of 10 and 12, and once more the same shame and humiliation had be endured. It wore away in time, however, for she had made almost marvelous progress under Miss Phinney. Her mind was keen and quick, and once at study again, she astonished Mr. Bell, the master.

Something of her old fearless self-reliance now came to her aid, also. It had made her dare 60 miles of wilderness alone and helpless, it had spurred her to escape Greenvale and her sense of being a dependent pauper, and now that latent force for good or ill still nerved her.

But Christmas Cove did not suit her. The sea that drew her eyes with its vastness seemed to awe her. The great house, brown and moss-coated where she lived, was barnlike, and never quite warm enough. The long street she traversed four times daily was bleak and wind-swept. Aunt Abby was austere and lacking in cordiality; and Sundays—well, Sundays were Chip's one chief abhorrence.

Another influence — an insidious heart hunger she could not put away—now added to her loneliness in the new life. It carried her thoughts back to the rippled, moonlit lake, where Ray had picked his banjo and sung to her; even back to that first night by the camp-fire when she had watched and listened to him in rapt admiration. It thrilled her as naught else could when she recalled the few moments at the lake men, unconscious of the need of restraint, she had let him caress her.

Then the long days of watching for his return were lived over, and the one almost ecstatic moment when he had leaped from the stage and over the wall, with no one in sight, while he held her in his arms.

And then—and this hurt the most—that last evening before they were to part again, when beside the firefly-lit mill pond he had the chance to say so much and said—nothing!

It was all a bitter-sweet memory, which she tried to put away forever the night she left Greenvale. She was now Vera Raymond. No one could trace her; and yet, so at odds were her will and her heart, there still lingered the faint hope that Ray would sometime and homehow find her out.

And so, studying faithfully, often lonesome, now and then longing for the bygone days with Ray and Old Cy, and always hoping that she might some time return to Peaceful Valley, Chip passed the winter at Christmas Cove.

Something of success came to her through it all. She reached and retained head positions in her classes. A word of praise came occasionally from Mr. Bell. Aunt Abby grew less austere and seemed to have a little pride in her. She became acquainted with other people and in touch with young folks, was invited to parties and sleigh-rides. The vernacular of Tim's Place left her, and even Sundays were less a torture, in fact, almost a pleasure, for then she saw most of the young people she mingled with, and now and then exchanged a bit of gossip.

Her own dress became of more interest to her. Aunt Abby, fortunately for Chip, felt desirous that her ward should appear well, and Chip, thus educated and polished in village life, to a degree at least, fulfilled Aunt Abby's hopes.

Another success also came to her, for handsome as she undeniably was, with her big, appealing eyes, her splendid black hair, and well-rounded form, the young men began to seek her. One became persistent, and when spring had unlocked the long, curved bay once more, Chip had become almost a leader in the little circle of young people.

Her life with those who had taken her in charge also became more harmonious. In fact, something of affection began to leaven it, for the reason that never once had Aunt Abby questioned Chip as to her past. Aunt Mandy and Uncle Jud had both cautioned her as to its unwisdom, and she was broad and charitable enough to let it remain a closed book until such time as Chip was willing to open it; and for this, more than all else that she received, Chip felt grateful. But one day it came out—or at least a portion of it.

"I suppose you have often wondered where I was born, and who my parents were," Chip said, one Sunday afternoon, when she and Aunt Abby were alone, "and I want to thank you for never asking." And then, omitting much, she briefly outlined her history.

"I was born close to the wilderness," she said, "and my mother died when I was about eight years old. Then my father took me into the woods, where I worked at a kind of a boarding house for lumbermen. I ran away from that when I was about 16. I had to; the reasons I don't want to tell. I found some people camping in the woods when I'd been gone three days and most starved. They felt pity for me, I guess, and took care of me. I stayed at their camp that summer, and then they fetched me home with them and I was sent to school. Somebody said something to me there, somebody who hated me. She had been pestering me all the time, and I ran away. Uncle Jud found me and took care of me until you came, and that's all I want to tell. I could tell a lot more, but I don't ever want those people to find me or take me back where they live, and that's why I don't tell where I came from. Then I felt I was so dependent on them—I was twitted of it—that it's another reason why I ran away. I wouldn't have stayed with Uncle Jud more than over night except that I had a chance to work and earn my board."

"But wasn't it unkind of you—isn't it now—not to let these people know you are alive?" answered Aunt Abby. "They were certainly good to you."

"I know that they were," returned Chip, somewhat contritely; "but I couldn't stand being dependent on them any longer. If they found where I was, they'd come and fetch me back; and I'd feel so ashamed I couldn't look 'em in the face. I'd rather they'd think I was dead."

"Well, perhaps it is best you do not," returned Aunt Abby, sighing; "but years of doubt, and not knowing whether some one we care for is dead or alive, are hard to bear. And now that you have told me some of your history, I will tell you a lifelong case of not knowing some one's fate. Many years ago my sister and myself, who were born here, became acquainted with two young men, sailor boys from Bayport, named Cyrus and Judson Walker. Cyrus became attached to me and we were engaged to marry. It never came to pass, however, for the ship that Judson was captain of, with Cyrus as first mate, foundered at sea. All hands took to the two boats. The one Judson was in was picked up, but the other was never heard of afterward. In due time Judson and my sister Amanda married. He gave up a sailor's life, and they settled down where they now live. I waited many years, vainly hoping for my sweetheart's return, and finally, realizing that he must be dead, married Capt. Bemis. That all happened so long ago that I do not care to count the years; and yet all through them has lingered that pitiful thread of doubt and uncertainty, that vain hope that somehow and someway Cyrus may have escaped death and may return. I know it will never happen. I know he is dead; and yet I cannot put away that faint hope and quite believe it is so, and never shall so long as I live. Now you have left those who must have cared something for you in much the same pitiful state of doubt, and it is not right."

For one moment something almost akin to horror flashed over Chip.

"And was he called—was he never—I mean this brother, ever heard from?" she stammered, recovering herself in time.

"Why, no," answered Aunt Abby, looking at her curiously, "of course not. Why, what ails you? You look as if you'd seen a ghost."

"Oh, nothing," returned Chip, now more composed; "only the story and how strange it was."

It ended the conversation, for Chip, so overwhelmed by the flood of possibilities contained in this story, dared not trust herself longer with Aunt Abby, and soon escaped to her room.

And now circumstances came trooping upon her: the shipwreck, which she had heard Old Cy describe so often; the name she knew was really his; the almost startling resemblance to Uncle Jud in speech, ways, and opinions; and countless other proofs. Surely it must be so. Surely Old Cy, of charming memory, and Uncle Jud no less so, must be brothers, and now it was in her power to—and then she paused, shocked at the position she faced.

She was now known as Vera Raymond, and respected; she had cut loose forever from the old shame of an outlaw's child; of a wretched drudge at Tim's Place; of being sold as a slave; and all that now made her blush.

And then Ray!

J. B. Duke Buys Home.

James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company, was reported yesterday to have bought 979 Fifth avenue, New York, a large four story and basement dwelling house at the northeast corner of 78th street in that city. It was built by the late Henry H. Cook. In realty circles it is called one of the show houses of Fifth avenue. The asking price was $1,600,000, and it is said Mr. Duke bought the property for a little less than that sum. Since he obtained a divorce from Lillian N. Duke, Mr. Duke has been reported engaged to marry a well known woman of Atlanta. This report was revived yesterday by the purchase of the Fifth avenue house.

$5,000 In Prizes!

Grand Educational Contest

To introduce our new Piano, the Conway, we have decided to institute something entirely novel in the way of advertising, making it something of value to the readers of this paper as well as ourselves.

We propose to distribute FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN PRIZES, among the residents of Central New Jersey. Think of it $5,000! While the mere distribution of this amount in prizes would be a valuable advertisement in itself, you will, of course, admit that the distribution of so large a prize list would hardly be justified by the publicity itself would give us. But if we are able to impress the name "CONWAY PIANO" indelibly upon the minds of 300,000 people, then you will, of course, readily admit that we are justified in offering this large prize list. Therefore, to make the CONWAY PIANO occupy the place in your mind, that stands for all that is good in tone, quality, construction, design and finish, and that you may never forget the great name, we wish to see how many words you can form from the twelve letters containing the two words

CONWAY PIANOS

To the persons able to form the greatest number of words from the letters contained in the two words, CONWAY PIANOS, we will give one magnificent Conway Piano, valued at $365.00 together with a handsome scarf and stool.

To the next five nearest answers we will give credit bills worth $100 each.

Each of the competitors sending in the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bills for $1 less than the preceding prize, or $99.00, and following this in groups of two, each of the competitors sending the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bill for $1 less than the preceding prize, until the entire balance of $5,000 shall have been distributed.

Rules for Forming Words

Only such words are to be used as are found in Webster's International Dictionary. No proper names, foreign words, names of persons, town or places are to be used. Do not use a letter more times in one word than it appears in the words CONWAY PIANOS. Words spelled the same, but having a different meaning, can be used but once.

Rules and Conditions of Contest:

All answers limited to July 22, 1907.
Open to readers of this paper.
Those who receive credit bills can apply them on any new Pianos in our stock at the regular prices, which are always marked in plain figures on each instrument, but cannot apply them on any purchase made prior to opening day of contest.
Easy payments will be granted to those wishing to be accommodated by applying their credit bills and paying the balance in small monthly payments.

In the event of a tie between two or more contestants the Capital Prize will be divided equally and paid in gold.

FREEHOLDERS' BUSY DAY

Somerset Board Transacted a Large Batch of Business at Somerville Yesterday.

TO ACCEPT A BRIDGE

Members to Meet at New West End Avenue Structure Crossing Greenbrook Tomorrow.

Regarless of the excessive heat yesterday the Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders, at their regular meeting in the court room at Somerville, transacted a vast amount of business.

Member Vreeland, of Montgomery township, reported that the committee, to whom was referred the application of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey State Village for Epileptics at Skillman for permission to lay railway tracks and water pipes, had examined the said application and the location and recommended that the resolution presented at the regular meeting of June 11 be granted. On motion the resolution was adopted, with the proviso that the said agreement contain a clause providing that the Board of Managers shall not use this permission for any other purpose nor transfer it to any party or parties.

The Board will meet tomorrow at 10 a. m. at the West End avenue bridge in North Plainfield to view the same, with the purpose of acceptance.

The committee appointed to examine the bridge near the ice house on Union avenue reported that its condition is very bad and recommended that a new bridge should be built. Plans, as prepared by the County Engineer, for a concrete structure, were presented. It was unanimously ordered that a new bridge be built and bids will be advertised for to be received at the court room in Somerville on Tuesday, July 23, from 1 to 1:30 p. m.

In the matter of the retaining wall at the bridge near Burnt Mills, County Engineer Doughty submitted plans and specifications, which were approved. Bids for same will be received at the court room in Somerville on Tuesday, July 23, from 2 to 2:30 p. m.

County Engineer Doughty reported that it would be necessary to change the survey of the road from North Branch to North Branch Depot and that the extra expense would cost about $400 and requested the consent of the Board to make the change. So ordered.

A petition, numerously signed by citizens and taxpayers, requested the construction of a macadamized road from Gladstone to Pottersville. On motion it was placed on file.

The County Collector was authorized to borrow $20,000 in anticipation of taxes.

The committee on building the new court house was authorized to take what action is necessary to protect the shade trees in the court house yard.

Application was made by the Bernardsville Garage Co. for permission to lay a two-inch pipe across the county road in front of the residence of George Bunn at Bernardsville. The application was referred to the counsel of the Board.

Application was made by W. G. Ladd to have the Board place larger pipes at the railroad crossing at Far Hills. No action will be taken in the matter because the company has changed the course of the water.

Clerk Sutphen was authorized to notify the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to remove four poles standing in the roadway at the turn of the road at the intersection of the Kline's Mills road near Thomas Moore's in Bedminster township within thirty days from date of notice.

Sometime ago the road committee authorized Engineer Doughty to notify the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company to remove the gates where the railroad crosses the macadam road at Belle Mead, which are an obstruction, and the company has asked the engineer to define the lines of the public road. It was moved that the County Engineer be authorized to give the railroad company the road lines and to instruct it to remove the said obstruction.

All the members of the Board were present at the meeting.

GLAZER'S FAT FACTORY WILL AGAIN BE OPENED

VICE CHANCELLOR GRANTS PERMISSION UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS.

Through an order signed Monday by Vice Chancellor Bergen, Theodore Glazer will again be able, under certain conditions, to operate his fat-rendering factory at Alton. The plant has been idle because of a vigorous campaign conducted against it by nearby residents but the latest move is a winning step for the owner.

The factory was closed last May when Miles Rouch and other Alton people induced Chancellor Bergen to issue an injunction against its operation. Since then Glazer, through his counsel, Judge William Newcorn, has sought to have the injunction dissolved but without success. On Monday, however, the chancellor granted his request in a modified form, stating that Glazer could conduct his business so long as it did not offend Rouch or endanger his health. In the event of his doing so the injunction will again be issued.

The principal complaint against the place has always been that the odors coming from it were unbearable and that residents half a mile away could not sit on their porches in warm weather. Glazer spent large sums in installing improved machinery to deodorize the rendering of fat and claimed that he succeeded but the opposition continued. The local and State Boards of Health were called upon and finally Rouch succeeded in getting the injunction from the chancellor.

MONUMENT TO HEROES OF NEW JERSEY UNVEILED

TWO YOUNG WOMEN OFFICIATE AT CEREMONY ON BATTLE FIELD.

A monument erected by the State of New Jersey to commemorate the services of the Fourteenth Volunteer Infantry of New Jersey in the battle of the Monocacy was unveiled on the battlefield, near Frederick, Md., yesterday by Miss Alice Patterson, daughter of Major John C. Patterson, of Freehold, N. J., assisted by Miss Foster, daughter of Adjutant William H. Foster, of Scobeyville, N. J.

Major Patterson, chairman of the Monument Commission, presented the monument to the State, and the Rev. Dr. W. Case, of Trenton, N. J., representing Gov. Stokes, accepted it on behalf of the State and transferred it to the Regimental Reunion Association, on whose behalf it was accepted by William C. Larowe, of New York.

The monument is a shaft of granite, surmounted by a figure of an infantryman clean-cut from the same stone, and is the first memorial of the kind erected on the battlefield. Yesterday was the forty-third anniversary of the battle.

SHAKE-UP IN HUNT CLUB

Mayor Fisk Succeeds C. D. Freeman as a Steward and Colonia is Abandoned.

NEW HOME AT CASINO

H. A. Bourne Another New Steward —Organization's Indebtedness to Be Liquidated—Mr. Waring M. of H.

The stewards of the Watchung Hunt Club at a meeting in the Casino, last night, effected a reorganization, including the election of Lewis E. Waring as master of the hounds, in place of Charles D. Freeman, of Colonia, resigned. Mayor Charles J. Fisk was elected a steward to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Freeman, and H. A. Bourne, of Westfield, a steward, to fill a previous vacancy that existed. The club's home for the present will be at the Casino and not Colonia, and the hounds will be kept on Mayor Fisk's farm on Park avenue, near the Gentlemen's Driving Park.

When Mr. Freeman's resignation as a member of the club was received there was no explanation for the action, in fact the note was short and curt. Some of the members say they do not know why Mr. Freeman quit. Active members say they are convinced that the organization during the past year, or in fact ever since it moved to Colonia, has been run extravagantly and that many useless expenditures will be cut out in the future. At last night's meeting the members promptly subscribed the necessary amount to liquidate all the indebtedness and a new start will be made. The club will be made stronger than ever, it is said, and many changes for the betterment of the organization are now underway. There is no idea of giving up the annual steeplechase meets, and the protection of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association will be continued as heretofore.

The association will continue to enjoy the privileges of hunting over farms throughout Union county, and there will be the customary hunts in season. When Mr. Freeman offered the use of his farm and farm-house at Colonia for one year, for a nominal rental, it was believed to be a wise move to accept the offer. But since that time experience has proved that the clubhouse was too far away to enlist the sympathy of the people who were members and others who would like to join. The organization was not as closely identified with Plainfield as many desired and for that reason there was a lack of interest.

The Casino is considered an ideal place as a home, where there is every convenience for the members, including accommodations for giving dinners, lunches and teas. Later on other arrangements may be made which will still further advance its interests.

Lewis E. Waring was the popular choice of the members for master of the hounds. He is thoroughly acquainted with all the details of the organization and is competent in every way to give it a proper standing among the clubs of this kind throughout the State. He is also personally acquainted with the masters throughout the country and the officers of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association, thus assuring hearty co-operation between the national and local association.

SAYS HIS WIFE HAS GONE WITH OLDEST SON

PETER JONAS ADVERTISES ALLEGED DESERTION.

Alleging that his wife has deserted him, Peter Jonas, a painter, of 150 North avenue, advertises today that he will not be responsible for her debts. It is said to be the second time within a year that Mrs. Jonas has left her husband.

Jonas said this morning that he was through with his wife. She said she did not intend to come back, he declared, and he did not intend to do anything to make her change the determination. She took their fourteen-year-old son, Jacob, with her, he averred, but he was satisfied with the control of a ten-year-old son whom she did not tempt to leave home.

Mrs. Jonas is supposed to be in Elizabeth. Her husband says she went away from him last Easter, and was gone ten weeks. He forgave her when she returned then, but he has no forgiveness in his heart now.

MAN FLEEING TRENTON CAPTURED BY LOCAL COPS

NABBED ON BOARD READING EXPRESS WHEN IT STOPPED HERE.

The local police receive a telephone message from the Trenton authorities at 6:30 this morning, asking that they apprehend Antone Morraw, who would be found on the Reading express reaching this city at 7:30. A full description of the man was given and thus equipped Detective-Sergeant John Flynn and Patrolman Kelly boarded the train when it stopped at the North Avenue station. They had no trouble in locating Morraw and placed him in custody before he had a chance to escape.

When Chief Kiely sent word that the man was locked up he was told to hold him until Trenton officers arrived. It was said that Morraw committed an atrocious assault on a man last night and that he boarded the express with the intention of fleeing to New York. He informed Chief Kiely that his cousin is the publisher of Italiano-Amerigo, the influential Italian paper printed in New York.

TOURING CAR WRECKS FRAGILE PONY CART

DARK ROAD AND UNLIGHTED LAMPS LEAD TO A SMASHUP.

A touring car owned and driven by Spencer Fullerton Weaver, of Central avenue, struck and wrecked a pony cart driven by Mrs. William Arnold, of Staten Island, on Park avenue, near the hospital, at 9 o'clock last night. Both vehicles were going toward town.

In the automobile were Mrs. Weaver and four friends. Mrs. Arnold was accompanied by her sister-in-law and the latter's son. They are stopping with relatives on Park avenue. The accident occurred at a dark bit of road. The cart had no lights, and Mr. Weaver did not know he was approaching it until the crash came. The car was going slowly, and although the cart was badly damaged, none of the occupants was hurt severely. Mr. Arnold was injured the most, and she suffered only from slight cuts on the chin.

Mr. Weaver hurried her to the hospital in the auto to make sure that she get medical attendance if it should be necessary. Mr. Weaver said after the smashup that Mrs. Arnold assumed all blame for the accident.

The property is owned by the Pond Tool Company.

The regular business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

ITALIANS QUIET DOWN

Sewer Laborers Retain W. L. Hetfield, Jr. to Press Their Claims.

FISK GIVES THEM WORK

Restless Spirits Quelled By Father Sciolla, of St. Mary's Parish— No Word From Morgan Or Surety Company.

Although the situation was apparently unchanged on the surface this morning, things were taking a brighter turn for the seventy-five Italian laborers whose wages for the past month disappeared when Thomas J. Cusack, acting attorney for Peter Morgan, builder of the South Side Sanitary Sewer, dropped out of sight Monday. Quieted by Father Sciolla, of St. Mary's parish, and befriended by Mayor Fisk, they took effective action to secure payment of the money due them by retaining Walter L. Hetfield, Jr. Mr. Hetfield took immediate steps to safeguard the interests of the laborers. Although it is a month since some of the men have received any money, and they have reason enough to show restlessness, they were kept calm this morning by the energetic measures taken for their relief.

Father Sciolla spoke to the men last night, and quieted them. He told them that friends were working for them, and that they would soon receive their money. They bunked at the shanty on Randolph road, where Patsy Miehle, the labor contractor has been boarding them, last night. They were provided with bread yesterday, but it is said that today's meals are in doubt. Miehle, who claims he is out of pocket to the extent of $500 through the wage hold-up, went to New York last night. He is expected to return here today to help in the plans for securing the money due.

Mayor Fisk relieved the situation much, this morning, by putting the men at work on city jobs. They will be paid tonight for the day's work.

No clue to the whereabouts of Cusack has been received, and it is not even known here whether or not he went to Kingston, N. Y., nor has any word been received from Peter Morgan, of Poughkeepsie, or the Metropolitan Surety Company, who furnished his bonds. Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett again telegraphed to them this morning, following these messages up with an explanatory letter. He urged that immediate action be taken to relieve the situation and straighten out the troubles brough on by the disappearance of Cusack.

The city's interests are protected and, if Mr. Morgan fails to keep his contract, the surety company is liable for all damage and loss to the city.

The original called for an expenditure of about $68,000, including the installation of the pumping station on Randolph road. Mr. Morgan's bid for the construction of the sewer was approximately $27,000. The work at the present time is probably half finished. At the last meeting of the Common Council the request of Mr. Morgan, as well as that of Warren B. Travell, who has the contract for installing the pumping station, for an extension of time to September 1, was granted.

MR. LEDERER'S DEATH CAUSED BY PNEUMONIA.

He and a Sister Suffered From Exposure On An Outing.

Albert Lederer, of this city, son of Isaac Lederer, who died on June 27 at Carlsbad, Austria, received a letter today from his cousin, S. Lederer, of Providence, L. Mrs. Lederer also became ill and is now in a serious condition at her home. She was not informed of the death of her brother.

The later information about Mr. Lederer was written by Isaac Lederer, of Prague, Austria, a relative of the dead man, who requested before his death that he write to S. Lederer, of Providence, and that the latter break the news to the family here as gently as possible.

GOLDSACK SENTENCED FOR OPENING LETTERS

GETS A YEAR IN CALDWELL PENITENTIARY ON THREE CHARGES.

Robert Goldsack, the Plainfield mailing clerk who was detected opening letters placed in his care, was arraigned before Judge Joseph Cross in the United States District Court at Trenton, yesterday. He pleaded non vult to three charges and was sentenced to one year in Caldwell penitentiary on each, the sentences to run concurrently. With time off for good behavior the court's disposition means that he will be free again in ten months.

Goldsack was represented by City Judge William N. Runyon, who made a strong plea for his client. He also asked that in passing sentence the Caldwell institution be specified instead of making it the State prison at Trenton. Judge Cross listened to the appeal with evident interest but made little comment in disposing of the case.

Just previous to Goldsack's arraignment, James Carmichael, a Jersey City letter carrier, pleaded non vult to embezzling letters, and his sentence was made one year. The Trenton prison was designated but after Judge Runyon had asked for Caldwell for his client, Carmichael's counsel, Robert Carey, did the same and the request was granted. Carey is the Jersey City lawyer who made a favorable impression at the Colby open-air meeting in Concert Park last fall.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE BILL DISMISSED BY COURT.

Chancellor Stevens Quickly Disposes of Action Against W. L. Hetfield, Sr.

Vice Chancellor Stevens at Jersey City, yesterday, dismissed with costs the case of Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., brought by William G. Osgoodby. In April, 1906, Mr. Hetfield and wife contracted with L. W. Spear to sell him their property on East Front street. After Mr. and Mrs. Hetfield had signed the agreement, it was taken to New York to get the signature of Spear. When it was returned the name of Spear had been erased and that of E. M. Potter inserted in its stead. After several days the contract was returned to Mr. Hetfield, and he repudiated it. Potter assigned the contract to William G. Osgoodby, of this city, and he instituted a suit in the Court of Chancery for specific performance. The matter came up for a hearing before Vice Chancellor Stevens, in his chambers, yesterday. Osgoodby failed to put in an appearance, and the court dismissed the bill with costs. W. S. Angleman represented Mr. and Mrs. Hetfield.

BOY ROBBERS CAUGHT

Police Round Up Trio That Has Operated for the Past Six Months.

CANDY FURNISHED CLUE

Storekeeper Bought It From the Leader and Appears in Court With the Prisoners.

Following up a train of chewing gum and candy, the proceeds of a recent robbery, the local police yesterday succeeded in corralling a gang of local youths who have been committing petty thefts in town for six months or more. The specific complaint against them was preferred by Edward Davis, of West Fourth street, who alleges that they broke into his store on February 6 last and appropriated goods to the value of $6. They have been suspected of this affair but it was not until they had been landed on another that they confessed to it and gave an opportunity for the charge to be made.

The prisoners are Arthur VanNest, aged 16, who has been in a dozen scrapes since he was ten years old; James Stites, aged 14, a former telegraph messenger boy, and Edward Seader, who has had the borough police after him at various times. They were arraigned before Judge Runyon, sitting as a State magistrate this morning, and enough of their depredations was told about to warrant his holding them for further action. Seader was released in $100 bail furnished by his father, VanNest was remanded for the Juvenile court and Stites was held to await the action of the Grand Jury, his age placing him in its jurisdiction.

The robbery that led to the undoing of the trio was committed two weeks ago when they broke into C. K. Compton's confectionery shop in the rear of Warnock's bakery and stole a quantity of candy and chewing gum. The matter was reported to the police and profiting by a previous experience when the place was entered ten years ago, they kept a close watch for youngsters with a surplus of sweets. Their efforts were rewarded a few days since when an officer learned that Arthur Van Nest had sold a lot of candy to Jesse Skinner, who keeps a small establishment in the West End. This clue was followed up and it led over a trail of sweets described by Compton until the three boys were reached.

When the gang was apprehended, Van Nest assumed the leadership and with an air of bravado told Chief Kiely that he and his friends had been guilty of a number of small affairs that have had the police on the alert since last winter. The Compton and Davis affairs were all he detailed but the complete list will probably be forthcoming in a day or two.

Skinner, the man who bought the candy of Van Nest, was ordered to court by Chief Kiely and he appeared when the boys were arraigned today. He informed the Judge that Van Nest had represented himself as salesman for a New York confectionery house and offered o sell him a quantity of sample confectionery for $6. Although he had known Van Nest for seven years, he said, he thought that perhaps he might have secured such a position and accepted the offer. The story was not taken seriously by the magistrate but giving Skinner the benefit of the doubt, he let him off with the brand of Runyonization that makes most men prefer the Grand Jury.

It is probable that the career of young Van Nest will be wound up for some years to come. He has been mixed up in all kinds of affairs but somehow or other has always had the faculty of worming out of the trouble and escaping the Reformatory. He is undersized for his age but it is doubtful if any boy of his years has beaten his record with the police.

New York Paper Quotes Press Comment in Opposition to Race in This State.

UNWISE PROPOSITION

Endorses Stand Taken By Plainfield Daily Press and Newark Evenings News and Paterson Guardian.

"New York roads seem to be unavailable for the Vanderbilt cup race for motor cars this year, and its promoters have turned to New Jersey, the State of good highways, in the hope that the contest may find a welcome there. 'Take us in,' they plead. 'You have splendid roads, and we shall spend a lot of money on the days of the preliminaries and of the final struggle. It's a good business proposition; turn your roads into a racecourse, and you will find a profit in it.' All that New Jersey needs to do is to line its pockets with the racers' money is to repeal or forget to enforce the statute regulating the use of automobiles. It is a simple plan; how does it appeal to the people of the State? Curiously enough, they seem reluctant to take advantage of this opportunity. The Daily Press of Plainfield says:

"'It is not surprising that the newspapers about the State have risen up in arms against the scheme to make New Jersey highways a speed course for wealthy automobilists from other States. The Frelinghuysen law, which meets with the general approval of the inhabitants of New Jersey, is a most excellent measure. The fact is that it never occurred to any one that there was need of a suspension of its provisions until some enthusiastic race promoters discovered that they might have their apetite for deadly speed contests satisfied by picturing the amount of money that would be spent in the State while the event is taking place. Surely what is not considered wise in New York could not be made to be proper in New Jersey. It would certainly be a serious reflection on our good name if the race were permitted to be held here after the Empire State has placed a ban on it. The whole matter is a question of principle and not of dollars and cents.'

"Principle and a few human lives appeal more effectively to the Newark Evening News than the prospect of taking in a little money over the counter:

"'To permit them [the automobile racers] the use of the public highways is outrageous under any circumstances conceivable. Those highways are nowhere adapted to such a purpose, and they can at no time be devoted to it, no matter under what precautions, without doing vast injury to public property and placing the lives of many people in danger. Just one of the lives lost in the Vanderbilt race is worth a millionfold more than all the so-called advantages to be derived from all such contests that have been or will be held.'

"Vain is the money appeal to the Guardian of Paterson, which, strangly, seems to lack any feeling of awe when it considers the personnel of the crowd that follows motor car racing:

"'How would it look now to pass a special law to permit the speed maniacs to invade this State, simply because a bunch of millionaires are willing to pay for any damage done and raise a purse for the surviving family of any unfortunate who may be killed during the racing or preliminary practice?'

"'A bunch of millianaires!' One could not be more disrespectful to a hand of bananas. The Guardian recalls that the highways belong to the people, and remarks that they should not be given over to any particular class, to the exclusion of others, for any period of time. The Elizabeth Journal, epitomizing the expressions of many newspapers, says:

"'It ils the general opinion among the newspapers of the State, commenting on the proposed race, that the thing for the millionaires to do if they want the race to be held from year to year is to buy a tract of land and biuld a racecourse. This is the only thing for them to do.'

"But the race promoters are philanthropists who want to hold their speed trials where they may distribute their money among the public. Why force them to do as the owners of fast horses do? Of the purpose of roads the News of Perth Amboy says:

"'New Jersey has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in improving the roads throughout the State. This was done primarily to benefit the farmer and make it easier for him to reach markets with his truck. What, then, is the excuse for turning the roads over to a few millionaires that they may idle away a few hours of

CLAIMED WHOLE COUNTY

FOUND IN OLD SHOP

Discovered by Vice Chancellor Howell While Rummaging in a Place in New York.

Vice Chancellor Howell, of Newark, while rummaging in a genealogical shop in New York in search for data for a historical paper he is writing, ran across a document of great interest and historical value. It is an answer to a bill filed in resistance to a suit taken from the then owners of all the land included in the territory embracing Newark, Elizabeth, the Orange mountains and intervening sections.

The document is written on parchment and is in an excellent state of preservation. It bears the signatures of more than 400 persons, some of whom were the founders of famous New Jersey families.

The document rightfully belongs to the archives of the court of chancery. It was lost, but how it fell into the possession of the owner of a New York curiosity shop is a mystery, the unraveling of which may shed considerable light upon the early history of what are now Essex and Union counties.

Vice Chancellor Howell will bring the matter to the attention of Chancellor Magie and Governor Stokes will be requested to lend his influence in securing the passage of a bill that will enable the State to purchase the old parchment. The present holders of the document want $1,500 for it. There are in all about 10 pages of writing.

In the early part of the 17th century a party of English immigrants purchased the tract in question from the Indians, giving in payment a small quantity of powder, shot and trinkets. In 1751 the landed proprietors, in the name of the crown, brought suit to nullify the transaction, claiming that the Indians had no title to the lands and could not sell it.

The parchment unearthed by Vice Chancellor Howell is the answer to the bill in that suit, the defendants being the original purchasers of the land or their heirs. All that is known is that the suit was dropped or sidetracked or lost sight of in some manner.

Vice Chancellor Howell regards the parchment as a great find, from a historical view point, and he said today he would try to have it placed back in the possession of the State.

CHILD KNOCKED DOWN.

Five-Year-Old Mary Rosse Bruised By Grocery Wagon.

Five-year-old Mary Rosse, daughter of Paul Rosse, was knocked down by a Metropolitan Grocery Company wagon, this morning, near her home on Cottage place. The child was struck glancingly, and suffered only slight bruises.

There was a lot of excitement in the neighborhood when the accident happened, and panic calls for the patrol wagon and the ambulance. The wagon, with Patrolman Charles Flynn, responded. The child, held in her mother's arms, was carried to the hospital, where Mrs. Rosse's fears for the child's life were removed.

Spending Day at the Shore.

Regardless of the threatening weather, about 800 people went on the Baptist excursion this morning to Asbury Park. There were eleven coaches in the first section, the last two of which were only partially unoccupied. The train was in charge of Engineer William Dunham, Conductor M. A. Napp, Fireman Herbert Cline, and Brakemen Fred Johnson, W. J. Cane and William Walden. The second section consisted of ten coaches, only five of which were occupied. Fred Mannon was the engineer of this train, and F. O. Webster the conductor.

Todd, of Dunellen, who had been a regular attendant at the church services. The resolutions were ordered spread on the minutes of the Consistory and a copy will be sent to the bereaved family. The funeral took place at his late home in Dunellen this afternoon.

Dr. R. C. Wormley Marries.

MARTINE BOOM WANES?

Katzenbach May Give Him a Run for Delegates in His Own County.

OTHERS IN LIMELIGHT

As Confidence Increases in Democratic Ranks There Is Less Disposition to Name Martine.

When the time comes to elect delegates to the Democratic State convention that will be held before many weeks have passed, and which will nominate a candidate for Governor, according to the Elizabeth Journal, Republican, it will be found that James E. Martine, of Plainfield cannot have the solid delegation from Union without a struggle or a dicker, according to several politicians in his own party. It is possible that Martine may get the support of all the delegates from his own county either by electing a majority of them who will enforce the unit rule, or even by overcoming at the primaries whatever opposition may have developed. But it is declared no longer probable that he and his backers can sit quietly by and just watch Martine delegates being chosen.

Martine's stock rose rapidly about the time that the dinner was given in his honor in Elizabeth recently. The splendid testimonial to him by his neighbors had its effect throughout the State, and Martine as a possible nominee for the Governorship was seriously discussed in many newspapers and treated with mild satisfaction by those which did not like to become too enthusiastic about it. The confidence that possessed the Democratic ranks even then appears to be more deep-rooted now, and with this change in feeling has also come the belief that the party should nominate a man who is more of a known quantity than Martine.

Some Democrats do not take kindly to the suggestion that Martine is not an absolutely known quantity. Others argue that while his position as a campaigner can always be defined it is very uncertain what kind of a record he would make in the Governor's chair. Martine, they say, is a half lover of ancient conventions and an ardent exponent of new theories. He has blessings ready for the newest reformer and holds out the olive branch to the old bosses. All who discuss his candidacy admit that he is honest to the point of scrupulousness but many fear that he lacks constructiveness to the degree of courting chaos. His tendency to tear away the things despised is recognized, but his ability to put together what is wanted is doubted it is alleged. As a picturesque executive it is said that he would be a success but as a business-like Governor it is declared that he would be a failure.

His record in his own county is cited by politicians as being in his favor and as being against him. Some point to the long string of defeats he has encountered as nominee for important offices as a handicap; others maintain that the strong runs he has made under adverse conditions are sufficient to offset the fact that victory never smiled upon him.

In this dissection of his character by the politicians, men of experience in sizing up good timber, there is noticeable a lack of agreement as to his availability. "Availability is the kind of ability we want this year," said one Democrat, "and Martine fills the bill. But that view as to qualification is combated by those who are most sanguine of success this fall, whether they are Martine men or not.

Friends of Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., former mayor of Trenton, believe that he is the proper shape for the Gubernatorial chair after January 1 next, and are doing some quiet work in his behalf. There is something more than a kindly feeling for Katzenbach among many Union county Democrats and it is said that when the proper time comes some of them will take off their coats to hustle for him.

General D. F. Colins is the chief sponser of the Martine boom in Elizabeth, and at present, probably notwithstanding that it is losing ground still has the rank and file behind him. The general will stand for Martine till the last, it is declared, and will do some hard work to round up delegates for his favorite, if hard work becomes necessary.

Political gossip places Councilman Edward Nugent, of Elizabeth, in the Katzenbach column and willing to exert himself for the Trenton man. Whether this will mean a line-up of Elizabeth Democrats on the Martine-Katzenbach issue is only conjecture as yet. Mr. Nugent is known to entertain a friendly feeling for Katzenbach and to be an admirer of him for the Gubernatorial honors. It is recalled that Councilman Nugent did not attend the Martine dinner. That fact is not necessarily insignificant.

APPRISE THE SURETY CO.

Sewer Contractor's Bondsmen Are Told the Facts in the Case.

NO WORD FROM MORGAN

And No Sign of Cusack—Men Remain Quiet, Under Sedative Influence of City Work Pay on Saturday.

All the facts in the case of the South Side sewer tangle were laid before the Metropolitan Surety Company, of New York, bondsmen of the contractor, yesterday. The company made no promise as securing the city should protection be necessary, but no significance is attached to that. At the proper time, it is felt, the city will secure the protection to which it is entitled under the bond.

City Treasurer William Arnold, who was in New York yesterday, called at the Surety Company's office in the afternoon, and brought the case to its attention. Later, the company called up Street Commissioner Gavett on the telephone and secured additional information as to the progress of the work and like features.

No word has been received from Morgan, the contractor, and not a hint of the whereabouts of Cusack, the missing attorney, has been secured. Chief Kiely learned yesterday that Morgan was at Hibernia, N. Y., instead of at Poughkeepsie, to where messages had been sent, and the telegrams were duplicated to that place. A reply may be received from the contractor this afternoon.

All symptoms of disorder have been eliminated from the case. The laborers are satisfied that the city is seeking to protect them, and that with Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., representing them, their claims are in good and capable hands. Patsy Miehle, the labor contractor, returned from New York yesterday, and agreed to continue boarding the men when he learned of the work given them by the city. They will pay him Saturday night, when the street department will pay them. The money was made available by Mr. Arnold's agreement to advance the necessary amount on the street department pay roll. The work is not expected to last over Saturday night. The job on which the men are engaged is the relaying of the abandoned shallow 15-inch Richmond street storm sewer in Putnam avenue. A score of the laborers left town yesterday, and practically all of them will probably leave as soon as they get their money Saturday evening.

EXCURSIONIST HURT BY FALL FROM TRAIN

EAST ORANGE MAN INJURED IN SOUTH PLAINFIELD THIS MORNING.

James McCray, thirty-six years old, a mason, living at 44 Park place, East Orange, was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital from South Plainfield, this morning, suffering from a severely sprained left leg. He was injured in a fall from a Lehigh Valley excursion train near the South Plainfield station.

He was found lying beside the track after the train passed, in a semi-conscious condition. He couldn't tell how the accident occurred. It was said in South Plainfield that he slipped from the step, and a wheel ran over his heel. No bones were broken if a wheel did go over his foot. The sprain is severe and he may remain at the hospital for some time. His family were notified.

Dog Cather For Both.

Arrangements have been made in the borough to clear the streets of unmuzzled dogs. Yesterday Chief of Police Weiss rented a stable at the old brick yard on Maple avenue, which will be used as a pound. City Dog Catcher "Jim" Babbitt has been secured as dog catcher and he will begin his duties in the borough tomorrow.

Big Auto Firm Tied Up.

The factory of the Grout Automobile Company at Orange has shut down for an indefinite period and an attachment for $200,000 has been placed on the company's property as the preliminary step in an action brought by W. L. Grout, of Greenfield, who is a large stockholder.

Plainfielders' Safe Passage.

Advices have been received in this city that the Oceanic arrived at Plymouth yesterday. Among the Plainfielders on board were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Mulford Estil, Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Case. Senator and Mrs. Everett Colby were also passengers.

HASTINGS' SNUG BERTH

New York's Democratic Mayor Gives Hugh Hastings a $7,500 Job.

AS A TAX COMMISSIONER

Hugh Hastings, of This City, Resigns As State Historian of New York to Take a More Lucrative Job.

Hugh Hastings, a Republican, having a home in West Seventh street, Plainfield, was appointed yesterday by Mayor George B. McClellan, of New York city, a Democrat, a tax commissioner for that city. For the last twelve years Mr. Hastings has been the state historian, resigning that position Tuesday.

The appointment of a Republican by the Mayor has caused much comment among the politicians, who interpret it as another slap at Tammany. Mr. Hastings is a warm personal friend of the Mayor, and it may be that personal reasons solely are responsible for his appointment.

The new tax commissioner succeeds a Democrat, John J. Brady, who was elected a Supreme Court justice last November. The salary is $7,000 a year. Mr. Hastings' salary as state historian was $5,000.

Mr. Hastings was an Albany newspaper correspondent when, in 1895, Governor Morton appointed him state historian. In that position he has done notable work. He was considered one of the most popular state officials in Albany.

One of the works of great importance that Mr. Hastings has published is a religious history of the state in several volumes.

TAKEN TO TRENTON.

Italian Shooter Will Be Arraigned Today; Victim Recovering.

Antonio Marrow, the Italian arrested on a Reading train yesterday morning for the Trenton police, who wanted him on a charge of shooting Nicholas Jenneno, of 64 Gordon Alley, Trenton, was taken to Trenton yesterday afternoon by Detective Clancy, of the Trenton police force. His victim is being treated at the McKinley Hospital. He was shot in the leg, on July 4. He will recover and is expected to leave the institution in a short time.

Marrow was sought since the morning of the Fourth. Early yesterday morning Sergeant Mullen, at First district police station, received information to the effect that three Italians, one of whom answered to the description of Marrow, had purchased through tickets at Bound Brook for New York on the Reading railway. The sergeant communicated with the police here, after vainly trying to get Bound Brook by telephone.

Marrow will be arraigned before Judge Harris today. He is charged with atrocious assault.

Cement Company's Stock.

Plainfield men play an important part in the incorporation of the new National Cement Company. Clarence L. Murphy is president, Dr. R. W. Emerson, treasurer, and Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow is a director. The company is organized with the intention of erecting and controlling producing cement properties. The demand for this product, it is said, is more than equal to the supply. Plans have been completed for the erection of a two thousand barrel per day plant at Carpenterville, N. J. The property has been extensively prospected and the various analysis of the rock show that it is well adapted for the manufacture of Portland cement. The offices are at No. 1 Wall street, New York. Instead of having the stock underwritten it is being freely offered for sale.

Dr. Wanser Love Engaged.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Dr. Wanser Love, formerly of this city, and Miss Emily Hill, of Providence, R. I. Dr. Love is a practising physician in Providence and is a son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Edward Love, of this city. Miss Hill is a daughter of Dr. Lester Hill, one of Rhode Island's leading physicians.

Cobbler Makes Complaint.

Harris Goldstein, a cobbler, whose shop is on Watchung avenue, appeared in the city court this morning to press a complaint of disorderly conduct against M. J. Kennedy, a hackman. He said Kennedy called him out of his name. Judge Runyon suspended sentence.

LEARN FORGER'S CAREER

In Pleading Before Judge Atwater, Charles E. Fay Tells About His Wrongdoings.

ONCE A TRUSTED CLERK

Was Employed In Municipal Department at Boston But Dissipation Caused His Downfall.

Beside pleading guilty to a charge of forgery before Judge Atwater in the Court of Quarter Sessions, yesterday, Charles E. Fay, who was arrested in this city for the crime, furnished the authorities with his complete history and acquainted them with the fact that he had done the same thing on several previous occasions.

Fay was at once time employed as a clerk in the Municipal Department at Boston and was considered a model young man. Association with evil companions and dissipation in various forms led to his downfall and he left the Hub to avoid exposure. His steps led him to Plainfield and he located in this city in search of new opportunities.

Fay entered the local branch of the Salvation Army in the industrial corps and became well known in this locality. No one had reason to believe but what he was conducting himself in any but an exemplary way until the police placed him under arrest for forging the name of Counsellor William M. Stillman to a check and passing it on Harry Werner. He at first refused to give details about himself and it was only when he was arraigned in court yesterday that the police got all the information they were after.

The police learned that in forging Mr. Stillman's name he was only duplicating past performances with his pen, his usual mode of proceedure being to inspire confidence and then taken advantage of liberties allowed him. The check he passed at Werner's was for $32.84, securing a suit of clothes and some change on it. He had no more than left the store when it was found the Stillman signature was not genuine and the police were notified. He was caught within a short time after he left the store.

Judge Atwater announced that he would pass sentence on Fay next Saturday morning. He has been in jail since May 14 last, having been unable to secure bail.

FORGOT PASSING TIME.

Daughter Over Whom Mrs. Pierce Worried Was Only Talking.

Miss Alice Pierce entertained the G. E. Club, of New Market, at her home on the village main street Monday night. When the meeting ended at 10:30 o'clock Miss Pierce went out with Miss Iva Dayton to accompany her part of the way home. At 11 o'clock Miss Pierce hadn't come home. At 11:30 she was still out, and at 12 o'clock there was no sign of her return. Mrs. Pierce, who with her husband, Constable Robert Pierce, had retired, began to worry over her daughter.

At 12:30, when Miss Pierce was still missing, she insisted on her husband's arising and making a search for his daughter. The constable arose, dressed and went forth on the search. A short distance down the road he heard voices. Approaching closely to see who the speakers were, he was amazed to see his daughter and Miss Dayton in earnest conversation. They were equally amazed when they learned the time. They had paused before a friend's house two hours previous for a "few minutes" talk. Engrossed in the conversation they remained entirely oblivious to the passage of time, and might have talked until dawn if Mr. Pierce hadn't interrupted them.

Had Wrong License.

Simon Clarfeldt, who conducts a grocery store at Spooner avenue and West Third street, was arrested yesterday for peddling with a wagon under a license granted for peddling on foot. He told Judge Runyon this morning that he didn't know there were two kinds or peddlers' licenses, and as he is a new-comer in town, the magistrate accepted the explanation. The license he holds is less than a month old, and an effort will be made to have the $10.50 paid for it apply on the payment of the $25.50 that the wagon license costs.

Father Boone's Success.

Rev. Father Boone, son of Dr. W. C. Boone, of West Seventh street, is spending a week with his father, en route to Washington from a delightful vacation trip through Nova Scotia with his mother and sister. Father Boone is the curate at the Church of the Holy Comforter, in Washington, and has been very successful in his work. He is now one of the popular candidates for a ten days' trip to the Jamestown Exposition being conducted by the Washington Post.

RACE UPSETS THE PLAINS

Gang's Pursuit of Fleeing Constable Plays Havoc with Customary Silence.

RACKET WAS FEARFUL

Display of Revolver Stops the Chase and Now the Villagers Are Waiting For Developments.

The fractiousness of a gang of young hoodlums gave Scotch Plains' usual after-dark serenity a fearful jolt at about 10:30 last night and for a time the law-abiding residents throught an invasion of desperadoes was in progress. Swiftly moving figures sped up and down the main streets and a succession of yells that rent the air brought everybody to the front windows, much the same as when the vamps respond to an alarm of fire and do a lot of unnecessary shouting to let folks know they're earning their exemption from taxes. It was nearly half an hour before the racket subsided and the timid heads of families screwed up enough courage to go outside and learn the trouble.

The excitement had its beginning, it is said, in one of the local hotels, which as everybody knows, are the social clearing houses after night fall in communities the size of Scotch Plains. It seems that Constable Guerrier, a one time terror of evil-doers, incurred the displeasure of a village youth who, it is said, has more brawn than brain. He is alleged to have applied an epithet to the minion of the law that brought a reply in the shape of a fearful right-hand jolt just back of the ear and the brawny one bumped the floor with his head. It made him forget that he was looked upon as an embryo Fitzsimmons and his first thought was to secure a weapon to wipe out the insult.

He hurriedly left the place with the avowed intention, it is said, of securing a gun but he returned in a few minutes without one but backed up by a gang of his friends. There were fifteen or twenty of them in all, most of them of the stamp, it is said, that Scotch Plains would gladly dispose of for anything from a barber's pole to a four-leaf clover. They came to see fair play, they said, and then directed their aggrieved companion just how to "finish up" the man who had struck him.

Guerrier is quite some pumpkins when it comes to handling his fists and he was in especially fine fettle last night. He gave his adversary all "he was looking for" and the fact dawned upon the phalanx in the rear. It was just at this point that the uproar started and the neighborhood had its slumbers disturbed.

The two belligerents had by degrees adjourned to the street and it gave the gang an opportunity to circle around them. Realizing that he couldn't take care of them all, the constable waited for an opening and then beat it up the street, going so fast he only touched the high spots in the road. The entire delegation of plug-uglies took after him and such a racket as ensued has not been heard in that section of the township in many a day. The combined effect of the hooting and yelling was somewhat like the cross between the "High C" of a Missouri mule and the snore of a harelipped hedgehog. Windows went banging up everywhere and the faces that peered out were as white as the scant raiment that showed through the openings.

The race led up one street and down another and was finally ended by the fleeing man drawing his revolver. It had the effect of stopping his pursuers and they scattered in every direction, not stopping for an instant to find out if it was loaded. In twenty seconds the officer was in full possession of the vicinity and couldn't have brought back one of the gang if $10 bills hung on every bush.

Of course, a large number of the participants in the affair are known but so far no court developments have ensued. It is probable that something will happen, however, as since the Bishops' bill went into effect, Scotch Plains has enjoyed peace and doesn't relish getting roused up for nothing.

Socialist Did Not Speak.

George K. Kirkpatrick, lecturer on civic and labor problems, who was to speak last night at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, failed to put in an appearance. The reception committee waited for an hour and then disbanded.

Two candidates were initiated by the local Elks last night and one application was received. Members who have not yet received their Philadelphia badges are requested to call for them.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Poor Westfield! The fans were foolish enough to think that they could support a league team, while they could not meet expenses to say nothing about a profit. Wonder what Charles Denman thinks about it.

The fans will have a chance to see one of the best games of the season at Crescent Oval Saturday. Clinton Avenue and Y. M. C. A. will battle for supremacy and it will be fast going all the way.

It is reported that Minford may not be in condition to pitch for Y. M. C. A. Saturday. If this is true, George Dupee will probably do the slab work and there will be something doing.

Clifford Randolph, the star pitcher for Clinton Avenue, has held his own in every game he has pitched this season, performing the unusual feat of working in both games on the Fourth and on the following Saturday, winning all three. He will undoubtedly have the Indian sign with him Saturday when he faces the Y. M. C. A. team.

Raritan will make a determined effort on Saturday to wrest a game from Scotch Plains, when it will meet the latter aggregation at the Plains. As yet the Somerset county boys have not won a game, but they have been putting up a strong fight in every contest.

Hal Chase, of the Highlanders, is hitting the ball hard these days and making a big climb in his batting average.

Grant, of the Phillies, is playing a remarkably fast game for the Quaker City team. He is lightning quick on the recover after stopping a hard hit ball.

Roger Bresnahan, who returns next week to the Giants, after an enforced retirement of several weeks, will surprise his friends by wearing a rubber headgear which will completely protect his head and save him in the future from blows of the kind that laid him out in Cincinnati. The headgear resembles closely that worn by football players. It covers his ears and temples and almost the entire back of the head. He does not think it will interfere with his playing and will afford ample protection from wild pitchers.

Pittsburg has secured the services of Jim Swift, the crack pitcher of the Wilkesbarre team, of the New York State League. He is a Pole and he never saw a professional game of ball before the one he pitched in and won for Wilkesbarre at the opening of the season. He was christened Swift by his fellow players, his right name being Michael Propertski.

Even if the haughty managers wouldn't talk of it, the reporters—slick chaps, those reporters—unearthed some of the proceedings. The Raritan Club list was received and filed. The fans are familiar with the active members of the nine. Nothing else, except general talk of the situation and outlook, occupied the "magnates'" times.

GOLF.

Only seven strokes behind Walter Travis, who returned a score of 75, the lowest in the first half of the thirty-six hole national championship play, is pretty good going. That was Robert Abbott's score in the first day's play.

The event that is holding the attention of the members of the Westfield Golf Club this month is the handicap match play for the Governor's cup, by the players who qualified on the last Saturday in June. There will be the qualifying rounds for Classes A and B on the four Saturdays of the month for handicap match play during August. The four lowest net scores in each class on each Saturday to qualify. The prizes for August handicap match play competition are presented by H. Talbot and E. D. Floyd.

The contestant who scores the greatest number of points for the July cup at the Park Golf Club, this month, will become the permanent holder of the trophy. This is a handicap competition, eighteen holes, medal play, the five lowest net scores each day of play to score points as follows: First, five points; second, four points; third, three points; fourth, two points, and fifth, one point. The trophy is offered by the club.

L. A. Chase and W. B. Tyler will play the finals for the third eight cup at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday. This match and the one for the club championship between W. Lester Glenney and C. B. Morgan will be of special interest.

"Marty" O'Loughlin is getting in fine condition for the professional tournament to be held the last of the month at the VanCortlandt Park links. Last year the young "pro" made a great showing in this tournament, taking away considerable money.

The green committee, of the Plainfield Country Club, of which Leighton Calkins is the chairman, continues to make little improvements in the course as the season progresses. The extra hazards made through the use of large quantities of sand are having their effect on the scores, the course being more difficult than ever.

It is noticed that the handicap committee of the Plainfield Country Club has been busy of late, especially among the players in the Class B division. Some of the contestants in this class are playing as good a game as those in Class A. The second division is rapidly being cut down each week.

TENNIS.

The tennis event of interest at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday will be men's doubles, open to members of the clubs of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association, and to other players by invitation. The entrance fee will be $2 per team. The tennis players of Plainfield and North Plainfield are invited to enter. The tournament will be continued and concluded on Saturday, July 20.

On Saturday, July 27, the Plainfield open championship in men's singles will be played on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club. This event is open to all players in Plainfield and North Plainfield and will undoubtedly draw a number of contestants. The prize, a cup, is presented by Thomas M. Day. This tournament will be continued and concluded on Saturday, August 3, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

It's dollars to doughnuts that the captain of the Kronprinz Wilhelm is not a Yankee. Had he towed that iceberg into New York, it would have been worth the price of a skyscraper.

In all, residents of seven counties are in favor of holding the race in New Jersey. The people have found out that automobiles bring money to towns, and they have become so common in the State that the old prejudice against them has largely subsided. The argument that the race would bring at least $600,000 into the State during the two days was a convincing one with the legislators and with the people.—Trenton dispatch in New York Times.

SMITH TALKS POLITICS

On Return For Long Trip the County Chairman Comments on Gubernatorial Booms.

REFERS TO SOMMER

Likewise Touches On Martine—Nothing About the Presentment, However.

County Registra Frank H. Smith, who is also chairman of the Republican County Committee, was at his office in the Courthouse at Elizabeth yesterday afternoon, after being absent since April 3. Mr. Smith reached his home in this city Tuesday night from a trip to the West and Northwest. He visited New Mexico, Arizonia, California, Oregon and Washington, and sailed from Seattle ta Alaska, where he spent several days at White Pass, at the entrance to the Klondike.

Mr. Smith did not keep in touch with affairs, political or otherwise, in New Jersey while away and consequently had little to say to the numerous questions hurled at him by reporters on his arrival home.

"What do you think of the present political situation in this State?" asked one reporter who was after a big story all at once.

"I don't know what the present situation is just yet, replied Mr. Smith. You'll have to give me time to get posted. What is the situation?"

"Well, Frank H. Sommer is the choice of the Essex county Colbyites as the Republican candidate for Governor. What do you think of that move?"

"If Frank Sommer gets it I'll take off my coat and work for him as hard as I would for any other man. Mr. Sommer was very ill about the time I went away. I didn't think his health would allow him to run. He is a fearless fellow, I believe. For a candidate we want a man who will be satisfactory or nearly so, to all wings of the party. I know that I am willing to swallow and forget entirely any old grudges to help make the ticket successful."

Mr. Smith was told that James E. Martine, his fellow townsman, had a full-fledged boom for the Democratic nomination and was asked his opinion about it.

"Martine deserves well of his party, but I do not believe he will get the nomination. Our Democratic friends are very confident, in fact, a little cocksure. But I don't see the basis for their feelings. I don't believe Jim Martine or any other Democratic candidate will be able to carry the State this fall unless something terrible that I am not aware of has happened the Republican party while I was away."

"Got anything to say about the recent presentment by the Grand Jury?" asked a reporter.

"I have heard about the presentment but haven't read it."

MARTINE BOOM WANES?

say the politicians, but it lets him out of having taken any part in what was without question a Martine boom.

Some of the political forecasters are going as far as to name the wards that will be for Martine and those that will be for Katzenbach should the issue be joined here.

There is some talk among local Democrats of State Senator George S. Silzer, of Middlesex, for Governor, but no active work will be done in his behalf here, ccording to present indications. Mr. Silzer is a young man who is serving his first term in the Senate, and the opinion is expressed that he can afford to wait for a try at the Governorship if he has ambitions in that direction.

John R. Hardin, of Newark, of the firm of Pitney, Hardin & Skinner, must not be overlooked, according to the calculations of politicians. It is true that he recently refused a Supreme Court judgeship, but he might consent, it is said, to be a candidate for Governor. He is a stanch friend of former United States Senator James Smith, Jr.

William C. Heppenheimer, of Hudson, who enjoys the friendship of "Boss" Bob Davis, Smith's rival for the inside management of the Democratic party, must not be lost sight of either, it is declared.

Then there is Charles C. Black, of Hudson, who was defeated in 1904 by Governor Stokes by a plurality of 50,000 in a year which Theodore Roosevelt had 80,000 plurality in New Jersey. Stokes was a popular candidate—the best the Republicans could nominate, it is argued. Putting these things together, the friends of Mr. Black say he should be first considered as a nominee for Governorship.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

We believe that at this time—less than two months before the day when delegates to nominate candidates for Governor must be elected— a very large proportion of the Republican voters of this State are prepared and expect to help elect a Democratic Governor as well as Legislature.

We believe the very large majority in this State today want a change. They want an end to law-making in which the people have no part and in which the public interests receive no regard. They want an exit given, quick and complete, to the faithless rulers whom corporation boodle and influences have put and kept upon the State until their service of special interest has become tto flagrant for the further toleration of honest voters of even the party in power.

They want an end to the squandering of the State's revenues and of County taxes on the increasing swarm of useless and unused office-holders whom the people have never asked for and have no voice in choosing.

There are a few laws the people want, and want badly, for their own relief. But they want a most immediate end to a rule that is first and always for the benefit of special interests and never for equal rights and benefits to all.

But the Democratic party cannot hope for the hearty support of its own people, and certainly cannot hope to win the votes of Republicans who want a "house-cleaning" in this State at this time, if they nominate a candidate whom any ring puts on the Convention to defeat the predominant sentiment of the party itself.

In this part of the State, and we think pretty generally elsewhere, this sentiment has been unmistakably crystalizing around the name of James E. Martine—the man on whom his party united so enthusiastically in the recent election of U. S. Senator; the man who has against hopeless odds borne the party's standard when placed in his hands without the asking, and borne it always with honor and with a popular support which no other man could have won; a man whom all the people in every county have learned to know as not only eminently fit but incorruptibly true for any trust.

We have abundant evidence that James E. Martine is already the popular choice of our party for this nomination. We are convinced that he is today the choice of the people of other parties who are wanting the State redeemed from present rule, but who want a real redemption to a clean and faithful public service under a Governor who will know no other interest than that of the whole State. And with this will of the people—of the masses of our own party—it will be mighty unwise for any "leader" to try to interfere if he really wants his party to win.

And not only should so-called leaders be warned; but the voters of the party should be warned to make the delegate elections a business of their own this year.—Clinton Democrat.

THE DELICATE WOMAN

unable to operate the ordinary form of sewing-machine without fatigue, can use the SILENT SINGER AUTOMATIC with the greatest ease. The acme of perfection in construction and artistic finish, this machine is positively the lightest-running of any. Its low, broad treadle enables frequent change in position of the feet, or it can be furnished in a portable form to be effectively run by hand if desired. It has neither shuttle nor bobbin, and no tensions to adjust, but is ready for use when the needle is threaded.

The Silent Singer

has many points of preference that can easily be demonstrated by examination and comparison with similar machines.

their time?. The highways of New Jersey are for public use, not for private racing.'

"A most unbusinesslike refusal to consider seriously the principal argument advanced in favor of allowing the race—the money it would bring into the State—is apparent in the newspapers of New Jersey. Perhaps it is not the argument best adapted to the character of the population. Can it be possible that New Jersey is not for sale as a racecourse? Can there be another community besides New York in which public sentiment favors the exclusion from the highways of engines making from fifty to ninety miles an hour, and incidentally ruining the roadways, obstructing traffic and killing the unwary, weak, infantile or infirm among the inhabitants?"

GIRL OF 18 DRINKS POISON AT DEPOT

MISS HANNAH MOFFEY, OF ARLINGTON, ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

In the presence of about fifty women in the women's rooms of the Lackawanna Railroad's Broad street station, at New York, Miss Hannah Maffey, eighteen years old and pretty, of 87 Brighton street, Arlington, attempted suicide by taking a large dose of paris green shortly before 12 o'clock last night. She was hurried to St. Michael's Hospital in the Second Precinct ambulance and the stomach pump probably saved her life. She was identified by cards and letters found in her pockets and her parents were notified.

The young girl entered the waiting room about 11 o'clock and took a seat between two other women. Her actions attracted attention from the first. It was noticed that she was intensely nervous. She never sat for more than a minute at a time in one place and kept roaming around the room, now and then separating other women by edging between them.

Finally she went to the end of the room and insisted on sitting between two women companions. They gave her space, but she insisted on a larger allowance, and it was granted. She had hardly taken the seat when she arose, put her hand in her pocket, and, withdrawing a half-pint bottle of green fluid, drank practically the whole contents before witnesses had realized what she was doing. The bottle dropped and she sank to the floor. All hastened to the girl's assistance, and the porter telephoned the Second Precinct Station.

When her parents called at the hospital they told the authorities that they were unable to account for their daughter's action. They said she left home before supper, saying that she was going to Newark to make some purchases, and that she would return early. She is pretty, refined-looking and handsomely dressed.

Cause of Complaint Removed.

An obnoxious smell that has been eminating from certain points along Green brook in the West End of the city, has been traced by the Board of Health to a quantity of damaged grain taken from the old Cadmus Mill ruins which was dumped near the brook and allowed to run down stream. Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow notified Mr. Cadmus and yesterday the cause was removed, the grain being taken to the city dump at the foot of Compton avenue.

Fitzsimmons Training Hard.

In the afternoon he goes into the gymnasium he has fitted up in the barn, where he puts in some heavy work.

Frederick G. Lasher, of Summit avenue, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

July 14: "The Snare of Avarice."—Luke xviii, 18-25.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Passages for reference—Ex. xxiii, 8; Prov. xi, 28; Luke xii, 15-21; Phil. iv, 11-13; I Tim. vi, 6-10.

"How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God!"

"Thou shalt take no bribe, for a bribe blindeth them that have sight and perverteth the words of the righteous."

Is money, then, such a bad thing to have? Few persons will really believe this, and still fewer will from choice be without it. Does the Bible actually condemn the possession of wealth? This matter needs most careful thought, especially by young people who have to fix their ideals and life purposes and choose the path they will follow without having had the benefit of extended experience. There is grave danger on the one side of fanatical narrowness and bigotry and on the other of a lax conformity to the standards of the unChristian world around.

Thrift is commended and commanded in all parts of the Bible, and especially is it enjoined on the Christian in the practical parts of the New Testament. With this is coupled frugality. Wherever these are practiced there naturally follows a surplus of products over the immediate needs for use, and hence wealth is begun. This is not an evil and is not condemned. It is the plain path to human betterment.

The point to be guarded is the inner sentiment one has toward this accumulation, the estimate which is put on the riches and the intention regarding their use. The danger is not in the stuff, but in the man. It is not the goods of the man, but the man's good that is important. Character acquisition and not cash accumulation is the end to be sought. We are to make men, and the making of money is of value only as it assists in this.

The securing of a surplus is of great moment to every young person. It was John Wesley who used to say, "Make all you can and save all you can." But he also said in connection with it, "Give all you can." Every young man and woman at the very beginning of money earning should begin also the practice of economy and the laying aside of some part of the income. A part should be sacredly devoted to church expenses and benevolence, but another part should be saved and laid up for future needs and uses. This will be one of the most powerful forces in counteracting the tendency to avarice, which is an undue estimate of riches.

There is scarcely another evil of which we are in greater danger at the present time than this same spirit of avarice. The haste to be rich infects the whole body of society. The recent amassing of enormous fortunes by many poor people in many different ways, the increase of luxuries and changes in mode of living, all tend to increase the effort for means to gratify desires.

Settle one thing securely in mind, that no amount of goods and wealth will satisfy the soul's desires. Settle your estimate of the value of money to you and limit yourself to that. Keep the heart under control and rule your desires for things as rigidly as you restrain every other impulse to evil. What others may have or may lack is no standard for you. Master your spirit and get only that in quality and quantity which will be of benefit. Gluttony in eating and intemperance in drinking you avoid. Shun more carefully the intoxication of riches, for it is more deadly and less curable. What shall be your limit? As well ask how much you ought to eat at a meal. Find out your needs and capacity; that is your task. But beware of an overestimate.

Special Promise to Christians.

Christians are brethren. With a community of interests, they have common needs and wants. Here is our Lord's special promise to them when they meet together to ask what they in common desire. There are promises to private prayer, to family prayer, to public prayer. This promise is to the symphony of prayer. Giving the smallest number that could form a union, Christ gives the largest encouragement to united prayer. Very sweet is the assurance of His presence then. That is enough. He is the shekinah in this holy of holies. It is He who binds the saints together when they say "our." When He is one of a praying company, what wonder that "it shall be done for them?" As Westcott says, "Their prayer is only some form of teaching transformed into a supplication, and so it will necessarily be heard." They ask in His name. That pleads His authority and His wisdom. Christ has omnipotence and omniscience. We have neither. It were not to be desired if this large promise offered the first and not the second. Let us therefore have faith and "keep not silence till He establish Jerusalem."—John Reid.

Sun and Shadow.

It is the sun that makes the shadows possible, beloved; do not forget that. So shalt thou learn the first of all needed lessons for dark days. When it is midnight even the sun has not gone out; the dark old earth has rolled its own bulk between its face and the sun; it is dark because of its own shadow.

How often, O my soul, hast thou turned thy back upon God and mourned because thou wert in the darkness! Thy sun shall not go down, however dark the clouds above thee. Nay, as the moon and earth light each other because they face a common sun, so shalt thou give God's reflected light to other souls in present need, and thou thyself shalt see God's light in their face when comes the hour of darkness.—Rev. W. E. Barton, D. D.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 14.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Present day applications of the first four commandments.—Ex. xx. 1-11.

The summary of the moral laws of God, given through Moses, is contained in the commandments, given also of God to Moses on Mount Sinai during the stop of the children of Israel at that place while on their way from Egypt to Canaan. These commandments, written upon two tables of stone, referred in the first four to man's duty to God and in the last four to man's duty to his fellow man. These laws were not a part of the ceremonial laws, which were done away with when Christ came, but they were moral laws—laws concerning right and wrong—and therefore eternally applicable. A distinguished United States senator once said, "The Ten Commandments have no place in politics," but when later on he became "a statesman without a job" he found that the people of his state did not agree with him. The Ten Commandments have a place in every age and in every form of life where right and wrong are involved. The first four commandments pertain to our duties to God. They rightly come first and should come first in our lives. No man can do his full duty to his fellows unless he first sustains the right attitude toward God. These commandments are therefore especially worthy of our prayerful study and earnest practice.

1. The first commandment exalts God and denounces idolatry. "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." God must be supreme in our lives or He has no place in them at all. Idolatry has always flourished in heathen lands. Nor need we think that we are exempt from the temptation to it because we worship no visible idols. Anything that occupies our hearts and lives above God is an idol. It is something that comes before God, and it must be subordinated and God given the supreme place or we are idolaters and are under the condemnation of God as breakers of this commandment. May this be our prayer:

The dearest idol I have known,
Whate'er that idol be,
Help me to tear it from Thy throne
And worship only Thee.

2. The second commandment condemns the worship of images. Many of the ancients worshiped images not as gods, but as representing the gods, and such worship is not wanting in some professed Christian churches today. But image worship soon leads to idolatry and for that reason should be avoided. The worshiper of an image of Christ at first simply representing Christ soon leads to the worship of the image alone. The visible takes the place of the invisible, and only the image is worshiped. All thought of the reality back of it is forgotten, and we bow down to the works of men's hands instead of to God and our Saviour. This commandment is most sweeping in its scope. "Anything in the heaven above, the earth beneath or the waters under the earth." Let us exercise great caution and not be led into idolatry through what may seem a practical way of worshiping God.

3. The third commandment condemns profanity and includes in it all irreverence toward sacred things. "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." Yet how rapidly is profanity increasing. It is a most senseless sin, and yet it is ever on the increase. In public places of all descriptions profane and vulgar language is daily heard. Devout women and innocent children have their pure hearts shocked by this baseness of man. It is an outrage to public decency, and human laws against it are vigorously enforced. But, although it is not, God "will not hold him guiltless who taketh His name in vain." Nor are men the only offenders. Women and girls are often profane, having formed the habit of using the Lord's name in vain. Let us guard our tongues and speak only reverently God's name and revere all sacred things.

4. The fourth commandment enjoins the keeping of the Sabbath day. "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." The Sabbath day was instituted at the close of the creation and later incorporated into God's law. "To what desecration of the Sabbath there is today! God's house is deserted, His word is neglected, Christian service is ignored, and the day is given up to unnecessary work, lazy loafing about the house, visitation among friends and pleasure seeking. Many excuse themselves by saying, "It is the only day I have." But the opposite is the real case. It is the only day that is not ours. God gave us six out of seven and kept one for Himself. Will we rob Him of that?

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

CHAPTER XXIV.

When Old Cy emerged from the cave, his face glorified and heart throbbing with the blessings now his to give Chip, he looked about with almost fear. The two abandoned canoes and the trusty rifle had seemed an assurance of tragic import, and yet no proof of this outlaw's death. That this cave had been his lair, could not be doubted; and so momentous was this discovery, and so anxious was Old Cy to rescue this fortune, that he trembled with a sudden dread.

But no sign of human presence met his sweeping look.

The lake still rippled and smiled in the sunlight. Two deer, a buck and doe, were feeding on the rushgrown shore just across, while at his feet that rusty rifle still uttered its fatal message.

Once more Old Cy glanced all about, and then entered the cave again. Here, in the dim light and with trembling hands, he filled the cans once more, and almost staggered, so faint was he from excitement, he hurried to the canoe, and packing them in its bow, covered the precious cargo with his blanket.

Then he ran like a deer back to the cave, closed it with the slab, grasped his rifle, and not even looking at the rusty one, bounded down the path to his canoe again, launched it, and pushed off.

Never before had it seemed so frail a craft. And now, as he swung its prow around toward the outlet, a curious object met his eyes.

Far up the lake, and where no ripple concealed it, lay what looked like a floating log, clasped by a human arm.

What intuition led him hither, Old Cy never could explain, for escape from the lake was now his sole thought. And yet, with one sweep of his paddle he turned his canoe and sped across the lake. And now, as he neared this object, it slowly outlined itself, and he saw a grewsome sight,—two bloated corpses grasping one another as if in a death grapple. One had hair of bronze red, the other a hideously scarred face with lips drawn and teeth exposed.

Hate, Horror and Death personified.

Only for a moment did Old Cy glance at this ghastly sight, and then he turned again and sped back across the lake.

The bright sun still smiled calm and serene, the morning breeze still kissed the blue water, the two deer still watched him with curious eyes; but he saw them not—only the winsome face and appealing eyes of Chip as he last beheld them.

And now in the prow of his canoe lay her fortune, her heritage, which was, after all, but scant return for all the shame and sigma so far meted out to her.

It was almost sunset ere Old Cy, his nerves still quivering and wearied as never before, crossed the little lake and breathed a sigh of heart-felt gratitude as he drew his canoe out on the sandy shore near the ice house. No one was in sight, nor likely to be. A thin column of smoke rising from the cabin showed that the hermit was still on earth, and now for the first time, Old Cy sat down and considered his plans for the near future.

First and foremost, not a soul, not even his old trusted companion here, not even Martin, or Angie, and certainly not Ray, must learn what had now come into his possession. Neither must his journey to this far-off lake or aught he had learned there be disclosed.

But how was he to escape from the woods and these people, soon to arrive for their summer sojourn? And what if Chip herself should come? Two conclusions forced themselves upon him now: first, he must so conceal the fortune that none of these friends even could suspect its presence; next, he must by some pretext leave here as soon as Martin and his party arrived, and cease not his watchful care until Chip's heritage was safe in some bank in her name.

And now, with so much of his future moves decided upon, he hurried to the cabin, greeted Amzi, urged him to hasten supper, and, securing a shovel, returned to his canoe.

In five minutes the cans of gold were buried deep in the sand, and upon Old Cy's person the bills found concealment. How much it all amounted to, he had not even guessed, nor scarce thought. To secure it and bear it safely away from this now almost accursed lake had been his sole thought and must be until locks and bolts could guard it better. That night Old Cy hardly slept a moment.

Two days after, just as the sun was nearing the mountain top, Martin, Angie, Levi and Ray entered the lake.

How grateful both Old Cy and Amzi were for their arrival, how eagerly they grasped hands with them at the landing, and how like two boys Martin and Ray behaved needs no description.

All that had happened in Greenvale was soon told. Chip's conduct and progress were related by Angie. Ray's plans to remain here another winter were disclosed by him; and then, when the cheerful party had gathered about the evening fire, Martin touched upon another matter.

"I met Hersey as we were coming in," he said, "and he says that neither McGuire nor the half-breed has been seen or heard of since early last fall. Hersey came in early this spring with one of his deputies; they visited a half dozen lumber camps, called twice at Tim's Place, and even went over to Pete's cabin on the Fox Hole, but nowhere could they learn anything of these two men. More than that, no canoe was found at Pete's hut, and there was no sign of occupation at all this past winter. Nothing could be learned from Tim, either, although not much was expected from that source. It is all a most mysterious disappearance, and the last that we can learn of Pete was his arrival and departure from Tim's Place after we rescued Chip."

'I think both on 'em has concluded this section was gittin' too warm for 'em," remarked Levi, "an' they've lit out."

"It's good riddance if they have," answered Old Cy, 'an' I'm sartin none on us'll ever set eyes on 'em ag'in."

And Old Cy spoke the truth, for none of this party ever did. In fact, no human being, except himself and Martin, ever learned the secret that this mountain-hid lake could tell.

But another matter now began to interest Old Cy—how Ray and Chip stood in their mutual feelings. That all was not as he wished, Old Cy soon guessed from Ray's face and actions, and he was not long in verifying it.

"Wal, how'd ye find the gal?" he said to Ray when the chance came. "Was she glad to see ye?"

"Why, yes," answered Ray, looking away, "she appeared to be. I wasn't in Greenvale but two weeks, you know."

"Saw her 'most every evenin' durin' that time, I s'pose?"

"No, not every one," returned Ray, vaguely; "her school hadn't closed when I got home, and she studied nights, you see."

Old Cy watched Ray's face for a moment.

"I ain't pryin' into yer love matters," he said at last, "but as I'm on your side, I'd sorter like to know how it's progressin'. Wa'n't thar nothin' said 'tween ye—no sort o' promise, 'fore ye come 'way?"

"No, nothing of that sort," answered Ray, looking confused, "though we parted good friends, and she sent her love to you. I'm afraid Chip don't quite like Greenvale."

Old Cy made no answer, though a smothered "hum, ha" escaped him at the disclosure of what he feared.

"I wish ye'd sorter clinched matters 'fore ye left," he said, after a pause; "that is, if ye're callatin' to be here 'nother winter. It's most too long to keep a gal guessin'; 'sides, 'tain't right."

Ray, however, made no defense, in fact, seemed guilty and confused, so Old Cy said no more.

A few days later he made a proposal that astonished Martin.

"I've been here now 'bout two years," he said, "an' I'm gittin sorter oneasy. I callate ye kin spare me a couple o' weeks."

No intimation of his real errand escaped him, and so adroitly had he laid his plans and timed his movements, that when his canoe was packed and he bade them good-by, no one suspected how valuable a cargo it carried.

But Old Cy was more than "sorter oneasy," for the only spot where he dared close his eyes in sleep during that three days' journey out of the wilderness was in his canoe, with his head pillowed on that precious gold.

CHAPTER XXV.

When Old Cy joined the little party at the lake again he seemed to have aged years. His sunny smile was gone. He looked weary, worn and disconsolate.

"Chip's run away from Greenvale," he said simply, "an' nobody can find hide nor hair on her. They've followered the roads for miles in every direction. Nobody can be found that's seen anybody like her 'n' they've even dragged the mill-pond. She left a note chargin' it to that durn fool, Hannah, and things she said, which I guess was true. I'd like to duck her in the hoss-pond!"

Such news was like a bombshell in the camp, or if not, what soon followed was, for after a few days Old Cy made another announcement which upset the entire party.

"I think I'd best go back to Greenvale," he said, "an' begin a sarch for that gal. I ain't got nobody in the world that needs me so much, or I them. I'm a sorter outcast myself, ez you folks know. That little gal hez crept into my heart so, I can't take no more comfort here. Amzi don't need me so much as I need her 'n' I've made up my mind I'll start trampin' till I find her. I've a notion, too, she'll head for the wilderness ag'in, 'n' I'm most sartin she'll fetch up whar her mother was buried. I watched that gal middlin' clus all last summer. She's true blue 'n' good grit. She won't do no fool thing, like makin' 'way with herself, 'n' I'll find her somewhar arnin' her own livin' if I live long 'nuff. From the note she left, I know that was in her mind."

Martin realized that there was no use in trying to change Old Cy's intent—in fact, had no heart to do so, for he too felt much the same toward Chip.

"I'll give you all the funds you need, old friend," he made answer, "and wish you God-speed on your mission. I'll do more than that even. I'll pay some one to watch at Grindstone for the next year, so if Chip reaches there, we can learn it."

That night he held a consultation with his wife.

"I suspect we are somewhat to blame for this unfortunate happening," he said to her, "or, at least, some thoughtless admissions you may have made led up to it. It's a matter we are responsible for, or I feel so, anyway. I think as Old Cy does, that this girl must be found if money can do it, and I propose that we break camp and return to Greenvale. If Amzi can't be coaxed to go along, I must leave Levi with him. No power on earth can keep Old Cy here any longer."

Old Cy Now Gazed at It.

But the old hermit had changed somewhat since that night he broke away and returned to this camp, and when the alternative of remaining here alone, or going out with them all, was presented, he soon yielded.

"If Cyrus is goin', I'll have to," he said. "I'd be lonesome without him." And to this assertion he adhered.

Ray, however, was the most dejected and unhappy one now here, though fortunately Old Cy was the only one who understood why, and he kept silent.

They were even more sad when Aunt Comfort showed them Chip's message, and Angie read it with brimming eyes.

And now came Old Cy's departure, on a quest as hopeless as that of the Wandering Jew and as pathetic as the Ancient Mariner's.

But the climax was reached when Old Cy gave Martin his parting message and charge:

"Here's a bank book," he said "that calls fer 'bout $60,000. It's the savin's o' McGuire, 'n' belongs to Chip. I found the cave whar 'twas hid. I found McGuire 'n' the half-breed, both dead 'n' floatin in the lake clus by, an' 'twas to keer fer this money I quit ye three weeks ago.

"If I never come back here,—an' I never shall 'thought I find Chip,—keep it fer her. Sometime she may show up. If ever she does, tell her Old Cy did all he could fer her."

CHAPTER XXVI.

Life at Peaceful Valley and the home of Judson Walker fell into its usual monotony after Chip's departure.

Each day Uncle Jud went about his chores and his crop-gathering and watched the leaves grow scarlet, then brown, and finally go eddying up and down the valley, or heap themselves into every nook and cranny for final sleep.

Existence had become something like this to him, but he could no longer anticipate a vernal budding forth as the leaves came, but only the sear and tutumn for himself, with the small and sadly neglected churchyard at the Corners for its ending.

DAYLIGHT HOLD-UP NEAR MILLSTONE CREEK.

Two Masked Men Try to Get New Brunswick Paymaster's Money Box.

While Paymaster W. H. Shenster, of the Excelsior Terra Cotta Company, with Albert Woodson, a clerk in the employ of the same company, were on their way to the plant at Rocky Hill Tuesday, they were held up by two masked men, at the points of two revolvers. The paymaster did not have the money of the employes with him, however, and the highway got nothing.

Shenster and Woodson were driving along through a wooded thoroughfare, near the Millstone Creek, when the masked men jumped out of the bushes and halted them.

"Hand over the cash box quick," said one of the men.

Shenster explained that he did not have the cash box with him, but the robbers searched the rig to make sure that it was not there. The sound of approaching vehicles, however, frightened the men, who ran into the woods. The paymaster notified the police and the company and the latter immediately sent out private detectives on the trail of the robbers.

BREAKING UP ROYAL YACHT.

The Hildegarde, Once Owned by King Edward, Ends Her Days.

The yacht Hildegarde, built in 1874 to the order of the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VII, at a cost of $80,000, is being cut to pieces at Frank R. Long's dock, on the Hackensack River. Mr. Long bought her in December, 1905, from Blakely hall, for about $7,000. He expected to use her as a freight steamer on the Hackensack, but her keel was too deep for the channel.

Her hull, made of Chinese teak, is being cut up into souvenirs, and one will be sent to King Edward. Soon walking sticks, collar boxes, and paper knives will be doing duty in many Hackensack homes, all made from the hull of King Edward's former pleasure craft.

FINED $2 FOR SELLING SOME "IMPORTED CIGARS."

Two Cubans Caught in the Meshes of the Law in North Plainfield.

Two dusky individuals answering to the names of Lodis LaAmmon and Nicholas Eudenso, were arrested in the borough yesterday by Chief of Police Weiss for selling cigars without a license. It was the old game of "imported Havanas," sold at a low price because they were smuggled in without having any duty being paid. As a matter of fact it is alleged that the cigars were made in New York State.

The Cubans appeared to have difficulty in speaking English, but they found it quite easy when the Chief made himself known and asked for their license. They had a permit for Plainfield, but not for the borough. At the time of the arrest the Cubans were in Fred Neidig's butcher shop on Somerset, setting forth in broken English the charms of a good smoke. They offered a cigar which was placed on the top row in the center of the box. This cigar really was an excellent one, but it is said that it happened to be the only one of its kind.

John Duffy, of New York, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Duffy, of Manning avenue.

Miss Mary Woolston, of Fairview avenue, is much improved from an illness that has kept her confined to her home.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM SAYS SENATOR KEAN

NOTHING EXTRAORDINARY IN SENDING FLEET TO PACIFIC.

Asked his opinion of the warlike construction which has been placed upon the order for the cruise of the great battle ship fleet from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, United States Senator John Kean, of Elizabeth, said to a reporter yesterday: "There is nothing in it."

Senator Kean took the same attitude as did Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, who deprecated the warlike interpretation which has been given to the government's action in ordering the squadron to the Pacific.

"It should not be considered an unusual occurence for a fleet of battleships to be ordered to cruise in Pacific waters even at such a time as this," said Senator Kean. "The Atlantic fleet is sent upon a cruise each year and it is not generally considered a matter of great importance in what waters the fleet cruises."

RIVALRY FOR AUTO RACE.

Seven New Jersey Counties Have Some Sort of Course.

Although the Senate of New Jersey is still away and the automobilists are unable to get the House bill permitting Boards of Freeholders to close country roads for the Vanderbilt Cup race before that body, things are by no means at a standstill in the work of various county representatives to secure the selection of the course in their respective localities.

Wilbur Sadler of Trenton, President of the New Jersey Associated Automobile Clubs, favors Mercer county for the race. It is possible to get a course largely in Mercer county, but some portion of Middlesex county must be included. Assemblyman Randolph Perkins of Union county, who introduced the House bill to legalize the race; is desirous of getting it for Union county. Monmouth county wants the race, and Middlesex county also.

APPRAISAL COMMISSION TO MEET IN RAHWAY.

J. E. Martine a Member—Water Company's Natural Basin.

The commission appointed by Justice Swayze to appraise lands in Clark township for the Middlesex Water Company, of which James E. Martine is a member, will meet at Rahway this afternoon. The other members of the commission are J. Williams Crane and William H. Howard.

The Water Company is seeking rights of way to Carteret, where it is to send its water from Clark township. In the township the company has a remarkable basin for the storage of water. The natural bowl is 1,0000 feet wide and nearly two miles long. The supply is fed by streams in this vicinity.

When the flow of feed water is at its highest, in freshet times, the supply is 8,000,000 gallons. The minimum storage is 4,000,000 gallons.

MURDERER SENTENCED.

Italian Who Pleaded Non Vult Gets Twelve Years.

Angelo Manguso yesterday was sentenced by Judge Francis T. Swayze at New Brunswick to twelve years at hard labor in State prison. He also will stay there until the costs are paid.

Manguso, who comes from Perth Amboy, pleaded non vult to an indictment charging him with murdering Pasquale Pari, with whom he boarded. He had first pleaded not guilty, declaring that in a quarrel Pari had made a move as if to draw a gun and he had used a knife in self-defense.

Pari had no gun at the time of the killing, but it was claimed that Manguso knew he usually carried one.

NEW CONTRACT ASSURES HIGHER WATER PRESSURE

NEW PROVIDENCE COUNCIL ENDS LONG DRAWN OUT FIGHT.

The last act in the long drawn-out fight between the Essex-Union Water and Light Company, of Summit, the residents of Murray Hill and the borough of New Providence came to an end Tuesday night, when Council entered into a new contract with the company, assuring better service.

The contract specifies that the water company shall, before September, erect on Montain avenue, Murray Hill, a standpipe sixty-five feet in height and large enough to hold 50,0000 gallons of water. This is to be supplemented by a check valve placed at the foot of the hill, to keep the water back, thus assuring a constant pressure on the hill at all times.

The borough gave a franchise for lighting the streets with electric lights to the Essex-Union company last fall, but when they went to erect poles on Murray Hill to replace those of the telephone company, used to convey light wires, the residents objected and the workmen were arrested for trespass. The same company supplied water, and Murray Hill residents complained of insufficient pressure. The two issues became joined. The borough came into the affair because at a fire the water pressure was so low the fire department was helpless. As a result the water bill for hydrant rental was held up, pending an adjustment.

FILTERING WATER.

A Cheap Method of Purifying Drinking Water.

As efficient a filter as can possibly be secured may be made in a few minutes by any one at the cost of a few cents.

Take a new flowerpot, close the opening in the bottom with a piece of sponge, on top of which place a layer of small stones, previously well cleaned. The layer should be about two inches deep. The upper stones should be smaller.

Next procure some freshly burned charcoal, which has not been kept in a damp or ill aired place. Reduce this to a powder and mix it with twice its bulk with sharp, cleanly washed sand.

With this mixture fill the pot to within a few inches of the top, cover it with another layer of small stones and place a piece of flannel around the rim. The flannel should be large enough to tie around the pot and also to leave a little hollow in the center.

The charcoal should be renewed about twice a month.

Who Fra Diavolo Was.

Fra Diavolo was the nickname given Michele Pezza, a celebrated renegade monk and Italian brigand, who was born in 1760. It should be noted that the opera of Auber has nothing in common with Fra Diavolo but the name. Pezza was first a stocking weaver, then a soldier in the Neapolitan army, then a soldier in the pope's service, and finally he became a monk, but was expelled. In the mountains of Calabria Pezza took to brigandage, and such was his notoriety and so great were his cruelties that the pope nicknamed him Fra Diavolo. It is consoling to know that he was eventually executed in 1806.—New York American.

Getting Rid of His Cards.

The other day one of the members, raw to London, was introduced to a party of ladies in the dining room of the House of Commons. As he left he gravely presented each lady with his card. A friend ventured to hint that this was carrying politeness too far for London customs. "Sure," was the reply, "it didn't matter. I had 200 of them printed. And I've changed my address anyway, so they're no use to me."—Leeds Mercury.

AGED CLERGYMAN BURIED

Six Ministers Officiate at Funeral Services of Rev. August F. Todd.

EULOGIZE THE MAN

Elmer E. Runyon Sings His Favorite Hymn, "Asleep With Jesus." —Interment at Somerville.

The funeral of Rev. Augustus F. Todd, a retired minister of the Reformed church who died Monday morning, was held yesterday afternoon from his late home, Dunellen. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. Alexander McKelvey, of Boonton; Rev. Dr. W. S. Cranmer, of Somerville; Rev. Dr. W. H. DeHart, of Raritan; Rev. Dr. James LeFevre, of Somerville; Rev. Dr. Martine and Rev. Daniel Rapalje, of this city, conducted the services. Dr. LeFevre, a classmate of Mr. Todd, spoke of him in terms of highest esteem. "I have known him personally for fifty-five years," said he, "and he was a good man before he was a good minister. This service should not be considered a matter of lamentation, today we celebrate the victory of a valiant soldier of Christ. He never met defeat. Like Paul, he fought the good fight, he finished the course. During the latter part of his illness as the end drew near he was frequently heard praying, repeatedly: "Oh, Father, take me Home." His prayer was heard and today he wears the victor's crown."

Rev. Rapalje read the 30th Psalm and offered prayer, which was followed by Scripture reading by Dr. DeHart. "Lead Kindly Light" was sung by Elmer E. Runyon.

Rev. Dr. Cranmer made a few remarks. He said it is just sixty-three years ago last June that Mr. Todd made his confession in the Reformed church, of Somerville, in which place he was born and spent his early days. Mr. Todd, he said, was spared the pains of a lingering illness. The friends have the remembrance of his long life of usefulness and of the devoted care which they have given him. "His life," continued the speaker, "was roundly harmonious, and complete. Like Paul, he "kept the faith"; he was moored fast to righteousness."

The dead minister's favorite hymn "He Leadeth Me," was sung by Mr. Runyon.

Dr. Alex. McKelvey, another classmate, spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family and friends. He explained that Rev. Mr. Todd's life and death illustrated the converse of an old saying, which he would render thus, "There is no thorn without its rose." "Today," said he, "we have the thorn, but in looking over his past life we see it marked with a course of roses." Dr. McKelvey had enjoyed the friendship of Mr. Todd for fifty-four years, and he said he had always found him the same steadfast Christian man. "In his life," said he, "there was no strife."

Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Cranmer, and Mr. Runyon sang, "Asleep With Jesus." Rev. Dr. Martine, a former resident of Dunellen pronounced the benediction.

There was a profusion of lilies, roses and sweet peas, including several set pieces.

The pall-bearers were the Messrs. E. A. Kirch, John Harrison, Albert Conklin, Sterling Conklin, F. E. Smith and Mr. Lord.

Burial was made in the family plot at Somerville.

Dedication Service at Home.

One of the features of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home this year is the erection of an auditorium, given by David W. Hand in memory of his two sons; in which building the 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon service is held each week. The service on Sunday afternoon will take the form of a dedication service, led by George A. Chapman, with a program of special interest, including short talks by friends of the work, also vocal and instrumental music.

Arrested Bicyclist.

Charged with careless riding, E. H. Brokaw was brought before City Judge Runyon this morning by Special Policeman Brancati, who placed him under arrest yesterday afternoon, after his bicycle had knocked down Brancati's sister, Sadie, on Park avenue. Brokaw said the girl ran in front of the wheel from behind a wagon, and he could not avoid running her down. The case was dismissed.

Dog Executions.

The unredeemed dogs that have been at the pound since Monday will be put to death this afternoon. They will be killed by gas in a tank at the Rushmore Dynamo Works. About thirty dogs are in the pound. Not more than half of them will be ripe for the lethal chamber.

HORSE CLUBS TO MERGE

Watchung Hunt Club to be Consolidated, With Riding and Driving Club.

TO BUILD A HOME

Too Much Expense at Colonia—Retains Steeplechase Franchise.

Extensive plans in connection with the reorganization of the Watchung Hun Club has in view among other things, a merger with the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club, under whose auspices the annual horse show is given. The fact that many of the members of the Riding and Driving Club are also identified with the Watchung Hunt Club, has started a movement looking toward a consolidation of the two organizations, the horse show grounds to be its home. Another improvement planned is that of erecting a handsome and well-appointed clubhouse at the show grounds, which will be adapted in every way for the needs of the members.

There is an abundance of room at the show grounds for a suitable building and much unnecessary expense can be saved by combining the interests of the two organizations in this way. James Gethin, the present superintendent of the horse show grounds, is engaged in conditioning horses for coming shows and when the hunt club is located there it will be possible to put hunters and jumpers in condition for steeplechase events.

The sole reason why the hunt club gave up its home at Colonia was that it entailed too much expense, averaging about $200 a month. The plan to move back to Plainfield was decided several months ago, in fact as soon as the year was up at Colonia. Charles D. Freeman, who was master of the hounds, and through whom the organization was induced to go to Colonia, is no longer a member. While he was master, he was never active in that position. It was perhaps, not so much on account of the local members of the hunt that a change was made, but for the benefit of the out-of-town members, who reside in the Oranges, Montclair, Newark, and other nearby places. They objected to the trip to Colonia, it being inaccessible. It was necessary to take the train on the Pennsylvania Railroad to Colonia and then drive a considerable distance to the clubhouse, and it being a small way-station the accommodations were not so good.

While Mr. Freeman has failed to offer any explanation as to why he resigned as master, it is believed by many that he did not like the idea of the organization moving from his farm property. There was a rumor that Mr. Freeman thought the club would arrange to buy the property at the end of the year, but the objections to the site upset the plan.

Rather than lose the advantage of a whole season in planning for the hunts in the fall and the protection of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association for future meets, the stewards decided to meet at once and effect the reorganization. The club has always hunted in Middlesex county, with the additional privilege of using certain farms in Union county. The association stands in with the farmers throughout Union and Middlesex counties and has received assurances of continued co-operation. Lewis E. Waring, the new master of the hounds, will be active in that position and will devote his time to furthering the interest of the club.

HOMICIDE TRIALS SET.

Ferdio and Rash Cases Will Be Heard Next Week.

Two homicide cases, that of Edna Rash, for the killing of her husband, Charles Rash, in Roselle township, on the evening of Friday, June 22, and that of Charles Ferdio, for the killing of Frederick Rash on the street near his home in Elizabeth, on the night of Friday, June 15, will be moved for trial Wednesday next. The trial had been set for Tuesday, but word has been received from Justice Swayze that he cannot be at Elizabeth until the day following.

The Rash woman will probably be tried first. There are some who believe that she will save the county the expense of a trial by pleading to a minor degree of murder, if the State is willing to accept such a plea. Should such a plea be taken the trial of Ferdio will be at once begun.

Ordered to Philippines.

Captain Ely, who has been enjoying a two months' leave of absence from his duties in the regular army, has received orders to report in the Philippines. He and Mrs. Ely will sail tomorrow. They have been stopping with Mrs. Ely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Brooks, of North Plainfield.

FITZ IS TRAINING HARD

Big Joe Rogers Comes Out to Help in His Work.

A GOOD SPARRING MAN

Tom O'Rourke, Veteran of the Fight Game, Sees Fitz at Work and Is Pleased With His Form.

Prize ring experts who have been harboring the opinion that Bob Fitzsimmons is down and out as a fighter should take a trip to his farm near Dunellen where he is training hard for his bout with Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight, which is billed to take place in Philadelphia next Wednesday night. The old warrior has adopted a strenuous daily programme and from outward appearances he appears to be in the best of health and still possesses the terrible punch that brought forth the solar plexus blow in his memorable fight with Jim Corbett at Carson City years ago.

Fitz is up bright and early every morning. His first thing in the daily programme is a seven mile run which he takes on the road to this city at five o'clock. After this jog he returns to his farm and takes it easy until three o'clock in the afternoon, when he puts on the gloves and spars six rounds with Joe Rogers, the 260 pound heavyweight. After this active session he punches the bag exercises in his gymnasium A bath end's his day's work.

Tom O'Rourke, of New York, who brought George Dixon and other fighters to the front visited Fitz yesterday. O'Rourke watched the veteran work and after Fitz completed his sparring with Rogers, the New Yorker gave an expert opinion on Fitz to the visiting newspapermen. He said, "Age hasn't taken any of Fitz's speed away and he is just as fast as ever. I really think he has a good chance of defeating Johnson."

Fitz will remain at his farm until the afternoon of the fight when he will take the train for Philadelphia, accompanied by several local and Dunellen sports who stand ready to wager goodly sums on the fight.

Among Fitz's visitors yesterday were Dr. Miller and Henry Sutton, of Lebanon, Hunterdon county. The latter announced himself as an old time supporter of Fitz saying that he won money when Fitz took the championship from Jim Corbett at Carson City.

BAPTISTS' BIG TIME AT THE SEASHORE.

800 On the Excursion But There is a $100 Deficit.

Despite the threatening weather conditions, the annual excursion of the First and Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-schools and Faith chapel to Asbury Park, yesterday, was fairly successful. There were 719 tickets disposed of, including those given to the members of the different schools and exclusive of the many children who did not require a ticket, making the total number carraied about 800. It is estimated that the deficit will approximate about $100. This will be met by the three Sunday-schools.

The day was a pleasant one at the shore. By the time the excursionists arrived there it cleared off and everyone enjoyed a refreshing breeze. The bathing was exceptionally good, the water being the warmest in over a week. Harold Serrell was the chairman of the general committee, and he was ably assisted by representatives from all three schools. Not an accident occurred to mar the trip for a single excursionist.

Family Party.

Mrs. Lewis D. Walker, of Piscataway, held a family party at her home Wednesday. Among those present were Mrs. Amos Giddes and little son, of Plainfield; Mrs. Henry S. Garretson and daughter, Miss Lillian, of Dunellen; Mrs. Peter Benward, of Piscataway; Miss Dorothy Dunbar, of Piscataway, and Mrs. Ephraim Boice, of Orange. The feature of the day was a dinner.

Smith, superintendent of the Sunday-school at Trinity Reformed church, conducted the Gospel service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, last night, and Miss Winifred Carroll, the contralto soloist, of Trinity Reformed church, accompanied by Miss Lucie Coriell, sang several selections. The meeting was well attended and proved helpful to all.

He was in his ninetieth year, but had been enjoying godd health and unusual vigor. His home was with a son at Asbury Park.

EDGAR S. HYATT DEAD

Wealthy Plainfielder Succumbs in Chicago Following Operation.

WIFE AT HIS BEDSIDE

Resident Here for Twenty Years—Communicant of Grace Episcopal Church.

Edgar S. Hyatt, a well-known resident of this city for the past twenty years, died in Chicago, last night, following an operation for appendicitis performed several days ago. He died at the Auditorium Hotel, where the operation was performed. Mrs. Hyatt was with her husband.

Mr. Hyatt, who was engaged in the manufacture of rubber goods, being connected with a Boston firm, was in Chicago on a business trip when he was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis. Medical aid was summoned at once and it was decided that an operation was imperative and that it must be performed at once. Mr. Hyatt rallied quickly and his general condition was considered to be good, when a change for the worse was noted yesterday. He sank rapidly and died during the early part of the evening.

Mr. Hyatt was a native of New Brunswick, where he lived for many years. His father was engaged in the rubber business before him. Mr. Hyatt moved to this city about twenty years ago, taking up his residence on Ninth street, where he continued to live while here. His business called him to Boston frequently and occasionally he would take a trip to some of the larger cities of the West. He was a communicant of Grace church. A wife and two daughters survive him. Arrangements will be made to have the remains brought to this city., where the funeral and interment will take place.

SEEK ESCAPED PRISONER.

Reformatory Officials Here On Quest For Young Burglar.

John Banker, assistant superintendent of the Rahway Reformatory, and Nelson Hanson, an officer of the institution, came to this city this as a drum during prohibited hours, whereabouts of Isaac Williams, 20 years old, convicted of burglary, who escaped from the Reformatory yesterday afternoon. The police had no information as to the fugitive, but Chief Kiely gave orders to have a watch for his trail kept.

Williams, whose home is in Paterson, and Pietro Salamanci, escaped together. They were at work in the yard, and while pretending to go for a drink they fled around the barn and took to the woods. Salamanci was soon recaptured, but Williams made good his escape by taking advantage of thick underbrush. He was travelling in this direction, and the officers figured that he might have come here. The local police will watch sharply for him.

Camp Woolfe Open.

Camp Woolfe, which is maintained by the Union Fresh Air Mission Association, and which was for ten years located at Westfield, opened auspiciously last Saturday at its new home at Port Monmouth, N. J., when the first fresh air party arrived. A simple and informal program, including special music and brief addresses marked the opening. A history of the camp was also given. The new location is ideal and the camp is winning many friends. It was after the death of George E. Woolfe, the founder, that the camp was moved to the shores of the Raritan Bay, where the work is carried on as before.

A Surprise Party.

A surprise party was held last night in honor of Edward Conshee at his home in Duer street. Fifty friends were present, including some from Somerville, Westfield and Brooklyn. Dancing, games and music were enjoyed. Vocal solos were sung by Miss Anna Chiniski, of Somerville, and Harry Uhler. Piano solos were rendered by Thomas Duffey, of Brooklyn. The rooms were decorated with Japanese lanterns and flowers. Refreshments were served. Those who planned the affair were the Misses Katherine Conshee, Freda Kaiser and May Carney.

CUSACK JR., HEARD FROM

Man Who Skipped Out Leaving Laborers Wages Unpaid is at Kingston, N. Y.

CONTRACTOR IS DYING

Morgan's Condition Becomes Critical When He Learns of the Tangle in the Local Sewer Contract.

Through letters received by various persons in town today, word came from the men who have been sought since the beginning of the South-side sewer tangle on Monday and the matter is beginning to get straightened out. One of the communications was from Thomas J. Cusack, Jr., who had been superintending the work and who was supposed to be on hand to pay the Italian laborers but was missing when the time came. It was dated at Kingston, N. Y., and explains the fact that he went with nothing but what belonged to him and that his action was legal.

Cusack is the son of Thomas J. Cusack, who is Contractor Morgan's brother-in-law and acted as his attorney. The father did not come to Plainfield more than once in a month and the local end was left to his son. In the letter the younger Cusack explains the mix-up as follows:

"The whole trouble is that there hasn't been enough money to meet the pay roll. We thought until noon on Monday that Mr. Arnold would advance more money on the work but he refused. There was nothing else to do but to go after Morgan. Morgan could not produce the money and accordingly it looked like a 'bust.' We got what we could of our own and 'beat' it away.

"The city has enough of our back money to pay the men every penny and more than enough stuff is on the ground to meet Morgan's bills. My father and I are the only ones who are really out: father a little over $500 and myself $133 and a job. The city has got more than its money's worth, but there is so much water in the trenches the job will never be done at Morgan's figures.

"Hope you don't think we're a bunch of crooks as that diseased newspaper had us down."

Cusack referred to another local paper.

In response to queries sent by City Engineer Gavett, other letters came today from Contractor Morgan's present attorney, Frank B. Lown, of Poughkeepsie, and his physician, Dr. J. E. McCambridge, also of Poughkeepsi. The latter states that Mr. Morgan has long been suffering from a progressive brain tumor and that his condition has become critical since he learned of the turn of affairs in Plainfield. The physician adds that at the present time his recovery is doubtful.

The letter received from Attorney Lown explains fully why his client was not in touch with the work on the sewer. It states that Mr. Morgan's illness has been upon him for a long time and that when his physician ordered him to the country for a complete rest, he placed his Plainfield business in the care of his brother-in-law, Cusack. No word has been received from the latter and it was believed that the contract was progressing satisfactorily. Cusack probably kept silent because of the fact that Mr. Morgan was sick and bad news would have retarded his restoration to health.

Continuing, Mr. Lown makes the request that Mr. Gavett favor him with a complete statement of affairs in regard to the work and the finances in the contract. He expresses the hope that enough money is still owing him from the city to pay the Italian laborers, as this matter has been Mr. Morgan's greatest source of worry in the past few days. The attorney asserts that at the present time his client is practically without means but he has always borne an excellent reputation as an honest and efficient contractor.

Rothberg, Edward Nodel, Louis Goldstein, Morris Rosenbaum and Benjamin Hurwitz.

GRASPED LIVE WIRE; FELL LIFELESS ON THE STREET

Neighbor He Was Hurrying to Meet Finds Clarence H. Weeks' Body on Berkeley Avenue.

DEATH WAS NOT SEEN

No One On the Avenue When Retired Engraver Took Hold of Strand From Which Fatal Current Flowed.

Hurrying on his way to the railroad station, at 5:50 o'clock this morning, Zebulon Chadbourne, of Cushing road, was halted on Berkeley avenue, near Leland acenue, by the sight of a body lying on the walk. He stepped to the form, and recognized it as that of Clarence H. Weeks, of 842 Berkeley avenue.

Weeks was quite dead. Above him dangled a broken live electric light wire. A terrible burn in the center of his right hand, and burns on his back and other places, indicated the way in which he met his death. It is regarded as certain that he took hold of the wire, as it swung in his path, unsuspecting its deadly nature, and fell lifeless.

The dead man was a retired engraver, and had been employed for many years by the Scribner Press, New York. He was fifty-five years old and married. He retired on the first of the month, intending to settle down to a life of quiet and ease. He wrote two letters last night to friends in Brooklyn, and knowing that Mr. Chadbourne was going to that place today, he set out to meet him and ask him to post the letters in the New York borough. The last sight of him alive was caught by S. A. George, of Berkeley and Leland avenues, who saw him go by his house at about 5:45.

The police were notified as soon as the body was discovered, and Driver O'Gorman and Patrolman Daniel McDonald were sent to the scene with the patrol wagon. They removed the body to the house, and County Physician Westcott was notified.

No report of a broken wire was received by the police last night or early in the morning. Residents of the neighborhood say they heard a loud report at about 10 o'clock last night, followed by vivid flashes and then the light all about went out. The wire is supposed to have snapped at that time. Immediately after the police were apprised of the death they called up the electric light station and had the broken wire repaired.

Weeks is survived by his wife and a seven-year-old daughter, Lolita. His parents live at Whitehouse, and Rev. Arthur Searing Peck, of St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, who was a friend of the dead man, notified them of the accident by wire, breaking the news gently.

The Weeks have lived in Netherwood for three years. They came here from Brooklyn. Mr. Weeks had just purchased the house on Berkeley avenue, of David Hand. Mrs. Weeks is prostrated.

ITALIAN LABORER BURIED BY BRICKS AND DIRT

CAVE-IN OF DITCH RAILROAD IS DIGGING AT NORTH AVENUE STATION.

Working in a deep ditch through which the New Jersey Central plans to lay a drain pipe near the North Avenue station, Pasqual Cigliaro, one of the Italians employed in the digging, was completely buried beneath a quantity of dirt and several hundred brick, early this afternoon. The gang was set to work at once digging the fellow out and within ten or fifteen minutes the head and upper part of the body was uncovered. Repeated attempts to pull his legs from beneath the heavy weight were unsuccessful until the dirt was removed.

Alongside the long trench which had been opened was piled several thousand bricks, and the earth gave way beneath the heavy load. The Italian stood directly in the way of the bricks and dirt and he was completely buried. Dr. Albert Pittis was summoned and gave medical treatment. The man was slightly injured.

"FLUFFY RUFFLES" COSTS TWO MEN EXPRESS CHARGES.

Muldowney Got It First and Then Handed the Same Lemon to a Friend.

Returning home from his work yesterday, Thomas Muldowney, a well known West End resident, was apprised of the fact that a package had been left for him by an expressman who collected twenty-five cents for his trouble. Believing that somebody was "wise" to the fact that his birthday is near at hand and had forwarded him a memento of the occasion, he cheerfully refunded the quarter and undid the wrappings. He had a smile on his face when he started but it quickly faded away when he found the expected gift to be a Fluffy Ruffles doll that some joker had foisted on him.

"Stung," murmured Muldowney when he thought of the two-bit piece, but at the same instant a plan for revenge flashed across his mind. The doll was brought up town and after several additions to her wardrobe had made her fluffier still, she was put back in the package with new wrappings. This time she was addressed to Michael Higgins, of West Second street, and another expressman got another quarter. Higgins is a member of the Plumbers' Association and was positive before he got a look inside that the organization had voted him some concrete form of appreciation for services rendered.

Not being a reader of the doll column of the papers, "Mike" was very much mystified at first as to what he had and when it finally dawned on him, he was "madder" than Muldowney by fifty per cent. Putting "Fluffy" and all her fixings under his arm he went on a still hunt for the sender but had not succeeded up to noon today.

Anyone receiving a package about the size of a doll had better investigate before paying charges as Higgins may adopt the sending habit also. Muldowney is also on the warpath for the originator of the joke.

Settles Claim Against Railroad.

Settlement has been made in the case against Miriah Kelly, mother of the late Edward Kelly, who died on August 14, 1896, from injuries received by the explosion of a flue on an engine of the Jersey Central Railroad. Kelly was the fireman on the engine. The accident took place at Fanwood. His mother, a widow, took out letters of administration and placed the case in the hands of Coddington & Swackhamer. Mrs. Kelly resides in Somerville.

GOVERNMENT TO HELP RECLAIM THE MEADOWS.

Plans for the Utilization of Jersey Wastes Being Promoted By Irrigation Bureau.

Something like an assurance of Federal aid in the reclamation of the Great Salt Meadows that cover 100,000 acres along the course of the Passaic and Hackensack Rivers has just been given to the New Jersey authorities by Dr. Elwood C. Mead, Chief of the Irrigation Bureau of the Department of Agriculture. Most of the expense is still in a state of nature and unfitted for any use.

Dr. Mead has been supervising the work of reclaiming the Everglades in Florida, and he was in Newark on Tuesday to talk about the Great Meadows. He said that the Irrigation Bureau is promoting plans for the utilization for agricultural purposes of all the meadow land in the country, and had long had its contemplation to see what can be done with the New Jersey wastes.

He was accompanied by Charles Wright, an engineer of the Agricultural Department, and, with James Reilly, secretary of the Newark Board of Trade, they made an inspection of the meadows. Subsequently Dr. Mead had an interview with Commissioner Bock, of the City Board of Works and unfolded his plans to him.

Commissioner Block is exploiting a municipal plan for the digging of a canal from Newark Bay two miles inland to the highlands of Newark. The purpose is to drain the land and make the canal banks available for business and manufacturing sites.

Dr. Mead was disposed to favor the canal idea, and intimated that he would recommend it to the Secretary of Agriculture. The reclamation of the meadows, it is estimated, would add $200,000,000 to the ratables.

BOUND BROOK.

Charles Adair, of New York, and Miss Julia Altman, of Long Island City, were recently entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Whitenack, in Franklin street, South Bound Brook.

The Misses Lorance, of Rahway, and Miss Marie McComb, of New York, are being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Voorhees, of Rocky Hill.

Mrs. Harriet A. Robbins and Carl E. Anderson, of High street, South Bound Brook, are spending some time at the home of Mrs. C. M. Hunt, of Glen Gardner.

Mrs. William Klein and children, who have been visiting relatives at Edenberg, have returned to their home in Main street, South Bound Brook.

Miss Elizabeth Harrington, of Somerville, is spending several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Donohue, of South Bound Brook.

WESTFIELD.

James E. Burtis, of Westfield, died Tuesday evening at his home after a short illness. Mr. Burtis for several years conducted a livery business in town. He was in his seventy-second year and had been a resident of Westfield for thirty years. He is survived by a widow and two sons.

Westfield business men are not pleased with the possibility of an automobile race coming through the town. They think it will draw an undesirable crowd.

The property known as Ripley Manor at Westfield, comprising nearly 100 acres, has been sold to a New York company.

BASKING RIDGE.

Miss Margaret Conkling will sail on Saturday for England, where she will join her sister, Miss Florence Conkling, who has been there for the past two months.

Miss Gladys Brown, of Long Branch, is spending some time at the home of her uncle, Dr. Frederick C. Jones, on Main street.

Miss Lila Nolan left Wednesday to spend a week with her parents in Newark.

Miss Sadie Bockoven is spending this week with friends in Murray Hill.

Blinded, He Walks Off Roof.

New Brunswick, July 12.—Charles Hall, a fireman, may die from injuries received Wednesday night. The smokehouse at the local branch of the Swift Beef Company was discovered on fire, and it is supposed he was blinded by the thick smoke. He walked off the roof and fell to the ground. He arms were broken and it is feared his spine is fractured.

William B. Gourley Off to Europe.

Paterson, July 12.—William B. Gourley sailed for Europe on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, which left pier 3, Hoboken, yesterday morning. He will disembark at Southampton, England, and after spending a short time in that country will journey to Paris. He will make a tour of the continent in his large auto car.

Accused of Scalding a Woman.

Bayonne, July 12.—Mrs. Mary Paradine, aged thirty-five years, of 107 Avenue I, this city, was held Wednesday by Recorder Hyman Lazarus in $500 for indictment on a charge of having thrown a pan of hot water on the head of Mrs. Mary Scrampson, burning her neck and back.

Plainfield, N. J., July 12, 1907.

My, won't Billy Penn be dizzy next week!

A fine voice has won a rich husband for a Tacony, Pa., girl. It's generally the reverse.

It might be profitable to name Mr. Roosevelt as receiver for the tobacco trust. Teddy doesn't smoke.

Those Netherwood trolley cars would make a first rate curiosity collection for the Jamestown Exposition.

The Prohibitionists of Indiana have condemned the Fairbank's cocktail. Kentucky is still to be heard from.

Those telegraph operators who threaten to strike ought to be able to get things on "tick" while out of work.

What's wrong with the press agents? It's been a month since we have heard of any actress having a thrilling experience at a mountain or coast resort.

A boom for Captain James Parker for the vacant Supreme Court judgeship has been started by the New Brunswick Home News. 'Ray for Cap'n Parker!

To Mercer county belongs the credit of having organized the first society for the prevention of corrupt practises at elections. It's up to Union to follow suit.

It appears that Judge Alton B. Parker is the only politician not taking a vacation. But we expect a retort from Oyster Bay that will make the Sage of Esopus take to the woods for the rest of the season.

From Ursino comes the startling announcement that United States Senator Kean is not troubled over any fear of war with Japan. The situation in Union county next fall will give smiling John all the fighting he will want.

The declination of Colby as candidate for governor is certainly a "new idea."—Hunterdon Gazette.

When your crops are all in, brother, leave the farm long enough to get a little in touch with politics. There's nothing new in Colby's refusal to seek any job other than the one he so ably fills.

Randolph Perkins has made a serious mistake in using his office as the representative of Union county in an endeavor to get the Vanderbilt Cup race for this district. If he will take the time to go among his constituents, the aggressive young assemblyman will learn that the sentiment is against any suspension of the provisions of the Frelinghuysen law to allow a foolhardy and useless speeding contest or for any other purpose.

The death of Charles H. Weeks, caused by his touching a live wire on the roadside, bears out our contention that the presence of heavily charged overhead wires through the city is a constant menace to the inhabitants. No reason has ever been given by the authorities for their neglect to compel the public utility concerns to place them underground. The huge feed wire of the P. S. C. running through Second street is particularly threatening. But, as we have said before, there appears to be little hope that the public affairs committee will do its duty in this matter.

Despite the stringent provisions of the Bishops' law, there is a suspicion that liquor is being sold at Scotch Plains on Sundays. It should be no more difficult to enforce the statute there than it is in Plainfield, where every place is closed as tight morning to look for values to the and it is up to the law-abiding residents of our neighboring town to make an investigation. A few earnest-minded citizens should surely be able to collect the necessary evidence to insure convictions if there are really any places violating the law.

MINTURN FOR POSITION ON CIRCUIT BENCH

STATE SENATOR SOON TO RESIGN.—NEW DEMOCRATIC LEADER WANTED.

It is now said that Senator Minturn, a Hudson Democrat, will soon resign to take his place on the Circuit Bench, to which he has been appointed by Governor Stokes. The Senator wanted to stay in the Senate until the session was over, but the action of the House in going away until Sept. 17 left the Circuit Court business in bad shape. The Senator, will, therefore, quickly resign to take up the ermine.

The Democratic leadership of the Senate is now in the air. Senator Silzer, when Leader Minturn was away a part of the session, acted as a minority Democratic leader, and made a hit with the members because of his generalship. His prominence as a Gubernatorial candidate may prevent him from accepting the leadership.

The Mercer County Society for the Prevention of Corrupt Practices at Elections was incorporated today as the result of a conference between the Mercer County league members and those of Monmouth county. The purpose is to keep everbody from spending money at the polls on election days except for legitimate purposes.

ANTI-BRIBERS COMEINE.

Jersey Society to Prevent Corrupt Practices at Elections Formed.

A certificate of incorporation was filed at Trenton yesterday by the "New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Corrupt Practices at Elections." The organization of this association is a result of a conference of the Mercer County Anti-Bribery League with the Monmouth County Anti-Bribery Association, at which it was agreed to form an association which could be more readily extended to other counties than could the local societies. As opportunity offers, the newly incorporated association will gradually be expanded so as ultimately to result in an organization representative of the State. For the present, however, only Mercer and Monmouth counties are represented in the board of trustees.

The purposes of the society, as indicated in its title, are "the fulfillment of the statutes of the State of New Jersey and of the United States against bribery at elections, State and National, and in general to conserve the purity of the ballot in the State of New Jersey."

THIEF AT GEN. FITZGERALD'S.

Electric Wire Repairer Game Worked in Long Branch Homes.

Professing to be a representative of an electric light company of Long Branch, an unidentified man entered several homes in that place yesterday and made off with jewelry to the value of $800. In each instance he worked the old game of having to correct some defect in the electric light wires and then tried to break the telephone connection so as to prevent communication with the police.

From the residence of C. Von Amberg he is said to have stolen two scarfpins and a sapphire ring valued at $250. He was taken to where the wires were located and appeared to be working on them. As soon as the servant who had admitted him turned her back, he picked up the jewelry and disappeared. He next went to the residence of E. C. Tate, played the same trick, and obtained some trinkets of small value.

From the residence of Gen. Louis Fitzgerald he obtained a diamond ring and a gold watch, valued at $450.

Outlaws All Trust Goods.

Austin, Texas, July 12.—The most drastic anti-trust law enacted in any State goes into effect in Texas today. It provides, in substance, that any person who represents a trust as agent, or sells goods made by a trust or combination, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and, upon conviction shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary for from two to ten years. The law's provisions apply to all merchants who sell trust made goods and all persons who may be directly in the employ of such concerns in the State. Attorney General R. V. Davidson and his assistant, J. P. Lightfoot, declare they intend to enforce the law to the letter.

3 BLOWN UP IN AN AUTO

Boiler of Steam Car Explodes Under 450 Pounds Pressure.

MACHINE IS A WRECK

ers last year, and Harold Weber, of D. E. Sawyer, of Wheaton; Archie

Thrown One Hundred Yards.

Three men were injured, one of them seriously, by the blowing up of a twelve horse power steam propelled automobile in which they were riding at Burlington yesterday. The explosion is believed to have been caused by too high a pressure of steam in the boiler.

The injured are:

ATKINSON, HAROLD, 19 years old, automobilist; severe injuries of right leg and slight burns.

CHAMPION, ISAAC, 30 years old; bruises and shock.

MYERS, HAROLD, 29 years old; chauffeur; internal injuries.

Myers has been unconscious since the accident and his condition today is critical. The three men live in Burlington.

The machine was owned by John Vickery, of South Burlington, and had been left for repairs with Myers, who is foreman of Earle's garage in that city. Myers took the machine out for a trial spin yesterday afternoon and invited Champion and Atkinson to accompany him. It worked smoothly for a time and the three had stopped to chat with friends and were just starting off again when there was a terrific report.

The body of the car and the occupants were hurled into the air and the wreckage was scattered in all directions. Myers fell to the brick pavement a few feet afay and was picked up unconscious. Atkinson and Champion fell back on to the wreckage of the engine, but were able to scramble out of danger after being slightly burned.

Four windows in Murray's saloon, opposite, were shattered by the concussion. A lamp from the front of the auto was sent flying into a shed 100 yards distant, and the cylinder of the engine knocked palings off a fence across the street. Four wheels and the frame and a mass of splintered wood and twisted metal are all that remain of the machine.

GIRL KEPT HER PROMISE.

Told Former Pastor She Would Allow Him to Officiate at Her Wedding and Did.

Washington, N. J., July 12.—Rev. J. W. McManiman, who is now agent for a trolley company, was formerly pastor of the Methodist church at Everittstown, Hunterdon county, and preached in that section. While joking with one of the young women of the congregation one day about getting married, she informed him that when that time came Mr. McManiman would tie the knot. That was several years ago. True to her promise the retired clergyman was called upon Wednesday night.

The couple were Miss Frances M. Lance, daughter of John P. Lance, of Frenchtown, and Elden E. Cooley, son of John W. Cooley, of the same town. The bride informed the clergyman that she had come to keep her promise. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cooley left for a trip to New York. They will reside in Frenchtown.

SEABRIGHT HOUSES ROBBED.

Bogus Electrician Succeeds in Looting the Louis Fitzgerald and Vanamberg Cottages.

Long Branch, July 12.—A slick young man under the guise of an electrician, claiming to be employed by the Long Branch and Seabright Electric Light Companies, robbed the Louis Fitzgerald and Vanamberg cottages at Seabright Wednesday afternoon. The robbery at the Vanamberg cottage, which consisted of two scarf pins set with diamonds and a sapphire ring valued at $350, took place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At the Fitzgerald cottage, where the same tactics were pursued, the man got a diamond ring and a lady's gold watch set with diamonds, valued at $400. Both robberies were reported to Mayor John W. Eyles yesterday, who notified the detective agencies at Long Branch and Red Bank who are working on the cases.

Miss Mary Van Eps, of East Fifth street, has returned from a week's stay with relatives in Somerville.

Crook's Daring Escape.

Denver, Col., July 12.—John T. Thompson, a noted crook, captured in London, after a chase around the world, escaped from a train near this city yesterday morning and is still at large. He leaped from a car window while the train was running at a speed of forty miles an hour. After jumping from the train Thompson forced Dr. Horace S. Cooper, of No. 770 Jason street, to dress the wounds he received, and gave him a $300 diamond pin for his services. He then left the doctor's office, and with a broken right arm, a broken collarbone, a deep scalp wound and other injuries is at large, while the operatives of the police and the Sheriff's department are scouring the city and suburbs for him in automobiles, on foot and horseback.

Miss Anna E. Harris, of Cranford, is spending her vacation with her cousin, Mrs. George Wellbrock, of West Fourth street.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

BACKACHE.

I can sympathize with a sufferer from this awful symptom of weak kidneys. That soreness and pain in the small of the back tells too plainly of serious trouble behind it. It's not a hot water bottle or a plaster you need. That won't cure diseased kidneys. It may relieve you for a time it's true but why mask the real cause and allow the trouble to grow? Don't do it. Weak kidneys can be cured but Bright's disease, which always follows neglect of them cannot. Go and get a bottle of Cooper's New Discovery and Cooper's Quick Relief and use them faithfully. Your backache will disappear because your kidney trouble is corrected—not for a day but for good. When your kidneys are in "ship-shape" there will be nothing more to cause it.

MR. P. LEONARD.

Here's a letter from [illegible] who suffered for years in this way [illegible] my advice: "I have been [illegible] health for some years that I [illegible] to give up work. I suffered [illegible] kidney trouble. My back was so sore and lame that I could scarcely get up and down. My stomach was also out of order and my nervous system broken down. I have been using the Cooper medicines for one week and actually feel like a new man. My food digests perfectly. The soreness and pain has entirely gone from my back and my kidneys are in fine shape. The medicine has strengthened me wonderfully and I cheerfully give you this testimonial for publication." Mr. P. Leonard, 49 School St., Allegheny, Pa.

We have heard a number of favorable comments on the Cooper preparations from people who have purchased them from us.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held Monday, July 1, 1907, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on the fifth day of August, 1907, at 8 o'clock p. m. at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the construction of the sewers contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to provide separate sewers or drains to carry off the surface water in a portion of Plainfield Avenue," approved May 16, 1907, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted July 1, 1907, by the Common Council, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, No. 151 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $200, payable to the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

2,543 feet 33 inch sewer.
5 Manholes.
20 Branches, 12 inch.

Duplicate plans may be examined, and forms of proposals specifications, contract and bond, may be obtained at the office of the Engineer, 151 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

Proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for Storm Sewers."

ANDREW J. GAVETT, City Surveyor.

$5,000 In Prizes!

Grand Educational Contest

To introduce our new Piano, the Conway, we have decided to institute something entirely novel in the way of advertising, making it something of value to the readers of this paper as well as ourselves.

We propose to distribute FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN PRIZES, among the residents of Central New Jersey. Think of it $5,000! While the mere distribution of this amount in prizes would be a valuable advertisement in itself, you will, of course, admit that the distribution of so large a prize list would hardly be justified by the publicity itself would give us. But if we are able to impress the name "CONWAY PIANO" indelibly upon the minds of $00,000 people, then you will, of course, readily admit that we are justified in offering this large prize list. Therefore, to make the CONWAY PIANO occupy the place in your mind, that stands for all that is good in tone, quality, construction, design and finish, and that you may never forget the great name, we wish to see how many words you can form from the twelve letters containing the two words

CONWAY PIANOS

To the persons able to form the greatest number of words from the letters contained in the two words, CONWAY PIANOS, we will give one magnificent Conway Piano, valued at $365.00 together with a handsome scarf and stool.

To the next five nearest answers we will give credit bills worth $100 each.

Each of the competitors sending in the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bills for $1 less than the preceding prize, or $99.00, and following this in groups of two, each of the competitors sending the next two largest lists of words will be given credit bill for $1 less than the preceding prize, until the entire balance of $5,000 shall have been distributed.

Rules for Forming Words

Only such words are to be used as are found in Webster's International Dictionary. No proper names, foreign words, names of persons, town or places are to be used. Do not use a letter more times in one word than it appears in the words CONWAY PIANOS. Words spelled the same, but having a different meaning, can be used but once.

Rules and Conditions of Contest:

All answers limited to July 22, 1907.
Open to readers of this paper.
Those who receive credit bills can apply them on any new Pianos in our stock at the regular prices, which are always marked in plain figures on each instrument, but cannot apply them on any purchase made prior to opening day of contest.
Easy payments will be granted to those wishing to be accommodated by applying their credit bills and paying the balance in small monthly payments.
Not more than one credit bill will be accepted on the same Piano.
In the event of a tie between two or more contestants the Capital Prize will be divided equally and paid in gold.

A GENUINE REDUCTION

The fairness of the above contest appeals to the public from the fact that we have for years been selling our instruments on the uniform or fixed price plan. As all instruments are marked in plain figures they are conclusive as to price. Therefore to all those who secure credit bills there is every assurance of a bona fide reduction in price.

MANY SURPRISES IN THE NATIONAL GOLF TOURNAMENT

Travis, Travers and Byers Among the Survivors to Compete Against Westerners.

Upsets marked the play in the first match play round of the national amateur golf championship tournament at the Euclid Club, Cleveland, yesterday. Numbered among the unfortunates were H. Chandler Egan, of Exmoor, twice national title holder; his cousin, Walter Egan, also of Chicago, and a former Western champion; Fred Herreshoff, of Garden City; George S. Lyon, the Canadian champion and runner-up to Byers last year, and HHarold Weber, of Toledo.

The eight survivors of the day's play were Jerome D. Travers, of Montclair, the Metropolitan and New Jersey champion; Warren K. Wood, of Homewood; Eben M. Byers, of Allegheny, the national title holder; D. E. Swayer, of Wheaton; Archie Graham, of North Jersey; W. T. West, of Philadelphia; W. C. Fownes Jr., of Oakmont, and Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, winner of the low score medal in the qualifying round. They will meet today in the third round in the order named.

The tournament is narrowing down to the keenest kind of a struggle between the East and the West, with the New England and Canadian entrants eliminated. As it now stands, there are four Westerners and as many Easterners left.

Big Catch at the Fishing Banks.

Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, in company with Alfred Zimmerman, of New York, and George Gothring, of Buffalo, who are stopping at the Carlisle, Asbury Park, were among a large party of anglers who went to the fishing banks on the Yacht Carib, Wednesday. Altogether the party brought home twelve of the largest striped bass that have been caught this season, either by net or line. A number of smaller fish were caught. Mr. McCrea was particularly adept in landing fish. Mr. Zimmerman, who is circulation manager of the New York World, is a resident of Plainfield.

Y. M. C. A. vs. Clinton Avenue.

The local baseball game of interest tomorrow will be played at Crescent Ovel between the Y. M. C. A. and Clinton Avenue nines. As these teams are now tied with Scotch Plains for first place with a percentage of .750, the result of tomorrow's contests will be of more than ordinary interest. The association and Clinton Avenue boys are playing fast ball now and neither side will have the advantage. Cliord Randolph, who has been pitching remarkable ball for Clinton Avenue, will be in the box for his team, while he will be opposed by Minford or Dupee. The other game tomorrow will be played at Scotch Plains between the locals and the Raritan nine and that promises o be a lively contest.

The Dunellen Field Club will play the Riversides, of Rahway, at Dunellen afternoon, at 3.45 o'clock.

ELECTION WORK STARTS

County Chairman to Notify the Various Clerks Regarding Delegates.

GETTING BUSY NOW

Fort Has Good Chance for Governorship—Sommers' Boom—Pitney Mentioned.

County Chairman Frank H. Smith will send to the clerks of the various municipalities in Union early next week notification of the number of delegates to be elected from each to the district, county and State conventions that will soon be held by the Republican party. At the meeting of the County Committee Monday night preliminary details incident to the fall campaign will likely be discussed and arrangements made to get through the work of a routine nature.

Each municipality in the county is entitled to one delegate for every two hundred votes cast for the candidate for Governor at the last Gubernatorial election.

The primaries will be held this year on the second Tuesday in September. Under the new law the last Tuesday in September is the date for the primaries except in the year when a Governor is to be elected, when it shall be the second Tuesday.

With the primaries only two months off sentiment has not definitely settled around any particular man in the Republican party to make it possible to predict with any sort of certainty who the candidate will be. Gossip as been busy with many names, but thus far does not seem to have hit upon any man who may be regarded as other than a possibility.

The avowed candidacy of Sheriff H. Sommer, of Essex, as the champion of the Colby forces, has aroused but little interest in Union county. Politicians here are in favor of a compromise candidate, one who will be acceptable or nearly so to the warring elements within the ranks. Mr. Sommer, as being in the forefront of the Colby fight, has incurred the enmity of a large number of Republicans, and is therefore not regarded as the ideal candidate. Many of these Republicans admire Sommer for the crusades he has conducted in Newark against lawlessness. They admire his fearlessness, too, but they argue that the enemies he has made are not only a few deposed bosses and some lawbreakers, but also a large number of the sturdy rank and file within the party.

As far as Union county is concerned the Colby movement has subsided and therefore the boom of Sommer has not the same signaficance as in Essex, where the Colby element is strong. Even some of the New Idea leaders in Hudson county are not much taken up with the Sommer candidacy.

Among the regulars Supreme Court Justice J. Franklin Fort, of East Orange, is still much talked of. Justice Fort's term on the bench expires next year and it is declared that he would not refuse the nomination if it came to him. He will be absent in Europe for two months and will therefore not have a chance to take part in any movement to shape a boom for himself. The organization, on the whole, would rather have a man from outside of Essex county where factional feeling runs strong and on this account many persist in advocating the nomination of Supreme Court Justice Mahlon W. Pitney, of Morris county. Justice Pitney's term also expires next year. It is believed he would accept, but this opinion is not expressed with such assurance as the similar one concerning Judge Fort. Senator Frelinghuysen, of Somerset, is a strong favorite and he may land the plum.

Chandler W. Riker's boom seems to have receded. Mentioned by both Colbyites and regulars a short time ago it is now little heard of.

As things stand at present it looks as if either Frelinghuysen or Fort had the best chance of securing the nomination.

Plainfield Fisherman's Luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Rushmore, of Sycamore avenue, who have been sojourning at "Naomi Pines House," Pocono Pines, Pa., are now stopping at the Pocono Heights House, Mt. Pocono, Pa. Last Tuesday, in company with a guide from Pocono Pines, Mr. Rushmore and his companion each caught fifty fine trout. They have one of the finest trout streams in the country in that part of Pennsylvania and before the two men had gone two miles they landed 100 fish.

FARMERS HUNT A WOLF

Scourge of Peapack to be Driven From Unnatural Haunts.

NOTABLES IN CHASE

A Muzzle-Loader, Charged for Seven Years, Will Be Carried in the Very Front Rank.

According to a dispatch in this morning's New York papers Somerset county awoke today to the rattle of musketry, the shouts of men, and the baying of hounds. There was a grand hunt in progress—a hunt for a wolf which has been devastating the country in the vicinity of Peapack. And this is no nature-faking story.

As the story runs, the terror of this wolf, which is said to bear a striking resemblance to the Hound of the Baskervilles, has spread even unto Bernardsville. Since it has appeared there has been a marked decline in the applejack market, but this makes no difference to the wolf. The animal is believed to have escaped from a traveling circus, about two years ago, and it has been growing ever since until its size passes all belief.

This fearsome beast, it is related, has no terrors for Capt. Vincent, of Union Grove, who has organized, and heads, the posse of citizens which started at daylight today in a relentless search for its lair, hide, and hair. Capt. Vincent shot a mink in the Fall of 1889, and he is mentioned prominently as a candidate for a place on the new Fish and Game Commission which Gov. Stokes is to name on the retirement of Col. Sam Dickinson. Another expert who accompanied the party is David Henderson, who has various claims to fame.

The fact that some of the women of the place has seen the animal has gone a long way toward assuring the skeptical that the animal really exists. Last Friday Mrs. Elias McMurtry, Jr., of Union Grove is alleged to have seen it. She declares it is a great creature with two flaming orbs, a blood-red mouth flecked with foam, and a sloping back along which run a line of coarse bristles.

Ellis Tiger, of Union Grove, and Schuyler B. Jackson, of Gladstone, report the loss of sheep and chickens; the wolf is suspected.

Following a secret meeting of the Executive Committee Thursday night Capt. Vincent announced the hunt yesterday. It was explained that the details would be kept secret so as not to alarm the wolf.

George McConnell, of Gladstone, unlimbered his old muzzle loader, which has been idle for seven years. He says if the wolf comes within fifty feet of him that something is going to happen. His companions say they fear that such will be the case, for the gun is old and rusty and the charge is reported to be heavy. George has the right of way.

Hugh Roff, the only living bachelor farmer in Union Grove, who, it is said, can outrun a dog and who wants to race the wolf, was there this morning, as was Will Lisk, Superintendent of the Union Grove Sunday School, and many others too numerous to mention.

Benefit Euchre and Dance.

Division No. 4, A. O. H., has made arrangements to conduct a euchre and dance in T. A. B. Hall next Friday night for the benefit of James Fosbre, who has been incapacitated for a long time. Handsome prizes will be awarded the successful players in the euchre.

SEQUEL TO AN OLD BET

Mr. Walsh and Mr. Callahan Will Visit Ireland Together.

CAME HERE ON WAGER

And Will Return On a Dare—Reunion of Old-Time Friends In Erin Looked For.

Among those who will sail next Thursday for Ireland, are John Walsh, of Madison avenue, and Thomas Callahan, the Richmond street grocer, who will go to their native land to spend the summer. The trip will be, in a way, the sequel to a wager made forty years ago, in Erin.

The bet was posted in their native town. One bet the other that he didn't dare to cross the ocean to America. The wager was taken up, and both posted a forfeit. Both were "game," and Ireland lost two sturdy sons that America gained.

Both of them prospered. A year after he came to this country Mr. Walsh secured a position at the Seminary on West Seventh street. For thirty-nine years he has worked there faithfully, and by thrift and good judgment has amassed a snug sum. Mr. Callahan engaged in the grocery business, and did well. He is in business still.

A few weeks ago Mr. Walsh dared Mr. Callahan to return to Ireland for a visit. The latter thought of the way in which the trip to this country had come about two-score years ago, and promptly repeated the preliminary of that incident of their lives.

"I'll go if you will," he challenged.

"Then it's go you will," answered Mr. Walsh swiftly, "for I am ready to go when you say the word."

Plans were formed without delay. The old chums expect to have a great time in the place of their birth. A number of their youthful days companions still live there, and they look for an old fashioned reunion.

Y. W. C. A. CONFERENCE.

Over Four Hundred Delegates at Silver River.

The city conference for Young Women's Christian Associations in the Eastern States has just been held on Silver Bay, a beautiful spot in Lake George, New York. Over 400 girls and women, representing board members, committee workers, secretaries and association members from different cities were at the Silver Bay Hotel and the surrounding cottages during the ten days. One could not see so many representative people from so many different places without realizing the immensity of the Young Women's Christian Associations and the strength of its work.

One of the most interesting departments was the club girls' council. This was attended by girls who are members of Y. W. C. A. clubs in city factories. They told of their work and their good times. A soap company of Buffalo was represented by thirty-three girls at this council. Other factories from over the eastern states had delegations.

The association of Plainfield held a unique place, it being the youngest association in the territory. Miss Tapping, the secretary, and Miss Mina Bach represented it.

Young Women Invited.

Miss Tapping will be at the home of the Y. W. C. A.'s house, 212 East Front street, tomorrow afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock. A cordial invitation is given any girls in the city to spend a pleasant Sunday afternoon with her.

INQUEST IN WEEKES' CASE

Death of Netherwood Man to be Investigated by Coroner.

JURY TO SIT MONDAY

Local Police and County Authorities Spurred to Vigorous Action By Mayor Fisk.

Full investigation is to be made by the authorities into the death of Clarence H. Weekes, who was killed yesterday on Berkeley avenue by a shock from a broken electric light wire. The police and the county authorities, spurred on by Mayor Charles J. Fisk, have determined to find out if any responsibility for the loss of Weekes' life rests anywhere.

A coroner's jury will be drawn early Monday morning, and an inquest will be held at once. This action was decided upon this afternoon, after a conference between Mayor Fisk, County Physician Westcott, Chief Kiely and the County Prosecutor's office. The prosecutor was represented by Assistant Prosecutor John English, who took part in the consultation over the telephone. The conference was held at the mayor's office.

Mayor Fisk urged the local and county officials to action as soon as he heard of the accident. County Physician Westcott and Chief Kiely started vigorous investigation at once, but the conference today led to the conclusion that a coroner's inquest was the best mode of procedure.

Mayor Fisk would make no statement on the case, other than to say: "We have decided, after consultation, to hold an inquest on Monday. The inquest will bring out all the facts, we hope. It is by the facts gathered by the officials on which we will act."

VALUABLE LUMBER PILE FIRED BY ENGINE SPARKS

BLAZE GAVE CITY DEPARTMENT A TWO-HOUR FIGHT.

Damage amounting to $400 was occasioned by fire in a pile of lumber in the Richmond Street End of the Scott Press Works yard at an early hour this morning. The city department was called out at 1 o'clock and it was nearly two hours later when the last blaze was extinguished.

The flames evidently originated from locomotive sparks and had crept all about the pile when first discovered. The lumber was dressed red oak, a valuable grade of wood used in the manufacture of tables for printing presses. It was necessary for the firemen to pull down every stick in order to kill the blaze but it was accomplished in a manner that prevented a much larger loss. The pile was worth about $2,000.

In addition to Mr. Scott's loss, Arthur E. Smith, the contractor, will lose $75 by the fire. He has been building a wing wall along the railroad track and his material shed is directly next where the lumber pile stood. The flames got into it and water, which ran into cement, helped the damage along.

The alarm for the fire came about in much the same way that the one for the Cadmus blaze was given last month. The engineer of the pusher engine which plies between Dunellen and Fanwood, noticed the flames as he was returning from a trip and notified the operator at the North avenue station. Patrolmar Dennis O'Keefe chanced to be there at the time and pulled box 21 at Watchung avenue and East Third street.

"Owl Club" Organized.

An organization in this city known as the "Owl Club" has completed plans for the summer. The club consists of young fellows of Plainfield and is represented by seven directors, Stuart Freeman, Howard Freeman, Edgar Freeman, Sidney Rockwell, Samuel Bogart, George Bentley and Paul R. Collier.

If the present plans of the club materialize the members will camp at Belmar during the second week in August.

Concrete Walks Under Bridges.

The improvement of the property and tracks of the Jersey Central, is rapidly progressing. The contract for the concrete sidewalks and curbing under the new bridges at Richmond street and Watchung Park and Clinton avenues has been awarded to Warren Travell, of this city. Work will be begun at once starting at Richmond street.

Miss Clara Gerke, of New York, is the guest of Charles Vincent, of West Third street.

PHOTOS FOR PROSECUTOR

Snapshots Taken of Many Saloons that Failed to Remove Screens on Sunday.

GOT EVIDENCE QUIETLY

Nobody Seems to Know Who Is Responsible For This Method of Getting Testimony.

Photographers have been busy in Elizabeth for several Sundays taking snapshots of the saloons whose owners failed to remove their screens on Sunday. It could not be learned who was responsible for the employment of these photographers.

The snapshots are taken in a way that fails to arouse the suspicion of anybody that they are to be used in prosecutions for violations of the excise law. A stranger stops in front of a saloon that is not complying with the law and, as if photographing some house in which he is personally interested, or building of picturesque or historical interest, succeeds in getting his picture without causing anybody to ask questions. Always, however, the particular place on which the camera is focused is the window.

It is said that the pictures already taken show some curious things. Some saloonkeepers removed their screens, but in their places put large posters advertising cigarettes or some brand of cigars. These placards left but small space through which to see into the barroom, in fact the casual observer could not see within at all. Other views show that the law was openly violated—no attempt being made to remove the screens.

The Elizabeth Excise Board is not held responsible for this novel method of getting evidence against the saloonkeepers. Chief of Police Tenney, of that city, said yesterday that the police had nothing to do with it.

It was suggested that someone connected with the recent Grand Jury may have hired the photographers to do the work, but Charles J. Fisk, mayor of this city, the foreman of the Grand Jury, would not confirm the report. It is believed that the work is being done at the request of Prosecutor English.

A firm of New York photographers, it is said, did the work. To the pictures affidavits will be attached, showing the date on which they were taken.

Plainfielders Arrive Safely.

A cablegram received here today announced the safe arrival at Liverpool, this morning of Corporation Counsel and Mrs. C. A. Marsh. They sailed on July 4 on the Arabic and had a pleasant voyage. Among the other Plainfielders on the boat were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of Watchung avenue. By a strange coincident the number of their stateroom was 26, while the one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Marsh was 24. Neither party knew that the other had engaged passage on the Arabic.

Summer Plans at Warren Chapel.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, together with Mrs. McKelvey, will spend the month of August at Nantucket. The supplies at the chapel during Mr. McKelvey's absence will be as follows: August 11, Rev. Fred Newman, of Trenton; August 18, Rev. Henry Pearce, of Savannah, N. Y.; August 25, and September 1, Rev. Mr. Porter, of Marietta, Ohio.

HEAR FROM SURETY CO.

Concern Which Filed Bond and Sewer Contractor's Man to Meet With Mayor.

CITY TO FINISH WORK

Councilmanic Street Committee Discusses Situation—Cusack Still Missing.

The Councilmanic street committee met last night to consider matters pertaining to the Southside sanitary sewer muddle, which developed during the past week. It was practically decided that the city should go ahead and finish the work, which is less than half completed. This will be done unless the city can find a reliable firm that would be willing to assume the contract in its present shape.

In the meantime the committee proposes to keep in touch with the Metropolitan Surety Company with a view to maintaining the protection which is guaranteed the city under the provisions of the bonds as furnished by Peter Morgan, the contractor. The directors of the company would each be liable to the city, in case the company should fail to meet its obligations and the local officials are not alarmed over the situation so far as being reimbursed for the failure of Mr. Morgan to execute his contract.

Mayor Fisk received word this morning from the Metropolitan Surety Company, which had filed a bond for $5,000 for the performance of Mr. Morgan's contract. It will have a representative on hand on Monday when a conference will be held by the Mayor and Frank B. Lown, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who is Morgan's lawyer. Mr. Morgan sent word that Mr. Lown would be on hand at that time.

President Daniel, of the Common Council, expressed his regrets over the situation, this morning, stating that while there is no doubt but that the city will come out of the trouble all right, such affairs are always attended with many disagreeable features and it generally takes a considerable time to effect a satisfactory settlement. It will probably take the remainder of the summer and early fall to complete the sewer contract.

Dedication Service Postponed.

The dedication service which was to have been held at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, has been postponed for one week on account of the death and funeral of Clarence H. Weeks, of Berkeley avenue. The same program which had been arranged for tomorrow afternoon will be given on Sunday afternoon, July 21, at the Home. There will be the usual four o'clock services at the Home tomorrow afternoon, with good speaking and music.

WRECKED HER OWN CASE

Mrs. Maguire Made Desertion Her's and Not the Husband's.

TWO MAGISTRATES SIT

Mayor Fisk Started the Case and Judge Runyon Finished It By Dismissing the Complaint.

Her own attitude destroyed the case of Mrs. John William Maguire, who appeared against her husband in the city court this morning to press a charge of desertion and non-support. Two magistrates sat on the case, Judge Runyon taking it up after Mayor Fisk, who started to hear it, had reached the point where he was about to pass judgment.

Mrs. Maguire came to court with her mother and a sister. She accused her husband of having run away to Summit. Maguire was arrested in Summit, where he is employed by a veterinary surgeon. Judge Runyon was out of town, and after waiting for him until 10.30, Mayor Fisk had the case brought before him at the city court.

After the examination had proceeded away Maguire acknowledged his duty toward his wife and child. Mayor Fisk turned toward the wife.

"Will you go and live with your husband in Summit?" he asked.

Mrs. Maguire shook her head vigorously.

"I don't want anything to do with him," she said. "I want him to support the child."

Mayor Fisk was just about to end the case when Judge Runyon came in. The mayor called him to the bench and laid the testimony and the wife's statement before him.

"Case dismissed," said the judge.

Mrs. Maguire was represented by W. G. DeMeza. F. J. Blatz defended Maguire.

FLIES CARRY TYPHOID.

Bacteriologists Thus Explain Epidemic at Asylum.

State bacteriologists are advancing the theory that flies and other insects are responsible for the continued spread of typhoid fever at the State Hospital for the Insane in Trenton. The managers of the hospital are charging that the epidemic was caused by a leaky city sewer leading from the institution, which polluted a spring used for drinking purposes. Trenton City Engineer Abram Swan denies this.

The State authorities have investigated and say the milk supply is not to blame. This has led to the insect theory. The bacteriologists say that the flies and other insects, by stinging the inmates, may have spread the contagion. Further investigation will be made.

PLAINFIELD MAN SOLVES PROBLEM OF HOW TO SPEND A VACATION AT HOME

The problem of how to spend a vacation at home has been successfully solved by William Schorb, of East Front street, and he is following out a plan that resulted from his own careful devising. Having the inclination for cool breezes and a change of scenery during the hot months that other people have but not the time to remain away from his daily duties more than a week at once he hit upon a scheme to secure both.

He figured out that the Watchung mountain range is just as pretty as many of those it costs dollars in railroad fare to get to and by actual experience he knew that refreshing zephyrs prevailed among its trees when Plainfield suffered from a surplus of heat. Working along these lines he secured a site on Johnston's drive, just off Somerset street, and there established just the sort of camp that can be seen by the score at Lake Hopatcong, in The Catskills and on Staten Island. It is a cool and inviting spot and has just enough of natural beauty about it to give the "wilderness" aspect and yet city facilities are to be had. Trolley cars are only five minutes away and if anything is needed in a hurry a telephone carries the news to town as quick as anyone could wish.

Mr. Schorb's camp is composed of two tents, the main one a huge affair measuring 18 by 30 feet. It is divided into compartments and has all "modern conveniences." The floors are boarded, electric lights furnish illumination and spring water is brought to the place in pipes. The family lives at the place all the time and Mr. Schorb "commutes" to and from his work in the borough. They intend remaining until September.

Those who have visted the camp fall in love with it immediately and the "guest" room has not lacked for an occupant since the tent was put up.

BARBER WAXES ANGRY WHEN JOKERS MAKE FUN OF HIS PLAN TO KEEP OUT FLIES

To protect the sacred pates of his many customers from an invasion of flies, William Claussen, the well known Park avenue barber, placed two immense streamers of black netting over his front doors yesterday. "Bill's" intentions were good but the passerby misinterpreted the meaning of the funeral aspect of the place and they made life miserable for him by poking their heads in the door and asking questions. One man wanted to know if "the crepe was hung because business was dead" and another told a friend that "Bill" did it because a dog belonging to him was among the bunch that went to the Rushmore execution chamber.

When the tonsor lathered the last man, last night, he solemnly vowed that if the interrogations kept up he would either hire an official question answerer or haul in the black streamers. He little knew what fate had then in store for him, however, as while he was in bed and dreaming of the days when quarter shaves and fifty cent hair cuts would prevail, a local wag got busy. A sign painter was secured and with a few deft sweeps of his brush prepared a larged placard. It was hung up on the sombre drapings and as "Bill" and his helpers arrived this morning, the following in large letters greeted their gaze:

"WHISKERS DIED."

One look was sufficient for the corpulent Knight of the Razor and with an angry, "Ach du Lieber! Vas Ist? Wer ist todt? Aber ich bin Vericht," he made rush for the offending sign. It came down with a crash, bringing the crape and half of the transom with it. Today the doors of the shop were wide open and when a customer remarked that the flies could get in if they wanted, the proprietor looked at him in a pitying way and said: "Ach, who cares, I don't."

POST CARD REGULATIONS.

Extension of Facilities Furnished By Same.

Washington, D. C., July 13.—For years Americans and others have been sending to the United States from foreign countries postal cards and post cards (private mailing cards) with messages written on the front as well as on the back of the cards, although in this country this advantage has been denied the users of government postal cards. Some months ago the United States postal laws and regulations were amended so as to give that privilege to buyers of post cards, but such concession was not made applicable to postal cards.

In order to remedy this inconsistency and to prevent any further confusion and annoyance to the public, Postmaster-General Meyer yesterday promulgated an order, effective August 1, 1907, providing that the face side of a postal card may be divided by a vertical line placed approximately one-third of the distance from the left end of the card; the space to the left of the line to be used for a message, etc., the portion to the right to be used for the address only. A very thin sheet of paper may be attached if it completely adheres to the card, and such a paster may bear both writing and printing. Advertisements, illustrations or writing may appear on the back of the card and on the left third of the front. Postal cards bearing particles of glass, metal, mica, sand, tinsel, or other such substances, are declared to be unmailable, except when enclosed in envelopes with proper postage affixed, or when treated in such a manner as will prevent the objectionable materials from being rubbed off or injuring the hands of persons handling the mails.

Feudist Shot to Death.

Lexington, Ky., July 13.—At Elkatawa, a small railroad station in Breathitt county, Thursday night, Curtis Smith, a vital witness for the Commonwealth in the trial of the Hargises for the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox and James Cockrill, was killed. Smith was invited to sit in a game of cards, and when he entered the game he realized that his enemies were his opponents in the game. He drew his revolver at the first signs of trouble, but owing to the fact that he was covered by another man he was left to the mercy of the others in the plot and Seigle Turner shot him three times through the breast. Smith fired two shots, but they went wild, since Turner's shot had struck a vital spot.

Martyr to Science.

Denver, Col., July 13.—That the cause of medical science might be advanced and the conditions of thousands of suffering asthmatics might be ameliorated, Dr. W. W. Robinson, a well known physician and surgeon, has given up his life. A short time after he had injected the medicine his face and lips turned black and Thursday morning he died.

Briggs was driven from his home at Macy, because his wife did not recognize him after he had his beard shaved off for the first time since he marched with Sherman from Atlanta to the sea. The barber had to go home with Briggs and swear that Briggs was the woman's husband before she would believe it.

MAY START PROBE TUESDAY.

Some of the State Institutions in Trenton May Then Be Investigated.

Trenton, July 13.—Although the resumption of the investigation by the Assembly probe committee is scheduled for next Monday, it is not likely that regular work will be taken up until Tuesday, owing to the fact that John H. Backes, counsel for the committee, will be engaged Monday before the Supreme Court in the matter of the argument for a new trial for David H. and John Brand, of Trenton, who are under sentence on the charge of aiding and abetting arson. Former Justice Gilbert Collins will be associated with Mr. Backes in the argument.

It is understood that the investigating committee, when it resumes work Tuesday, will take up some of the State institutions in Trenton. Mr. Backes, when seen yesterday, intimated that such would be the case. When asked which institution would be probed first he replied that he could not tell that at present.

NO NEW CITIZENS NOW.

Time For Taking Out Final Papers Expired Several Days Ago.

Prospective citizens who haven't taken out their final papers yet, and imagine they can do it in time to get a chance to help elect the next Governor of New Jersey, will meet with disappointment. The time expired more than a week ago.

Formerly would-be citizens could wait till within fourty-four hours of Election Day, and be in time to have their applications granted so that they could vote. But under the new laws while the time which must elapse between the granting of the application and Election Day remained the same, thirty days, the two weeks which must preceed this was lengthened to three months.

Some Industrial Plums.

New York, July 13.—In a contest begun in Wall street to compel the directors of the American Steel Foundries Company to pay a dividend on the preferred stock it has developed that four officials of the company will draw as salaries for the last fiscal year slightly more than $800,000. Of this sum the president of the company, William V. Kelley, of Chicago, will receive in both bonus and salary, $340,000. The other men who will participate in the enormous distribution are Robert P. Lamont, first vice president; W. W. Butler, second vice president, and George E. Scott, third vice president. To each of these will be paid sums aggregating $165,000 to $170,000, according to statements made yesterday.

Big Jewel Theft.

With utmost secrecy thrown about the matter, Pinkerton detectives are attempting to solve the mystery of a $20,000 jewel robbery from the private safe in the offices of J. M. Ceballos & Co., bankers and brokers, who failed not long ago for something like $4,000,000. For more than a week rumors of the theft have been current in Wall street, but until yesterday the precautions that had been taken to that end prevented confirmation being reached. It is now disclosed that diamonds valued at the sum mentioned, some of them cut and set and others in the rough, were purloined from a compartment in the private safe in a manner so clever as to leave no clue upon which the detectives are able to work.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

"Leave it to Your Banker."

One of the most persistent obstacles to an advance in prices of high class bonds, aside from high rates for funds and doubts which prevail that the sub-cellar of quotations has been reached, is found in the attractiveness of numerous issues of short-term corporation notes, both railway and industrial, owing to the relatively high rate of interest which the latter yield when low prices for the same are considered. For instance, many investors will refuse to look with favor at a sound four per cent. railroad bond, to run say, thirty years, even when the quotation promises a net return of your and a half per cent. or better, perhaps as much as five per cent., because they can buy some of the popular short term three-year notes, paying five or six per cent., and selling at a price which nets buyers, in some instances, as high as seven per cent.

On the face of it, the relative desirability of these notes over bonds is indisputable. Even the most conservative of banking and bond houses put the former temptingly forward on their bargain counters, and one of the more authorative of investment periodicals has gone out of its way to explain that they are exceptionally desirable, among other reasons, for the following

Corporation notes, maturing in from two to four years, are desirable for individual capitalistswho have funds awaiting more permanent disposition. These notes are in negotiable form; they are issued by corporations of undoubted stability and they are readily accepted by banks and other financial institutions as collateral, should the holder be desirous of so pledging them. Banks which purchase these notes can very profitably employ them; they make them available, while they are so held, in various ways greatly to their advantage. When the emission, or the market price is calculated the profitable character of the investment is assured; should realizations thereon be desirable they could doubtless be sold at a good profit. As a source of revenue, aside from the resulting from the institution's business they are superior to any other form of investment of the high interest rate which they bear.

Referring to this quotation, the NEWS has been at some pains to bring the matter to the attention of several of the more conspicuous metropolitan dealers in gilt-edged bonds, with a request for an opinion. The answer, in brief, has been that from a broad investment point of view, bonds of the higher class are to be preferred to short-term notes, notwithstanding the higher yield of the latter. The reason for this opinion is that in two or three years, when the notes fall due and are paid, the opportunity to reinvest in long-term bonds of high grade will not be as favorable as it is now, and that the advantage gained by a present purchase of notes will be lost in the necessity for buying bonds at an advance which will have taken place.

The same reply was met with at a dozen bond and banking houses, until one of the largest private banking concerns in the big city was encountered, where the answer was, by all means buy the short-term notes, of good industrial and railway companies, those which net about six and a half or seven per cent. at present prices. Then it was the so-called fatal objection to preferring these notes to bonds was fired at the dealer, a sort of piece de resistance. The answer, however, was as complete and as satisfactory as could be wished. It was to leave the whole matter to the banker. When the notes have advanced a few points on the improvement of conditions that is sure to come, bonds will be found to have done the same thing, and the banker through whom one bought the notes would then sell the notes and put the money into bonds. Others who want a short-time investment, would get the notes which the seller would secure gilt-edged bonds on terms which would leave him as well off, relatively, as if he had bought them at the time he invested in notes. "Then you see," concluded the banker, "some things can be done as well as others"—Newark News.

Fatal Fall From Clothesline.

New York, July 13.—Crooking her arm about a clothes line as she lost her balance and fell from a fourth floor fire escape yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Angelina Capolio of No. 319 East 108th street, hung thirty feet in midair for two minutes while dozens of neighbors watched in terror and cried aloud at their own helplessness. With the weight of her body the slack of the line ran out, carrying her twenty feet from the building. In response to her cries several of the women from the floor above ran down the fire escape ladder, but the rope had jammed at a pulley and could not be pulled in. Mrs. Capolio, having hung on until her strength gave way, fell to the stone pave court. As an ambulance in charge of Dr. Fisher was about to start for Harlem Hospital with the injured woman a priest climbed into the vehicle. The physican gave surgical aid while the priest administered the last rites of the church. Mrs. Capolio died a few minutes after reaching the hospital.

AUTO TOURING PARTY.

Judge Dill and Friends Start on a Long Trip.

Accompanied by several friends, Judge James B. Dill, of Harrison street, East Orange, left on a long automobile tour to points of interest in the United States and Canada. The party will be gone for at least a month and perhaps longer. Some time will be spent in the Judge's camp at Rangeley Lakes, Me.

Besides Judge Dill, the tourists are: Supreme Court Justices Alfred Reed and Charles G Garrison, Winthrop E. Scarritt, of Munn avenue, East Orange; Judge Warren K. Foster, of New York, and Mrs. Scarritt's two sons.

Cigarmakers Win Strike.

Havana, Cuuba, July 13.—An important meeting was held yesterday by the Cigar Manufacturers Union, but no decision was reached as to whether the Henry Clay Bock Company shall open, paying its cigarmakers in American money, and the independent cigar manufacturer paying them in Spanish, or all pay American. Cigarmakers so far have not demanded American money from the independents, who merely closed their factories to help the Henry Clay-Bock Company. The prevailing opinion is that all should pay wages in American money to avoid the risk of the cigar makers demanding it also from independents, but whether one way or the other manufacturers admit factories will open next week and the strike cease. The cigarmakers' triumph has been absolute.

Japanese Peace Talk.

New York, July 13.—Assurances of peace between Japan and America were given yesterday at a luncheon held in the grand ballroom at the Hotel Astor under the auspices of the Japan Society in honor of Admiral Baron Yamamoto and his suite. Viscount Aoki, the Japanese Ambassador, was present and issued a formal statement earlier in the day, in which he referred to the talk of war as the play of "wild imagination." The note of amity was taken up by the Admiral, who spoke of the ancient friendship between Cipango and Columbia, and it was echoed by Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans and in an impassioned plea for peace by General Stewart L. Woodford, formerly United States Minister to Spain, who declared that war between the two nations would be a crime.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

Clinton Avenue against Y. M. C. A., at Crescent Oval, this afternoon, should drawn the biggest crowd of the season. The teams are tie for first place and both will be especially anxious to win today. Captain Craig has not decided yet whether he will use Minford or Dupee, but Randolph will be on the slab for Clinton Avenue.

The Raritans will camp out at Scotch Plains today, when they will try to score their first victory by defeating the Plains team, which is tied with Clinton Avenue and Y. M. C. A. for first place.

The Laurels, of Bound Brook, get an off day today so far as the amateur league schedule is concerned, and they will play a game at home with an independent team.

Frank Farrell, of the New York Americans, is authority for the statement that George Stallings, of Detroit, has not been engaged to manage the Highlanders next season or any other season. He declares that all such reports are ridiculous and have not the slightest foundation. Farrell is very appreciative of Clark Griffith's services and has no idea of making a change.

Brown, the former star twirler for the St. Louis Nationals, showed in his game against Chicago on Thursday that he is still there with the goods. Pitching for Philadelphia he defeated the Windy City boys by a score of 6 to 3.

"Warry" MacLaughlin, who is pitching for the Springfield, Connecticut State League team, this season, is doing good work and his victories are frequent. Not only in pitching but with the stick he has proved himself to be a valuable man for Springfield.

The West Ends, of Somerville, will play a Trenton nine at Somerville, this afternoon.

Flemington now claims the championship for Hunterdon county in baseball. A majority of the victories were scored at home and under the favorable conditions of a home umpire.

GOLF.

The events at the Plainfield Country Club today will include the finals for the club championship between C. B. Morgan and W. Lester Glenney and the play for the third eight cup between W. B. Tyler and L. A. Chase; also the weekly play for the Golf Committee, Green Committee and Scratch cups, all of which should attract a big field of golfers.

At the Park Golf Club today there will be the weekly play for the President's and Golf Club cups, and continuation of play for the July cup, which was started the first Saturday in the month. There is a revival of interest in golf at the club and the entry list is large each week.

Qualifying rounds for Classes A and B will be the attraction at the Westfield Golf Club, today, for handicap match play in August.

The friends of Robert Abbott are disappointed that he did not make a better showing in the big tournament held this week in Cleveland. In the first half of the thirty-six hole qualifying round he returned a low score, but in the second round he failed to do equally as well and did not qualify.

Some of the Eastern golfers failed to do as well as expected of them at the natioal tournament in Cleveland this week. They seemed to fall down completely before the fast playing of their Western competitors. However, Walter J. Travis continued to play his steady game which brought him through to the finals today.

The next event of great interest in the golfing world will be the amateur and professional tournament to be held the last of the month and first of August at the VanCortlandt Park links, New York. Plainfield will be represented by "Marty" O'Loughlin, while it is quite probable that several crack amateurs from the Plainfield Country Club will compete for honors. The program is especially attractive and the prize list should draw an unusually large field from the East.

J. H. P. Wharton, a former member of the Plainfield Country Club, frequently follows his favorite game at Baltusrol, where he generally returns a low score. This course is also an attractive spot for many local golfers, who enjoy playing on Sunday. The train accommodations are greatly improved, making the trip an easy one from this city.

GET INCREASE IN WAGES.

Ten Per Cent. Added to Some Employes in State Prison.

All employes of the New Jersey State Prison who now receive less than $100 a month have been granted an increase in salary of 10 per cent. to date from July 1. This increase was authorized by the Board of Prison Inspectors at their meeting in the prison Tuesday.

Seventy-five employes of the prison are benefitted by the advance in wages. The total pay roll of these seventy-five employes per month at this time is $6,035. The increase of 10 per cent. means an increase in the monthly pay roll of the class affected of $603.50.

This increase was authorized by the last Legislature by items in the general and supplemental appropriation bills. The supplemental bill appropriation provides for funds for the increase from July 1 until October 1. After October 1 the increase pay will be taken care of by the general appropriation bill.

"CALL MEN" MAY GO.

Effort Making to Have All Elizabeth Firemen Paid.

An effort is to be paid to have the number of paid men in the fire department at Elizabeth, almost doubled by eliminating the "call men," who get no regular salaries.

It was learned yesterday that the efforts of merchants of the Port district to have a new firehouse built on Third street have failed for the time being, and that the building cannot be secured for many months. This is due to the fact that one new building, in the Eleventh Ward, has already been authorized, and the city is declared to be in no condition to stand the expense of another. Two new buildings would mean an additional expense of $10,000 a year.

After Traction Combine.

New York, July 13.—Asserting that the Interborough-Metropolitan traction merger is an illegal combination, formed for the purpose of creating a monopoly of transportation facilities in New York city, Attorney General Jackson yesterday made his first move in an effort to have its charter annulled and its existence endedd. His action was inspired by the recent opinion of Judge Holt, of the United States Circuit Court, who declared the merger is an absolute monopoly. On Mr. Jackson's request Judge Platzek, of the Supreme Court, signed an order directing the Interborough-Metropolitan Company to show cause on July 19 why the Attorney General should not be granted leave to begin an action in the name of the people of the State to have the company's charter cancelled.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. SEWER CONTRACT MUDDLE.

The sudden disappearance of the contractor's agent, leaving the seventy-five laborers with a month's wages due them, has put the work on the southside sanitary sewer at a standstill, but the outlook for the completion of the undertaking is not so bad as it appeared a few days ago. After some delay, the surety company, which gave bond for the performance of Mr. Morgan's contract, has promised to send a representative here to straighten out the muddle. A conference has been arranged by the mayor and the contractor's lawyer will take part in it.

One thing is certain and that is that neither Mr. Margan's physical or financial condition will permit of his going ahead with the job. Therefore, the only alternative is for the city to do the work itself, unless some other contractor can be found who will assume Mr. Morgan's responsibilities. This does not appear to be likely and consequently the authorities will have to assume the task. The surety company is liable to the amount of $5,000 on the bond filed. This sum will no doubt meet all losses incurred thus far.

It is quite certain that the Common Council will profit by the lesson in this incident.

Not alone the cars on the Netherwood line but those on every branch of the local street railway might make an attractive collection as trolley junk. No wonder Plainfield people prefer to walk.

PLAINFINLD COP SPARES WITH BOB FITZSIMMONS

"JACK" PAYNE GIVES LANKY BOB SOME EXERCISE.

Bob Fitzsimmons' training quarters wore the busiest kind of an air yesterday afternoon. The veteran worked hard, and a corps of New York sporting writers and artists, flanked, surrounded and engulfed by a battalion of rubbernecks, charged the atmosphere with compound essence of strenuosity. Fitz likes newspaper men and doesn't hate an adoring populace, wherefore he presented an animated aspect that will be reflected in the articles by the dope experts of the fight game.

Joe Rogers, the elephantine young man who was brought out on Thursday by Tom O'Rourke, to work with Fitz as sparring partner, did not put in an appearance, but Fitz did not lack much on that account. Bob Edgren, sporting editor of the New York Evening World, who knows a little more than a bit about hooks and jabs and things, stood two and a half rounds of fast going with the agile ex-champion, and Fitz got the same amount of work out of a husky young Plainfielder, who wore a mask and a pair of tights. He used the mask to conceal his identity, and fled from the newspaper persons when the bout ended. Deep mystery surrounds him. It was impossible to recognize him, because none of the Plainfield reporters had ever seen Jack Payne in tights before.

Both men gave Fitz plenty of work. The Unknown landed a few wallops that jarred some of the freckles loose, and Edgren drove in his right at one time hard enough to put Fitz down. Both of them, however, were forced to quit before finishing the third round, and Fitz was breathing easily and ripe for a hundred sessions of the same sort.

The veteran's condition grows better every day. His wind is in splendid shape, and he is as quick and shifty, to all appearances, as he ever was. One of the experts present yesterday said he should be able to knock Johnson's block off. "Johnson is young, but he has never met anybody in Bob's class," said the expert. "Bob ought to throw it into him almost at will, and finish him off with a clean jolt to where the sleep pill fits best."

Edgren had his photographer take a number of pictures of Fitz, posing with the Unknown. A sketch artist from the New York American used a half a dozen sheets on the sparring.

Fitz will spar with "Kid" Manley, a clever young fellow from New Brunswick, this afternoon. Rogers may come out, and he will be taken on for a few rounds, if he does.

CITY COLLECTOR MISSING.

Bordentown Council Investigating Dr. Leedom's Accounts.

Bordentown is excited over the absence of Dr. I. C. Leedom, who, besides having a large practise as a physician, holds the office of city collector in that place. There are all sorts of rumors afloat as to the condition of the city books. Friends of the missing man say that it "is all a tempest in a teapot," while others say that a muddled condition of affairs is about to be unearthed. The finance committee of the Bordentown Common Council has been at work in the matter since Sunday, when Dr. Leedom's absence was first noticed.

The committee, up to the present, has been unable to find any books or records kept by Dr. Leedom, excepting an assessors' field book, and it is said that unless the books are found the taxpayers of Bordentown will be asked to produce their tax receipts.

Mrs. Leedom, wife of the missing collector, said yesterday that she expects her husband to return in a day or two and that he is away on o business trip. The American Surety Company, of New York city, which is on the bond of the missing collector for $12,000, sent a representative to Bordentown yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Corra Ryno, of Coddington avenue, are spending a fortnight at Naugautuck, Conn.

SIGNERS DESCENDANTS TO ORGANIZE SOCIETY

W. S. M'KEAN APPOINTS RICHARD STOCKTON VICE-PRESIDENT.

William Shields McKean, a former New Jersey newspaper man, and now a resident of Washington, D. C., was in Trenton yesterday in the interests of the formation of a society of the descendants of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. McKean called upon Richard Stockton and formally notified him that he has been chosen as the vice president from the State of New Jersey. The preliminary steps for the formation of this society were laid at a meeting of the descendants at the Jamestown exhibition, July 4.

At that time it was decided to have appointed a vice president from each State to represent the descendants to meet in Washington, October 19 for the purpose of further completing the plans for the formation of the society.

The principal object of the association will be to lend its aid toward the completion of the memorial to Thomas Jefferson, which it is intended to be a memorial to all the signers. This has been undertaken by the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Association. The cost of this memorial, it is estimated, will be in the neighborhood of $500,000 and with the aid of the new society it is expected will be completed. Mr. McKean is the secretary of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Association.

BENJ. T. KISSAM DEAD: AGED EIGHTY-NINE YEARS.

Prominent Lawyer of Elizabeth Succumbs—Member of Well-Known Family.

Benjamin Tredwell Kissam, for many years one of the best known members of the New York bar, died Thursday night at his home, 1341 North avenue, Elizabeth, aged 89 years, after an illness of five weeks. He was for twenty-eight years a resident of Bayonne, and removed to Elizabeth in 1902.

Through his father, Joseph Kissam—he was descended from John Kissam, who settled in Flushing, L. I., in 1664. The Kissam family has furnished many men distinguished in all walks of lifes, in the church, as legislators, and was given to the State of New York one of its Governors.

Benjamin T. Kissam was graduated from Columbia College in 1838, and was at the time of his death the oldest, except one, of his class. After graduation he took up the study of law, and upon admission to practice in 1841, became associated with Dudley Selden, and on Selden's retirement succeeded to his business.

In 1861, he formed a partnership with George A. Jones, under the firm name of Kissam Jones, which lasted a number of years and was succeeded by the firm of Kissam & Embury.

Mr. Kissam was one of the founders of the New York Bar Association and was a life member of the Alumni Association of Columbia College and of the St. Nicholas Society of New York. He married, in June, 1864, Miss Florence Coleman, of Trenton, daughter of a well-known physician of that city. She died several months ago. Mr. Kissam leaves two children, Coleman E. Kissam and Bayard T. Kissam. Funeral services, which will be private, will take place at his late home this afternoon.

DOES GAS KILL DOGS WITHOUT SUFFERING?

POLICE INVESTIGATING SUBJECT; PRUSSIC ACID SUGGESTED BY VET.

Six of the unredeemed dogs were killed by the police yesterday, at the Rushmore Dynamo Works. It was said this morning that the howls of the dogs in the tank gave the men a creepy feeling. The gas tank is supposed to be a painless chamber of death, and that method has the approval of the S. P. C. A.

Reports of the apparently hard way in which the dogs gave up the ghost were taken to Chief Kiely, and he consulted Dr. Albert H. McIntosh, a well-known veterinary of Summit, who was a visitor at headquarters, as to the quickest way of killing dogs. The docor spoke emphatically in favor of prussic acid. A dose, after the dog's stomach had been given time to clear itself of undigested food, killed the canine the instant it struck the stomach, the veterinary said. In Summit, where a gas tank was provided, many dog owners brought their suffering canines to Dr. McIntosh for the quicker death that lay in the acid.

No particular method of execution is prescribed by law, and the gas tank may be abandoned. If it is decided that the gas chokes the dogs too painfully to death, the acid may be given a trial. Hitherto, the police have killed dogs with revolver bullets.

RICH DEPOSITS OF ORE FOUND ON CHURCH LAND.

Shafts Already Sunk Show Rich Deposits, It Is Said—Preacher Discovers It.

The North Reformed Church, of Newark, has for some years owned a tract of 175 acres of land in the vicinity of Sparta, Sussex county, which was left to it by Mrs. Eliza Crane, with the proviso that the income from the property be devoted to missionary work. It is now pretty certain that the property lies over valuable iron deposits. Three short shafts have been sunk and each has showed paying ore. The investigation will be carried further, and, if the results are satisfactory, arrangements will be made to sell the virgin ore to some of the iron smelters.

While supervising the surveying of boundary lines, the Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, the pastor, noticed strange vibrations of the needle of a compass he held in his hand. Te made an investigation, resulting in the discovery of the ore.

A FAMOUS KEY.

Was Thrown Into Loch Leven When Queen Mary Escaped.

The interesting key of Loch Leven castle is still in existence. It was found in the lake and is supposed to have been the one thrown in by the young Douglas when Mary, queen of Scots, made her escape. The key was originally in the possession of William Hamper, Esq., who presented it to Sir Walter Scott, having first had an engraving made of it.

The castle of Loch Leven is situated on an island of about two acres near the northwest extremity of the lake. Queen Mary when she dismissed Bothwell on Carberry hill and joined the insurgents was carried captive into Edinburgh and on the following day committed to Loch Leven castle. On the 25th of March, 1568, she attempted to escape thence in the disguise of a laundress, but was frustrated.

On Monday, May 2, 1568, however, while the family were at supper the boy, William Douglas, secured the keys of the castle and gave egress to the queen and her maid from the stronghold; then, locking the gates behind them to prevent pursuit, he placed the fugitives in a boat that lay near at hand and rowed them to the appointed landing place on the north side of the lake.—Strand Magazine.

AGE OF NATIONS.

Turkey, Born in 1453, the Oldest of the Present Generation.

The ages of most countries are recorded as exactly as that of any individual, and many of the nations usually considered old, even ancient, were really born long after those we call the younger ones of the new world. The father of nations, as we know them, is Turkey, with the sultan seated at Conhstanople since 1453.

Then comes Denmark, born in 1523, followed by Russia, born Oct. 22, 1721, when Peter the Great became the first emperor. The United States of America, that most readers probably thought very young, was born July 4, 1776, and France, possibly imagined to be much older, counts from July 14, 1789.

Younger than either is the United Kingdom, born Jan. 1, 1801. Chile was born Sept. 18, 1811; Columbia on July 5, 1811; Holland, Dec. 6, 1813, and Sweden starts from Feb. 5, 1818.

Brazil dates from Sept. 7, 1822; Mexico was born Oct. 4, 1823, and Bolivia was born Aug. 6, 1824. Belgium is younger, being born July 19, 1831, the same year as Ecuador and Venezuela. It may be a surprise to find Italy so youthful, her birth occurring Feb. 28, 1861.—London Answers.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

Work on the new B'nai Jehudah temple, Rabbi H. H. Mayer, Kansas City, Mo., has been begun. It is to cost $125,000.

The Rev. Ezra Tinker, D. D., has been elected president of the Industrial Seminary and Collegiate Institute at Loxley, Ala.

The United States maintains 3,776 missionaries in Japan, China, Korea, the Philippines, Burma, Siam, India, Tibet, Persia, Turkey, Egpyt and the South American countries.

There were 2,270 additions last year to the churches of Chicago presbytery on profession, an increase of nearly 500 over the year preceding. The total membership is 28,053, being 1,982 more than reported a year ago, an increase of over 7 per cent.

Father Spigardi, pastor of three Italian churches in St. Louis, has evolved a new plan to gather in loiterers. He has established an immense phonograph in the churches on successive Sundays and will turn on the music of the hymns in the evening.

LUNA PARK'S GROWTH.

Greater Than Last Year and Now Dear to Every Visitor of Coney Island.

Notwithstanding the tardiness of summer, hundreds of thousands of amusement seekers have visited Luna Park since it threw open it gates to the public three weeks ago. The principal features of the Park are now in full blast, and each and every attraction in the remarkable amusement place have been given their finishing touches and the popular verdict that "The Heart of Coney Island" this year is the most extraordinary and most beautiful place of its kind in the world, and after a visit to "Night and Morning" and "The Wreck of the Corsair" (The Great Shipwreck), one will fully appreciate Frederic Thompson's reputation as a scenis wizard.

Luna Park was great last year, but in no way compared with the triumph of genius displayed in it this season. Thirty-one individual attractions, widely different in their nature make up the "Court of Luna," each one novel, amusing, educational and sensational, contribute their part in helping to materialize the wonderful dream.

Last Saturday and Sunday's attendance at Luna Park has beaten all Coney Island records. Each succeeding day gives proof of the proverbial popularity of Luna Park, which the advertisements truthfully describe as "The Nation's Playground." The laurel musut be passed to Frederic Thompson for the many unique and marvelous diversions he is affording his patrons in "The City of Surprises."

Mr. Thompson, yacht, "The Shamrock," had hard luck in the Bermuda Ocean Race, or otherwise would have surely won the Maier Cup. After getting away last, she led the whole fleet that afternoon, and saw the last yacht fade astern of her at sundown that night. During this time, in her battle against her well-tuned competitors in gales and seas, three of her sails had been carried away, both spreaders of her bowsprit had given away, a foot of water washed in her hold, with the pumps refusing to work. Her mainmast had sprung and her log had been torn away.

This last mishap practically cost her the race. When she came to finish in the darkness yesterday, Capt. Lindeberg was unable even to approximate his position, and before the sun was up the yacht was driven by heavy seas thirty-seven miles south of Bermuda.

MRS. EDDY TALKS TO NORTH AMERICAN.

Head of Christian Scientists Interviewed By Leigh Mitchell Hodges.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 13.—Leigh Mitchell Hodges, special writer for The North American, has just returned from Concord, N. H., and has brought with him an authorized interview with Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, head of the Christian Science Church.

In view of the legal proceedings recently brought by Mrs. Eddy's family to have her affairs administered by trustees, and the more recent appointment of medical experts to examine into her mental condition, the interview, obtained at first hand, will be very interesting reading.

The article will be published in next Sunday's North American, July 14.

The Man of the Hour.

The 300th performance of "The Man of the Hour" was given last Monday night at the Savoy theatre, New York. Nothing much remains to be wirtten of this effective play, save to record from week to week the fact that it is still on view, and that it is still being viewed eight times a week by admiring playgoers. Here is a combination of a well nigh perfect cast with an excellent and unusual play. The cast includes such well known players as Lillian Kemble, Holbrook Blinn, Mrs. Dellenbaugh, George Fawcett, Louise Rutter, Geoffrey Stein, James E. Wilson and others. Despite the hot weather they are still playing the Thursday and Saturday matinees to big houses. "The Man of the Hour" has made its record of the first year of successes and bids fair to remain at the Savoy theatre for many months to come.

To Broil a Steak.

Few housewives understand the art of broiling, and consequently chops and steaks are often robbed of their delicate flavor by frying in a pan.

A steak or chop properly broiled should have a thin, well browned crust. Beyond this crust the meat should be red and juicy, hardly a shade less done in the middle than near the surface.

If the broiling is to be done on a range, have the fire very bright and clear. Open every draft, that smoke and flames may be drawn up the chimney. Place the piece of meat in the double broiler and hold it as near the coals as possible until the surface is brown, turning frequently. It will take three or four minutes for this. Now raise the broiler several inches above the bed of coals and continue the cooking until the meat is done.

The broiler must be turned often. A good rule is to count ten slowly, then turn the broiler. A steak or chop cut a little more than an inch thick will cook nicely in ten minutes. If liked well done, it should be cooked for twelve minutes.

The GIRL from TIM'S PLACE

BY CHARLES CLARK MUNN

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

Snow came and piled itself into fantastic drifts. The stream's summer chatter was hushed. The cows, chickens, and his horse, with woodcutting, became his sole care. Once a week he journeyed to the Corners for his weekly paper and Mandy's errands, always hoping for a message from Chip. Now and then one came, a little missive in angular chirography, telling how she longed to return to them, which they read and reread by candlelight.

Somehow this strange wanderer, this unaccounted-for waif, had crept into his life and love as a flower would, and "Pattycake," as he had named her, with her appealing eyes and odd ways, was never out of his thoughts.

And so the winter dragged its slow, chill course. Spring finally unlocked the brook once more, the apple and cherry blossoms came, the robins began nest-building, and one day Uncle Jud returned from the corner with a glad smile on his face.

"Pattycake's school's goin' to close in a couple o' weeks more, 'n' then she's comin' home," he announced, and Aunt Mandy, her face beaming, made haste to wipe her "specs" and read the joyous tidings.

For a few days Uncle Jud acted as if he had forgotten something and knew not where to look for it. He lingered about the house when he would naturally be at work. He peered into one room and then another, in an abstracted way, and finally Aunt Mandy caught him in the keeping-room, with one curtain raised,—a thing unheard of,—seated in one of the haircloth chairs and looking around.

"Mandy," he said, as she entered, "do you know, I think them picturs we've had hangin' here nigh on to 40 year is homely 'nuff to stop a horse, 'n' they make me feel like I'd been to a funeral. That's that 'Death Bed o' Dan'l Webster,' an' 'Death o' Montcalm,' 'specially. I jest can't stand 'em no longer, an' 'The Father o' His Country.' I'm gittin' tired o' that, 'n' the smirk he's got on his face. I feel jest as though I'd like to throw a stun at him this minute. You may feel jest on them picturs, but I'd like to chuck the hull kit 'n' boodle into the cow shed. An' them winder curtains," he continued, looking around, "things so blue they make me shiver, an' this carpet with the figgers o' green and yaller birds, it sorter stuns me.

"Now Pattycake's comin' purty soon. She must 'a' seen more cheerful keepin' rooms'n ourn, 'n' I'm callatin' we'd best rip this 'un all up an' fix it new. Then that's the front chamber—in fact, both on 'em—with the yaller spindle beds 'n' blue curtains, an' only a square of rag carpet front o' the dressers. Say, Mandy," he continued, looking around once more, "how'd we ever happen to git so many blue curtains?"

His discontent with their home now took shape in vigorous action, and Aunt Mandy came to share it. Trip after trip to the Riggsville store was made. Two new chamber sets and rolls of carpeting arrived at the station six miles away, and came up the valley. A paperhanger was engaged and kept busy for ten days. The death-bed pictures were literally kicked into the cow shed, and in three weeks four rooms had been so reconstructed and fitted anew that no one would recognize them.

Meanwhile Uncle Jud had utterly neglected his "craps," while he worked around the house. The wide lawn had been clipped close. A new picket fence, painted white, replaced the leaning, zigzag one around the garden. Weeds and brush disappeared, and only Aunt Mandy's protest saved the picturesque brown house from a coat of paint.

And then "Pattycake" arrived.

Nearly a year before she had been brought here, a weary, bedraggled, dusty, half-starved waif. Now Uncle Jud met her at the station, his face shining; Aunt Mandy clasped her close to her portly person; and as Chip looked around and saw what had been done in her honor and to make her welcome, her eyes filled.

"I never thought anybody would care for me like this," she exclaimed, and then glancing at Uncle Jud, her eyes alight, she threw her arms about his neck and, for the first time, kissed him.

And never in all his life had he felt more amply paid for anything he had done.

Then and there, Chip resolved to do something that now lay in her power—to face shame and humbled pride and all the sacrifice it meant to her in the end, and reunite these two long-separated brothers. But not now, no, not yet.

Before her lay two golden joyous summer months. Aunt Abby was coming up later. She could not face her own humiliation now. She must wait until these happy days were past, then tell her wretched story, not sparing herself one iota, and then, if she must, go her way, an outcast into the world once more.

How utterly wrong she was in this conclusion, and how little she understood the broad charity of Uncle Jud, need not be explained. She was only a child as yet in all but stature. The one most bitter sneer of malicious Hannah still rankled and poisoned her common sense. Its effect upon Chip had been as usual on her nature and belief, and this waif of the wilderness, this gnome child, must not be judged by ordinary standards. Like reflections from grotesque mirrors, so had her ideas of right and duty been distorted by eerie influences and weird surroundings. There was first the unspeakable brutality of her father; then the menial years at Tim's Place, with no more consideration than a horse or pig received, her only education being the uncanny teachings of Old Tomah. Under this baleful tuition, coupled with the ever present menace and mystery of a vast wilderness, she passed from childhood into womanhood with the fixed belief that human kind were no better than brutes; that the forest was peopled by a nether world of spites, the shadowy forms of both man and beast; and worse than this, that all thought and action here must be the selfish ones of personal gain and personal protection. Like a dog forever expecting a blow, like any dumb brute ever on guard against superior force, so had Chip grown to maturity, a cringing, helpless, almost hopeless creature, and yet one whose inborn impulses and desires revolted at her surroundings.

Once removed from these, however, and in a purer atmosphere, she was like one born again. Her past impressions still remained, her queer belief of present and future conditions was still a motive force, and the cringing, blow-expecting nature was yet hers.

For this reason, and because this new world and these new people were so unaccountable and quite beyond her ken in tender influence and loving care, what they had done and for what purpose seemed all the more impressive. But it was in no wise wasted; instead, it was like God-given sunshine to a flower that has never known aught except the chilling shadow of a dense forest.

And now ensued an almost pathetic play of interest, for Chip set herself about the duty of giving instead of obtaining pleasure.

She became what she was at Tim's Place,—a menial, so far as they would let her,—and from early morning until bedtime, some step, some duty, some kindly care for her benefactors, was assumed by her. She worked and weeded in the garden, she drove and milked the cows, she followed Uncle Jud to the hayfield, insisting that she must help, until at last he protested.

"I like ye 'round me all the time, girlie," he assured her, "for ye're the best o' company, 'n' I'd rather see yer face'n' any posy that ever grew. But you've got to quit workin' so much in the sun. 'Twill get yer hands all calloused 'n' face freckled, an' I won't have it. I want ye to injie yourself, read books, pick flowers, 'n' sit in the shade. I see ye've got into the habit o' workin', which ain't a bad 'un, but thar ain't no need on't here."

CHAPTER XXVII.

For many weeks now Chip had suffered from a troubled conscience, and, like most of us, was unable to face its consequences and admit her sin.

Time and again she had planned how she could best evade it and yet bring those two brothers together without first confessing. Old Cy must be told, of course. She could explain her conduct to him. He would surely forgive her, she thought, and then, maybe, find another home for her somehow and somewhere. Oversensitive as she was, to now confess her cowardly concealment and her deception of those who had loved and trusted her, seemed horrible.

But events were stronger than her will, for one day in the last of August, Uncle Jud returned from the village store, bringing dress materials and startling information. "Cap'n Bemis is fallin' purty fast," he said, "so Aunt Abby writes, an' she ain't comin' up here. It won't make no difference to you girlie," he continued, turning to Chip. "I've brought home stuff to rig ye out fer school. Miss Solen, the dressmaker's comin' to-morrer, 'n' we'll take keer o' ye in good shape. We've made up our minds ye b[illegible] to us fer good, me 'n' Mandy," he added, smiling at Chip, "an' I shall go with ye to Christmas Cove, if Cap'n Bemis ain't improvin', 'n' find ye a boardin' place."

"I'm awful sorry to hear 'bout the Cap'n," interrupted Aunt Mandy, as if the other matter and Chip's future were settled definitely; "but if he drops off, Aunt Abby must come here fer good. I dunno but it'll be a relief," she added, looking at Uncle Jud and sighing. "'Twan't no lovematch in the first place, 'n' Abby's mind's always been sot on your brother Cyrus, 'n' she never quite gin up the idee he was alive."

And now a sudden faintness came to Chip as the chasm in her own life was thus opened. Only one instant she faltered, and then her defiant courage rose supreme and she took the plunge.

"Oh, your brother Cyrus isn't dead, Uncle Jud," she exclaimed; "he's alive and I know him. I've known it all summer and dare not tell because I'm a miserable coward and couldn't own up that I lied to you. My name isn't Raymond, it's McGuire; and my father was a murderer, and I'm nobody and fit for nobody. I know you'll all despise me now and I deserve it. I'm willing to go away, though," and the next instant she was kneeling before Uncle Jud and sobbing.

It had all come in a brief torrent of pitiful confession which few would be brave enough to make.

To Chip, seeing herself as she did, it meant loss of love, home, respect, and all else she now valued, and that she must become a homeless wanderer once more.

But Uncle Jud thought otherwise, for now he drew the sobbing girl into his lap.

"Quit takin' on so, girlie," he said, choking back a lump; "why, we'll all love ye ten times more fer all this, an' ez fer bein' a nobody, ye're a blessed angel to us fer bringin' the news ye hev." And then he kissed her, while Aunt Mandy wiped her eyes on her apron.

The shower, violent for a moment, was soon over; for as Chip raised her wet eyes, a sunshiny smile illumined Uncle Jud's face.

"If Cyrus is alive," he said, "as ye callate, I'll thank God till I set eyes on him, and then I think I'll lick him fer not huntin' me up all these years."

"But mebbe he found Abby was married 'n' didn't want to," interposed Aunt Mandy. "We mustn't judge him yet."

"No, I won't judge him," asserted Uncle Jud; "I'll jest cuff him, good 'n' hard, an' let it go at that.

"Ez fer you, girlie, an' jest to set yer mind at rest, we found out what your right name was and where ye run away from last fall, but never let on to nobody. 'Twas your business and nobody else's, an' made no difference in our feelin's, ez ye must see; an' now I'll tell ye how I found out.

"I was down to the Corners one day arter ye went to Christmas Cove, 'n' a feller—nice-lookin' feller, too, with honest brown eyes—was askin' if anybody had seen or heard o' a runaway girl by the name o' McGuire. Said she'd run away from Greenvale—'That's 'bout a hundred miles from here,' he said—an' he was huntin' for her. Nobody at the Corners knew about ye 'n' I kept still, believin' ye had reason fer not wantin' to be found out."

And now another tide—the thrill of love—surged in Chip's heart, and her face became glorified.

And so the clouds rolled away. That night Chip wrote a brief but curious letter, so odd, in fact, it must be quoted verbatim:

Mr. Martin Frisbie:

Please send word at once to Mr. Cyrus Walker that his brother Judson, who lives in Riggsville, wants to see him. No one else must be told of this, for it's a secret. ONE WHO KNOWS.

"We'll All Love Ye Ten Times More."

But Chip's secret was a most transparent one, for when this missive reached Martin three days later, he recognized its angular penmanship and similarity to the note Aunt Comfort still treasured, and knew that Chip wrote it.

Such is the Reputation of "The Little Conqueror" in Plainfield.

How hard it often is to earn and maintain a good reputation, and how easy it is to lose one. As with a man's reputation, so it is with other things in life. Some things achieve a reputation which stays with them. They are founded on intrinsic value. They face the public backed up by honesty, and work their way quietly but thoroughly. Plainfield people want no better proof of the merit than is contained in the following experience of a citizen:

Oliver H. Voorhees, job printer, living at 21 Stone street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was suffering from kidney weakness for a long time, due, probably, to my being compelled to be on my feet so much of the time. On arising in the morning, I would find myself very weak, and suffering from severe pain in the back and sides, accompanied with headache. The kidney secretions were of bad odor, and the desire to pass them was too frequent. I could not seem to find either a doctor to cure me, or a medicine that would help me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's pharmacy. Before I took three boxes I was relieved of my aches and pains, and my kidneys were well again."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Peace Manifesto.

New York, July 13.—Following a visiting from Admiral Baron Yamamoto and Viscount Aoki, the Japanese Ambassador, to Oyster Bay, where they had luncheon with him, the President last evening issued a statement in which he spoke of the relations between this country and Japan as satisfactory. "The President," to quote the words of the manifesto, "had a long interview with Admiral Baron Yamamoto and it was most satisfactory in every way. It simply confirmed what had already been made clear by Ambassador Aoki—the thoroughly good understanding between the two governments and the fundamental friendliness between the two nations." Captain Kondo, chief aide to the Admiral, presented to the President a small Japanese cabinet of lacquer work, which he had carried to Oyster Bay. The box is of exquisite workmanship, and is inlaid with jade. The token was presented as the personal gift of the Admiral.

Constables attached to Sheriff Sommers' office arrested eleven cocaine fiends in Newark yesterday and Thursday night. The raids marked the revival of the Sheriff's warfare against the venders of the drug and more arrests are to follow. Those in custody are James Tyler, twenty-one years old, of No. 58 William street; Frank Johnson, twenty-three years old, of No. 113 Academy street; Arthur Jackson, thirty-eight years old, of No. 15 Cutler street; Walter Sanderlein, thirty years old, of No. 92 Academy street; Charles Williams, fifty-five years old, of No. 12 Sils street, and Laura Williams, twenty-one years old, of No. 46 Summit place, all negroes, and Lewis Johnson, thirty-one years old, of No. 96 Bank street; William Ralph, twenty-one years old, of No. 104 Warren street; John Caesar, twenty-two years old, of No. 51 Sussex avenue; Joseph Welch, nineteen years old, of No. 419 Bank street, and Edward Rodgers, twenty-five years old, of No. 129 Mulberry street. All but the last two named were arraigned before Judge Howell in the First Precinct police court yesterday morning and held under $1,000 bail each for a hearing next Wednesday.

More would have been caught in the dragnet had it not been for a misunderstanding between the Sheriff's men and the police of the First Precinct.

CLUB FOR THE VROOM BOOM.

Jersey Machine Democrates May Try to Kill It By Asylum Inquiry.

The Hahn investigation will be resumed next Tuesday, when the management of the State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton will be the first subject to be taken up.

Some observers say this at once raises the suspicion that the probe committee does not intend to dig as deeply as formerly in the Republican administration, but that the asylum inquiry will be used for the purposes of killing the Gubernatorial boom of Judge G. D. W. Vroom of Trenton. Judge Vroom being the moveing spirit in the asylum management.

This boom of Judge Vroom has been worrying the machine Democrats for some time. They do not want him to get the nomination. In Trenton is another aspirant for the nomination, former Mayor Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., and the machine Democrats are backing him.

Unwritten Law Sustained.

La Plata, Md., July 13.—The statement made by Mrs. Mary E. Bowie that she only wanted "twelve Marylanders" on the jury to try her for killing Hubert Posey because Posey would not wed her daughter, Priscilla Bowie, was justified yesterday when the jury, after being out but five minutes, returned a unanimous verdict of acquittal. They wasted no time in argument, it was only formality that caused them to leave their seats, for all had decided before they left the jury box to uphold the "unwritten law."

Somerset's G. O. P. Committee Endorses Senator for Gubernatorial Nomination.

COUNTY IS PLEDGED

Assemblyman Smalley Eulogizes County Chairman, Who is Expected Home This Week.

A meeting of the Somerset County Republican Executive Committee was held Saturday afternoon at Hotel Cawley, in Somerville, when important business was transacted preliminary to the coming Fall campaign. Former Assemblyman P. V. D. Van Doren, of East Millstone, officiated as chairman pro tem.

An important feature of the session was the unanimous indorsement of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county, for the Republican nominee for Governor. Assemblyman W. W. Smalley, of Bound Brook, eulogized the Senator and alluded to his great popularity throughout the State. He said that he believed if Senator Frelinghuysen were nominated the result on election day would be a decisive Republican victory.

Harry Hefbert, a member of the Sewerage Commission, also spoke in favor of Mr. Frelinghuysen.

The Senator is expected home on Wednesday from Chicago, where he has recovered from his recent operation for appendicitis.

One of Saturday Night's Delightful Affairs at Truell Hall.

One of the delightful social functions at Truell Hall Saturday night was a dinner given by Miss Kathryn Rocap for a number of her college friends. Covers were laid for fourteen. The decorations were particularly attractive, the colors of the various colleges represented, being displayed on the table. Those present were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rocap, Miss May Batchelor, Miss Kathryn Rocap, Miss Marion Rocap, Edward Rice, Roland Rice and Charles Rocap, of Plainfield; Miss Mills and Miss Druet, of Boston, Mass.; Miss Wise, of West Newton, Mass.; Charles Owen, of Richmond, Va.; Mr. Weller, of New York, and Mr. Russell, of Brooklyn.

After the dinner the party enjoyed the dancing, music for which was furnished by Mrs. Truell. Plainfielders and out-of-town guests to the number of about 200 attended the dance.

Prosecutor Acts.

Prosecutor N. C. J. English has sent a letter to Mayor Ryan, of Elizabeth, dealing, it is said, with violations of the excise laws in that city. The Grand Jury in its recent presentment directed he prosecutor to write to all chief executives or governing authorities of municipalities, calling attention to violations of the law, where they existed. It is said that a similar letter has been sent to Sheriff William H. Lawrence concerning violations in the county.

F. C. C. Social Festivities.

The social features at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday were enjoyed by an unusually large number of members and friends. Full ninety dinners were served. The open tennis tournament attracted many to the club and a number of the contestants were afterward entertained at dinner. During the evening music was furnished for dancing and many of the young people enjoyed the program.

Plans for New School Accepted.

REFUSE TO SHOW WIRE THAT KILLED WEEKES

P. S. C. SAID TO BE DEFIANT—INQUEST MAY BE LIVELY.

The attitude of the Public Service Corporation's local officials since Clarence H. Weekes, of Netherwood, was killed by a dangling electric light wire on Friday morning, gives promise of a lively time the afternoon that the coroner's inquest holds its session. It is reported that the public utility representatives refused to surrender the wire that caused the man's death when a demand was made by the city officials and that they will refuse to produce it.

Even before the police were notified of the fatal accident early Friday morning, linemen employed by the company were sent post haste to Netherwood to cut down the hanging wire and to rush it to the company's office. When the police went to take it as soon as the body was removed, they found what had been done and incensed over the alleged unwarranted action.

It is said that if the P. S. C. refuses to hand over the wire in question, the city officials will invoke the power vested in them to bring the company to time. Report has it that the condition of the overhead wires in the Netherwood section are no worse than in other parts here where they are so bad that fatal accidents are likely to happen at any moment.

At last aroused, the Common Council tonight will most likely take steps to compel the company to place its heavily charged trolley and electric light wires underground.

SCOTCH PLAINS SIMPLY SMOTHERS RARITAN A. C.

By a Score of 17 to 1 the Plains Team Retains its First Position in the League.

Scotch Plains retained its position in the Inter-City Amateur League race Saturday afternoon by administering the Raritan team the worst defeat of the season, the local aggregation walking off with the contest by the score of 17 to 1. Raritan scored its one lone tally in their half of the first by the aid of two hits and a lost ball. A Texas leaguer dropped in right field fell into a clump of weeds and by the time Mehaffey could locate it Gromes had crossed the pan.

The Plains team found Hale an easy mark and while picking was good fattened up their individual averages. In the eighth inning it certainly did "Hale" hits and before the slaughter ended nine runs were brought across the rubber. Frenz was in fine form, allowing but five scattered base hits, struck out nine men and did not issue a pass. Hale fanned five men and walked nine. Following is the line-up and score by innings:

Scotch Plains—Mehaffey, rf; Flannery, cf; Baldwin, ss; Allen, 1b; G. Frentz, 2b; Alberts, c; Schreinback, 3b; Reick and Eller, lf; A. Frentz, p.

Raritan—Burck, cf; Gromes, ss; Hickey, 3b; Johnston, c; Enright, 2b; Hale, p; Canvall, 1b; Drake, lf; Van Ness, rf.

Scotch Plains . . 0 1 0 2 1 3 1 9 x—17

SEEK EXCISE OFFENDERS

Scotch Plains Citizens Plan Vigilance Committee to Stop Illegal Selling.

TO GATHER EVIDENCE

If the Township Committee Does Not Act the Grand Jury's Aid Will Be Sought.

As disorder and drunkenness continues at Scotch Plains on Sundays some prominent citizens of that place have consulted with certain officials of Union county and plans are on foot for organization of a vigilance committee, which will gather evidence upon which the township committee can act. If that official body fails to act within a reasonable time appeal will be made to Prosecutor N. C. J. English and the Grand Jury to punish those responsible for violations of the Bishops' law.

Conditions at the Plains have been growing worse for some time and the citizens think a crisis is close at hand. It has been alleged that some places do business behind closed doors on Sundays and that fights are frequent at such times. In one place the drinkers are allowed to hang around, it is said, until a fight is started, then the participants are thrown out bodily. When the crowd becomes too thick the bar-keeper, it is alleged, turns out the front lights and the row is allowed to continue in the dark.

With the steps that are now being taken it is thought that peace and order will soon re restored.

REV. T. MOORE SMITH SPEAKS TO CHILDREN.

Plains Pastor Makes Address at Fresh Air Home Meeting.

A largely attended meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp in charge of George E. Hall. Rev. Mr. T. Moore-Smith, of Scotch Plains, gave an interesting talk.

Two quartette selections were given by Miss Cora Brokaw, Miss Florence Hawkins, D. M. Runyon and George Watts. Mrs. William H. Sebring, of Brooklyn, sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

The camp children contributed to the musical program with several well known hymns. In addition to a solo entitled, "Where Are the Roses?" by Miss Mary Miller, a duet, "Peace, Sweet Peace," was sung by the Misses Elsie and Helen Tudor, also camp children. Prayer was offered by J. D. Loizeaux and Rev. William Mulford, of Scotch Plains.

Mr. Hyatt's Funeral.

The body of Edgar S. Hyatt, who died in the Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, Thursday night, was brought to Plainfield Saturday afternoon and the funeral will be held at his late home on East Ninth street this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Hyatt's death was due to heart failure which followed an operation for appendicitis. He was born in New York but had been abroad many years, receiving his education at the University of Edinburgh. He is survived by a wife and two daughters and by a mother and sister in England.

In the "Impudent Question" department conducted on Sundays by the New York World, Rev. C. W. F. Atlee, pastor of the Baptist church, South Plainfield, was yesterday awarded $1 for his answer to the question "What Makes You Hot?" His answer was: "The hot water I always get into—I'm a preacher."

"BOB" FITZSIMMONS, JR., PROVES TO HIS FATHER THAT HE POSSESSES GREAT BUSINESS GENIUS

"Bob", Fitzsimmons, the dean of the pugilists, whose home is at Dunellen, lately hit on a plan to teach his sons the rudiments of business training. He had worked over the idea until at last it seemed to him he had perfected a truly wonderful scheme. Here is how it worked out:

Fitz was going to New York for a week. Just before leaving his Dunellen farm he called the two boys to him and, to their delight, handed each of them a brand-new $5 gold-piece.

"No!" he explained, cutting short their protestations of thanks. "It isn't for you to spend, but to make more money with. I want you lads to get some business sense. So while I'm gone each of you must think of some way of laying out your money so as to get more. You can buy something and sell it at a higher price or make any investment you choose. I'll bring something nice from New York to the boy who has made most when I get back."

A week later Fitz returned. Summoning the two boys he inquired as to the outcome of their investments. Beginning with the elder, he asked:

"Well, son, how much did you make out of your $5. A week isn't a very long time, but"—

"I made $5 more!" proudly boasted Bobby, jr. "I have $10 now."

"Fine!" shouted the delighted Fitz, aglow with pride at his offspring's financial genius. "And how about you, sonny?" he added, turning to the younger boy, who stood aloof in rueful silence.

"Didn't make anything," confessed the latter, "lost the whole five."

"Lost it?" gasped Fitz. "How in the world?"—

"Matchin' Bobby," grumbled the luckless loser.

COLORED MAN WITH ADJUSTABLE MEMORY

AND AN ORIGINAL THEORY TO FIT THE USE OF AN ALIAS.

Facing City Judge Runyon on a charge of disorderly conduct, Charles E. Ross, also known as the testimony brought out, as Thomas Youmans, a colored man, showed himself to be the possessor of an adjustable memory. He remembered everything of credit to himself in the incidents of which his wife told, but had absolutely no recollection of the things discreditable.

Mrs. Ross-Youmans said he had abused her for months. She told of several threats to kill her, and of facing a pistol in her husband's hands as she lay ill in bed. Ross could remember nothing of such incidents. Mrs. Ross said he told her his name was Thomas Youmans, after he had married her as Ross. Ross couldn't remember that, until his wife told, in detail, of the receipt of letters by him addressed to Youmans, "in care of C. E. Ross."

"Now that it is brought to my mind, I remember that," said Ross reluctantly.

"Oh, you do?" said Judge Runyon. "Now, for what did you go around under two names?"

"I don't know," said Ross, with a puzzled air. "Guess that must be a middle name—or may be that's a nickname. They uses lots of nicknames in the South."

"Sixty days," said Judge Runyon shortly.

Funeral of Jedediah M. Smalley.

With a gathering of relatives and friends in attendance, the funeral of Jedediah M. Smalley was held yesterday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Burial was made in Evergreen cemetery, the bearers being, Fred Willett, John McLaughlin, Grover Schuck, Clark Mundy, William G. DeMeza and Harry McDonald. During the service two hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide With Me," were sung by William N. and Elmer E. Runyon.

He came down a mile from the park with his clothing on fire, his hair singed off and his face and body badly burned, while the people in the park, unconscious of the tragedy which they were seeing in midair, applauded the realism of the delusion which they thought they were witnessing.

Funeral of Mrs. Snyder.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Snyder, wife of Joseph Snyder, who died at her home on Stebbins place Friday night, was held in St. Mary's church this morning. It was conducted by Rev. Mrs. Snyder was a native of Newark but had lived in the West End for many years. She leaves two children.

EDITOR LEWIS RESIGNS

After Ten Years Service Clergyman Quits as Head of Seventh-Day Baptist Paper.

HIS SUCCESSOR NAMED

Rev. Dr. Gardner to Take Up the Work—Dr. Lewis' Plans Announced.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, who has been editor of the Sabbath Recorder, the denominational paper of the Seventh-day Baptist church since March, 1898, has been released from that position by the Seventh-day Baptist Publication Board, the change to take effect September 1.

The action was taken at the request of Dr. Lewis to enable him to devote his entire time to the position of corresponding secretary of the American Sabbath Tract Society, and to the writing of several special books advancing the interests of the denomination.

The board has extended a call to Rev. T. L. Gardner, of North Loop, Nebraska, formerly president of Salem College, Salem W. Va., to succeed Dr. Lewis as editor and it is believed that he will accept. Mr. Gardner is familiar with the work, having filled the chair for one whole summer during the absence of Dr. Lewis.

When Dr. Lewis assumed the editorship of The Sabbath Recorder, he succeeded Rev. Dr. L. E. Livermore, at one time pastor of the New Market Seventh-day Baptist church, but now of Lebanon, Conn. The arrangement was considered only temporary, as the board expected to secure another man for the chair a little later, allowing Dr. Lewis to continue his special line of work. The board appeared to be in no hurry to make a change and it will be ten years next March since Dr. Lewis was appointed editor.

KING'S DAUGHTERS BABY CAMP IS OPEN.

Twenty Little Ones There—Contributions Are Much Needed.

The baby Camp, maintained by the City Union of the King's Daughters, on the mountain, was opened today for the season when twenty children from this city were taken there under the direction of the camp committee, of which Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney is the chairman. The camp has been put in first-class condition again and Miss Olive DeLany, the city nurse, assisted by her mother, as matron, is in charge of the children.

Contributions of money, one or two strong express wagons, hammock, games, a couples of barrels of oil and a barrel of flour would be thankfully received. Gifts of money may be sent to The Daily Press office, where they will be acknowledged and other articles may be sent direct to the rooms of the Charity Organized Aid Association on West Front street or to the home of Mrs. F. W. Jones, 16 Mountain avenue.

Last season the oil and flour were contributed and it is hoped that they will be this year. Many of the articles desired were stolen after the camp closed last year hence the appeal for a new supply. Recently one contribution of $50 and two others of $10 each were received. Fruits, vegetables, etc., will also be acceptable.

Bitten By a Dog.

Large and a student in the Taconic School at Lakeville, Conn. Her father had the dog killed and has sent its head to the Pasteur Institute in New York for analysis.

FROM HIS SICK BED FATHER OF AUTO LAW CRIES OUT AGAINST LEGALIZING THE RACE

KID M'COY VISITS BOB FITZSIMMONS

OTHER WELL-KNOWN SPORTING MEN WATCH THE VETERAN TRAIN.

Well known sporting men visited Bob Fitzsimmons at his training quarters yesterday afternoon. Visitors almost filled the barn, more than a hundred dropping in during the afternoon.

Among those who came out to see the old fighter at work were Norman Selby (Kid McCoy), George Considine, and Tom O'Rourke. They were delighted with Fitz's condition. Selby and Considine were prepared for a surprise by O'Rourke, who saw Fitz at work one afternoon last week, but they experienced amazement for all that when they saw the veteran work out.

Fitz sparred three fast rounds with Gillette, the big colored fighter, who has met Johnson four or five times. Fitz took a lot of jolting to toughen his muscles, and then let out a bit himself with young Manley, the New Brunswick youngster who has sparred with him two or three times.

As a result of some hard sprinting in the morning, Fitz was a little stiff. He went two miles, running hard and easily in alternate stretches, the sprints being 150 yards. The work did his wind good, but the muscles of the legs above the knees protested against such treatment. He was still a bit stiff this morning, but the tightness will be gone by tomorrow morning.

FORGOT DIVIDING LINE.

Borough Cops Ran Into the City and Got Their Quarry.

Arthur McDonald, Calvin Sutton and an undersized blacksmith who has so far succeeded in keeping his name under cover, got into a three cornered fight on Chatham street, Saturday evening. Somehow or other the blacksmith's face got shoved into the ground so that several square inches of skin was curried off and the neighborhood got the opinion that he had been stabbed. A hurry call was sent for the entire borough police force and when the cops came on the run, the fighters took to their heels.

All struck out for Green brook with the idea of crossing it to Plainfield and safety but in their excitement the cops forgot the imaginary dividing line. The fleeing men were captured and locked up, afterward getting out on bail. They will be given a hearing tonight.

Elks Off to Philadelphia.

The advance guard of the Plainfield Elks who will attend the annual reunion at Philadelphia this week left for the Quaker city this afternoon. Included in the delegation were A. D. Findlay, Ezra Sabbacher, Thomas Timbo, William Townley, E. C. Westcott, Andrew Jennings and Walter Apgar, while Edward A. Laing and John Nichol started by auto this morning. The Plainfield lodge has made no plans to participate in the big parade Thursday and the members who care to march in the procession will fall in with Elizabeth or New Brunswick. This will be the big feature of the gathering and a large exodus from this city is expected on that day.

Holy Cross Boys Off to Camp.

With thirty-three members of the Holy Cross Boys' Club, Rev. George A. Warner left this morning for Cambridge, N. Y., where they will go into camp for about three weeks. An advance guard has been on the ground for several days and the boys will find everything in readiness for them on their arrival. The place will be known as "Camp Comfort" and is an ideal spot for an outing. Mr. Warner will have full charge of the campers and has established rules and regulations that will be strictly adhered to while they are away.

P. S. C. Settles Claims.

Claims for damages preferred by Herman Alberts and Peter Sheridan against the P. S. C. have been settled by the company. The men were injured when the trolley car jumped the track near Bound Brook several weeks ago. William G. DeMeza represented them.

Fined For Contempt.

Joseph Sansone was fined $10 for contempt of court by Judge Schenck in Somerville Saturday afternoon. He failed to appear in answer to a subpoena several weeks ago in a criminal case. He was in jail three weeks.

Frelinghuysen Regretting His Physical Inability Urges Papers to Continue Fight.

STOKES NON-COMMITTAL

Tells The Daily Press He Has Never Stated His Position On Suggested Bill—Hears From Frelinghuysen.

From his sick bed in Chicago, State Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county, the author of the New Jersey automobile law, raises a strong protest against any suspension of the provisions of the statute for the purpose of holding a speed merchants' tournament. The strenuous and alert lawmaker expresses his regret that he is not well enough to hasten to Trenton to take up the fight against the proposed scheme.

In response to a query from The Daily Press telling him that this paper had uttered a strong protest and had received the commendation of the New York Sun and other papers in its fight against the independent passage of any act that would temporarily suspend any provision of the present law to allow such a race or any other similar event to take place Senator Frelinghuysen telegraphed this morning:

"I feel that the people of the State of New Jersey will support me in my efforts to retain the present auto law in its entirety. I am equally confident that the people of New Jersey will support me in a protest I have made to the members of the Senate against legalizing this dangerous sport of racing automobiles on the roads of our State. I am physically unable to present my protest to the Senate, but I wish to congratulate The Daily Press on the fight it is making. Personally I am violently opposed to any change in the present law, believing that the safety of human life is at stake. The protection of our people is more important than the mercenary motives of a few and the satisfaction of the sporting instincts of the automobilists.

Although desperately ill, I have kept track of the doings of the Senate and although prostrate on my sick bed, I addressed the following dispatch to Senators Hillery, Wakalee and Minch: 'I protest against the giving permission by the Senate to run Vanderbilt Cup race in New Jersey. It nullifies the present auto law and will effect many of its provisions forever. It encourages reckless driving and will be responsible for accidents, for proper policing cannot be maintained in the manner devised. The excuse that the race will bring increased business is exaggerated and on the other hand the danger to our roads cannot be estimated. Humanity cries against the perils associated with the last cup race on Long Island. I sincerely hope the Senate of New Jersey will spare our people the menace of this great danger. (Signed), J. S. Frelinghuysen.'

"I have also wired Gov. Stokes," continued Mr. Frelinghuysen, "asking that he give his assistance in defeating the racing bill. Your tidings of the stand taken by the press of New Jersey came as a welcome bulletin. I cannot see how the Republican legislature can be misled in this manner. Had I been well and in attendance at the Senate, I would have used every effort to prevent the bill getting very far and I am confident that the Senate will not be so foolish as to allow its getting any farther. The thought of the law, in which I take so much pride and which I feel that the people are satisfied with being wiped out, discouraged me."

Senator Frelinghuysen adds that he will not be able to get home before Wednesday and that the doctor insists that he stay at home for a week as he will be unable to walk for about ten days yet. "If the bill is allowed to last over a week and if the doctors will let me," concludes the Senator, "I will be on hand to fight against the passage of the bill but if not, the fight is up to other Senators and to you and you are all powerful."

When asked the question by a representative of The Daily Press over the telephone today, Governor E. C. Stokes declared that he had never given out any interview concerning

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The result of Saturday's league games drops the Y. M. C. A. team to second place, leaving Clinton Avenue and the locals tie for first. Clinton Avenue plays Saturday and if they defeat the Raritans will take the lead as the locals have an off day. Every defeat counts now, as the league season ends Labor Day. The game that Scotch Plains is putting up at present gives them a fair chance for the pennant. The team is batting well and outclasses the other teams in fielding.

After playing the local team at Raritan a 3 to 2 game a week ago Saturday, the new comers in the league, surprised the followers of the game by the game they put up here Saturday afternoon. Hale was slaughtered by the locals, yet no effort was made to take him out and put VanArsdale in. The game stamped the Raritans as of uncertain quality. They are apt to surprise the fans either way.

An automobile party from Orange liberated over one hundred young carrier pigeons in town Saturday morning. The birds were given their first trial. After circling about over the town for a few minutes they found their bearings and headed back for Orange again.

Clifford H. Smith, of East Second street, Plainfield, has leased of Dr. J. Ackerman Coles, the property on Union avenue, formerly occupied by William Maguire and family.

The telephone company has been changing its wires through the town, the result being that the 'phone service has been out of commission for several days.

The local team put it on to the West Ends, of Somerville, at Riverside Park, yesterday afternoon, by the score of 3 to 0.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The committee in charge of the harvest home, which is to be held here on Labor Day, held a meeting Saturday night to complete arrangements for the event. It will be under the auspices of the Good Government Club. Judge Smith presided at the meeting. Charles Jackson was elected secretary and Archibald Steengrafe, Jr., treasurer. The following sub-committees were appointed, with power to add as many members, men and women, as their judgment dictated: Advertising, badges and decorations—Archibald Steengrafe, Jr.; reception, Harry Manning; entertainment, music and dancing, Alfred Springer; refreshments, Oscar Thorne and Samuel Goff; law and order, police, William Reilly; athletics, Phil. Smith and P. Kane; aquatics, Frank Faulks and David Bigley; parade, David Blackford and Anton Phillips lighting and fireworks, Thomas A. Linaberry; finance, Judge Smith, William Hamilton, Patrick Kane, Archibald Steengrafe, Jr., and Thomas Linaberry. A meeting has been called for Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock for the organization of the above-named committees and when completed active preparations will then begin.

Mrs. Alfred Foote, who resided here for thirty-three years, recently sold her farm and left today for Cleveland, Ohio, where she will make her home in the future.

Phil. Smith pitched for the New York Realty Company at Van Cortlandt Park, Saturday afternoon, and won by a score of 25 to 13.

GIRL SAVES DROWNING CHUM.

Miss Laura Wilcox Swims to Rescue of Miss Marshall, of New York.

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., July 15.—Another rescue was added to the lake's summer list Thursday, when Miss Laura Wilcox, of New York, who is spending the Summer with her parents in their camp here, saved her companion, Miss Adelaide Marshall, from drowning in the lake at its upper end near the woods while bathing.

A number of other bathers and more than a hundred spectators saw Miss Wilcox, who is a good swimmer, make for Miss Marshall when she sank, and rousing cheers were given for her.

Miss Marshall is the only daughter of a prominent New York banker. She learned to swim this season, and for the last two weeks had been bathing almost daily in the lake. She overestimated her ability yesterday afternoon and swam out to beyond her depth.

She was alone off the rocks about a hundred feet from the shore, when she stopped to take a rest and discovered she was beyond her depth.

She became frightened, and apparently losing her self-control, threw up her arms, screamed for help and sank.

Miss Wilcox was nearest to her, and, seeing her friend disappear beneath the surface, swam rapidly to the spot. When Miss Marshall arose she seized her and kept her head above water until a sturdy young man, Henry Wallace, reached them with a rowboat.

Miss Marshall was lifted into the boat and taken ashore unconscious.

Miss Marshall is 21 years old and a Vassar student.

TROUNCES CIVILIAN.

Belleville, July 15.—Patrolman Charles Perl has been suspended from duty by Chief Flynn pending action by the police board. The officer, it is alleged, took part in a fist fight Thursday night with Joseph Werk.

Patrolman Peel says that Werk had circulated stories reflecting upon his character and had bothered him while on duty, defying the officer to touch him. Werk, it is said, followed Perl and abused him. Perl, smarting under the abuse, threw his club to the ground, took off his coat and helmet and gave Werk a thorough trouncing. The latter was taken to the office of Dr. Edward O. Cyphers, near by, who dressed his injuries.

After the trouble Perl went to the police station and offered his resignation to the Chief. The latter, however, advised him to wait until the trouble was investigated.

CORPSE FIND HALTS GAY YACHTING PARTY.

Virginian Believed to Have Fallen Overboard While Trying to Board Boat.

Members of a yachting party who discovered the body of of Felix Medley, formerly a sailor aboard the yacht, Mermaid, bobbing in the water back of their boat as they left Gardner's basin at Atlantic City, yesterday morning put back and notified Policeman Martin, who took the body from the water.

Medley had been missing since the Fourth, and is believed to have tumbled into the water while trying to jump to the deck of his vessel.

Coroner Gaskill empaneled a jury, who examined the body, but found no marks of violence that would lead to belief in foul play. The man came here from Norfolk, Va., and when he failed to appear he was supposed to have taken a trip home.

He was known to have money when he left the vessel, but may have spent it before his death. The party who made the discovery gave up their trip for the day.

ORIGIN OF CHINESE LILIES.

Story as Told and How the Bulbs Brought Good Luck.

Very few people who see and admire the beautiful Chinese lilies know the reason why this particular flower is held in such favor in the orient. This is the story of the origin as told by a Chinaman.

Years and years ago a member of the celestial empire had two wives whom he loved dearly because each had borne him a son. While they were still lads the father died and in settling up the estate some difficulty was encountered, for the man left his heirs two pieces of land, one a strip lying in a fertile and beautiful valley, the other a small ribbon of land bordering the bed of a narrow stream. The former land was known to grow anything the country produced, while the latter was counted utterly worthless.

It was at first proposed that each of the two strips be divided in half and a section of each be given to the two heirs. But the mothers could not agree upon the division and it was finally arranged that one son should take the rich land, while the other should take the sterile piece.

The valley strip yielded bountiful harvests season after season and the rocky one gave nothing until one day the boy owner happened to notice a tiny white, sweet-scented flower blooming among the rocks and after a careful study and examination it was found to be the only one of its kind in China. The flower grew from a bulb and the boy discovered that these bulbs could be transplanted to similar rocky soil without destroying their growth.

Soon the bulbs were in great demand and when it was learned that the flowers brought good luck to the owner of the plant the boy had all he could do to supply the market. From the sale of the bulbs he grew enormously wealthy, while his brother never made more than a good living out of his valley property.

Dressmakers Could Use Them to Reassure Nervous Customers.

Many New York women who patronize a new dressmaker for the first time propound an embarrassing question:

"Have you a diploma?" they ask.

"I didn't know what answer to make to the first customer that put that question to me," said one dressmaker. "I certainly did not have a diploma. I knew how to sew, but I had no certificate to that effect. Finally I found that many women have suffered so grievously at the hands of incompetents that they were unwilling to trust their work to a person who could not show some guaranty of experience and efficiency, so, although I knew more about sewing than half of the fashionable dressmakers in town, I actually worked in one establishment for four months so that I could point to a printed diploma which says, 'Formerly with Mme. ——, of Fifth avenue.' It pays any dressmaker to arm herself with credentials of that kind. She ought to have her diploma framed and hung on the wall, like a doctor's diploma, so as to give confidence to doubting customers."—New York Sun.

Jeff Davis for President.

Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, formerly vice president of the United States, is fond of telling of an odd experience he had shortly after the civil war. At that time David Davis was much talked of as the man to run against Gen. Grant for the presidency. A conference was held in Mr. Stevenson's Bloomington residence, many leading Illinois and other Democrats being present. A good deal was said about the possible candidacy of Mr. Davis, but no one happened to mention his first name. After the conference broke up Mr. Stevenson drew an old farmer friend into a corner and asked his opinion. The farmer was from the extreme southern end of Illinois. He said: "Well, Adlai, you know I've followed your lead in politics for a good while and I'm going to do it now. But, honest, Adlai, don't you think it's a leetle mite early to nominate Jeff Davis?" — Chicago Chronicle.

Going to Hold His Job.

Gen. Pau, who succeeded in command at Nancy, France, Gen. Raiioud, relieved of his command for talking too much, apparently has resolved not to be guilty of that fault. His order of the day, in taking charge, has this: "Appointed to command the Twentieth corps. I take over the command of that army corps from this day forward."

In Crimson Gulch.

"I suppose you will give that man a jury trial?"

"Friend," answered Broncho Bob, "we've jest suffered the loss of one of the leadin' members of our community by this distressin' homicide. What's the use of lockin' up 12 more of our leadin' citizens to start an argument an' fight it out at close range?"—Washington Star.

Provided Already.

Beggar—Kind sir, give me two sous for my three children.

Kind Sir—That isn't dear, certainly, but I don't think I'll take them. I have four already at home.—Nos Loisirs.

"Have you heard the rumors of Hortense's engagement to Clarence?"

"Oh, dear, that's not an engagement. That's only a skirmish."

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

The Public Approves and Applauds

Our Great July FURNITURE SALE!

If any evidence were wanting of public approval of our July movement of furniture, the tremendous sale of the past two weeks would supply it.

True, our furniture stocks have never been broader in scope, greater in variety, more up-to-the-hour in style, nor better in quality than this July sale found them—that may account for some of the big gains in sales this year over last.

But each year more of the good people of Jersey learn that these semi-annual events have the right ring—are genuine sales of the most dependable sorts of furniture, at prices that are decidedly lower than those at which the articles are regularly sold; and it is this fact that money is really saved by buying in July that accounts for the year-by-year gain in business.

The stamp of public approval is being more emphatically given this year than ever. We are doing a mighty furniture business.

Two weeks more remain of this sale at generously reduced prices.

Every piece of furniture, all pianos, all floor coverings are reduced in price. There are only trifling exceptions.

You will be surprised in walking thru the furniture store at some of the radical reductions that have been made in prices.

Library Table of Quartered Oak, handsomely carved; claw feet; oval shaped ends with a drawer on each side which had been fairly priced at $103; now marked $60.

A Parlor Table of Golden Oak, highly polished, with round top; dainty French legs; fancy supports; had been $10.50; is offered at $7.

A Mahogany Table that would be nice for use in either parlor or library in antique design with wood knobs; four drawers; a handsome piece that has been $58; may now be had for $30.

Here is a Hall Stand of beautiful Mahogany, richly inlaid, with high back, seat with lifting lid, that has been $68; now offered at $48.

China Closet with full swell front; two front columns heavily carved; bent glass on each end and in door; two reflecting mirrors in the back; five spaces for display use.

An Extension Dining Table of Golden Oak with 60 in. wide top; carved rope edge; heavy claw feet; pillar base; massive and richly carved; has been $129; is now offered at $100.

Mahogany Chiffonier with serpentine shaped front; fancy shaped mirror top and slightly carved frame; plenty of drawer room; was cheap at $53; is in the July sale at $39.

Another Mahogany Chiffonier with claw feet, carved front columns and glass standards, with large French beveled mirror; a very large sized chiffonier; has been $198; may now be had at $125.

Still another Mahogany Chiffonier with mirror 20x24, that was marked $78.75 is now cut to $50.

A Toilet Dresser of Quartered Oak and selected Bamboo with fancy shaped front, odd in design; has been priced $22.50; you may have it for $12.

A Toilet Dresser of birch with serpentine shaped front and large fancy mirror; formerly priced $25; is now ticketed $15.

There are many other equally good things all over the floor. It will pay you to look around because the very thing you may want may be one of the most radically reduced pieces.

"BLACK HAND" BOMB PLACED ON RAILROAD.

Probably Left There for the Purpose of Blowing Up Trackwalker.

A cleverly arranged bomb, that was probably meant to blow up N. J. Hallowell, a Pennsylvania Railroad track walker, was found by him near Osage, Camden county, yesterday, along the railroad.

Several times recently Hallowell, who is an Italian, has received letters signed "Black Hand," and warning him to leave the vicinity.

A few days ago some one shot twice at his home after night.

Hallowell found the bomb, but was suspicious of it, on account of the warnings of danger he had already received. He placed it in water to soak and notified the police department of the railroad company. Special Officer Curtis was detailed on the case.

He examined Hallowell's find. It was a can filled with powder and slugs. The top was so arranged that when the lid would be raised a trigger would fall and explode the powder. It is thought the bomb was placed on Hallowell's beat a short time before it was known he would come along.

Grewsome Find.

New York, July 15.—Rummaging in cellars on the site of the proposed Hamilton Park, in the block bounded by Ninth and Tenth avenues and Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets, yesterday, Bernard McArdle and Angelo Monaclio, both twelve years old, came upon a collection of human bones, including fore arms, ribs, five hands completely articulated and four feet in similar condition. Two of the hands looked as if they might have been those of a woman. All the buildings in the block have been razed, but no filling has been done. Where the bones dere found a ramshackle tenement house formerly stood, and the police suspect they indicate a crime. They were sent to the Morgue and Police Captain O'Brien assigned detectives to examine the remaining debris.

Headache Powders Kill.

New York, July 15.—William Nathon, a cigarmaker, living at No. 1,795 Lexington avenue, died yesterday morning as a result of taking too much headache powder. He took two doses of the powder on retiring. Dr. Isaac Lebelson, of Lexington avenue and 113th street, who was called said each powder contained five grains of a certain compound and ten grains would kill any man. Nathon was dead when the physician arrived.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

On Saturday the Raritans will meet Clinton Avenue on Crescent Oval, and as the Somerset county boys are in much better shape than upon their first visit here, a good game may be expected.

The Y. M. C. A. team will play the Laurels at Bound Brook on Saturday, when the locals hope to tally another victory.

Earl Moore, the twirler recently secured by Clark Griffith for the Highlanders, is now slated to go, there being a reported difference of opinion between player and manager.

Jimmie Bertwhistle is now playing an outfield position for Manager Daab's Hoboken team, and Flynn, formely of Westfield and Plainfield, is covering short. Several new faces are also to be seen on this season's nine.

Sundheim, third baseman of the Houghton, Michigan team, has been signed by Manager McGraw, and he will report to the Giants at once.

Dan. McGann, the Giants' first baseman, will be out of the game for several weeks, having fractured a bone in the wrist.

There is no better third baseman in the amateur league than Captain Craig, of the Y. M. C. A. team. He is a fast fielder, always uses good judgment, and is a sure hitter.

When it comes to backstop work there is not one of the league that is the equal of Walter Nelson, of the Y. M. C. A. aggregation. He is an exceptionally accurate thrower to bases and a player takes awful chances when he tries to steal a base. Walter is also very handy with the stick.

For general all-round team work the Clinton Avenue team appears to outclass the other nines in the amateur league. This is largely due to the fact that the boys have been playing together for several seasons and are well acquainted with each others strong and weak points. When in good condition the whole bunch plays as one man and will not let the pennant get away without a hard fight.

GOLF.

J. F. Bartle won the trophy in the final play of the National Freight Traffic Association golf tournament, last week, defeating C. B. Buxton, 4 up and 3 to play.

The veteran golfer, Walter J. Travis, met defeat in the semf-finals at Cleveland, last week, much to the surprise of his many friends.

Raymond B. Carroll, of the borough, has been doing things at the Westfield Golf Club. He recently made the course, 18 holes, in 74, which is two strokes better than bogey.

Samuel Poor won the June cup at match play at the Westfield Golf Club, defeating William Townley, 1 up.

E. R. Perkins has been playing a fast game of golf at the Westfield Golf Club. Last week he made a 38 for nine holes, which equals bogey.

W. Lester Glenney is doing good work at the Plainfield Country Club, this season, as his low scores indicate. His brother, W. T. Glenney, has also returned low scores recently.

There is a revival of interest in the game of golf at the Middlebrook Country Club, Finderne, and the course is filled with contestants every Saturday.

R. S. Rowland has been making a strong bid for golf honors at the Plainfield Country Club, where he is a familiar figure in the weekly competitions.

Leighton Calkins, in addition to his many other duties, occasionally finds time to engage in play for the various trophies at the Plainfield Country Club. His scores show that he can still play a fast game.

One of the very best advertisements for Plainfield are the local golf courses. The Plainfield Country Club and the Park Golf Club are both strong attractions and visitors from out-of-town are always favorably impressed not only with the courses, but especially Plainfield. The one-day open tournament at the Plainfield Country Club this season brought together a large number of outside golfers who played on the course for the first time and they were delighted with it as well as the treatment by the club.
